THE MONSTER WALKS (1932)

starring REX LEASE, MISCHA AUER and WILLIE (Sleep 'N' Eat) BEST

The story opens on a cold, stormy night (what else?) pierced with thunder and lightning. In a candle lit room of the old gothic mansion lies the shrouded body of Dr. Philip Earleton, recently and SUDDENLY deceased. Mrs. Krug, sharp-featured, gaunt and looking like a typical horror story housekeeper (which is exactly what she is) ushers in Mr. Wilkes, executor of Dr. Earleton's estate, to view the body. In appropriately hushed tones, pregnant with foreboding, they discuss the situation, again, making a point of how sudden was his death.

Meanwhile, downstairs, Mrs. Krug's son, Hanns, a rather nice looking Frankenstein's monster type who obviously had Peter Lorre for a voice coach, and Robert Earleton, the dead man's brother who has just recently joined the ranks of the hopelessly paralytic, are taking things over. We learn that, prior to his becoming a corpse, Dr. Earleton experimented with apes, one of whom is shrieking its head off down in the basement. The blood curdling screams, it turns out, are emanating from a somewhat hypertensive chimpanzee whose temper tantrum could probably be assuaged with a few bananas. "Why does he scream so?" Hanns asks Robert (who ought to know). "Because," says Hanns in his best Peter Lorre voice, "he misses his dead master." Hanns goes on to explain that "Yogi" (the ape, not the bear) was his master's favorite and insanely jealous of anyone who tried to share Dr. Earleton's affection. Knowing this fact, we are now prepared for the entrance of "dainty" Ruth, daughter of the deceased man and potential object of Yogi's jealous rage.

She arrives on the scene with her fiance who just happens to be a Doctor, a handy profession which further arouses our suspicions that his talents will probably be needed.

"It was all so sudden," wails Ruth. "Yes," replies "Auntie" Krug, "very sudden." By this time you would have to be deaf, dumb, blind and pretty stupid not to realize that Dr. Earleton's death was SUDDEN and that Hanns and Mrs. Krug know why. However, just to make absolutely certain that everyone knows that they are in cahoots, Hanns says to his mother in private "I am going to tell them!" (What??) "No," says Mama Krug, "we may be rich yet." (The plot thickens!) Ruth, meanwhile, and strange Uncle Robert have been talking over old times, Ruth tells of the happy days when, as a child, she played in the secret passageways and rooms in the old house until her father had them boarded up — another useful piece of information for us, because as she is reminiscing, the camera obligingly focuses on a framed picture hung on the wall directly behind the headboard of her bed. Suddenly, the picture moves, revealing a hole in the wall just big enough for an arm to fit through — another hint of things to come!

To allow for comic relief, which almost seems like "guiding the jolly", there is Exodus, the negro chauffeur, who is "cowardice" personified. Sleep 'n' Eat, as the actor called himself, played this same character in many films; among them the Charlie Chan series and will be easily recognizable to mystery film buffs. Mischa Auer, who plays the part of Hanns, is best remembered for his abilities as a comic which he intentionally or unintentionally demonstrates here.

It would seem that not a trick was missed in this film. Hairy arms coming out of the wall, weird and mysterious people, unexplained tragedies, an agitated ape and even a slightly sour rendition of "Lullabye and Goodnight" played on a warped violin all mix together into a delightful potpourri of horror.

Though a lot of this film is contrived and hackneyed, we must remember that when it was first released in 1932, things which now seem clichés were all new and terrifying and probably responsible for sending many a young lady scrambling into the protective arms of the nearest young man or vice versa.

THE MONSTER WALKS is like a film trip through the Chamber of Horrors at the carnival—one of the few places where you can have a really good time being scared out of your wits! It would be interesting to see what Mel Brooks would do with this film, though we have a sneaking suspicion that he may have already done it!

THOSE AWFUL HATS (1909)

In 1909 when this film was made, ladies wore enormous hats decorated with piles of fruit, colorful flower arrangements and large sprays of colored feathers. A headgear was formidable obstruction for other patrons in the low-ceilinged flat-floored nickelodeons of the day, so it was customary for movie shows to begin with a slide asking ladies to doff their hats.

