PEARL HARBOR (1942)

In what surely must be one of the most fortuitous accidents in film history, Movietone cameraman Al Brick was at Pearl Harbor filming a "Magic Carpet" travelogue to have been called Pearl of the Pacific when the Japanese attacked our naval and air forces without warning on December 7, 1941, bringing the United States into World War II. Movietone, alone among all newsreels, thus secured authentic and exclusive scenes of the devastation — but all Brick's footage was immediately seized by the Navy Department, and not until a year later were some of the shots cleared for public showing.

This release, one of the few Movietone newsreels ever devoted to a single story, went into theaters on the first anniversary of Pearl Harbor and is presented here exactly as originally shown. Narrated by Lowell Thomas in the jingoistic vocabulary of wartime, the first half of the film shows the destruction of planes and ships, while the second half emphasizes the "miraculous" repair of damage made to seem less extensive than it really was. There is even a suggestion that Pearl Harbor provided an opportunity to improve our Pacific Fleet through reconstruction! The film concludes with a promise to "slap the Japs right off the map." Silent versions have captions which were adapted from, and retain the flavor of, the narrated prints — a unique historical record not only of fact, but also of attitude.

ABOARD THE FLATTOP MIDWAY (1949)

Filmed in the Caribbean after the close of World War II — security would never have permitted it in wartime — our film shows the activities of the Midway. You'll see the hanger decks, elevators bringing planes topside, the famous F8F fighter, nicknamed the Bear Cat. You'll see also the Navy carrier based bombers and the first of the new jets. Spectacular views of take-offs and landings add to the film's great appeal.

ARE PARENTS PICKLES?

with JIMMIE PARROTT, JOBYNA RALSTON and
EDDIE BAKER

Jimmie Parrott cut a humorous figure with his tiny tie, low-crown hat and misbehaving cat-whisker mustache whose ends always seemed to point in the two oddest directions.

Parrott entered pictures in 1918 and starred in a sizeable number of one-reel Paul Parrott comedies for Roach but his greatest fame came as director of many classic Charley Chase and Laurel and Hardy comedies of the late twenties and thirties.

His position as star comedian has been overlooked through the years, as most of his comedies have been credited to his brother Charley Chase, to whom he bore a remarkable resemblance.

ARE PARENTS PICKLES? was Hal Roach's answer — perhaps more a hiccup than an answer — to Paramount's famous feature ARE PARENTS PEOPLE? released earlier the same year.

Jimmie has a great fire extinguisher for sale and he knows what every peddler knows — get to the top and you've got a sale.

LOOSE CHANGE (1928)

starring JACK DUFFY with GLEN CAVENDER,
NEAL BURNS, WINNIE LAW

America is treated to a very short but lively visit from the tightest of all tightwads, Sandy MacDuff (Jack Duffy). The visit would be longer but Sandy runs into a vamp out for his blood, a lot of good red blood amounting to $5,000 in blackmail.

Sandy schemes out a fine counter-attack, which unfortunately does not include the vamp's husband (Glen Cavender) who would prefer, in somewhat violent terms, to have our Scotsman back in Scotland.

Hollywood Film Enterprises made available a one-reel version of LOOSE CHANGE in 1937, and it is this lively version that Blackhawk offers now, bringing to the screen again that delightful character Sandy MacDuff.

THE CRAZY RAY (PARIS QUI DORT) (AT 3:25) (1923)

Directed by Rene Clair

with HENRI ROLLAN, ALBERT PREJEAN, MADELINE RODRIGUES, MARCEL VALLEE, PRE FILLS, MYLA SELLER and M. STACQUIT

Only a few years after THE CRAZY RAY, Rene Clair made the best loved and most renowned of French film comedies — LE MILLION, A NOUS LA LIBERTE, THE ITALIAN STRAW-HAT, and UNDER THE ROOFS OF PARIS — and today the same man is a wise old member of the French Academy. But Rene Clair was a twenty-five-year-old journalist in 1923 when he made his first film, PARIS QUI DORT (literally PARIS ASLEEP, but widely known as THE CRAZY RAY). This delightful little comedy went successfully around the world, inspired a whole generation of avant-garde artists to experiment with film, and earned a place in every good history of motion pictures, although it was actually almost an amateur effort, produced by Clair with hardly any budget at all.

THE CRAZY RAY is the story of a looney scientist (in the original French prints he is appropriately named Dr. Craze) who, using a powerful ray, has frozen Paris in the midst of its late-night life. The only people who escape the professor's paralyzing power are the night watchman asleep on the top level of the Eiffel Tower, which the ray failed to reach; and a few passengers who arrive by air from Marseilles after the ray's effect has taken hold. Eventually old Doctor Craze is persuaded to switch off his ray and just 24 hours later, life gets going again.

Like Chaplin, whom he greatly admires, Clair is full of little comments on human foibles. The first thing that occurs to those not put to sleep by the ray is to take for themselves all the money and finery they have ever wanted. The tower watchman, for example, discovers a pickpocket frozen in mid-chase, only two steps from a gendarme frozen just short of certain capture. The watchman plucks the thief's prize for his own pocket. A chubby "butter-and-egg man" returns home from the airport to find his statuesque wife wrapped in the embrace of her petrified lover. For one day, social roles are inverted, and the house-breaker Slippery Jim, who was being brought to prison in handcuffs, becomes the most valuable member of the little band. But when life resumes, both pursued and pursuers take up their old roles, and Clair makes a pointed but entirely visual comment on familiar social distinctions.

Blackhawk's release was copied from the original American version of 1927, AT 3:25, and our prints thus fall heir to the rather drastic abridgement which was apparently de rigueur for foreign films shown in this country at that time. In the case of THE CRAZY RAY, five reels were cut to two by Morrie Ryskind, later famed as author of the best Marx Brothers scripts, and considering how long this film has been cooling, both the flavor and the warmth have been retained very nicely.

KID 'N' AFRICA (1933)

Starring
SHIRLEY TEMPLE

If she is lucky, Shirley Temple Black, our new Ambassador to Ghana, has forgotten all about KID 'N' AFRICA, for in this comedy she toddles on as Madame Cradlebait, Missionary, and living exponent of every horrible stereotype that white men have ever created about black Africans. Actually, rather than kiddin' Africa, this Fox release was meant to kid MGM, for it is TRADER HORN and TARZAN AND HIS MATE that the folks at Educational Comedies seemed to have in mind.

Shirley, sighting cannibals, determines they will be civilized; but in the next shot she's already in a giant cauldron, salted but not quite cooked into missionary stew. Her little captors from Watts are in a circle around the pot chanting "we want food," when attracted by the screams, her virile white rescuer — clad only in a tiger skin, and abetted by an elephant who trumpets a few bars from "Old Black Joe" — somehow routs the hungry natives.

"Now we'll have a civilized city," says Shirley, and what do you suppose is in it? The Last Chance Filling Station, Cut Rate Drugs, the Weary Nipple Cafe, and a henpecked put-upon, silk-hatted Tarzan who probably should have let his Jane boil a little longer.

This film was made so hastily that a cameraman's shadow falls across the middle of one shot; but if today it's more revolting than funny, it's also a fascinating document of the popular attitudes that supported colonial practices until twenty years ago. Other versions of KID 'N' AFRICA now circulating were copied from indistinct 16mm prints with replaced main titles, but Blackhawk's negative derived from a clear 35mm original, and is complete down to the NRA Eagle.

BATTLE OF THE ATLANTIC (1941)

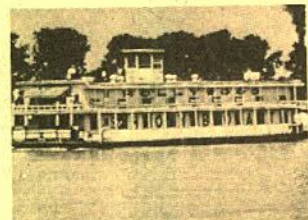

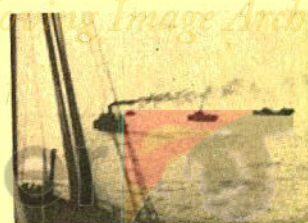

Produced by
Fox Movietone News

This exciting film was produced in 1941 as part of the wartime Movietone series "The World Today." As we see nightly German raids over London leaving death and destruction, writer-narrator Quentin Reynolds describes in the present tense Britain's confidence that she can resist any invasion attempts — as long as a strong life line remains from her dominions and colonies.

In Canada, factories turned out armaments for Britain. To get these materials and those from the United States to Britain in a steady stream, they must go by ship across the Atlantic, the new "no-man's land" of the war.

A convoy system then a new branch of naval tactics, is designed to assure that most supplies will arrive safely. Germany employs three basic methods to break this supply line. On the American side, Germany relies on surface raiders ... armored cruisers or converted merchant vessels. But it is the U-boats that come to attack as the convoy reaches mid-Atlantic waters. The U-boats continue their attacks until the convoys come into range of the German air force. Canadian naval units provide most of the protection for the convoys from the American side of the Atlantic to somewhere past mid-Atlantic. From that point, British naval units take over. As the convoys near the English coast, within range of the German air force, barrage balloons are hoisted as protection against dive bombers. British fighter planes give added protection, in language and with the immediacy of the time, The Battle of the Atlantic details one of the most critical areas of the battle of World War II.

MISSISSIPPI SHOWBOAT (1932)

Produced by Fox Movietone

As the depression and talking movies together pushed Mississippi showboats into their final days, Movietone produced this nostalgic and charming glimpse of the river life which had been American legend since the time of Mark Twain. Here is one of those gaudy crafts which docks to the cries of "Here Comes the Showboat!", and to excitement from old and young alike. The actors double in brass, with the leading man on the calliope and the villain in the box office, while the audience gathers and the curtain goes up. Until this point the film has been silent, accompanied by a gutsy, and evocative musical score, but now direct sound cameras record a few minutes of melodrama which was old when "The Black Crook" was young. It's corny stuff, but the picturesque people who have flocked to the levee just love it. The film closes with a few minutes from a traditional minstrel show, with the entire company in blackface singing "Dixie!"

From the Fox "Magic Carpet" series, here is a genuine and wonderfully engaging picture of a warmly-remembered and now-vanished experience which is part of America's folk history. Highly recommended!

MEMORIES OF STEAM ON WESTERN RAILROADS

Photographed in the late 1940's and early 1950's when steam locomotives were still widely used on major assignments, this assortment of action shots including the last generation of steam power on six Western railroads almost certainly will recall fond "Memories of Steam."

Railroads represented are the Great Northern, Union Pacific, Denver & Salt Lake, Rio Grande, Western Pacific and Southern Pacific. Locomotive types pictured include 2-8-0s and 0-8-0s on the Great Northern; 2-8-2s, 4-12-2s, 2-10-2s, 4-6-4s, 4-8-4s, 4-8-4s and 2-8-2 on the Union Pacific; 4-6-0s on the Denver and Salt Lake; 2-8-2s, 4-8-4s, 4-8-2s, 2-8-2s on the Rio Grande; 4-8-2s and 2-8-8-2 on the Western Pacific; and the cab-forward 4-8-8-2s and 2-8-8-2s as well as the famous Daylight-type 4-8-4 on the Southern Pacific.

The Southern Pacific operates only east-bound and westbound trains. Those headed for San Francisco are westbound, those headed away from San Francisco are east-bound.

Our "Memories of Steam" fades into the distance as the Coast Daylight, headed for San Francisco, is shown in the hills between Los Angeles and Santa Barbara....

FILMING THE FANTASTIC (1936)

From the Movietone Series
"Adventures of a Newsreel Cameraman"

Culled from the bizarre and curious stories encountered by the international activities of the newsreel cameraman, this short is an amalgam of wordless glimpses at giant boys and midget girls, a library of fine books tucked inside an ordinary walnut, a room of automated files right out of Kafka, a young fellow wearing a drape of honeybees, a couple who make captains' chairs from tightly rolled newspapers, a man who is buried alive and then communicates by telephone from the beyond, and a pair of pedal-powered stilts (they don't work). There is no narration, but sound versions are accompanied by a charming early-30's period score.

AMERICAN ARISTOCRACY

JEWEL CARMEN

"American Aristocracy" was Doug's tenth film in the series he made for Triangle in the period from late 1915 to early 1917, and is one that offers considerable to today's viewers from the standpoint of the manners and points-of-view of a half century ago, not to mention the sport roadsters, seaplanes and motor cruisers of the day. THE AMERICANO with ALMA RUBENS

This film features Douglas Fairbanks at his smiling best. It's the story of a Yankee engineer who goes to a revolt-ridden Caribbean country because of a smile from the President's daughter. The revolt is no match for Doug's wits and vigor and he ends up with the country in the palm of his hand — and the daughter as well. (1916)

THE BLACK PIRATE with BILLIE DOVE

It is the time when tall galleons carried wondrous treasure across the sea to Spain, and the time the sea rovers flourished in the Spanish Main. The bloodthirsty pirates have just captured a merchantman aboard which is the Duke of Arnauda and his son (Doug Fairbanks). The old Duke dies, but Doug decides he can best serve the purposes of justice by becoming a member of the pirate band. He challenges the pirate chief to a duel, and comes off the victor. Doug vows he can capture the first ship they sight — single handed. This he does, and aboard is a beautiful princess (Billie Dove). Here Doug is put to a supreme test to rescue the princess (with whom he has fallen in love) and to do away with the band of ruffians. (1926)

DON Q, SON OF ZORRO with MARY ASTOR

As the title implies, Don Q, Son of Zorro was intended as a sequel to Douglas Fairbanks' first costume swashbuckler, The Mark of Zorro, which appeared five years and an equal number of films before.

Fairbanks plays the role of the father, Zorro as well as the son, Don Q, and two other characters in the film as well. The trick is accomplished by skillful cutting to give the illusion that Zorro and Don Q are in the same scenes when in fact the scenes were shot separately. (1925)

FLIRTING WITH FATE

"Flirting With Fate", Douglas Fairbanks' seventh film, hit the screens of the country's growing number of movie palaces in the summer of 1916. THE MARK OF ZORRO with MARGUERITE DE LA MOTTE

The Mark of Zorro remains one of the best of Douglas Fairbanks' Cloak-and-Sword adventures as it is a product of the old Doug with the zip and pace of his early films.

As the famous Mexican Robin Hood, Doug masquerades as the foolish Don Diego, with many delightful comedy touches of his own — then springs into action as Zorro, the crusader for the rights of the Mexican people. You will also see a couple of fine duel sequences, and a wonderful chase towards the end, where Doug eludes his pursuers with some fantastic acrobatics. (1920)

THE MATRIMANIAC with CONSTANCE TALMADGE

This Douglas Fairbanks feature picture of 1916, is one of the last of the long series he made for Triangle after coming to the screen in 1915. It is an excellent farce comedy, at many spots coming very close to slapstick. Triangle released this subject as a five reel feature, although, in footage, it is barely four reels in length. For your convenience, and for economy, we have reedited the subject into four reels — without making any eliminations — and we highly recommend it to you. (1916)

MR. ROBINSON CRUSOE

WILLIAM FARNUM and MARIA ALBA

It all starts aboard a yacht in the Pacific. Doug and his friends, William Farnum and Earle Browne, are reminded of Robinson Crusoe, and Doug ventures that he, too, could successfully survive alone on a tropical island.

As the story develops, a girl arrives on the shore, trying to escape from an intertribal marriage her parents, on a nearby island have tried to force on her. Doug has rigged up a fish net and a giant catapault to set the net automatically to make an animal trap — and what does he catch but a 100 lb. two legged beauty. (1932)

Blood and Sand

BLOOD AND SAND

with LILA LEE and NITA NALDI

At a small town arena in Spain, where young Spaniards meet for their national sport, just as American kids team up for sandlot baseball, the local hero is Juan Gallardo, played by Valentino. This promising amateur becomes Spain's most idolized matador. Returning to his home town, he sees for the first time in two years, his childhood sweetheart, Carmen, played by Lila Lee. It is apparent that there is nothing in the way of an early wedding.

As the months go by, in Madrid's Plaza de Toros, the great Gallardo entertains the presidential party and aristocratic Donna Sol, played by Nita Naldi. Though quite accustomed to the admiration of beautiful women, Gallardo senses a special magnetism in this one and, after the fight, accepts his manager's offer to introduce him. (1922)

THE EAGLE

(An Abridgement)

with VILMA BANKY and LOUISE DRESSER

This is the story of a Russian Robin Hood, set in the days of Catherine the Great. Valentino is a guardsman in the Imperial Guard. Louise Dresser plays Catherine. Vilma Banky, cast opposite Valentino, is the daughter of a wealthy landowner who has tricked Valentino's father out of all he owns. Thus the guardsman becomes the Black Eagle and the action and the romance begins! (1925)

FILMS STARRING LON CHANEY

THE HUNCHBACK OF NOTRE DAME with PATSY RUTH MILLER

Here is the great Lon Chaney feature of 1923 complete and substantially as it was when it was first released. While Chaney had first attracted more than casual attention in "The Miracle Man" in which he appeared at Paramount in 1919, it was unquestionably his performance in "The Hunchback" and in "The Phantom of the Opera", which followed at Universal in 1925, that laid the groundwork for his highly successful career at M-G-M (1923).

Thomas H. Ince Short Films

IN THE TENNESSEE HILLS featuring CHARLES RAY and ENID MARKEY

While her son (Charles Ray) is trying to borrow the rent money from neighbors, the ailing Mrs. Carson is evicted from her home by miserly John Calhoun. Returning home without the rent money, Jim Carson finds his mother dead and swears vengeance on the landlord. An attempted ambush fails, but ends in a struggle which kills Calhoun and triggers a manhunt by his men for Jim. Finding the young mountaineer, they arrange for a hanging by the setting sun. A race against time is aided by a quirk of nature in this unusual story of mountain justice (1915)

THE PHANTOM OF THE OPERA with MARY PHILBIN, NORMAN KERRY

Strange things have been happening at the Paris Opera — you'd almost think the place was haunted, but in this day and age, that's impossible — or is it? For far beneath the reach of daylight lives a misshapen creature whose genius strikes terror in the hearts of all who meet him, including the one he loves.
The original version of The Phantom of the Opera has never been equalled in subsequent remakes; all seem to lack the same power and scope brought to the role by Lon Chaney and director Rupert Julian.