THOSE AWFUL HATS probably the earliest, but not the only, Biograph film made as a curtain raiser and was intended to offer a humorous solution to the usual slide. In addition, the film offers Biograph's own solution to the problem: a large chair that, long which descends from the ceiling to grasp and carry aloft the largest and most grotesque of these hats.

The film remains a delightful curtain-raiser but it also is of interest today for its setting, constructed to resemble a nickelodeon of the period, and for its trick photography. A movie is playing on the screen within the movie; these two images were photographed separately, and the final effect was achieved by double-printing each positive, using a traveling matte.

Appearing in the film are Mack Sennett, Flora Finch, Linda Arvidson (then Mrs. D. W. Griffith), John Compton, Florence Lawrence, Arthur Johnson, and Robert Harron.

UB IWERKS

by Joe Adamson

There are few existing photographs of Ub Iwerks, the first of Disney's great animators, but in those few he seems to be looking up from his drawing board with an expression of sheer amazement that anything real could be going on outside of it. Iwerks was given to extravagant tour-de-force exercises in animation, revelling especially in complicated dances, out-of-control conveyances, and wild tracking shots in which the very earth moved at the reckless speed of 24 frames per second.

Simply by employing this man, Disney was flexing his fetish for hiring the best talent in the industry: he was clearly a wizard, in command of all the skill at draftsmanship, movement, perspective, and characterization any contemporary could claim, and was able to turn out 700 of his wonderful drawings in one day! Iwerks was responsible for animating STEAMBOAT WILLIE, THE SKELETON DANCE, and the rest of Disney's first flood of successes, practically single-handed (the other hand tied behind his back, some think, to provide local color and to coin a phrase).

Ub Iwerks (whose name unfolds backwards as Skrewi Bu, and bears only slightly more resemblance to the English language that way) was the offspring of a Dutch immigrant who bore the anagram Er Ubbe Iwwerks, but out of consideration dubbed his child simply Ubbe Ert Iwwerks. It was up to Ub himself to streamline his name, if only to keep question marks from flying out of people's heads as they contemplated pronunciation. "The oddness of Ubb's (sic) name is an asset in a way," decided Disney in 1929. "It makes people look twice when they see it. Tell Ubbe (sic) that the New York animators take off their hats to his animation and all of them know who we are." The best reason for the New York animators, the veterans of a fledgling field, to recognize these upstarts on the California Coast, was that Iwerks had the kind of solid control over his characters that he never had over the amorphous spelling of his cantankerous name. Iwerks' creatures seem to have a flesh-and-blood, three-dimensional, gravitational existence that does its best to belie their pen-and-ink origins.

Disney's distributor, Pat Powers, reasoned that by luring away Disney's choicest talent he could reap twice the harvest with half the seed, and so in 1930 Iwerks left the Disney organization (even giving up a 20% partnership in the studio, as featherheaded a financial move as any laborer was ever likely to make) and established his own studio elsewhere in Hollywood, where he began turning out a series called Flip the Frog. A representative of Powers' company, Celebrity Productions, objected to the idea, feeling that the name "Tony Frog" was somehow superior, and furthermore would "indicate a snappy sort of individual." Just how it would succeed in doing that looks unclear at this remove, unless this guy had a snappy friend named Tony. The representative — who apparently had no trouble with the name Ub Iwerks — insisted that "I personally have difficulty in pronouncing the words 'Flip the Frog' without lapsing into a lisp." Just how one lisps on the words "Flip the Frog" is as big a mystery as how anyone so lisp-happy succeeds in coining the phrase "lapsing into a lisp." But Ub the Iwerks opted for Flip the Frog, and Pat the Powers-That-Be accepted it.

The music for this series was composed and orchestrated by Carl W. Stallings, just out of the Disney organization himself and shortly to become the Looney Tunes and Merrie Melodies musician for Warner Brothers.

What Powers got, however, was on a different order entirely from what Disney was offering.

Iwerks' style veered farther and farther from the lifelike imitation of natural action Disney was at the same time moving toward, and tended instead to emphasize the cartooniness of every action, bringing to vivid animated life the conventions of the newspaper comic strip: the force lines, exclamation points, and question marks freely radiating from the characters' heads to express astonishment, for instance, or the fact that the words "Blah! Blah!" are as apt to emerge from a character's mouth as a real formulated sentence. While Disney grew increasingly involved with eternally flowing move-

BULLONEY

One gag leads spontaneously to the next in this crazy cartoon. The bullfight arts out like a wrestling match between toreador and bull, but before it's over it's become a football game, a basketball game, and a human cannonball act (all the necessary props suddenly appearing when called for and vanishing immediately afterwards). The bull even resorts to baseball by rushing for reinforcements to a Bull Peal Fanny drawings abet funny gags, as the action dashes rierrily along without looking back to make sense of it all.

THE CUCKOO MURDER CASE

Iwerks proves himself a master of a particular brand of cartoon horror we might term Iwerks Gothic in this, a great Flip the Frog entry of 1931 that clearly anticipates Tex Avery's equally great WHO KILLED WHO? of 1943. The visual style is drenched with atmospheric chiaroscuro, creating a mood too effective to be completely mocked away even by the craziest of these gags. The daffiest events are treated with the most accomplished draftsmanship: the most impossible tumbling is visualized in the most impeccable perspective; the jokes can't fail to amuse, but the over-all effect is too sobering to amuse superficially. The villain of the piece turns out to be none other than Death himself, making one of his rare cartoon appearances.

FUNNY FACE

Flip plays half this show under a different face, and the face he plays it under was shortly turned into Iwerk's next character, Willie Whooper. This particular production is Iwerk's own variation on the Frog-Prince: like the best comedies, however, its message is never at the expense of its wit. Flip's girlfriend, animated by Grim Natwick, is a dead ringer for Betty Boop, created by the same animator. The smooth roughhouse is filmed as Mack Sennett could never film the roughhouse: the floors are animated in perspective as the characters go crashing through them.

NURSEMAID

In all the best ways, this cartoon resembles short comedies of the 20's, complete with gratuitous mishaps, misshapen walk-ons, and a malevolent baby who resembles a midget. The picture climaxes appropriately in a roller-coaster of a chase, involving a lion from out of a Pet Store! (They keep the lions between the elephants and the monkeys.)

PUDDLE PRANKS

One of the earlier Flip cartoons (and one of the few to avoid runaway sodomy by giving him a girlfriend who is actually a frog), this one features a pelican, of all things, as the villain. Flip appears nude for an instant, but it's OK because he blushes. Highlights include Flip's duet with his girlfriend, some nice bits with a chauffeur grasshopper (who is then unceremoniously eaten), and, if you look close, a subtle wave effect in the underwater scenes that anticipates Iwerk's later Special Effects work for Disney features like ALICE IN WONDERLAND and SLEEPING BEAUTY.

Techno Cracked

TECHNO-CRACKED

Technocracy was a depression inspired theory of government, regarded by its proponents as suitable for a technological age, in which all economic resources, and hence the entire social system, would be controlled by scientists and engineers. Filmed as it was at the bottom of the depression of the 1930's, it was only natural that one of the "Flip" cartoons would have its name inspired by this system, which many people thought of as being a little nutty from the beginning. At any rate, our cartoon finds Flip in a tree-top level hammock, belt powered in full technocratic style, by a treadmill on which a dog is running, only to go faster and faster as the dog increases his speed, and even faster as the old battleaxe, whose property it is, comes out to put Flip to work mowing the lawn. Flip no more than begins his mowing, when a copy of "Unpopular Mechanics" with an article on The Mechanical Man gets in his way and stops the mowing. Flip decides to build such a Monster, and succeeds in no time. The only thing about his creation is that it has no discretion, and can only imitate. By the time it goes off on its own, it's mowing everything in sight, and that is only the beginning of the climactic action that forms the story-line of this subject.