OLIVER TWIST

starring JACKIE COOGAN

This film version, long thought completely lost, has been restored from a 35mm negative located in Eastern Europe. Released on November 5, 1922, it was the second of young Jackie Coogan's starring vehicles after he had become famous overnight in Charlie Chaplin's The Kid, and he never found a better or more winning role. To present viewers the film abundantly attests both to his charm and to his wonderful acting ability, even when he did not have Chaplin to guide him.

When Lon Chaney created his impressive, evil Fagin in this film, he had The Miracle Man, The Penalty and his work with Maurice Tourneur in Victory and Treasure Island behind him; but he had not yet made either The Hunchback of Notre Dame or The Phantom of the Opera. (1922)

THE QUAKERESS

starring CHARLES RAY, LOUISE GLAUM
Priscilla, a Quakeress, loves John, a Puritan — It's the age old story of love and persecution. Banished from the colony on trumped-up charges, Priscilla is joined by John as she treks through the woods only to make a horrible discovery. Stumbling upon an Indian attack planned for the colony, John is wounded and our heroine hurries in desperation to save those who despise her. Will the Puritans be able to survive — or is it God's vengeance? (1913)

BEAU REVEL

starring LEWIS STONE, FLORENCE VIDOR with

LLOYD HUGHES, KATHLEEN KIRKHAM, RICHARD RYAN, and HARLAN TUCKER
Beau Revel was a dandy — a dude who lived to please his own vanity. He had a power over women, knew it and gave them a month at the outside to fall in love with him. But when his son falls in love, Beau imagined the worse and struck a deal — two weeks to discover if Nelly Steele was vice or virtue. (1921)

with HOBART BOSWORTH and LLOYD HUGHES
Below the Surface shows Hobart Bosworth, one of the real film veterans, in a characteristic role, as a man of dignity and integrity, with young Lloyd Hughes as a very handsome juvenile. The submarine scenes, etc. show much less technical knowledge and detail than would be expected today, but Irvin Willat's direction is very workmanlike. The film includes a great variety of material, but each situation is made to develop naturally out of its predecessor, and an all-over impression of unity results. (1920)

THE COWARD

with FRANK KEENAN and CHARLES RAY
From an era when movie makers are said to have ended every film with a love scene. The Coward doesn't even really have a romance. The Coward is a Civil War production putting the stress on realism in what was very much an age of innocence, during the First World War. This film only serves to amplify the legend of producer Thomas H. Ince. (1915)
810-58-0503, Standard 8mm, 1000-feet, 4-lbs. $34.98

DANGEROUS HOURS

featuring LLOYD HUGHES,
BARBARA CASTLETON, CLAIR DUBREY and WALT WHITMAN
John King (Lloyd Hughes), a young American, becomes involved with a group of Bolsheviks, and falls under the spell of radical Sophia Guerni (Claire DuBrey). He neglects his father (Walt Whitman) and helps the Bolsheviks to plot violence during a strike at a shipyard in his home town, owned by his sweetheart (Barbara Castleton), who has been supporting his father financially. John realizes the evil of Bolshevism, and seizes one of the bombs, which the Bolsheviks had planned to use, and hurls it at the radicals. He renounces his revolutionary doctrines and asks forgiveness of his father and his sweetheart. (1920)

D'ARTAGNAN (The Three Musketeers)

with ORIN JOHNSON, DOROTHY DALTON, LOUISE GLAUM
Thomas H. Ince's production of "The Three Musketeers" which was originally released as "D'Artagnan" was the first major screening of this Dumas classic. It was next done by Fairbanks in 1921, and "D'Artagnan" was reissued a few months before the Fairbanks version went to the theatres, but this time as "The Three Musketeers".

HOME STRETCH, THE

starring DOUGLAS MACLEAN
The story of a jockey turned racehorse owner who attempts to free himself from the vice gambling. The Home Stretch afforded Doug MacLean one of the best roles of his popular career. Filled with a delightful blend of comedy and dramatic suspense, it's still a surefire hit today! (1921)

HOMER COMES HOME

with CHARLES RAY, PRISCILLA BONNER and OTTO HOFFMAN
Director: Jerome Storm
Photography: Chester Lyons

Homer Cavender (Charles Ray), a dreamer-inventor, fails to make good in his home-town, and goes away to the city. There, he proposes to his employer that they build a factory in his hometown, but his employer scoffs at the idea, pointing out it takes money to build a factory. Homer returns to his home-town, and by posing as a millionaire, raises the money. His delighted employer appoints Homer manager of the factory, and our hero is now able to marry the girl of his dreams, Priscilla Bonner. (1920)

THE INVADERS

featuring FRANCIS FORD,
ETHEL GRANDIN, ART ACCORD
The Invaders has a story based on a favorite theme for its time — Indians and the frontier. The film was directed by Francis Ford who also plays the Colonel in what the Moving Picture World said was "a magnificent characterization not unlike that of General Custer". The Colonel's daughter is Ethel Grandin, and the telegraph operator, who appears in a brief sequence, is none other than Art Accord, popular Western and serial star of a decade later. (1912)

THE VILLAGE SLEUTH with CHARLES RAY and WINIFRED WESTOVER

Charles Ray plays a country boy who is "nipped" on becoming a detective. His chance to develop his budding talents comes when he is employed as hired man in a sanitarium largely for rich hypochondriacs, managed by a doctor who seems a very suspicious character. When the visiting husband of one of the rich patients disappears, a girl with whom the hired man has fallen in love is suspected of having killed him, but her admirer remains faithful to her. (1920)

THE WOMAN IN THE SUITCASE

starring ENID BENNETT
with WILLIAM CONKLIN, DORCAS MATTHEWS, ROLAND LEE, CLARA McDOWELL, DONALD McDONALD
Enid's father, a prominent Wall Street figure, has a lady friend. Discovering a photo of The Woman in the Suitcases while searching her dad's travel case for a present, Enid decided to find the secret love.
A charming drama with comic overtones. The woman in The Suitcase moves at the expected brisk pace characteristic of Thomas H. Ince's best features and presents the popular Miss Bennett at her sparkling best. (1920)

TRAFFIC IN SOULS

with JANE GAIL, MATT MOORE
and ETHEL GRANDIN

This famous film, one of the first "features" and a phenomenally successful one, was based on the Rockefeller White Slavery Report and District Attorney Whitman's investigations into the disappearances of many rural women into presumed lives of prostitution in the slums and tenement districts of New York City. Claiming the unqualified approval of the District Attorney's Office, the National Board of Censorship, and various anti-vice societies, it was the first film frankly to exploit sex as a theme, and set off a whole cycle of muckraking pictures which preached the virtues by dwelling heavily on the vices. CATHERINE THE GREAT

Directed by Paul Czinner

starring DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS JR. and ELIZABETH BERGNER

Following the international success of his PRIVATE LIFE OF KING HENRY VIII, producer Alexander Korda could afford a really lavish production, and for his sequel chose a story of the second most famous amorous monarch, Catherine the Great. "Mother of all the Russians." Again looking forward to international success, Korda engaged a fellow Hungarian, Paul Czinner, as director, and in the title role, he cast Czinner's wife Elizabeth Bergner, who had won prominence in German films of the twenties. Douglas Fairbanks Jr. was selected to play the mad prince, and Vincent Korda once again designed an elaborate decor for larger-than-life royalty. (1934)

KRIEMHILDE'S REVENGE

Directed by Fritz Lang

Kriemhilde's Revenge is the second and concluding part of Fritz Lang's gigantic version of the Nibelungenlied. As the film begins, Kriemhilde, standing by Siegfried's corpse, accuses Hagen of the murder and demands justice from her brothers. King Gunther, who has profited by the murder, refuses Kriemhilde's pleas and stands by Hagen. Thus is introduced the moral problem of honor vs. justice which becomes more intense and complex as the film proceeds. (1924)

Caligari remains a unique experience — impossible even for its own director, Robert Wiene, to challenge. It has been said it fell on 1920 theatre screens like a drop of wine upon an ocean of salt water.

Inspired by artists such as the German-American Lyonel Feininger and the Austrian Alfred Kubin, Caligari's set designers Warm, Rohrig and Reimann painted everything in it — including the actors. (1919)

NOSFERATU, THE VAMPIRE

with MAX SCHRECK, GUSTAVE
VON WANGENHEIM, GRETA
SCHROEDER

The first attempt to translate Bram Stoker's "Dracula" to the screen, Nosferatu is filled with unusual and symbolic camera work and differs considerably in approach and content from Universal's version of 1931 which brought Bela Lugosi to fame.

The locale and characters were altered in the adaptation because of copyright problems and the script veered sharply away from the vampire lore set forth by Stoker, yet the soon-to-be recognized genius of director F. W. Murnau is visible in this complete version of a German classic thought to be lost not too many years ago. (1922)

THE PRIVATE LIFE OF KING HENRY VIII

starring CHARLES LAUGHTON

An ever fresh romp through history, this touching, bawdy, and very funny story of the much-married monarch was the first British film to win international success. Charles Laughton in the title role seems to have stepped right out of Holbein. His gusty and wonderfully ripe performance not only established Laughton as a star, but also won him the Academy Award as best actor of 1933.

In the most famous of its great scenes, Laughton, enraged, devours a roast chicken one whole joint at a time. "Manners are dead," he mutters, "no consideration for anyone," he says, throwing the bones over his shoulder. (1933)

SIEGFRIED

Directed by Fritz Lang
with PAUL RICHTER,
MARGARETA SCHOEN

In 1922 the German Studios, Ufa, decided to film this gigantic two-part version of the Nibelungenlied, the Germanic epic that had been written at the close of the twelfth century. This poem blended feudal and Christian customs and beliefs with even more ancient Teutonic legends and myths.

Fritz Lang, one of Germany's greatest directors, worked from a script by his wife, Thea Van Harbou, who in turn had based her version on the 1861 play of Heibel, ignoring Wagner's more famous treatment of the story (1924)

VARIETY

with EMIL JANNINGS, LYA
DEPUTTI and WARWICK WARD

1926 was the year a foreign film rocked Hollywood on its heels. It was the super-charged sex story, Variety, and it broke box office records all over America. Technically, it was the most exciting film that had hit the screen since Griffith's landmark productions of a decade earlier. Jannings was Boss Hoeller, member of a small Berlin carnival company. His partner was the young and beautiful Maria. At the Wintergarden, Berlin's top variety house, a new show was in rehearsal, but its star act had to be cancelled because of an accident to one of the flying Artinelli Brothers. An agent remembers the trapeze act at the carnival — a first rate catcher and a very pretty flyer — and a new act is born, The Flying Artinellis. (1926)

BIOGRAPH BEFORE GRIFFITH COMEDY & MELODRAMA FROM STORE SHOW DAYS

The names of Biograph and D.W. Griffith are inevitably linked together but Biograph was producing solid film subjects before the great director arrived and for the most part, they were ahead of their time even then.

The Suburbanite is a delightful comedy of 1904 as timely today as it was then and is typical of American screen humor of the era. The other part of this unusual release is a 1905 melodrama called simply enough, The Fire Bug. Both represent the American motion picture as it developed from a simple novelty into the most influential entertainment medium the world has known. (1904-05)

FOUR OF A KIND

Except at the very beginning, none of these seem to have been directed by D.W. Griffith personally. Later, they became Mack Sennett territory. Thus "Keystone Comedy" really began as Biograph Comedy, and in this offering we present a cross-section of the Biograph stock company in a Fun Festival comprising four subjects.

To make up a Biograph Fun Festival, two Biograph split reels have here been presented together. These are TURNING THE TABLES and HAPPY JACK. A HERO (1910) and THE VILLAIN FOILED and THE BARON (1911). The latter pair was probably directed by Mack Sennett; the earlier was claimed by Frank Powell.

ON THE TRAIL OF

THE SILVER FOX

with HELEN MARTEN, J.W. JOHNSTON, BARBARA TENNANT, FRED C. TRUESDALE and ALEC B. FRANCIS

On the Trail of the Silver Fox is a curious film. The fox (who is dead to begin with) has very little to do with it, and anybody who went to see it expecting a wildlife picture must have been sadly disappointed.

Its real concern is the relations between human beings, which it attempts a good deal for a one-reeler. We are made to sympathize with a wrongly-accused man, but soon we come to feel that, as the saying is, it couldn't have happened to a nicer person! (1913)

A TRIO OF EDISON COMEDIES

FROM STORE SHOW DAYS

Edison's early films were both imaginative and inventive, as these three short movies of the nickelodeon era prove. Each has its own particular value and charm and each marks a stepping stone in the motion picture's development.

Laughing Gas was directed in 1905 by Edwin S. Porter. How Jones Lost His Roll tells the story with delightfully animated titles that are directed to the audience and How The Office Boy Saw The Ball Game not only features the World Champion N.Y. Giants in their opening game of the 1906 season, but it was the first movie to intercut actual newsreel footage with studio shots to tell a story. A collector's gem! (1905-06)

ARNE SUCKSDORFF

THE HUNTER (1947)

One summer dawn a hunter shoulders his gun and starts from home across the Swedish meadow. In a clearing in the nearby woods, two grouse are in a mating dance, but the birds' rapture is ended suddenly by a bullet; now, the hunter has a tail feather for his hatband. Adorned, the man moves deeper into the forest until he sees a fawn drinking from a tranquil lake. Stirred by the beauty of the deer, he averts the gun he had already aimed, takes down his snare, replaces the feather with a flower, and closer to nature than before, he starts for home. (1947)

SHADOWS OVER THE SNOW (1945)

"In a genre where words have become an obsession, he has shown how a film can dispense altogether with them and still make its meaning clear and compelling. He handles the camera as freely and fluently as if it were a brush in his hand, so that his pictures seem to reach the screen with a freshness and immediacy which deny the intervening mechanical process. With his feeling for composition and unerring sense of rhythm, his films are visual poetry, a continuous delight for the eye and a subtly enriching experience into a mystique. (1945)

STRUGGLE FOR SURVIVAL (1944)

Fear of plunder and death is the daily lot of the birds that make their home on the rocky cliffs of the Swedish shore. Resigned to their fate, they stand by as the big gray sea hawk robs them of their young. His ruthless reign is dramatized in magnificent photography.

When Spring comes, the fledglings make their first plunge into the sea. Some perish, but more survive — and life goes on. Full of the beauty of terror of the struggle to live, this film (produced five years prior to its American release under the Swedish title TRUT!) — THE GULL — also displays the distinctive Scandinavian approach to nature in which "wind, wood and water are still alive." SYMPHONY OF A CITY (1948)

Winner of an Academy Award
as Best Short Subject of 1948

Contemplative, impressionistic, and exquisite, this is one of Sucksdorff's most famous works and was the winner of a coveted Academy Award as Best Short Subject of 1948.

Arne Sucksdorff retained his style and his skill when he moved from the animal to the human world, and in this film his camera moves as freely and fluently through Stockholm as before it had moved through the forest. For Sucksdorff, indeed, the city never loses its ties to nature.

BLUE BLAZES RAWDEN

with MAUDE GEORGE
and ROBERT MCKIM

Blue Blazes Rawden (Hart), a boss-lumberjack in the Canadian Northwest, falls in love with a half-breed (Maude George), who is the mistress of the local saloon keeper, "Ladyfingers" Hilgart (McKim). Rawden, in a gambling match wins both the saloon and the girl. A fight ensues, and Hilgart is killed. Hilgart's mother arrives in town with her younger son. Hart explains that Hilgart is dead, and the mother is led to believe that the two were friends. Hart slowly realized the error of his ways, but not until Hilgart's younger brother has almost killed him after learning the truth from the half-breed. Hart sells the saloon, gives the money to Hilgart's mother, and walks out into the wilderness, a better man. (1918)

THE TOLL GATE

with ANNA Q. NILSSON

Mr. Hart has the role of Black Deering, a slashing, hard-riding bandit chief. Betrayed by one of his men, Deering is captured by U. S. Troopers, but he manages to escape and, with the sheriff's posse hot on his trail finally reaches seclusion after many thrilling scenes. In a little clearing he comes upon the cabin of Mary Brown, and learns that she is the deserted wife of the man who gave him up to the law. Influenced by her noble character, Deering surrenders to the sheriff. In a subsequent encounter, he kills his betrayer and for his good conduct on that and previous occasions is allowed his freedom, provided he keeps south of the Mexican border. (1920)

WAGON TRACKS

with JANE NOVAK, ROBERT MCKIM

As wagon train guide Buckskin Hamilton, Bill Hart heads for Westport Landing on the Missouri River to meet his brother Billy, who's just graduated from medical school. But a crooked card game and tragedy combine to leave Billy dead.

Searching out those responsible, Hart discovers that Jane Novak is the culprit, but he doesn't believe her confession. Carrying out his own investigation, Bill confirms his suspicion that her brother is guilty and has somehow managed to convince her that she did it. The denouement is vintage Hart and Wagon Tracks will keep you in suspense all the way as the greatest cowboy of them all rides again. (1919)

with MYRTLE STEDMAN
and FRANK BROWNLEE

When unsafe mill conditions cause the death of his son, Robert Evans (William S. Hart) seeks vengeance by kidnapping the son of factory owner Henry Chapple (Frank Brownlee). Thinking her son dead, Mrs. Chapple (Myrtle Stedman) endures years of unhappiness and illness. Mother and son are finally reunited, Chapple improves factory safety conditions, and Evans goes on his lonely way. (1921)

THE SAGA OF WM. S. HART

Here's a unique film that virtually spans Hart's motion picture career which ran from 1914 to 1925. It contains sequences from ten of his motion picture successes from 1914 to 1924, and vividly traces not only Hart's development as the greatest Western star in the history of the screen, but the maturing of the motion picture during the years immediately before and after World War I. STARRING

THE STORY OF WILLIAM S. HART

Dramatic and action highlights from two of Hart's great features — "Tumbleweeds", the last film in which he starred — and "Hell's Hinges", one of the great, early films for Ince during the Triangle period. Included is the lip-synchronized appearance of Hart from the prologue to "Tumbleweeds" which he prepared for the reissue of that silent feature during the early years of the talkies. A real collectors item!