UB·IWERKS (Continued from opposite page.)

ment that obscured the extreme positions, Iwerks was more apt to hold the extremes and vibrate them, so there was no avoiding them. Also, in terms of drawing style, character design, and background treatment, Iwerks opted more toward the City School of savage caricature and surly satire of the seamy side of life (characteristic of Segar's Thimble Theater strips and the Fleischers' derivative Popeye cartoons), than the rosy romance of cherubim and kittens that was Disney's predilection. When Disney shipped in New York animators like Ben Sharpsteen, he rigorously trained them in the specialized techniques Iwerks had perfected; when Iwerks brought in New York animators like Grim Natwick (the man responsible for some of the zanier aberrations in early Fleischer talkies like CHESS-NUTS), he allowed their techniques to dominate his pictures, as he gravitated into the machine shop to perfect the multiplane camera and whatever other animation contrivance occurred to him. So, while Disney was forging a new style and a whole new cartoon consciousness formulated on Iwerks' premises, Iwerks himself was applying the very surest technique to the orthodoxies of comic art.

Which enabled Iwerks to cut loose in a way that wasn't possible for Disney. It was the conventional animated cartoon world, all right, where people seem incapable of going out and taking a walk without breaking into song and dance, flailing their rubber arms and tapping their little feet on the pavement to the tune of woodblocks. But by the same token it was a world where inanimate objects were apt to be capable of anything. The piano plays itself in FIDDLESTICKS and dances along with the stool when the spirit moves them. The bull's horns switch allegiance to Flip's head in BULLONEY. And the clock in THE CUCKOO MURDER CASE phones the police by dropping numbers from off his face into the phone receiver. In gags like these, Iwerks was updating the Anything-Goes rationale of animation's previous decade, and anticipating the surrealism of Tex Avery in the Forties.

But oftentimes these unpredictable would take the form of ingenious cartoon metaphors that were on a different order entirely. A cat with its tail pulled becomes a siren in CUCKOO MURDER CASE, making a neat comment on cats as well as on sirens. In THE NEW CAR the jalousie in the marketplace begs for Flip's approval like a teenage girl, then performs like a puppy to con him out of his coin; after that it's Flip and the car against the stream of traffic, as the race from light to light is handled like an intramural competition. In BULLONEY the bullfight starts out like a wrestling match, and before it's over has become a football game, a basketball game, and a human cannonball act, until at last the bull resorts to baseball by rushing for reinforcements to a Bull Pen! And on a typical 12-piece drum ensemble in FIDDLESTICKS, a spider becomes the only sensible drummer.

Rather than create a hyperbolized form of the physical laws of the real world, as Disney did, Iwerks proceeded in glib, liberating disregard for earthly laws and took the cartoonist's prerogative of creating his own. Hardly in Iwerks' cartoons did any action produce an equal or opposite reaction. Cartilage and bone seems to vanish from these characters at will, and Flip has even been known to pluck his legs like violin strings for emphasis. Struck on the head with a bouquet of flowers in FUNNY FACE, Flip gives off the sound of a good solid clang on a ringside bell. Struck on the head with a fishing rod in NURSE MAID, Flip sails up into the air and flies in curlicues through space before swan-diving into a manhole. There is a good Roadrunner-style lever gag performed on the diving board in PUDDLE PRANKS, but when Flip steps on a loose board and falls through the floor in CUCKOO MURDER CASE, the other end of the board obligingly delivers him topside again! Flip removes his face from a mirror and attaches it to a poster on the wall in BULLONEY, and in FUNNY FACE the faces become generally exchangeable as trinkets.

Blackhawk's new Flip the Frog releases provide wonderful and wonder-filled examples of Iwerks' active visual imagination, as well as breathtaking examples of his spectacular animation.

THE FILMS OF

CHARLIE CHAPLIN

Keystone Period

Chaplin came to the movies late in 1913 when he was signed by Mack Sennett to appear in Keystone Comedies. This was the period in which Charlie's comedy character was taking form, and his style developing from his days in pantomime. Starting out at the tremendous salary of $150.00 a week and as an unknown he was signed by Essanay at $1250.00 a week in December, 1914.

Essanay Period

Here was the time that Chaplin began to come into his own. With more time devoted to the preparation of his films, his talent became even more in evidence and there was less and less dependence on slapstick. Almost all of his Essanay films were two reels (most of them are or will be available from Blackhawk) and were more painstakingly produced. But, so high had his popularity skyrocketed in 1915 that Mutual was able to sign him away from Essanay in February, 1916, at salary and bonus totaling $670,000 for a year.