BAD BUCK OF SANTA YNEZ

with THELMA SALTER
and FANNY MIDGLEY

While escaping from a sheriff's posse, Bad Buck comes across a mother and child, whose husband and father has just died. Buck ignores the mother's pleas for help in burying the dead man, but is persuaded by the little child. Buck then takes the two to his shack, and rides away before the posse arrives. The child is bitten by a rattlesnake, and Buck rides into town to fetch the doctor. On the way back, he is shot, but arrives in time for the doctor to save the child, only to die (in the child's arms) as a result of the gunshot wound. (1915)

HELL'S HINGES

with CLARA WILLIAMS

The rough frontier town of Hell's Hinges is frenzied and ungoverned. The upright citizens of Hell's Hinges have called a parson in from the East. But the other elements of the town vow that neither law nor religion will come to town. Dolly, the dance hall girl helps in bringing about the downfall of the parson and the entire settlement. This now-classic film seems to resemble the great early dramatic films rather than the traditional western. (1916)

In the Days of the Thundering Herd IN THE DAYS OF THE THUNDERING HERD

with BESSIE EYTON

Tom is cast as the pony express rider who forsakes the Pony express business to accompany his sweetheart, Sally Madison (Bessie Eytton) into the far west to join her father. There are running fights, encounters between the Indians and other wagon trains, a buffalo stampede and amazing equestrian feats by Tom which a reviewer of the day said "would probably never be repeated again in moving pictures." Our abridged version, much as it appeared in the 1920's gives considerable flavor of the early and major work of that famous western star, Tom Mix. Dramatic Films Railroad Stories

In the early years of the movies, trains and railroads were a favorite subject for action dramas. Trains were the fastest things on wheels and train robbery and train wrecks were front page news.

Thus it was that pioneer producers, Edison and Biograph, captured for posterity much of the flavor of railroading in the east in the early years of the century, while Kalem, with its "Hazards of Helen" shot against the background of the Salt Lake Line (now Union Pacific) and Santa Fe, has done much the same for the area around Los Angeles.

In the dramatic railroad subjects offered here, you'll see much of the action from the golden age of railroading in the years before World War I.

BETWEEN ORTON JUNCTION AND FALLONVILLE

with EDNA FLUGRATH, BIGELOW COOPER, AUGUSTUS PHILLIPS and BARRY O'MOORE

Between Orton Junction and Fallonville tells the story of a railroad engineer and a telegraph operator competing for the affections of the girl. One day, the telegraph operator sends a message to hold the fast freight at Orton Junction for a meet with No. 51. But the operator there is romantically occupied and lets the fast freight go through. The error discovered, he wires back the report of his failure. Our telegraph operator phones the girl of the impending disaster and asks her to ride (horseback) to Big Bend and flag down the express, on which his rival is the engineer. Our heroine rides for life and reaches Big Bend just as the two trains appear on opposite sides of the curve headed straight for each other. But the trains are stopped and the day is saved! (1913)

THE GHOST OF THE CANYON

with HELEN GIBSON

Filmed on the San Pedro branch of the old Los Angeles and Salt Lake—"The Salt Lake Route"—at or near the stations of Bell and Vernon in then suburban Los Angeles. This film tells the story of bitter rivalry between two railroads for important fast freight contracts and how the rivalry was carried to the extreme by fabricating the illusion of "The Ghost of the Canyon".

TOP COMEDY SEQUENCES WITH THE GREAT COMEDIANS

THE CLOWN PRINCES OF HOLLYWOOD

starring CHARLIE CHAPLIN, BUSTER KEATON, HAROLD LLOYD, OLIVER HARDY, STAN LAUREL, HARRY LANGDON, CHARLEY CHASE, BEN TURPIN and BILLY WEST

Hollywood Royalty — the big stars whose transcending careers as performers made them into international kings — holding court in a kingdom all their own and laying claim to their crowns not through blood lines but through boxoffice lines.

But the court also had its Clown Princes — and we're about to see these hard-working comedians who, usually content to remain on the sidelines of movie society, made audiences laugh all over.

IN THE SWITCH TOWER

featuring WALTER EDWARDS, FRANK BORZAGE

The story of a father who neglected his young son for drink, and went to prison for his part in a barroom brawl, is as touching today as it was half a century ago. "In The Switch Tower" plays with the audience's emotions and winds them all up in an exciting climax. A powerful melodrama for 1915 from Thomas H. Ince

THE LOST EXPRESS

with HELEN HOLMES, JACK MOWER, FRED CHURCH

The story of The Lost Express has the hijacking of the railroad president's private car as its basic theme. The hi-jackers are working on behalf of the president's son-in-law, who is estranged from his wife. The railroad's president is probably the prime mover in trying to break up the marriage of his daughter. Through this highly complicated process, the son-in-law is trying to hold off the president of the road long enough to bring about a reconciliation with his wife. It's a far-fetched story, but it does serve as a framework onto which some dashing railroad action can be fashioned. (1926)

JOHN, BILLY BEVAN, ANDY CLYDE, LARRY SEMOND, OLIVER HARDY

VERNON BANKS and THE KEYSTONE COPS

Often imaginative, always fast and furious—slapstick, more than any other kind of movie, made the most of the possibilities—and the impossibilities, of cinematography. Slapstick in the movies started in the 1890's, before movies even had plots. Then, for about fifteen years, the audience appeal of slapstick went unexploited—and then came Mack Sennett, who was to turn such nonsense into an art.

Our movie, "Slapstick," features bits and pieces from some of Sennett's most typical comedies, and some from choice items done by others. Thus, its packed full of fast-paced slapstick routines and jam-packed with laughs!

A ROMANCE OF THE RAILS

with BESSIE LEARN, HARRY EYTINGE, GEORGE LESLEY, WILLIAM WEST

Barton is a squatter on railroad land. Frank Denning, assistant superintendent, is sent out to inform Barton he must move, thus meeting Alice, the squatter's niece. Three weeks later the railroad legal department goes in to action, but the old man, orders Denning away. Denning has an errand further up the road. The old man gets out his gun and makes his way to the right-of-way to await Denning's return. The old man falls on the track and breaks a leg. The Express is due! Denning, returning on his handcar, sees Barton on the track, pulls him aside just as the train comes along. Romance follows! (1912)

THE RIVAL RAILROAD PLOT

with HELEN HOLMES

Kalem's series The Hazards of Helen was one of the most commercial successes of the mid-teens, with 119 titles released on a weekly basis between Nov. 14, 1914 and Feb. 2, 1917. Helen Holmes was the Helen in the first forty-eight Hazards; Helen Gibson played the part over the remainder of the series.

In the fall of 1919, Nathan Hirsch acquired thirty of the Helen Holmes railroad melodramas made by Kalem for reissue by his Aywon Film Corporation. It must have been a bit surprising to see Aywon's releases, rechristened The Adventures of Helen, coming out as two reels, since most of the originals had been of one reel length. Through skillful editing, Aywon had reworked the scenes and sequences into almost completely new stories for its two reel issues. (1915)

THE WILD ENGINE

with JACK HOXIE and HOOT GIBSON

Dismissed as a schoolteacher because of her "frivolity", Helen is the only person who can prevent a collision between a passenger train and a boxcar loaded with explosives. She reaches the switch in time and saves the day. Later, an excursion train leaving the yards is followed by a runaway engine and word is flashed to Helen (who is now the telegraph operator). Taking dispatch rider Hoot Gibson's cycle, Helen attempts to catch the train and, successful in warning the excursion, she pursues and stops the wild engine, earning an apology from the superintendent. CLIFF-HANGING MOMENTS

FROM THE SERIALS

with WILLIAM DUNCAN, EDITH JOHNSON, ARLINE PRETTY,

HENRY G. SELL, EDDIE POLO

Scenes from "The Steel Trail" (1923), a fifteen chapter serial which had William Duncan cast as a hard-punching construction engineer, are from one of Universal's primitive coming attraction trailers of the period. Edge-of-the-seat suspense is created in the climactic segment from "Burning Strands", chapter nine of "A Woman in Grey" (1919). The excerpt from Captain Kidd" (1922), in which Eddie Polo played the role of a wealthy man who had been shanghaied aboard the ship, the Albatross, has Eddie and the boat's crew in a desperate battle with the notorious pirate, Captain Kidd, and his band of cutthroats.

Chapters From The Perils Of Pauline

THE AERIAL WIRE

with CRANE WILBUR and PAUL PANZER

In the continuing effort to gain the Marvin fortune for himself by disposing of Pauline, Koerner arranged with a band of gypsies to trap her and Harry in an abandoned cellar by the river. The plan is to dynamite the cellar wall, allowing the river to flood in and drown the captives. All goes according to plan, but Harry and Pauline outwit death by swimming under the water and up into the chimney. Pauline and Harry attempt to escape their clutches by spanning an aerial wire across the river. Cut by the villain as they reach mid-point, the wire drops both into the river, but scrambling out safely, they make their escape in Harry's car and return to the Marvin mansion. (1914)

with CRANE WILBUR and PAUL PANZER

Although ever so many chapters of the "Perils of Pauline" had appeared prior to "The Reptile Under the Flowers" and Pauline seemed set on a successful career before marriage, she and Harry were now making wedding plans. Koerner, feeling that Pauline's fortune is finally going to escape him, enlists the help of Balthazar. But there is some plotting with gypsies in which one is wounded, and the wife vows vengeance—not against Koerner, but against Pauline—and plants a "vipser" in a basket of flowers to be given to our heroine. THE BRINK OF ETERNITY

Chapter 6 of "Haunted Valley"

starring RUTH ROLAND, JACK DAUGHERTY and FRANCIS FORD

Ruth Roland was the second greatest of the serial queens and Pearl White's only real competitor for fame. Miss Roland owed much of her success to the story technique of Frank Leon Smith, dean of the serial writers, as it was Smith's meticulous weaving of plots in episodic fashion that contributed to keeping Ruth at the top.

"The Brink of Eternity," Chapter 6 of "Haunted Valley" was completed and released in mid-June 1923. While the story line becomes quickly clear, the serial dealt with a gigantic engineering project of Ruth's about to go bankrupt because of the villainy of one of her friends. (1923)

EPISODES FROM "LIGHTNING BRYCE"

with JACK HOKIE and ANN LITTLE

In the 1920's, Jack Hoxie was one of the most popular western stars of the silent screen. Although he never reached the prominence accorded Bill Hart or Tom Mix, Hoxie's westerns became a Saturday matinee institution and in their imagination, millions of youthful moviegoers rode the range with their hero.

Hoxie's big break came in the form of co-starring with Ann Little in Lightning Bryce, the film hit the neighborhood theatres with the fury of a thunderstorm and the kids had a new idol. (1919)

NOW—after several years—another chapter in the saga of the silent screen's greatest Serial King has surfaced. This time, it's a chapter from his final cliffhanger, Captain Kidd, and Eddie Polo shows once more why he was so fantastically popular in the years immediately following World War I.

There never was another Serial King who measured up to Eddie's stature with the fans. Not even Charles Hutchison, that sterling daredevil who was about to inherit Polo's throne, could elicit the same audience rapport. 810-42-1211, Standard 8mm, 475-feet, 14-ozs. $15.98

THE LEAP FROM THE WATER TOWER

(One of the famous "Hazards of Helen")

The longest serial film in the era of the silents, produced by Kalem from 1914 to 1917, running a total of 119 almost weekly episodes. While all of those films dealt with railroading, the activities of the "telegraph operator at the station down the line" were often rather superficially set against this background. But this episode is no routine chapter, for it deals almost as much with locomotives and trains as it does with the players. (1915)

THE OPEN SWITCH

starring HELEN HOLMES, with CHARLES WHITTAKER, JACK PERRIN,

MACK V. WRIGHT, ARTHUR MILLETT, HENRY

ROQUEMORE and MAX ASCHER

Best remembered as a popular serial queen (1914-1919) with whom, the railroad became a virtual alter ego, Helen Holmes did most of her screen work as the heroine of innumerable "iron horse" dramas produced for the independent market between 1921-1926. Her loss of popularity had resulted from several non-railroad dramas made in 1919-1920.

When she returned to the railroad setting late in 1920, fame had passed her by and only independent westerns and railroad dramas were left for the daring Miss Holmes (1926)

THE PURPLE DAGGER

(Chapter Two of "The Trail Of The Octopus")

starring BEN WILSON

Subjects dealing with the supernatural were in vogue during the 1919-1921 period and "The Trail of the Octopus" leaned quite heavily in that direction. As the noted criminologist Carter Holmes, Ben Wilson attempted to foil the evil plot of the mysterious "Monsieur X", on Seal Island, which, of course, deeply involved Neva Gerber. Chapters One and Two left the hero and heroine in deadly peril. But we've been able to add on the opening sequences from Chapter Three, "Face to Face", to bring this excellent example of the silent "Cliff-Hanger" to its conclusion. (1919)

Basically, the story of the Mystery of the Double Cross revolves around the efforts of Peter Hale, a wealthy young man returning to the United States on a trans-Atlantic steamer to identify a beautiful young girl whose presence aboard ship is mysterious. During a panic caused by the sighting of a submarine, her dress is torn at the shoulder and he catches a brief look at an unusual mark of a double cross on her arm. At the office of his father's lawyer, Peter learns that in order to inherit the Hale fortune, he must find and marry The Girl of the Double Cross, who is described as being perfect in mind and body and trained to be his wife. Failing to do, the will assigns the Hale fortune to whoever does win her.

As Hale and the lawyer discuss the will, the door slowly opens and he catches another fleeting glimpse of the girl on the steamer. Barging through the door in hot pursuit, he finds her gone and his way barred by a mysterious masked stranger holding a gun and warning him not to follow. How Hale meets Phillipa Brewster, who he is certain is the one he seeks, how she denies his premise, how he doubts her and seeks to prove that she is really The Girl of the Double Cross, despite her willing engagement to villainous Bridgey Bentley, makes a fast-moving torrent of action and thrills revolving around one of the best serial characters ever devised — The Masked Stranger.

With its sophisticated editing, this serial seems even more technically advanced than Pathe's Pearl of the Army, which it followed in release and compares quite favorably with the best of the surviving features of its era in the camera work and special effects used.

Its reappearance after more than a half-century is welcome news for film buffs and historians alike, and as you screen the chapters today, we're sure that you too will become engrossed as Peter Hale unravels the shroud of darkness that masks The Mystery of the Double Cross.

WORLD WAR

WORLD WAR I 1914-1918

WORLD WAR II

The Great War CHAPTER I—THE WAR CLOUDS BREAK

The first chapter of "The Great War" is devoted to background personalities and events of the period—the pomp, pageantry and parades that were the order of the day in Europe—the visit of King George and Queen Mary of England to Germany and the king's first cousin, Kaiser Wilhelm II, German Emperor and King of Prussia.

Imperial Germany had become a power at sea—had developed the modern submarine—and its gun crews on surface vessels had been precisely trained. All Europe was like dry tinder—ready to explode—and the murder of the Archduke provided the spark.

CHAPTER II—1914-1917, STALEMATE AND U.S. NEUTRALITY

Britain sends her small army to help invade Belgium—six weeks after the collapse of Belgium, the Germans attack on the Marne—to within 18 miles of Paris—the famous taxicabs of Paris rush every available soldier to the defense—refugees with their meager belongings trudge to the rear areas.

In the United States, there is peace and neutrality—Germany declares unrestricted submarine warfare—in the Lusitania disaster, almost 1,200 of the passengers and crew lose their lives.

CHAPTER III—1917: YEAR OF CRISIS

The American Expeditionary Force begins to move "over there." Inadequate weapon stocks at home force draftees to train with wooden cannon. U. S. Admiral Sims develops the convoy system for Atlantic crossings. Disastrous attacks by the Germans in the early spring of 1917 have led to spot mutinies in the French army. In both the French and British armies casualties exceed replacement abilities.

The True Glory

This is Blackhawk's 8mm. production of "The True Glory," edited from the sound film of the same name. An official motion picture production of the governments of Great Britain and the United States, this surveys the entire final World War II campaign on the European Western Front, called "The Crusade in Europe" by General Dwight Eisenhower. The seven chapters of "The True Glory" vividly picture the many land, air and sea battles and emphasize the miracles of comradeship and cooperation which came out of the various campaigns. The full impact of the meaning of the film's title is felt in the final chapter when the familiar prayer of Sir Francis Drake is presented.

CHAPTER IV—THE YANKS ENTER

In this final chapter of "The Great War", the action begins in late May of 1918, when the French retreat at Chemin des Dames ridge—but the U. S. Marines move forward. U. S. youth and vitality encouraged the French. The airplane was a new weapon of war, and General Billy Mitchell commanded the greatest concentration of air power ever assembled.

The Americans got their first real combat experience at Seicheprey and Cantigny. Losses are heavy—but the Big Parade is under way.

COUNTDOWN TO WORLD WAR II

By the summer of 1939, the governments of Great Britain and France were at last convinced that Nazi Germany intended war. Prime minister Chamberlain saw Hitler's claims to the Polish Corridor as but a pretext for assault, and on June 10th repeated to Parliament his intention to stand by Poland if her independence were threatened. This was confirmed by a treaty on August 23th, two days after the German-Soviet non-aggression pact was signed. Poland was attacked by Germany at dawn on September 1, and World War II was declared on September 3rd.

FURY IN THE PACIFIC

Fury in the Pacific is the story of Allied capture of the island, Peleliu, from the Japanese. The capture of its airstrip was essential to the security of our advance to the Philippines. Peleliu was but six miles long and, at its maximum, six miles wide. It seemed that it would be easy to concentrate destruction within that small area. Yet, our conquest of Peleliu took from Sept. 15 to Nov. 26, 1944, when hostilities ceased completely.

In what surely must be one of the most fortuitous accidents in film history, Movietone cameraman Al Brick was at Pearl Harbor filming a "Magic Carpet" travelogue to have been called Pearl of the Pacific when the Japanese attacked our naval and air forces without warning on December 7, 1941, bringing the United States into World War II. Movietone, alone among all newsreels, thus secured authentic and exclusive scenes of the devastation—but Al Brick's footage was immediately seized by the Navy Department, and not until a year later were some of the hosts cleared for public showing.

WAR IN THE DESERT

Produced by Fox-Movietone News

Written by war correspondent, Quentin Reynolds, with the sound version narrated by him, this is the story of the Italian conquest of North Africa, a conquest that turned into disaster.

It began in 1933 when Mussolini ordered General Balbo, Italy's national hero, to "build an empire in North Africa."

A CERTAIN NOBLEMAN

This film tells the story of the nobleman who lived at Capernaum (John 4:47-53). When his only son, whom he loved dearly, fell ill, he appealed to his Roman gods in vain. In despair, he sought out the man whose teachings he had heard about, begging him to come to his son. Jesus, seeing the father was sincere, told him to go home, that his son would live. The father, believing, hurried home to find his son was healed at that very hour.

CAUGHT WITH THE GOODS (1918)

with HARRY GRIBBON

Harry Gribbon and Nick Cogley were veterans of many Keystone Comedies; both had acted and directed under Sennett's guidance. "Caught With the Goods" shows how well they mastered their trade and follows next; you'll chuckle with delight just as the audiences did when it was originally released on the Triangle program March 17, 1918.

It's a lovers triangle, with Harry and Ray chasing Alice. All good things come to an end eventually, and Alice chooses Harry. Dapper little Ray doesn't believe in "good losers", and catching Light Fingered Lizzie shoplifting in her dad's department store frames his rival. It almost works, but this time, the Cops are too smart to be taken in by such an obvious trick . . . or are they?

DRY AND THIRSTY (1920)

with BILLY BLETCHER, VERA REYNOLDS and JOHN DEMPSEY

One of the early attempts at Prohibition satire and a good example of the low-budget independent comedies of the early twenties was the film Dry and Thirsty. This film was a third of the Bletcher comedies and is presented here virtually as offered to exhibitors in March, 1920.

Billy proves that for those who really want a drink, there's no stopping the thirsty man, who will go to any length to get it. Billy goes the route and winds up with the lovely Vera Reynolds in the hilarious process.

HERMAN HERO (1919)

with HANK MANN and MADGE KIRBY

When David Lieberman applied for work with the Keystone Film Company in 1913, few expected the gangling ex-steepie jack to become Mack Sennett's favorite comic. Known to fans as Hank Mann, he toiled quietly in the Keystone vineyard, developing a reputation for masterful scene-stealing and unusual but effective comedy "bits".

When Sennett refused to raise Hank's pay, the romance ended and Mann took leave of the screen's famed comedy group. In 1919, Hank became the star of his own company.

Herman Hero was one of the best in Hank's one-reel series and is presented here just as it was seen by comedy fans in December 1919.

Slugged by a milk bottle while watching a domestic quarrel, Hank awakes in a fantasy world, envisioning the wife to be a prisoner of a Turkish harem. Sneaking into the harem to rescue her, he is transformed into a dancing girl and beguiles the Sultan before attempting to lead the entire harem to safety.

HER FIRST FLAME (1919)

with GALE HENRY, PHYLLIS ALLEN and MILBURN MORANTI

The sands of time often worked in mysterious ways, obscuring that which was representative of an era and magnifying that which was not. In this respect, time has grossly mistreated Gale Henry, one of the most versatile and popular eccentric comedienne of the silent screen.

Miss Henry's obscurity today can be attributed to release of her major comedies on the independent market. None of these, nor her work at Universal, have been seen by the public for a half-century.

The year is 1950 — women earn the bacon — men take care of the kids — and Gale is running for Fire Chief against Minnie Fish (Phyllis Allen). It's a campaign with no holds barred and anything goes.

IN DANGER'S PATH

From "The Hazards of Helen"
starring HELEN HOLMES

IN DANGERS PATH was episode 33 of The Hazards of Helen, the weekly series of one reel railroad thrillers produced by Kalem. The series began with HELEN'S SACRIFICE which was released November 14, 1914, and ended with episode 119, THE SIDETRACKED SLEEPER, released February 13, 1917.

IN DANGER'S PATH is the story of railroad detectives on the trail of a gang that has been looting freight cars enroute. There's an unusual amount of action in this one aboard a train, for Helen gets in the way and is locked inside a refrigerator car which then catches fire because of Helen building a fire inside in order to keep warm. (Pretty thin story line today, but it provides for lots of action of great interest to rail fans.) Of course, Helen is properly rescued and the gang is caught, but not before a number of action shots along the old San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake are presented, together with a very satisfactory sequence in the round house area at Los Angeles, with good shots of the steam locomotives of the day.

LOST IN THE NIGHT (1913)

starring PEARL WHITE and CHESTER BARNETT

Pearl White is remembered today almost completely because of the many serials in which she starred beginning, in 1914, with THE PERILS OF PAULINE, and ending in 1923, with PLUNDER. But from 1910 to 1912 she was seen in many one-reel films made by Powers, Lubin and Pathe.

Late in 1912, the Crystal Film Company announced that she would henceforth appear exclusively in their productions — quite an accomplishment for Pearl in a period when few players were even known to the public by name. During the next year, this series of Crystal one-reelers provided a new subject for the nickelodeons almost every week. If LOST IN THE NIGHT is a fair example, this group must have been in unusually satisfactory condition.

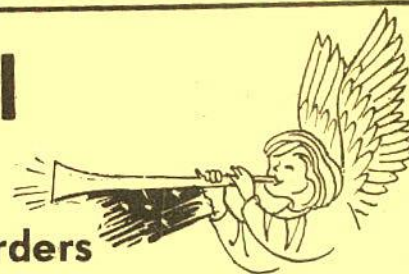

A missing necklace leads Pearl and Chester to mortgage their property. When the mortgage comes due, all looks lost, but the necklace suddenly reappears. How and why makes fascinating screen entertainment.

MELODRAMA RIDES THE RAILS

In MELODRAMA RIDES THE RAILS we have taken three examples of early movies dealing with different uses of railroading as the subject, or the background for the story, produced by three of the pioneer companies — Edison, Biograph and Vitaphone.

The first sequence is RAILROAD SMASHUP (Edison, 1904) which pictures the head-on collision of two 4-4-0 steam locomotives... a favorite attraction of major fairs throughout the country well into the 1920s. The second sequence, A RAILWAY TRAGEDY (Biograph, 1904) is an early film story, really only a single episode filmed in England and the third and major sequence is A MOTHER'S DEVOTION (Vitaphone, 1911) which was also released as THE FIRING OF THE PATCHWORK QUILT. It is a typical example of the overemotional years before World War I. But beyond the elementary story, which deals with a young man who is a railroad engineer, we get a number of good shots of a passenger train of the day powered by 4-4-0 locomotive including some scenes shot from the locomotive itself.

SAWDUST AND SALOME (1914)

with VAN DYKE BROOKE, LEO DELANEY, NORMA TALMADGE, LOUISE BEAUDET, JANE FEARNLEY and ADA GIFFORD

Norma Talmadge came to the screen in 1910 as a member of Vitaphone's stock company. Her work soon impressed Maurice Costello, Vitaphone's top star. His influence led her to her first leading role in A TALE OF TWO CITIES.

Her next few years were spent at Vitaphone, where pictures such as SAWDUST AND SALOME helped to establish Norma's reputation as a delightful and versatile actress.

A story of young love and social snobbery set against the dual background of New York City life and the circus, early in the century. SAWDUST AND SALOME takes an unusual twist in the face of social hypocrisy, with a poignant lesson for today.

AT THE RINGSIDE (1921)

starring SNUB POLLARD with MARIE MOSQUINI, NOAH YOUNG, and ERNIE MORRISON

When AT THE RINGSIDE was released on July 17, 1921, Snub Pollard was nearing the peak of his career. A former stage comic who turned to the screen in 1915 as second banana for young Harold Lloyd, Pollard rapidly conquered the new medium and when Lloyd was given a new Pathe contract in 1919 for two-reelers...

Snub carried on as the star of his own single reel series, rapidly building a reputation for ingenious and inventive comedy routines. Although he was not to achieve the distinction of rising to the top rank of screen comics, Pollard proved a delightful and durable mirthmaker for several years.

Shades of Chaplin's EASY STREET (of course there's a cute imitation!) Snub's the neighborhood cop and what a neighborhood! It's open season on the good folk and Marie is about to lose her business for want of the rent.

THE FAST MAILMAN (1922) with BOBBY DUNN, HELEN DALE and GERRY O'DELL

One of those ubiquitous comics who worked for Keystone and virtually everyone else in the golden days of screen comedy, Bobby Dunn has been virtually forgotten over the years. His career began and ended in obscurity, yet for a few years in the mid-twenties, Bobby was a familiar sight on the nation's theatre screens.

Bobby Dunn's Mirthquake Comedies were a mainstay of the Arrow release schedule from 1922 to 1925 and it was during these years that he did his best work under the supervision of Eddie Lyons and Billy West. THE FAST MAILMAN comes from his first series and follows as released in September 1922.

The lightning postman and the local soda jerk are rivals for Helen's hand and decide to settle the question with an auto race. Father favors the jerk and our hero finds the race stacked against him, but can he lose?

THE RODEO (1929) with MARY ANN JACKSON, RAYMOND MCKEE, RUTH HIATT and ANDY CLYDE

No group of comedies better reflect the evolution of Mack Sennett's comic style from pure slapstick farce to polite drawing room humor than the popular "Smith Family" series produced in the latter twenties. Raymond McKee was the nominal head of the household, supported by Ruth Hiatt as his wife... but the roost was really ruled by little Mary Ann Jackson and a host of her animal friends. Mary Ann was a born "mugger" and captivated audiences by her antics, all of which usually resulted in trouble for father, but some arriving just in the nick of time to save dad from himself.

The Smith family decides to spend Sunday at a local rodeo — with Grandma, Grandpa, Uncle, the cook, and anyone else who wants to go along. But the problem seems to be in getting there; it isn't as easy as it sounds.

HOWLING HOLLYWOOD (1929) with VERNON DENT and GEORGE DAVIS

Motion pictures had kidded themselves almost entirely from their beginning, but invariably with a self-consciousness that betrayed itself; maturity did not appear in self-satire until the silent era was virtually over — honestly had been a long time in coming and with the changes sound would bring, lasted but a brief moment.

One of the best examples of self-satire the industry made during this period, and released to theatres in April 1929, HOWLING HOLLYWOOD, was one of the final Mermaid Comedies to appear in silent form and contains a cast that would soon be relegated to small roles before disappearing from the screen entirely.

Producing a movie is no snap, as our hero learns when he screens his latest epic for the studio boss. It's got everything (including a peculiar odor) to make this one of Hollywood's best self-satires.

THE FILMS OF

CHARLIE CHAPLIN

Keystone Period

Chaplin came to the movies late in 1913 when he was signed by Mack Sennett to appear in Keystone Comedies. This was the period in which Charlie's comedy character was taking form, and his style developing from his days in pantomime. Starting out at the tremendous salary of $150.00 a week and as an unknown he was signed by Essanay at $1250.00 a week in December, 1914.

The Masquerader

Shanghai'd

Essanay Period

Here was the time that Chaplin began to come into his own. With more time devoted to the preparation of his films, his talent became even more in evidence and there was less and less dependence on slapstick. Almost all of his Essanay films were two reels (most of them are or will be available from Blackhawk) and were more painstakingly produced. But, so high had his popularity skyrocketed in 1915 that Mutual was able to sign him away from Essanay in February, 1916, at salary and bonus totaling $670,000 for a year.

THE FILMS OF

CHARLIE CHAPLIN

Mutual Period

In this period, during 1916-1917, Chaplin produced and directed a dozen two reel comedies for Mutual. As a group, these rank at the very top of any series of short comedy films ever produced. And it is here that Chaplin came into his own. Every film of the twelve is a delight.

starring LITTLE RASCALS

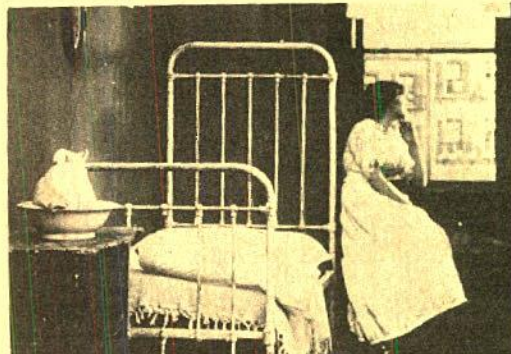

It's late Friday afternoon and there's a new kid in the neighborhood — a tough guy named Butch. He and his pal "The Worm" stop by for a look at the school they'll have to attend. Just then, the bell rings and class lets out. The Gang files past and Alfalfa moans something about "the strain" and taking "a long rest over the week-end." Butch quickly demands everyone's attention, and pacing back and forth announces with a defiant scowl that starting Monday he's the big shot around here. He usually proves it by licking every kid on the block but to save time, he'll just take on whoever's toughest. Spanky asks for time to train and gets it, then volunteers a reluctant Alfalfa as Class Pugilist. ("Who me?"). Alfalfa never struck a man in his life but he needn't worry, as Spanky has a book that tells all about it. Simple? With less than a day to prepare, Spanky puts the Neighborhood Underweight Champion through his paces: road work, a bone-crushing rubdown and some shadow boxing. Spanky has arranged for the smallest fry, Porky and Buckwheat, to save the day. You'll see how, when he extends his invitation for the Saturday afternoon ringside seats for the lively bout between Butch and "The Oklahoma Wildcat."

A special favorite, GLOVE TAPS, is profoundly true to one of boyhood's most deep seated fantasies — licking the neighborhood bully. Totally satisfying, GLOVE TAPS can be enjoyed over and over again; it's practically therapeutic.

GLOVE TAPS marks Tommy Bond's return to Our Gang after a two-and-a-half year absence, and he appears here for the first time as menacing "Butch."

A special bonus is Melvin Hatley's snappy, flavorful background music scoring most of which you'll recognize as identical to the music theme in WAY OUT WEST.

HOPE: A Red Cross Seal Story (1912)A Christmas Card From Sixty Years Ago

This film was made in conjunction with the National Association of the study and prevention of Tuberculosis, to boost the 1912 sale of what were then called "Red Cross Christmas Seals" and to make people realize that tuberculosis, which was still a great killer, is curable if caught in time and properly treated. It was a characteristic effort of a time which was keen to associate the motion picture with public education in aid of the public welfare.

A business man, who has spurned the suggestion that he cooperate in the establishment of a tuberculosis sanatorium in his town, on the ground that the town is healthy and therefore needs no institution, learns how wrong he was the hard way when his sweetheart develops the disease and goes off by herself to New York to seek a cure. The girl recovers, and her lover learns his lesson.

The players are well-known members of the Edison stock company, with Gertrude McCoy as the girl. At the end of the picture, the 1912 Christmas Seal is animated, a fascinating example of movie magic at the time and now a charming bit of nostalgia.

THE FILMS OF THE LITTLE RASCALS

HAL ROACH PRODUCTIONS

"For fifteen years, the children of the television age have been enjoying the antics of 'The Little Rascals.' Run over, and over again, the comedies never grow tiresome, and the youthful audience for the films is perhaps bigger today than it has ever been. At no time does anyone feel impelled to explain that the films are thirty-five to fifty years old; for they are timeless, as timeless as childhood itself.

The "Our Gang" Kids are reflections of what we'd all like to be as children. In all probability, most of us never had as many adventures in five years as the Gang does in every comedy. There is a beguiling fantasy world for us on the screen as we watch these kids, without money or help from adults, build their own fire engines, run a clubhouse, organize a band, or do any of the thousand and one things we wish we could have done ourselves. The puncturing of dignity is a timeless yearning in all audiences, and here again we experience the vicarious pleasure of seeing the Gang emerge victoriously after doing battle with snooty matrons, cruel guardians, and the like. Nor is this limited to the adult world. Throughout the "Our Gang" films, there is an active dislike for rich kids, and even more so for consciously cute kids — something the remarkable youngsters in these comedies never became.

Hal Roach has said that he always had the idea of making "kid comedies." He experimented with the idea several times in the early stages of his producing career.

Robert McGowan was given charge of the series. He played with the kids, became an unofficial "uncle," and learned how to get the best reactions from them. In 1922, "Our Gang" was born. McGowan and Anthony Mack directed the series through the 1920s, as the Gang grew in popularity to become the top comedy attractions in films. The kiddie personnel stayed essentially the same through the late 1920s, with occasional newcomers broken in. In 1929, there was a changeover in cast...

These newcomers would have an easier time starting out in talkies, not having to unlearn any silent film techniques. In 1931, Jackie Cooper left the Gang to achieve stardom on his own... for awhile, Wheezer was made the center of the shorts, and then a new "star" was brought in, Dickie Moore, one of the top child actors of the 1930s. That same year, in 1932, another member, who became one of the most durable members of the series, was added to the cast: Spanky McFarland.

One cannot overlook the importance of a black child in the makeup of "Our Gang." In an age before even tokenism was heard of, Hal Roach chose to show black and white children playing together, without prejudice, and without calling attention to it. Like everything else in "Our Gang," the subject was treated naturally, and if there were occasional lapses into stereotype, one must remember the positive aspects of an integrated group of kids — especially at a time when few films depicting adults would ever dare show friendship between black and white men.

KIND

A Quartette of Four Pre-Keystone
Comedies

Almost from the beginning of D.W. Griffith's engagement as director in 1908, Biograph released many "split reels" (two subjects to 1,000 feet). At the outset some of these were dramatic subjects; later some were all farces.

Except at the very beginning, none of these seem to have been directed by Griffith personally. Later, they became Mack Sennett territory. Thus "Keystone Comedy" really began as Biograph Comedy, and in this offering we present a cross-section of the Biograph stock company in a Fun Festival comprising four subjects.

To make up a Biograph Fun Festival, two Biograph split reels have here been presented together. These are TURNING THE TABLES and HAPPY JACK, A HERO (1910) and THE VILLAIN FOILED and THE BARON (1911). The latter pair was probably directed by Mack Sennett; the earlier was claimed by Frank Powell.

HIS DARKER
SELF (1924)

starring LLOYD HAMILTON

This two-reeler may be all that survives of a five-reel feature comedy of the same name released in March, 1924, by W.W. Hodgkinson. Based on a play by famed writer-wit Arthur Caesar, and adapted by veteran screenwriter Ralph Spence, it marked the starring feature-film debut of Lloyd Hamilton, who up to this time had appeared only in short subjects.

Lloyd Hamilton first attracted attention in a series of over two hundred one-reel comedies co-starring Bud Duncan; the Ham and Bud series was extremely popular during the teens, featuring the two comics as a kind of Mutt and Jeff. It wasn't until the early 1920s however, that "Ham", working solo, revealed the extent of his comic talent.

Hamilton's two-reelers of the 1920s were consistently clever, well-made comedies, relying not only on first-rate production values and gag ideas, but also spotlighting the star's superb timing and subtle characterization. By 1923 he was popular enough to rate a "guest-star" appearance in James Cruze's movie HOLLYWOOD.

BLACKHAWK'S NEWSREEL

PRICE INCREASES

We thought we were over price increases. for the time being. However, Eastman Kodak has announced a substantial increase both in film raw stock (that is the film on which the motion picture is printed) and in photographic chemicals. There is a good chance that this is brought about by the dramatic increases in the price of silver, which is an important component in the manufacture of motion picture film. This increase forces us to raise some prices to our customers.

But it is a price increase that we cannot ignore, and it is projected that some price increases will be made effective on Monday, December 30, 1974, with price increases on any Hal Roach licensed films the following Monday, January 6, 1975.

We feel it is only fair to give you some indication as to what may be affected. It is hoped that in Super 8 the only prices to be changed will be in the case of something abnormally priced, a film, in other words, that is not carrying its weight. We hope and expect that such increases will be VERY limited and not affect more than three or four dozen Super 8 titles. Further, on subjects in any format (except standard 8mm sound) that were increased last July 1, we expect that there will be absolutely minimal price changes.

As to what will be changed, we are going to shift to the policy that many of the major film companies have long followed — the bringing up of standard 8mm prices to the same amounts as Super 8 for the same subject. Standard 8mm is declining at a very steady rate insofar as demand is concerned. Yet it costs us more than ever to bring out a standard 8mm edition. Whereas just a year ago, standard 8mm accounted for about half of all our 8mm demand, today it is only 40 percent to 45 percent. In our half-price offerings used in promotion, standard 8mm is only 30 percent to 35 percent. Thus, for standard 8mm, we can count on a declining potential while in Super 8, the demand should continue to grow in relationship.

On standard 8mm sound (the subjects in our 830 series) prices will also be further increased to the same figures as Super 8 sound (the subjects in our 880 series). Standard 8mm is an obsolescent format, and relatively few projectors exist that use only this one type of film — most of them take Super 8 sound also.

The final area where price adjustments will be made is in 16mm silent subjects, these being increased to the same price as 16mm sound subjects. 16mm silent films are in demand relatively little, and most of our sales are almost on a special order basis. Therefore, this increase will affect few of our customers. 16mm sound films, like Super 8 silent and Super 8 sound, will be little affected. Most were increased last July 1, and we hope to continue to hold on those prices.

So, you can definitely save some money by making purchases between now and the effective dates of any price changes on Dec. 30, 1974, and January 6, 1975. While we hope that we have sufficient laboratory capacity and film stock inventory to give prompt delivery, we must caution all of you, in ordering before Christmas, to give us some alternate titles. We'll never use the alternates if your first choices are available, but your failure to give us the alternates or some other instructions might result in our disappointing you for Christmas.

Also, we want to make clear that we will continue to honor orders for Blackhawk Films releases that we receive up to the December 30 and January 6 dates, even if by then we are out of stock and have to back order. In any case we'll let you know just what we are doing.

EASTMAN KODAK FILM STOCK

Blackhawk Film has always standardized, more or less, on Eastman Kodak film stock for its productions. But several times of late our laboratories have had to use other stocks because Eastman Kodak could not keep up with our requirements. With the current increase, and less dependable delivery schedules, Blackhawk Films will, to some extent make use of other makes of stock in order to minimize cost increases and keep up with our printing schedules. This is a means of minimizing cost increases and getting your film selections off to you immediately on receipt of your order.

RECENT RELEASES

A MOVIE ROMANCE (1917)

Abridged from
"A Girl's Folly"

When Hollywood, California, was mostly orange grove, Fort Lee, New Jersey was a center of American film production. There, D.W. Griffith made many of his one-reel Biograph dramas. Mack Sennett appeared in his first film, Pearl White endured the Perils of Pauline, and Mary Pickford and Theda Bara starred in early features. By the mid-twenties, a dozen major studios were operating in the Palisades village across the Hudson River from Manhattan's Washington Heights.

This enormously interesting film is perhaps the most detailed look we shall ever have at early Fort Lee film production. The studio illustrated is Paragon, established in 1914 by the Eclair Company. Paragon's star director was Maurice Tourneur, who directed the feature A GIRL'S FOLLY from which this Blackhawk release has been edited. Included are views of the glass stages, rotating sets, tank for water effects, laboratory, projection room, and crews at work on all the various aspects of production in that period. The whole thing ties together with a pleasant little story, co-authored by Tourneur and Frances Marion, then just starting a spectacular screenwriting career.

THE SEALED ROOM (1909)

with HENRY WALTHALL, MARION LEONARD, ARTHUR JOHNSON, GEORGE SIEGMANN and MARY PICKFORD

D.W. Griffith utilized the "classics," contemporary and near-contemporary literature, even quotations from literature to form the basis for his films. In THE SEALED ROOM, a costume melodrama, Griffith turned to history.

During the devastation of a medieval castle, a walled-up room was found to contain two human skeletons. Griffith's story of how they came to be there is most logical. The king deeply in love, has a special room with only one opening built just for himself and his beloved. He becomes suspicious of the attentions she is giving to a court troubador and contrives a plan to surprise them. To his horror, the king finds them together in his own private "dove-cote." He has his masons seal them in the room for eternity.

BIG BUSINESS (1929)

starring STAN LAUREL and OLIVER HARDY

BIG BUSINESS is one of the comedy classics, even non-Laurel and Hardy devotees are automatically caught up in the fury which in its precise mounting excitement, attention to detail, meticulous editing, and no-pause-for-breath action, is to the comedy film what THE BIRTH OF A NATION is to the historical spectacle.

Selling Christmas trees in sunny California, Stan and Ollie are working all of the houses in the neighborhood with their Model T pick-up and their stock of trees. They have no luck at all until they come to the home of Scotsman Finlayson—they have no luck there either, for disaster nearly overtakes everyone. Upon their first knock, Finlayson appears at the door and indicates he is not in the prospect for a tree. They start to leave, but one of the tree's branches gets caught in the door, they ring again, and one thing leads to another until "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men" seems to completely vanish.

SANTA CLAUS VS. CUPID (1915)

with RAYMOND MCKEE, GRACE MORRISSEY, WILLIAM CASEY, MRS. WALLACE ERSKINE, MABEL DWIGHT, GLADYS GANE, GUIDO COLUCCI and ETHEL WRIGHT

By December 18, 1915, when this film was released, the feature film era was well under way, and Mary Pickford had already appeared in nine of her Famous Players offerings. But the old one-reeler was not dead yet, and SANTA CLAUS VS. CUPID was Edison's idea of a Christmas present.

The excitement of the early one-reelers, produced when an art was finding its way, and the best creative effort available going into this type of film, is missing here, but the effort is more professional than the earlier pictures had been and therefore now seems less old-fashioned.

A very light farce-comedy about a girl and her two suitors, both home from college for Christmas.

THE CRICKET ON THE HEARTH (1923)

From the Charles Dickens Story
Directed by Lorimer Johnston

Though THE CRICKET ON THE HEARTH is one of Dickens's most magical titles, the story to which he assigned it has more of his idiosyncrasy than his genius, and Dickensians have never considered it one of his best.

It was the third of his "Christmas Books" (1845), and at the outset its sale was far greater than that of either of its predecessors, A CHRISTMAS CAROL and THE CHIMES. Ultimately, however the CAROL vastly outdistanced it.

Frequently dramatized, THE CRICKET early attracted the attention of film-makers, and Griffith tried his hand at it in a one-reel Biograph of 1909, which, however, was considerably less faithful to the story than the Lorimer Johnston version of 1923.

THE ADVENTURE OF THE WRONG SANTA CLAUS (1914)

with BARRY O'MOORE, RICHARD NEILL and BLISS MILFORD

THE ADVENTURE OF THE WRONG SANTA CLAUS was adapted from a story published in Pictorial Review, a popular and rather well regarded magazine of the period. The Octavius character came out in a new adventure every month. The Edison studio had an exclusive deal for movie rights for all fiction published in the magazine.

Octavius was an amateur private eye who got involved in difficult situations from which, by skill and courage, he invariably extricated himself.

THE LITTLEST ANGEL

To the gates of Heaven came a small and very lonely little angel who, though he tried hard to look and act like a good little angel should, just couldn't seem to stay out of trouble. Then one day, the kindly old Understanding Angel granted the Littlest Angel's wish and from that day on, the cherub's conduct and appearance were above reproach. Finally came the time when Jesus was to be born. All the angels of Paradise busied themselves with the preparation of their costly gifts. Yet, it was the gift of the Littlest Angel that was chosen by God to shine as an inspiration for all man.

THE CHILD OF BETHLEHEM

The setting of this film is Nazareth, Bethlehem, Jerusalem and Egypt. With reverence and dignity it depicts Jesus' birth and early childhood (up to the age of 2 years). The simple and beautiful story as recorded in Matthew and Luke unfolds against the background of Palestinian life, Roman government and Herod's tyranny. This film production lends great warmth and inspiration to this familiar story.

AN ARIZONA WOOING (1915)

Tom Mix came to the movies after a long and varied career as soldier-of-fortune, marshal and rancher, writing and directing many of his own short westerns with Selig. In a few years, he and William S. Hart would rival each other on the screen and while Hart's intense realism won acclaim which Mix seldom received, Tom's great popularity with fans kept his career active for many years after Hart retired.

A sheepman in the cattle country, Tom isn't exactly popular. To make matters worse, he's courting a cattleman's daughter and when the Citizen's Committee decides to run him off, it's high action and suspense.

LOCAL COLOR (1916) with VICTORIA FORDE

Tom Mix came to the movies in 1911. He had been a United States marshal and was attracted to the movies when the Selig company sent a crew to Oklahoma to produce a film.

He appeared in many one-reelers, some two and three reelers, and a few feature films for Selig, with which company he was associated until he joined Fox in 1917.

His leading lady Victoria Forde, had become Mrs. Mix during this period, and was cast with him in many of his Selig films.

The daughter of the sheriff's friend is a writer who needs "local color" for her western story. Tom and the boys decide to give her a riproaring time, but Tom gets more than he bargained for!

IN THE DAYS OF THUNDERING HERD (1914) with BESSIE EYTON

Tom Mix came to the movies in 1911, joining the Selig company. His earliest films were of one-reel length, but by 1913 he began to appear in two-reelers. Then, in the fall of 1914 came Tom's first five-reel feature, IN THE DAYS OF THUNDERING HERD.

With Tom in this production is Bessie Eyton, who was a prominent player with Selig at the time. Earlier in 1914 she had appeared with William Farnum, Tom Santschi and Kathryn Williams in Selig's great production of THE SPOILERS.

Tom is cast as the pony express rider who forsakes business to accompany his sweetheart, Sally Madison into the far west to join her father. The long, winding, line of prairie schooners is seen on the trail by an Indian girl who makes their presence known to her tribe. There are running fights, encounters between the Indians and wagon trains, a buffalo stampede and amazing equestrian feats by Tom which a reviewer of the day said "would probably never be repeated again in moving pictures."

THE LAW AND THE OUTLAW (1913) with MYRTLE STEDMAN

Billed as "America's Champion Cowboy", Tom Mix certainly lived up to his title; according to his biographers, Mix had pursued several careers before coming to the movies in 1911 — each with enough danger and excitement to last the average man a lifetime.

Although not a native Westerner, Mix knew both the legend and lore of the West, as did William S. Hart, whom he would soon rival on the screen. In addition, Tom Mix was a born trouper and appreciated the value of showmanship.

A fugitive from justice, Dakota Joe (Tom Mix) hires out as a ranch hand and falls in love with the rancher's daughter. Injured while saving her life, Joe is recognized by the sheriff and taken away. On the trip back to prison, Joe makes a daring escape and stealing a horse and gun begins a hazardous ride to freedom.

SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE (1927)

A Fox-Case Movietone Entertainment

This, the only sound film ever made of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, was believed lost for more than a generation and is here restored to view for the first time in over forty years. It was arranged by Jack Connolly of Fox-Case who, having produced the sensational sound newsreel of Lindbergh's flight, left for Europe with sound equipment and camera crew, determined to capture a talking picture of every important political and artistic personality of the day. Within two years, the persuasive newsreel man succeeded in filming everyone he'd hoped to meet, excepting only Kaiser Wilhelm and the Pope.

Although Sir Arthur Conan Doyle consists of scarcely more than half a dozen lengthy shots, it is an intimate and deeply moving record of the man who created in Sherlock Holmes one of the most famous and best loved of all literary characters.

"I've got to say one or two words just to try my voice, I understand," Doyle begins. Then he relates how, in 1886, he came to write the Sherlock Holmes stories, and for five minutes he gives a rich and humorous history of his scientific detective in a warm Scotch burr. But even dearer to Doyle than Holmes was his belief in the afterlife, and in the last half of the film the famous author discusses the psychic faith for which he endured much hostility and to which he was so deeply committed.

WIRELESS LIZZIE (1926) with WALTER HIERS, JACK DUFFY, DUANE THOMPSON, WILLIAM IRVING and DOROTHY VERNON

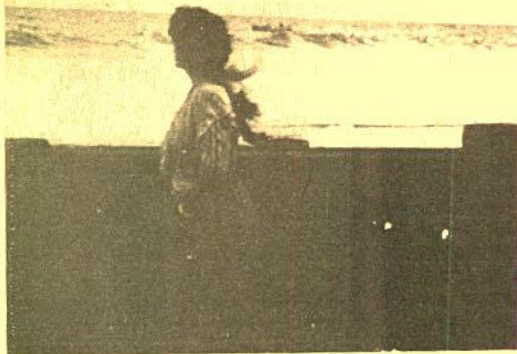

Just where Plum Center is plum center is of little importance in this classic Christie comedy of 1926. Walter Stubbs (Walter Hiers) is the town's "Baby Edison," busy bringing the marvels of modern technology to this once-peaceful rural village. The citizens of Plum Center now have a radio station — call letters — COD — a drug store complete with wireless soda dispenser, and Walter's newest wonder of wonders, the "wireless-lizzie," in Walter's hands, this fabulous Ford does astonishing things, and in the hands of Walter's rival (William Irving) it does more astonishing things than Walter would wish.

Producer Al Christie must have been out of town when director Earle Rodney and writer Robert Hall conspired to create "Wireless Lizzie" for it is more in the tradition of Keystone comedy than the subtler Christie situation humor. Since director Earle Rodney was schooled at Keystone in its heyday, he knew what mad races were all about. Add Jack Puffy as the angered grandpa and pretty Duane Thompson as his grand-daughter Mary, and you have a lively and entertaining comedy from the screen's golden age of comedy.

LINES OF WHITE ON A SULLEN SEA (1909)

Directed by D.W. Griffith

with LINDA ARVIDSON, KATE BRUCE, DELL HENDERSON and WILFRED LUCAS

LINES OF WHITE ON A SULLEN SEA must be one of the most beautiful titles ever given a movie, and, surely, no other director except D.W. Griffith could have had the romanticism and poetry in his soul to choose this line from William Carleton's poem.

The film was shot on the New Jersey coastline in September 1909, and released in October of that same year. For the leading role, Griffith chose his then-wife, Linda Arvidson, whose love for the director was as blighted and doomed as that of the heroine she portrayed.

The role of the heroine's mother is portrayed by a stalwart Griffith character actress, Kate Bruce. "Brucie," as she was affectionately known, was an enigma. No one knew from where she came or what her background was. Lillian Gish believes that she had been a nurse. From the 1920s onward, Brucie was supported by Miss Gish, and lived in a small hotel on New York's Madison Avenue. "She should have been a nun," recalls Lillian. "She was so alone; she had no plant, no cat, no dog, not even a goldfish."

THE OPEN SWITCH (1926)

starring HELEN HOLMES

with CHARLES WHITTAKER, JACK PERRIN, MACK V. WRIGHT, ARTHUR MILLETT, HENRY ROQUEMORE and MAX ASCHER

Best remembered as a popular serial queen (1914-1919) with whom, the railroad became a virtual alter ego, Helen Holmes did most of her screen work as the heroine of innumerable "iron horse" dramas produced for the independent market between 1921-1926. Her loss of popularity had resulted from several non-railroad dramas made in 1919-1920.

When she returned to the railroad setting late in 1920, fame had passed her by and only independent westerns and railroad dramas were left for the daring Miss Holmes. Her marriage to director J.P. McGowan dissolved during these years and marriage to stuntman Lloyd Saunders heralded her retirement from the screen late in 1926.

Helen's final series had been produced in 1925 by Morris Schlarck's California Studio and marketed by Rayart, one of the more durable independent distributors of the twenties, and from that series, Blackhawk is pleased to present THE OPEN SWITCH as it was released early in 1926, for very little of her screen work has survived the years.

ON THE BUSINESS SIDE

This column should be written with apologies.

We all are assigned so many numbers that keeping track of them becomes a major chore; to ask that you keep track of one more may seem difficult.

But, it is true that those orders which reach us showing a customer number fly right through our order editing. Those which do not have a customer number are deflected and held until the number can be located through a cross reference file.

Similarly, when our Correspondence Department receives an inquiry of some kind, the information can usually be obtained quickly if the customer number is shown. If not, the letter must be detoured to someone for cross checking.

We don't mind doing the cross checking — to the contrary, we are set up to do just that. But, it does slow down the service we can give you.

If you are one of these nice organized people whose files include a cross reference to all the various bank account, credit card, social security and other numbers with which we are laden, you may want to add your Blackhawk Films number to the list. Your reward will be better service on either the orders you send us or the letters you write.

Just a couple of weeks ago, our purchase order for new Dupage splicers and Dupage splicing tape was returned from the factory marked, "these items are discontinued."

Almost immediately afterward, our stock of Dupage splicing tape ran out. We immediately had letters from customers who owned Dupage splicers asking how they could keep their splicers in operation without a supply of this special tape.

We're glad to report that we have been in touch with Dupage. They have promised that they will honor a special purchase order on our part for 8mm splicing tape (which will work in both a standard 8 and super 8 splicer) so that we can continue to supply tape to those customers who bought from us in good faith.

As this is written, it will probably be two to three weeks before the new tape supply is received. In the meantime, we will be forced to back order orders for this tape. However, I'm sure that those of you who own Dupage splicers will be glad to hear that a supply of tape can continue.

USED PRINTS

It has been the policy of Blackhawk Films to list in each issue of the Blackhawk Bulletin one or two pages of used standard 8mm. and Super 8 films. These pages were not uniform over all the thousands of copies of each issue of the Blackhawk Bulletin we distributed — often sets of used pages were changed twice or even three times during a run of the Bulletin. But with the tremendous circulation of the Bulletin we found that we were only making enemies of some of our customers because demand on some titles might be ten or twenty or thirty times our ability to deliver.

Therefore, what we are doing by way of an experiment is to issue each week or so a three-fold "stuffer" giving the then available standard 8mm, Super 8 and 16mm used prints on hand — separate "stuffer" for each film size. This piece lists two or three hundred titles currently available, and if it succeeds in moving our used stock, it won't disappoint nearly as many of our customers.

This piece is stuffed in all orders for films of the same size, and in all correspondence and billings. It is reworked on a cycle that should minimize the listing of films that are about to be sold because of being previously listed. We think it is a big step forward, and hope it works out that way.

We will send one of the current pieces anywhere in the United States or Canada if you will simply request one, and send us a stamped, addressed envelope. Be sure to indicate the size film you use: Standard 8mm, Super 8 or 16mm. Address your request to Advertising Department.

THE RUSE (1915) starring WILLIAM S. HART

with CLARA WILLIAMS, JACK DAVIDSON, FANNY MIDGLEY and GERTRUDE CLAIRE

Because of Thomas H. Ince, a friend of some years, William S. Hart abandoned the stage in 1914 in favor of the movies. Hart's first year was devoted to extensive series of two reel Westerns, although his first feature, ON THE NIGHT STAGE, went into production late in 1914 and was on theatre screens by the spring of 1915.

The pattern of two reelers continued into 1915 — but with more and more features in the production schedule. The growth of Hart's popularity was phenomenal! Few stars have gone higher — and few have more rapidly ascended!

THE RUSE, one of Hart's later two reel productions of 1915, is typical of Ince — the plot and characters sharply defined — for Ince was an innovator, and even in those pioneer times worked with scripts as detailed in the unfoldment of the story and as exacting in camera instructions as those of today.

A reformed gunfighter, prospector Bat Peters crosses horns with a crooked mine promoter in Chicago and while it appears that the city slicker is going to outsmart our hero, Bill Hart fans know better in this off-beat performance by their favorite.

LOCAL COLOR (1916)

starring TOM MIX
with VICTORIA FORDE

Tom Mix came to the movies in 1910. He had been a United States marshal and was attracted to the movies when the Selig company sent a crew to Oklahoma to produce a film.

He appeared in many one-reelers, some two and three reelers, and a few feature films for Selig, with which company he was associated until he joined Fox in 1917.

His leading lady Victoria Forde, had become Mrs. Mix during this period, and was cast with him in many of his Selig films.

The daughter of the sheriff's friend is a writer who needs "local color" for her western story. Tom and the boys decide to give her a riproaring time, but Tom gets more than he bargained for!

LOGGING RAILROADS OF THE WEST

In every section of the country where there is extensive lumbering, picturesque little railroads run back into the woods to transport logs to the mills. Our film is devoted to three of these, all in the mountain states of the West.

Nowhere else in the United States does the topography of an area provide a more striking setting for the goings and comings of these logging trains, headed by every variety of steam locomotive. The engines themselves are almost the last vestige of their era.

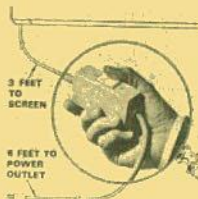

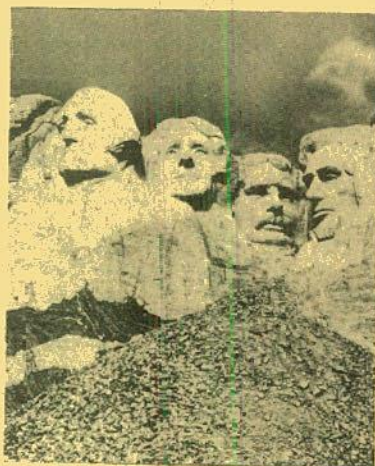

The three lumbering railroads are: Southwest Lumber Mills out of Flagstaff, Arizona; both the Callam and Grays Harbor operations of Rayonier on the Olympic Peninsula in Washington State; and the West Side Lumber Company out of Tuolumne, California.

KODAK SUPERMATIC SOUND PROJECTORS

The Kodak Supermatic Sound Projectors are a totally new, magnetic playback, super 8 sound projector.

A sleek, horizontal, low-profile design (approximately 15 inches wide, 19 inches long, 6 1/2 inches high) makes these projectors ideal for many places and for many purposes.

Loading the Supermatic Sound Projector with Kodak Projection cartridge is as easy as placing the cartridge on its back into the projector. Gravity holds the cartridge in place on a vertical spindle. Four sizes of cartridges can be used — A, B, C and D — providing a wide range of film-load capacities for screen-running times from 45 seconds to 30 minutes. Kodak cartridges can be easily opened for cleaning, editing, or splicing films.

To trigger automatic threading, simply push a lever, and the film is led out of the cartridge on a stress-free path to a concealed take-up reel. The same lever also controls still review (for repeating selected scenes) and off. Choose your projection speed — either 18 or 24 frames per second. When the film is finished, the Supermatic Projector automatically rewinds itself.

The sound system of the projector features a solid-state amplifier with 5 watts continuous sine wave power output, built-in speaker and connection for external speaker or head phones.

Supplied with the projector is a 30-volt, 80-watt, 15-hour ELB lamp.

GUILLOTINE'S SPLICING TAPE

Guillotine makes the only non-bleeding frame-line-to-frame-line splicing tapes. Today's strongest and optically clear tape offers a space that cannot be seen, even with the finest projection or TV broadcast equipment. Guillotine tape does not discolor, its permanently uniform adhesive does not bleed under pressure or protection heat, and the resulting bond is stronger than the film itself. The only tape designed for use with Guillotine splicers is economical too — costs only half a penny a splice

KEEP YOUR VALUABLE FILMS IN NEW CONDITION Automatic Projector Cleaning Means Scratch Free Films with PROTECT-A-PRINT leader

For years the professionals have been prolonging the useful life of motion picture prints with PROTECT-A-PRINT LEADER. Its polishing surface cleans the entire film path of the projector — removes dirt and hard emulsion bits that scratch treasured prints. Simple splice PROTECT-A-PRINT LEADER on your film — and let it clean your projector — automatically — everytime you thread up — just before you show one of those irreplaceable films.

PROTECT-A-PRINT's heavy base lasts much longer, reduces mistreading and off-sprocketing.

Approved and endorsed as both safe and effective by major projector and manufacturers.

USED STANDARD 8MM. AND SUPER 8 Black and White PIG-IN-A-POKE PACKAGES

Here is a limited offer of excellent used Standard 8mm. and super 8 films ranging in footage from 125 feet to 200 feet and usually priced, by individual title in Blackhawk's used print listing at $3.99 and $4.49 per copy.
These films cover a wide range of subjects such as cartoons, sports, space exploration, animals, circus, history, news, travel and science fiction. They're offered here in our "PIG-IN-A-POKE" Package simply because we have traded in more prints of these particular titles than we can readily move. There's no choice of subject or type of subject, but Blackhawk's usual guarantee of satisfaction (see front page) applies just as to all other purchases you make with us.

CAMERA FILM FOR YOUR SLIDES & MOVIES

Fresh, factory packed stock at money-saving prices!

Prices include processing and return postage from processing stations at convenient locations across the country (except in instances where the film is offered without processing) and, in the case of Eastman Kodak processing, at many additional locations throughout the world. Send film to be processed to station most convenient to your location—not to Blackhawk Films.

Select either EASTMAN Kodak Processing or lower cost Perfecto Photo Processing—both have always been highly satisfactory to our customers.

NOTICE: Maximum liability of film manufacturers, processors or their agents for film lost or damaged, in either transit or processing, is replacement with a similar length of film. If you have taken any films which you believe may have a high potential value and you wish to be protected beyond this film replacement in event of loss or damage, send the film for processing by registered mail covered to its actual value, and include instructions and a remittance payable to the processing laboratory to cover similar registration on return to you.

BLACKHAWK FILMS EXCLUSIVE LINE OF 35MM. 2X2 COLOR SLIDE SETS

In many subject areas—particularly travel and railroads—Blackhawk offers a wide range of color slide sets of the same or similar subjects. There is, however, no duplication of identical individual slides between any one set and another with respect to the specific sets offered here. All Blackhawk slides give true color fidelity. Using the more expensive reversal method of duplication, Blackhawk produces slides you'd be proud to include with your own... yet they are less expensive to own than any slides you shoot yourself and have processed.

SPRUCIN' UP (1935)

starring LITTLE RASCALS

Spanky, Scotty and Alfalfa are fed up with such bothersome chores as having to wash their faces and shine their shoes and comb their hair — especially on Saturday. But when a truant officer moves in across the street everyone wants to make friends with his pretty daughter, causing some "sprucin' up" activities that startle the Gang's mothers. In getting to meet the new neighborhood heart-throb, Spanky uses his brains to eliminate competition, but one rival remains: Alfalfa. Together inside the living room, it's easy to see that she's not interested in either one of them, but they're too busy besting each other to notice that. "Anything you can do, I can do better" boasts Alfalfa, from catching airborne vases to doing chinups on the curtain rod. Then the young lady's old boyfriend shows up, literally leaving the contesting twosome hanging in mid-air.

Subtle, witty and well-written, "Sprucin' Up" is a polished comedy showcase with more than its share of special mementos worth cherishing. As a bonus there's an incredible Hal Roach Studio inside joke, tying this film to the Laurel and Hardy feature SONS OF THE DESERT, made two years earlier. It won't be easy but see if you can find it!

THREE MEN IN A TUB (1938)

USC starring LITTLE RASCALS

Instead of keeping her date for a picnic outing with the Gang, Daria goes boating with prissy, rich kid Waldo. To win her back, wounded over Alfalfa challenges his cocky rival to a boat race around Toluca Lake. The Gang's makeshift craft (propelled by some ducks and an umbrella) is no match for Waldo's sweet new motorboat. As Waldo speeds ahead, the boat suddenly springs a leak. Daria shrieks for help while a flustered Waldo consults the appropriate chapter in his boating manual. After a dramatic rescue by Alfalfa (in a foot of water) tickle Daria redirects her affections. Then, in a puzzle, Waldo wonders what could have caused the leak. Across the water on their ship, unsung cronies Porky and Buckwheat smile together as they produce the missing stopper.

Insufferable Waldo's at his worst, which makes for "Our Gang" at its best in this compact reworking of one of the finest and most famous Little Rascals films, HI NEIGHBOR, here involving motorboats as the central prop instead of fire engines.

MUSICAL MOODS FROM THE SILENT FILMS

Selected and played (piano) by Arthur Kleiner, "Silent films were never shown in silence." To the pianists and organists of the early movie houses, the studio composers provided various handbooks, which enabled them, as it were, to compose their own scores for almost any film — themes marked "misterioso", "storm", "passion", "most impassioned ecstasy", "lurking villain", and "flirtatious vamp" did duty for appropriate passages in hundreds of movies.

MUSIC FOR SILENT COMEDIES

Played and arranged by Arthur Kleiner

Up until Kleiner's retirement he played daily at the Museum of Modern Art. He was the only full-time pianist for silent films in the world. He knows each film and times it to the music. A must for the film collector.

THE SILENT YEARS

Musical highlights from the classic silent films as seen on the television series, THE SILENT YEARS. Composed and performed by William Perry, Musical Director of the Museum of Modern Art. Scores include "The Gold Rush", "The General", "Orphans of the Storm", "The Beloved Rogue", "The Mark of Zorro", "Blood and Sand", and the series theme music.

PLAY ME A MOVIE

Composed and Played by Abraham Lass

Listen to the music and sounds of the silent movie era when a piano in the movie-house helped to tell the story on the screen.

Abraham Lass started his career as a silent-movie pianist in 1923. He played for such greats as Chaplin, Keaton, Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks and more. Listen to a storm at sea, the coming of dawn, an Indian attack, dancing, love, the villain, sleep and more.

"A TRIBUTE TO MERLE EVANS"

An Anthology of Circus Music

The incomparable sounds of the 43 numbers you will hear bring back the "good old days", when circus was real circus. You can almost see clowns engaged in their antics, the high wire artists swinging from perch to perch, the dancing elephants, the lion tamer, and all other acts that made the circus part of our national heritage. This recorded and illustrated historical documentary (28 pages) of circus music; conducted and narrated by Merle Evans, Bandmaster of the Ringling Brothers—Barnum and Bailey Circus for 47 years, is available in a 5 record set.

CAMEOS OF COMEDY (1909-1922)

starring BEN TURPIN, SIDNEY DREW, CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG, MARIE DRESSLER, JOHNNY HINES, FATTY ARBUCKLE

A brief and rare look at the Golden Age of Comedy and some of its more skillful practitioners, Cameos of Comedy spans well over a decade as it traces the hilarious growth of the art of comic screen pantomime.

Contains highlight sequences from "Mr. Flip" (Essanay, 1909) with Ben Turpin; "Goodness Gracious" (Vitagraph, 1914) with Sidney Drew and Clara Kimball Young; "Tillie Wakes Up" (World, 1917) with Marie Dressler and Johnny Hines; "The Butcher Boy" (Paramount, 1917) with Roscoe Arbuckle, Buster Keaton and Al St. John; "The Counter Jumper" (Vitagraph, 1922) with Larry Semon and Oliver Hardy.

THE CLOWN PRINCES OF HOLLYWOOD

starring CHARLIE CHAPLIN, BUSTER KEATON, HAROLD LLOYD, OLIVER HARDY, STAN LAUREL, HARRY LANGDON, CHARLEY CHASE, BEN TURPIN and BILLY WEST
Hollywood Royalty — the big stars whose transcending careers as performers made them into international kings — holding court in a kingdom all their own and laying claim to their crowns not through blood lines but through boxoffice lines.

But the court also had its Crown Princes — and we're about to see these hard-working comedians who, usually content to remain on the sidelines of movie society, made audiences laugh all over.

A chosen one or two ascended to full kingship.

SLAPSTICK

starring CHARLIE MURRAY, FORD STERLING, MABEL NORMAND, FATTY ARBUCKLE, EDGAR KENNEDY, AL ST. JOHN, BILLY BEVAN, ANDY CLYDE, LARRY SEMON, OLIVER HARDY, VERNON DENT, MONTY BANKS and THE KEYSTONE COPS

Often imaginative, always fast and furious — slapstick, more than any other kind of movie, made the most of the possibilities — and the impossibilities, or cinematography. Slapstick in the movies started in the 1890's, before movies even had plots. Then, for about fifteen years, the audience appeal of slapstick went unexploited — and then came Mack Sennett, who was to turn such nonsense into an art.

Our movie, "Slapstick," features bits and pieces from some of Sennett's most typical comedies, and some from choice items done by others. Thus, its packed full of fast-paced slapstick routines and jam-packed with laughs!

CHARLIE BARNET AND HIS BAND (1949)

One of the 20th Century-Fox "Movietone Melodies," this band short featuring Frances Lynne and Bunny Briggs is set in a nightclub. With Barnet on sax, a pair of gymnastic jitterbuggers gyrate to lively jazz. Barnet then switches to clarinet for the Mae West number "My Old Flame," with two vocal stanzas and many superimposed flames! Bouncy be-bop characterizes the third and final number, featuring Barnet on both instruments. Better than the usual band films of the '40's but still very much a period piece, this is a well-recorded glimpse of one of the great jazz stylists near the peak of his career.

THE DUMB-BELL (1922)

with MARIE MOSQUINI and NOAH YOUNG

THE DUMB-BELL ranks as one of the funniest and most bizarre Snub Pollard comedies made by Hal Roach in the early twenties. With a sense and order all its own, the picture burlesques artistic temperament in general and the Century Comedies studio in particular. Abe and Julius Stern were owner-manager of the Century Film Corporation, and their stinginess and eccentric management practices became legendary in their own time and the subject of countless jokes within the industry. THE DUMB-BELL is simply an inside joke visualized, with the Stern brothers becoming "The Magnates," Goldsmith and Silverstein.

Movie producers Goldsmith and Silverstein have on their hands an explosively temperamental director (Noah Young). In an effort to rid themselves of the problem, they offer Snub a promotion from actor to director if he will do just one little thing — fire the monster.

THE SAD CLOWNS

starring CHARLIE CHAPLIN, EDNA PURVIANCE, BUSTER KEATON, HARRY LANGDON, VERNON DENT

Just getting along in a complicated world is not easy — Harry Langdon, Buster Keaton and Charlie Chaplin each had his own formula for life, as shown in this compilation of the best of silent screen comedy.

The Sad Clowns contains lengthy excerpts from Easy Street, Cops and Saturday Afternoon, three films spanning the years from 1917 to 1925 and contrasting the styles of three of the greatest comics who ever worked on any screen, silent or sound, exemplifying the finest visual comedy to come out of the silent era. A fine start for the beginning comedy collector.

January 22, 1975, will mark the centennial of the birth of D.W. Griffith on an Oldham County farm near Centerfield, Kentucky. What Mr. Griffith achieved is probably unparalleled in the entire history of art, for in a period of less than seven years, between 1908 and 1914, he forged from his own native talent, his own intuition, and an incredible, sustained creative effort, the entire syntax of expression in film upon which our image-oriented culture came quickly to rely and upon which it still profoundly depends.

In some ways the films in our Bulletin are truly the primitive efforts they seem to many young enthusiasts, for not only have the movies developed and changed faster than any previously-known art, but they also have mirrored all the changes in technology, landscape, morals, dress, leisure and political philosophy which have been flung across the earth at unprecedented speed. And while film was the first art made possible by the industrial revolution, its technology, vastly more sophisticated today than in Griffith's time, is still rooted firmly in the nineteenth century. Now we speculate on the artistic uses of video and lasers, but our experiments in these media will in seventy years seem as primitive and uncomprehending as do the films of Melies and Porter when they are viewed today.

On the other hand, nearly all the history of motion pictures has occurred within the memories of people still now living: Mary Pickford and Blanche Sweet have been in touch almost since the beginning; and Lillian Gish and Charlie Chaplin continue to plan new projects. These great pioneers have seen changes in the world of film which their own early visions, however apocalyptic, could not have conceived.

The speed of change has made a marketable commodity of our own recent past. Last year American Graffiti, ("Where were you in '62?"), already evoked echoes of a "simpler time." The first major retrospective of D.W. Griffith's work occurred on the eve of World War II at New York's Museum of Modern Art Film Library, and according to the Museum, "the experiment was not an unqualified success." In 1940, Griffith and his era seemed fantastically remote and irrelevant to most people who thought of themselves as cultivated. His spotty knowledge of history, his literary eccentricities, his "petit bourgeois" morality quite overshadowed for them the beauty, power and humanity of his formal structure and pictorial composition." Even the Film Library's Curator, Iris Barry, was moved to write that "to hear and see again what pleased one so much... is to get a sharp critical slant on one's own past. That was what one enjoyed ten years ago: this is what seemed the most exciting or beautiful thing in one's adolescence? Cabiria and Male and Female and "I Must Have That Man" have not changed: it is we who have changed, and the world we live in."

Though in recent years more of us have come to realize that patterns of film editing have influenced the way we receive and organize our own perceptions, there has been practically no serious study of Griffith's work as the source of this tradition. In part this is because the films themselves have been accessible only to the privileged or the very persistent. Eileen Bowser, Russell Merritt, Jay Leyda and Arthur Lennig are among the few scholars who have tried to systematically review the enormous body of Griffith's surviving work. Robert Henderson, writer of two horrendous books on Griffith, all but ignored the mass of images available to him. In the past, Blackhawk has released nearly a hundred Griffith Biograph films. They provoked little comment, and they did not sell, except for a few famous titles, they have been retired to the obscurity they never escaped.

Nevertheless, the importance of Griffith's contribution, the excitement we feel whenever we see these unknown and unsuspected little masterpieces, and the occasion of the Griffith centennial has prompted us to begin what we hope you, our friends and customers, will allow to become a massive restoration project. It is a wonder that so many previously unseen and forgotten Griffith films have survived in such fresh and beautiful condition; but happily, the original negatives to the Biograph films were found and salvaged by Iris Barry back in the thirties, and The Museum of Modern Art has stored and preserved them over parts of five decades. At first, Miss Barry's assistant Katherine Stone White (now film coordinator at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts) and Griffith's own cameraman, G.W. Bitzer, organized and identified nearly five hundred films directed by Griffith between April, 1908, and October, 1913. More recently, with support from the National Endowment for the Arts, the Museum has copied every one of the beautifully-preserved negatives to modern safety film.

The Biograph camera was originally designed to avoid infringement on the basic Edison patents. It used unperforated negative, and the film was propelled through the machine by means of a beater movement. At the time each frame was exposed, one round perforation was punched on each side of the film. No two frames of a Biograph negative are exactly the same size, and vertical distance between the perforations is wildly uneven; but the distance between the perforations and the bottom frame line of each picture is absolutely consistent, so that using the original Biograph printer, rock steady prints can still be made.

The Biograph printer is an insane contraption which snorts along at four feet per minute. Spring loaded pins seek out each pair of round perforations and draw them down to a predetermined stopping point. The pins then engage the perforations of a piece of standard positive stock and draw the two together into position for exposure. A blast of compressed air forces the two emulsions into contact as the shutter opens, exposing one frame of print stock. Don Malkames, A.S.C., a distinguished cameraman and a collector of antique film apparatus, has spent years of evenings and weekends printing the Griffith negatives on this machine. As leader stock for the negatives is needed, Malkames makes it himself, using the original Biograph camera.

The only way to change the intensity of exposure on the Biograph printer was to move the light source — an ordinary household bulb — closer to or further from the negative, using a drilled leather thong rather like a belt as a guide in setting the proper distance. Actually, Bitzer's exposures, achieved without a meter, are so consistent that hardly any scene-to-scene corrections are required, even between interior and exterior locations. The Biograph negatives are very thin, photographically speaking; the processing on them was magnificent. Copies made today on modern film stocks look infinitely better than did the original prints, and their image quality can shame all but the most accomplished modern cinematographers. Original titles were shot directly on to positive film stock using a conventional camera, and each Biograph title was then spliced directly into each print.

But for reasons of print exposure and processing, the Griffith negatives were never assembled in shot order. Rather, most of the films have come to us just as they were photographed, with the scenes grouped according to camera setups, locations, and actors required. A number is written on the negative indicating the position of each shot in the final edition version, and every original Biograph print was physically spliced together shot for shot.

The significance of this technical fact is immense. For here, in nearly five hundred films, the art of motion pictures was being hammered out by Griffith week after week; and through these negatives, not only Griffith's finished work, but the process by which he arrived at his results, has been preserved nearly intact.

Working with the Museum's fine grain masters, Blackhawk has made new negatives of the Biograph films we are reconstructing. Each film is then reassembled in edited order and studied carefully. In a few cases, title texts have survived among the Biograph business records, and in other instances the title texts can be found in the paper copyright deposit prints at the Library of Congress. More frequently, no exact record of the original titles can be found; then, new titles are reconstructed, using as a guide the detailed synopsis of each film published by Biograph in its advertising — broadsides, the descriptive reviews in The Biograph magazine, The New York Dramatic Mirror, and Moving Picture World, and our own by-now-considerable experience with the distinctive Biograph style of prose. When titles are conjectural, at least two Griffith scholars study them for possible changes and improvements based on their special knowledge of the source materials. Blackhawk's title shop has been equipped with plates and type faces like those in service at Biograph long ago, and our title texts are set up and photographed in facsimile of the originals.

One of our first Biograph releases in the new series, THE TRANSFORMATION OF MIKE (1912) will be offered in a special format to illustrate Griffith's approach. Only nine camera set-ups are used on this little film, but the reel consists of no less than 114 separate shots, plus titles. Blackhawk's version will present THE TRANSFORMATION OF MIKE both as it was shot and as it was edited, and it will show in a unique way, to everyone who sees it, Griffith's method in constructing, shooting and editing a chase melodrama with a last-minute rescue.

Most of our first releases will be late Biograph subjects made in 1912 and 1913. These accomplished films are little miniatures containing all the elements Griffith later synthesized in The Birth of a Nation and Intolerance, and with a handful of exceptions, our titles will be absolutely fresh on the collector market, since none have been known to exist except in original negative form until very recently.

Because authors of film histories have not seen these films, you will not find them described in books or articles. Preliminary selections were made for Blackhawk by Eileen Bowser, who organized the Museum's Biograph preservation project, co-authored a book on Griffith, and edited the published Biograph Bulletins 1908-1912. At Blackhawk we view the films Mrs. Bowser recommends and select those which seem to us most interesting, before beginning the actual reconstruction work.

By 1912, incident alone did not greatly interest Griffith. What he wanted was to make the spectator think about an ethical dilemma or a social problem. Among our upcoming releases, THE BURGLAR'S DILEMMA is surely a major discovery — one of the most beautifully-directed Griffith shorts, with a cast including Lionel Barrymore, Lillian Gish, Robert Harron, Harry Carey and Henry Walthall; in THE HOUSE OF DARKNESS, the setting is an insane asylum, and the story deals with the therapeutic effect of music on disordered minds. It is just one of a number of films which show Griffith's interest in scientific theory and practice. THE REFORMERS, made in 1913, is a two-reel Biograph which is virtually a trial run of the feature film THE MOTHER AND THE LAW made by Griffith the following year; just as his Biograph drama A TIMELY INTERCEPTION presages his feature THE GREATEST QUESTION, while showing as well that public opinion of rapacious oil companies hasn't changed in sixty years!

Among familiar Biographs scheduled for release, we especially recommend THE GIRL AND HER TRUST which features perhaps the most thrilling of all early Griffith chases. The print absolutely glimmers, and the film will be available for the first time with its original text titles.

We are proud to be able to undertake the Biograph project, and have confidence in it. As these films are announced, we urge you to consider them carefully, for to paraphrase James Agee, there is not a person who loves film today who does not owe Griffith more than he owes anyone else.

OLD MAN PAR

THE STORY OF BOBBY JONES

Produced by Fox Movietone News

Bobby Jones was the golf hero of the Golden Age of American Sports. Beginning at the age of fourteen, Bobby Jones immediately became a great golfer ... but he couldn't win! He could hit the ball well, his putter, "Calamity Jane," was without equal, but he still couldn't win. From 1916 until 1923 he didn't win a single tournament. Finally, in 1923, in the U.S. Open, he was tied on the last hole by Bobby Crookshank. Then, over night, before the playoff, he found the answer. His only opponent was the golf course itself. Old Man Par had learned the secret of winning golf. And, win he did. For the next seven years he dominated golf the world over. Then in 1930, he did the impossible. He won the British Amateur, the British Open, the American Amateur and the U.S. Open. He had conquered the golf world. With no other worlds to conquer, Bobby Jones, Old Man Par, gave up tournament golf ... from that time on golf became a game to enjoy ... and the world gained a gentleman whose fame lives on.

THE CABINET OF DR. CALIGARI

Directed by Robert Wiene with CONRAD VEIDT, LIL DAGOVER and WERNER KRAUSS
(1919)

Caligari, remains a unique experience — impossible even for its own director, Robert Wiene, to challenge. It has been said it fell on 1920 theatre screens like a drop of wine upon an ocean of salt-water.

Inspired by artists such as the German-American Lyonel Feininger and the Austrian Alfred Kubin, Caligari's set designers Warm, Rohrig and Reimann painted everything in it — including the actors.

A student, Francis, tells a stranger about a close friend of his, Alan, murdered by Cesare, a sleepwalker under the spell of the mysterious evil Dr. Caligari! Soon we know this strange story is the product of a distorted mind. But whose?

While its style was gotten from the Expressionist art, the project appealed also to Deca-Bioskop's management. For its generous use of white paint, splashed over the sets, made up for the stark shortage of studio lights available at that dark period of German history.

Though Robert Wiene a few years later in The Hands of Orlac, again with Conrad Veidt as a possible-killer, a pianist onto whose arm stumps were granted the hands of a murderer, almost equalled the intensity of some moments from Caligari — it defies imitation.

It is what the poet Vachel Lindsay called "Painting in Motion."

It is more than any one-of-a-kind.

CHARLEY'S AUNT (1925)

starring SYD CHAPLIN with ETHEL SHANNON, ALEC B. FRANCIS, LUCIEN LITTEFIELD and DAVID JAMES

Syd Chaplin, Charlie's half-brother, started in the movies at Keystone in 1915 following Charlie's departure for Essanay. Syd's career before the camera was a somewhat on-again, off-again affair, his greatest success coming in the mid-twenties with Charley's Aunt.

Sir Fancourt Babberly, known affectionately as Babbs, is a student at Oxford University. Two of his friends, Charley and Jack, who wish to propose to their sweethearts, invite the girls to lunch promising them that Charley's aunt will be present as chaperon. The aunt, Donna Lucia, does not arrive, and Babbs (who is costumed for a student theatrical in which he has the part of an old woman) is pressed into service to impersonate her with hilarious results.

Scott Sidney, who directed this version of Charley's Aunt, was active as a director for Thomas H. Ince from the days of Ince's association with the New York Motion Picture Company in the early teens, through the years when Ince produced for Triangle release in the middle of the decade.

A popular belief contends that Charley's Aunt has been acted continuously since its premiere at the Royalty Theatre in London on December 21, 1892. Certainly it has been one of the most enduring popular plays written in modern times.

ARNE SUCKSDORFF

The brilliant Swedish documentarist Arne Sucksdorff won international recognition as a major artist with this series of award-winning short films. "In a genre where words have become an obsession, he has shown how a film can dispense altogether with them and still make its meaning clear and compelling. He handles the camera as freely and fluently as if it were a brush in his hand, so that his pictures seem to reach the screen with a freshness and immediacy which deny the intervening mechanical process. With his feeling for composition and unerring sense of rhythm, his films are visual poetry, a continuous delight for the eye and a subtly enriching experience."

THE HUNTER (1947)

One summer dawn a hunter shoulders his gun and starts from home across the Swedish meadow. In a clearing in the nearby woods, two grouse are in a mating dance, but the birds' rapture is ended suddenly by a bullet; now, the hunter has a tail feather for his hatband. Adorned, the man moves deeper into the forest until he sees a fawn drinking from a tranquil lake. Stirred by the beauty of the deer, he averts the gun he had already aimed, takes down his snare, replaces the feather with a flower, and closer to nature than before, he starts for home.

Produced as SHADOW OF THE HUNTER and released under its present title by Twentieth Century-Fox in 1949, this film succeeds so thoroughly in stimulating our respect for environment that in its feelings and sensibilities, it seems absolutely modern and remains completely fresh.

SHADOWS OVER THE SNOW (1945)

Winner of an Academy Award as Best Short Subject of 1948

Richard Griffiths writes admiringly of Arne Sucksdorff that both his life and his work seem able to "catch and hold a dream alive" with great beauty, fidelity and eloquence. Here in the winter forest, a bear frightens a small boy, whose father then sets out with his dog to track the huge animal. The chase lasts into the darkness, when even this experienced hunter retreats in panic, for as Sucksdorff characteristically says, he realizes "that senses stronger than his are masters of the night."

STRUGGLE FOR SURVIVAL (1944)

Fear of plunder and death is the daily lot of the birds that make their home on the rocky cliffs of the Swedish shore. Resigned to their fate, they stand by as the big gray sea hawk robs them of their young. His ruthless reign is dramatized in magnificent photography.

When Spring comes, the fledglings make their first plunge into the sea. Some perish, but more survive — and life goes on. Full of the beauty and terror of the struggle to live, this film (produced five years prior to its American release under the Swedish title TRUT! — THE GULL —) also displays the distinctive Scandinavian approach to nature in which "wind, wood and water are still alive." In terms of sheer virtuosity of technique, it is perhaps the most impressive of Arne Sucksdorff's short nature films.

SYMPHONY OF A CITY (1946)

Arne Sucksdorff retained his style and his skill when he moved from the animal to the human world, and in this film his camera moves as freely and fluently through Stockholm as before it had moved through the forest. For Sucksdorff, indeed, the city never loses its ties to nature, for the world of the woods constantly enriches man's work. The movement of people is compared to the searching of sea gulls; at the same time, contemplative men, looking and waiting, are sculpture come to life. A rainshower drives young boys to cover, and sheltering in another doorway, a couple meets, exchanges glances, touches hands, and joins destinies, however briefly, when the sky clears.

Contemplative, impressionistic, and exquisite, this is one of Sucksdorff's most famous works and was the winner of a coveted Academy Award as Best Short Subject of 1948.

LITTLE RASCALS

DOGS IS DOGS (1931)

Wheeler and Dorothy are forced to live with a mean old stepmother and her bratty spoiled son. "Mother" begins her day with a licking for Wheeler just because the window was open and Pete the Pup happened to jump in bed with him again. Later, "old hatchet face" announces that she is going downtown for the morning and charges Wheeler to look after pampered Sherwood and see that he doesn't get dirty. For breakfast Sherwood fixes ham and eggs for himself and his dog but Wheeler and Dorothy have to stop down their perennial unfavorable—mush. In pops uninvited Stymie who's sure fed up with their mush for his breakfast. "What? Mush again? You know you're the mushiest people I ever did see." Full of ideas when he's hungry, Stymie then cons Sherwood out of some ham and eggs in one of the shrewdest, funniest schemes ever. Did you know that ham and eggs can talk?

After Sherwood leaves, his own dumb dog shoves him into a deep well he's peering into. Wheeler and Stymie casually drop by to see what they can do about frightened Sherwood's plight. As a thank you for pulling him up from his watery confinement, Sherwood blames Petey for killing another of the neighbor's chickens, when in fact his own dog Nero is the culprit. An egg shellacking for the gun. Gilbert works to no avail, and Petey is sent to the dog pound. It looks like he's a "goner" until... well you'll just have to see it.

CAME THE BRAWN (1938)

In a biting spoof of both "wraslin'" and fickle women, CAME THE BRAWN finds Spanky promoting a fixed fight between Alfalfa and the mysterious Masked Marvel. The match rehearsal is slowed down when Alfalfa is unable to pick out someone he's certain he'll be able to lick. At last, Bookworm Waldo strides by and trips over his own feet... he has a problem with falling down. Alfalfa is sure he can pin this guy! After training, though, he visits Darla who thinks she likes he-men. Alfalfa brags just a little too much about his wrestling prowess, especially in front of tough guy Butch, his chief rival for Darla's affections; and the bully switches places with weakling Waldo in the Masked Marvel's dressing room before the fight. Alfalfa thinks he'll have an easy time of it until the unmasking in the ring, when the mysterious fighter is revealed, as Butch the Bruiser. Before Alfalfa concedes though, Butch finds that he must contend with pesky Porky and Buckwheat, who grab hold of his wrestling outfit from beneath the mat and pull it off leaving Butch to hide under a sheet of canvas!

GOLDEN RULE

KATE (1917)

(An Abridgement)

with LOUISE GLAUM, JOHN GILBERT, JACK RICHARDSON, MILDRED HARRIS and WILLIAM CONKLIN

Although produced at the famous old studio town of Inceville, GOLDEN RULE KATE is hardly a western in the accepted sense of the word. Most of these Ince dramas of the late teens are more memorable than ordinary cowboy westerns because of the red meat in them—the rugged, earthly struggle between good and evil.

Louise Glauum was usually cast as a vamp—a bad girl—who loses the hero, but in GOLDEN RULE KATE she has a rare, sympathetic part. And John Gilbert's good looks and confident manner were so striking in these early roles, it remains a mystery as to why top-flight stardom eluded him until the mid-twenties.

GOLDEN RULE KATE was the work of Reginald Barker, a grand old Scotch director who was still making pictures until the late thirties.

A new parson in a wild western community is opposed by the lawless of the town. Efforts are made to undermine and discredit the minister in the eyes of his flock. Golden Rule Kate, who runs the saloon, comes to his rescue.

HOW TO OPEN A BLACKHAWK CHARGE ACCOUNT

Open account billing is now available to individuals in the continental United States on the payment of a fee of $2.00 and the submission of satisfactory credit information. (Payment of the $2.00 fee is not required when application is accompanied by an order for $10.00 or more.) On this basis, upon the opening of a Blackhawk charge account, you will be provided with an account number which should appear on all orders from you. Payment for orders shipped and billed during a month are due in Davenport not later than the 15th of the month following. As an example, orders which are shipped and billed to you in December must be paid in full not later than January 15, etc., etc. A Blackhawk charge account will be a particular convenience to our regular customers in that it eliminates the pre-figuring of remittance for postage, and the writing of several checks or the securing of several money orders during a single month.

Fill in completely (type or print) the BLACKHAWK CHARGE ACCOUNT APPLICATION below, sign and return it to us with the $2.00 charge account fee or an order of $10.00 or more. ($2.00 fee, if sent, will be refunded in the event an account is not opened by us.) We'll immediately confirm receipt and let you know as soon as the account is open—and your account number.

BUY ANYTHING OFFERED BY BLACKHAWK ON CONVENIENT MONTHLY PAYMENTS!

The following time payment arrangements became effective with the Truth in Lending Act on July 1st, 1969.)

Customers in the United States may purchase anything from Blackhawk on convenient time payments.

TIME PAYMENT ARRANGEMENTS

A. Down Payments

Below are the minimum down payments required based on the total amount of your purchase.

On orders totaling $25.00 to $50.00	$ 5.00
On orders totaling $50.01 to $100.00	$ 7.50
On orders totaling $100.01 to $125.00	$12.50

The amount of your time payment charge and the amount of your monthly payment is determined by the unpaid balance remaining after we have deducted your down payment from the total of your purchase. Thus, the larger you can make your down payment, the lower will be your time payment charges and the smaller will be your monthly payments.

B. Time Payment Charges

Time payment charges are based on the unpaid balance remaining after the deduction of your down payment from the total of your purchase. Here they are scheduled:

On unpaid balances totaling $25.00 to $75.00	$ 5.00
On unpaid balances totaling $75.01 to $125.00	$ 7.50

C. Monthly Payments

As is explained above, the size of your monthly payment is based upon the unpaid balance (including the time payment charge) remaining after deducting your payment from the total of your purchase. Here is the schedule:

On unpaid balances totaling $25.00 to $50.00	$ 5.00
On unpaid balances totaling $50.01 to $100.00	$10.00
On unpaid balances totaling $100.01 to $125.00	$12.50

D. Add-on Orders

New purchases may not be added to existing contracts. A separate contract, requiring a down payment and a time payment charge will be established each time you order. It will be to your advantage, as the time payment charges are fixed figures, to include as many items as possible in each time payment order.

E. Our Action

We've provided this information so that you will know exactly the amount you will owe. However, to help you further, we prepare a time payment schedule for you at the time we ship the merchandise. We show you the exact amount due and the dates on which the amount should be received here in Davenport. So don't let the detail bother you. We'll do the figuring.

THE AMERICAN ELK

The elk is a member of the deer family, and was once widely distributed over North America. Now the elk is most abundant in the Rocky Mountains and the mountain areas of the West Coast.

The correct common name for the American elk is Wapiti.

In this film see the bull elk bugling, this is the call the bull gives during the fall mating season. It may also be used to warn other bulls away from a "harem" of cows in the sense of a challenge. See the lone bull who will later assume charge of a group of cows — the "harem". See groups of cows and calves, the young are born during May and early June.

THE BEAVER—NATURE'S LUMBERJACK

An intimate pictorial account of construction activities of the beaver — beaver pond, house, and cache — beaver swimming in open water — beaver at dam — beaver inspecting dam at overflow — beaver crossing over aspen cutting, then starting to section another for cache in pond. The beaver has been protected well for a number of years and as a result of this is making a comeback from reduced numbers.

FILM INFORMATION

Charles Hutchinson had worked for many companies as an actor and sometime director without attracting too much attention until his friend Joseph A. Golden signed him for a role in a serial concept he had sold to Pathe early in 1918. Leah Baird and Sheldon Lewis were supposedly the box office attractions.

Golden wrote in a strong part for Hutch, whose star was launched skyward as a result. Fan mail poured in demanding to see more of the darling young man and Pathe immediately ordered another Golden Hutchinson collaboration. For the next four years, Hutch proved to be the hottest male property on the serial screen.

As for the serial that brought him to fame, it was written, directed and produced by Golden and fits into the topical or "preparedness" format. All the classic serial elements were used, from stolen invention to cliff-hanging endings. But in story, Wolves of Kultur, was contemporary with the times.

It portrayed a dangerous threat to American security from an unnamed foreign power. As we were at war with Germany when Wolves of Kultur was released on October 13, 1918, there is little doubt that the chief villain's name (Hartman) along with an abundance of Prussian moustaches served to place the blame in the audience minds.

Blackhawk's release of this Pathe thriller with its background of World War I spies, sabotage and traitors, is an abridgement of the original fifteen chapters down to seven. The pre-print material on this film was located in Holland, where it had been released in condensed form after the close of World War I. A very high percent of the original story remains in the abridgement — and, we think all of the original flavor. The first chapter would class as a "three reeler" (three 1000' 35mm reels) with the remaining six being "two reelers." In our Standard 8mm and Super 8 versions, chapter one will be divided on two 7-inch reels, the remaining chapters on single 7-inch reels.

RECENT RELEASES

with LON CHANEY as Fagin (1922)

Oliver Twist, published 1837-39, was Dickens' first long integrated story, and since it is one of the most dramatic and sensational of all his works, it has always been a great favorite with dramatists and film-makers. The dramatizations began during the author's lifetime, and his own reading of the Murder of Nancy by Bill Sikes was described as "two Macbeths" by the greatest contemporary English actor, William Charles Macready.

This film version, long thought completely lost, has been restored from a 35mm negative located in Eastern Europe. Released on November 5, 1922, it was the second of young Jackie Coogan's starring vehicles after he had become famous overnight in Charlie Chaplin's The Kid, and he never found a better or more winning role. To present viewers the film abundantly attests both to his charm and to his wonderful acting ability, even when he did not have Chaplin to guide him.

When Lon Chaney created his impressive, evil Fagin in this film, he had The Miracle Man, The Penalty and his work with Maurice Tourneur in Victory and Treasure Island behind him; but he had not yet made either The Hunchback of Notre Dame or The Phantom of the Opera.

The character of Sikes was a "natural" for the always workmanlike Griffith "heavy," George Siegmann, and though Nancy is not as prominent in this film as she has been in some productions of Oliver Twist, Galdys Brockwell makes the best of some vivid moments. She went on to play in Seventh Heaven and some other films of the late twenties, then unfortunately died while her career seemed traveling on an upward curve. Esther Ralston, who appears as Rose Maylie, was to attract much more attention in 1924 as Mrs. Darling in the Brenon-Bronson Peter Pan.

Because no copy of the original English title texts could be located, new titles were written for Blackhawk by Sol Lesser and Jackie Coogan, with help from Dickens scholar, Edward Wagenknecht. Picture quality of this release is very good.

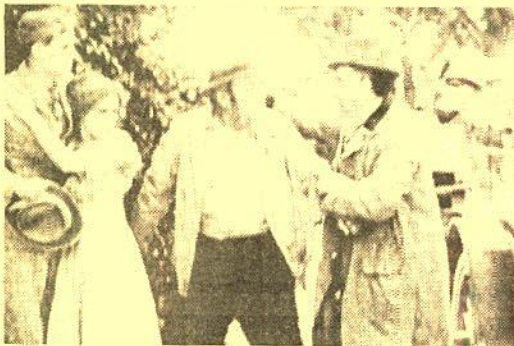

The picture has indeed lost very little through the past half century, and much of the credit for this belongs to the director, Frank Lloyd, who also co-authored the scenario. Not even the fact that Oliver Twist had to be considerably younger than in the Dickens novel prevented Lloyd from turning out a richly-mounted production which, though necessarily somewhat simplified, managed, without fatigue, to suggest the great complexity of the novel and remain completely faithful to its spirit.

WHEN A MAN LOVES (1911) starring MARY PICKFORD

with CHARLES WEST, DELL HENDERSON and GEORGE NICHOLS

Directed by D. W. Griffith

Like life itself, farce comedy is generally very cruel to older men who fall in love with young girls. About the only chance the "crufter" gets to win the sympathy is to lay aside his own pretensions and come to the help of the girl's true (and young) love.

In WHEN A MAN LOVES, Dell Henderson richly avails himself of this opportunity, and so effectively that even the other gaffer, the girl's father, is won over in the end.

Mr. Bach, a rich bachelor revisiting the scenes of his childhood, falls in love with a farmer's daughter. The girl, however, is in love with a local boy, and since her father opposes the match, they plan to elope that night. Unfortunately the father has put his daughter out of her room to accommodate the guest, this seems at first to frustrate the lovers' plans. Mr. Bach, however, proves sufficiently understanding and accommodating so that he takes the young couple to the minister's house in his own car to be married and even reconciles the father to the match.

FIGHTING MAN — THE STORY OF GENERAL GEORGE S. PATTON

Produced by Fox Movietone

"Old Blood and Guts" Patton carved his name in the annals of World War II as one of the greatest battle tacticians. Patton symbolized the American warrior with his ivory-handled six guns and gold helmet. Beginning his military career in 1904 as a West Point cadet, Patton was only an average student, but he excelled on the drill field. His first taste of war came in 1915 when he pursued Pancho Villa's raiders across the Mexican border. In World War I, Patton formed the first U.S. tank corps, leading them to victory after victory. Between the wars Patton's plea for a tank army fell on deaf ears, but with a few old tanks, he worked out the doctrines of modern tank warfare. Hitler's generals picked up Patton's ideas and created huge Panzer divisions which brought Europe to its knees early in World War II. With the entry of the U.S. into the war, Patton was given command of the first great counter-offensive against the Germans: retaking North Africa. Always near the front lines, Patton's forces swept across Africa, Sicily and Europe, where he out "blitzkrieged" the Germans.

OUT OF STOCK ITEMS

Where items are temporarily out of stock, we will create a back order, retain sufficient funds to cover shipment and send the item as quickly as our new stock is received. If there is a delay beyond two weeks, we will notify you, giving you any information we may have.

When an item is permanently out of stock, we will send you a credit memo as a refund. We follow the practice of issuing credit memos in such instances because most customers prefer to make another selection. If we return a check, this means that the customer who wants to select another item must then either pay for the cashing of our check and for the writing of another personal check, or must pay for a money order. This can be both inconvenient and expensive. To make alternate selections easy, therefore, we use the credit memorandum system.

If you would prefer a cash refund, just tell us on your order and we will send our bank check rather than a credit memorandum.

BLACKHAWK'S LAY-AWAY PLAN

Blackhawk's Lay-Away Plan costs you not a penny more than Blackhawk's regular cash price—you pay 10% of the cost of the merchandise with your order, the balance within 90 days at your convenience. As soon as the balance is paid, Blackhawk ships the merchandise! And, Lay-Away is an easy way for you to get those limited availability bargains and sale items, for the moment we get your order, it is physically pulled and set aside for you! Remember—no interest or carrying charge on Lay-Away!

RETURNS

Should you for any reason desire to return items to Blackhawk for credit or for any other reason, YOU MUST RETURN ALL PAPERS INCLUDING YOUR ORIGINAL ORDER WITHIN 10 DAYS from the date you receive it. Because of the thousands of orders we handle, we do not keep copies of all orders, nor a list of the items you purchased. Unless you return the papers listed above, we are not in a position to handle your request without undue delay. For fast service, return to: Blackhawk Films, Davenport, Iowa 52808.

PARCEL POST CHARGES

Shipping weights are given on all mailable merchandise so that you can remit approximate postage charges with your order. Just add up shipping weights on all items to be shipped by Parcel Post and figure total pounds (16 ounces to a pound).

A phone call to your local post office will get you information as to your zone from Davenport, or you can estimate it or the basis of distance as given in the table below. Alaska, Hawaii and territories of the United States are in the 8th zone from Davenport. APO/FPO addresses in San Francisco and Seattle are charged as the 8th zone from Davenport. APO/FPO addresses in New York are charged as the 5th zone from Davenport.

Then, having determined the total shipping weight of your order and the zone in which you are located from Davenport, refer to the table below to determine the amount of postage to include when placing your cash order. (There is no need to figure this in advance on C.O.D. or Time Payment orders as actual postage charges will be billed to you.) We will send a credit voucher for any overpayment of postage which may be applied on your next order.

READ BEFORE YOU ORDER

Blackhawk Films' prices do not include postage. Shipping weights are given with each item and you can compute the approximate total weight and postage charges by referring to the postage table given below. While weights of a single shipment to virtually all post offices in continental United States are limited to 40 pounds, shipments to the states of Alaska and Hawaii may run as heavy as 70 pounds. These two states are in the eighth zone, and Blackhawk customers can approximate the correct postage to remit by figuring 18¢ per pound for each pound above twenty. The same formula applies to all U.S. Territories and Protectorates. Some larger and heavier items, because of size and weight, are not mailable and will thus be shipped to you by express or freight, you paying the transportation charges on delivery. In general, shipments of size and weight requiring express or freight transportation will not be forwarded on a C.O.D. basis.

SALES TAX ON IOWA SHIPMENTS

Customers ordering films for shipment to points in Iowa must also add 3% for the State Sales Tax.

C.O.D. SHIPMENTS

Except where noted, Blackhawk will gladly make shipments of merchandise on a C.O.D. basis to any point in the United States. However, on C.O.D. shipments, the purchaser pays all transportation charges, insurance and C.O.D. fees, and money order fees, in addition to the cost of the merchandise.

SHIPMENTS OUTSIDE
CONTINENTAL UNITED STATES

Shipments made to Hawaii, Alaska, Puerto Rico, Fleet Post Offices, Army Post Offices and other overseas locations move through the regular United States Postal System. We are glad to handle such shipments on exactly the same basis as shipments made within continental United States with the exception that no C.O.D.'s will be made outside continental United States.

Where shipments are made to countries other than the United States, payment may be made by letter of credit, by international money order or in any negotiable currency. Where, on any type of payment, you wish to know the exact cost of your merchandise we will be glad to send a proforma invoice—and hold the wanted items—so that a precise amount may be determined. Where checks, money orders or other remittances are made in currencies other than those of the United States, we will immediately clear these funds through our bank. Your order will be suspended until our bank has notified us of the actual credit resulting from this clearance. This usually takes a matter of a week or ten days.

On shipments to overseas destinations other than those served directly by the United States Postal System, a surcharge of 10% is made to cover postage, and the preparation of necessary customs forms.

Blackhawk cannot guarantee safe delivery on foreign shipments. If you want your shipment insured we can do it for you at an additional charge. Ask for details.

WE WILL SHIP ALL ORDERS VIA PARCEL POST (EXCEPT FOR SUCH ITEMS AS FRAGILE PROJECTION EQUIPMENT) UNLESS OTHERWISE REQUESTED. WE WILL SHIP FRAGILE ITEMS BY UNITED PARCEL OR RAILWAY EXPRESS.

TILLIE WAKES UP (1917)

starring MARIE DRESSLER

with JOHNNY HINES

When Mack Sennett brought Marie Dressler to the screen in 1924 to co-star with Charlie Chaplin in TILLIE'S PUNCTURED ROMANCE, Miss Dressler was already famous on the stage in revues, musical comedies and farces, and had been since the turn of the century.

It was only natural, after the success of TILLIE'S PUNCTURED ROMANCE, that the newly formed Peerless-World Pictures would lure Miss Dressler back to the screen with another "Tillie." But TILLIE WAKES UP was connected with TILLIE'S PUNCTURED ROMANCE by little more than its title and Marie Dressler's appearance.

Nonetheless TILLIE WAKES UP, released in January, 1917, was an altogether successful follow-up and started a virtual "Tillie" series starring Marie Dressler, but filmed by a variety of different companies of the day. It also served as an early co-starring appearance for youthful Johnny Hines.

SAGE BRUSH TOM

starring
TOM MIX

SAGE BRUSH TOM is more than a routinely interesting Selig comedy-Western, directed by and starring Tom Mix, in that it shows what might have been happening behind the camera at Prescott, Arizona, Mix's regular shooting location.

Born in Pennsylvania on January 5, 1880, Tom Mix made his screen debut with the Selig Company in RANCH LIFE IN THE GREAT SOUTHWEST, released on August 9, 1910. Prior to that he had been a real-life cowboy and sheriff in Dewey, Oklahoma, which now boasts a Tom Mix Museum.

In 1917, he joined the William Fox Company, and by the early Twenties was the screen's most popular cowboy star, with an energy and zest often lacking in the films of his greatest rival, William S. Hart. Mix retired from the screen in 1934, and was killed in an automobile accident in Arizona on October 12, 1940.