Mutual Period

In this period, during 1916-1917, Chaplin produced and directed a dozen two-reel comedies for Mutual. As a group, these rank at the very top of any series of short comedy films ever produced. And it is here that Chaplin came into his own. Every film of the twelve is a delight.

THE FILMS OF THE LITTLE RASCALS

HAL ROACH PRODUCTIONS

Standard 8mm, Super 8, 16mm — silent and sound

"For fifteen years, the children of the television age have been enjoying the antics of 'The Little Rascals.' Run over and over again, the comedies never grow tiresome, and the youthful audience for the films is perhaps bigger today than it has ever been. At no time does anyone feel impelled to explain that the films are thirty-five to fifty years old; for they are timeless, as timeless as childhood itself. The 'Our Gang' Kids are reflections of what we'd all like to be as children. In all probability, most of us never had as many adventures in five years as the Gang does in every comedy. There is a beguiling fantasy world for us on the screen as we watch these kids, without money or help from adults, build their own fire engines, run a clubhouse, organize a band, or do any of the thousand and one things we wish we could have done ourselves. The puncturing of dignity is a timeless yearning in all audiences; and here again we experience the vicarious pleasure of seeing the Gang emerge victoriously after doing battle with snooty matrons, cruel guardians, and the like. Nor is this limited to the adult world. Throughout the 'Our Gang' films, there is an active dislike for rich kids, and even more so for 'consciously cute kids' — something the remarkable youngsters in these comedies never became. Hal Roach has said that he always had the idea of making 'kid comedies.' He experimented with the idea several times in the early stages of his producing career. Robert McGowan was given charge of the series. He played with the kids, became an unofficial 'uncle,' and learned how to get the best reactions from them. In 1922, 'Our Gang' was born. McGowan and Anthony Mack directed the series through the 1920s, as the Gang grew in popularity to become the top comedy attractions in films. The kiddie personnel stayed essentially the same through the late 1920s, with occasional newcomers broken in. In 1929, there was a changeover in cast. These newcomers would have an easier time starting out in talkies, not having to unlearn any silent film techniques. In 1931, Jackie Cooper left the Gang to achieve stardom on his own ... for awhile. Wheeler was made the center of the shorts, and then a new 'star' was brought in, Dickie Moore, one of the top child actors of the 1930s. That same year, in 1932, another member, who became one of the most durable members of the series, was added to the cast: Spanky McFarland. One cannot overlook the importance of a black child in the makeup of 'Our Gang.' In an age before even tokenism was heard of, Hal Roach chose to show black and white children playing together, without prejudice, and without calling attention to it. Like everything else in 'Our Gang,' the subject was treated naturally, and if there were occasional lapses into stereotype, one must remember the positive aspects of an integrated group of kids — especially at a time when few films depicting adults would ever dare show friendship between black and white men.

THE SILENT ENEMY

AN EPIC OF THE AMERICAN INDIAN

Described for the Blackhawk Bulletin by Kevin Brownlow

The title refers to hunger. The film is an impeccable reconstruction in story form of Ojibway Indian life as it was before the white man came. Conceived and produced in full awareness that the Indian and the wilderness were both rapidly vanishing, it was made forty-five years ago for the purpose of leaving a visual record for the America that was to come of the America that used to be.

Douglas Burden, a young explorer, had been profoundly impressed by the Merian C. Cooper — Ernest Schoedsack film Chang, and with his partner William Chanler, director H. P. Carver, and a team of Hollywood professionals, independently financed and produced the picture for release by Paramount.

The story line, which H. P. Carver's son Richard elaborated into a scenario, was based on a study of The Jesuit Relations, a running record in 72 volumes of the travels of Jesuit missionaries in New France (1610-1791). "Not one episode was invented by us" declared Burden, "with the exception of the bear on the cliff."

Chief Yellow Robe, who plays Chief Chetoga, was a hereditary chief of the Sioux and a nephew of Sitting Bull. He also wrote and spoke the moving prologue that opens the sound version of the picture. The hunter Baluk was a highly-decorated World War veteran, Chief Buffalo Child Long Lance, a Black Foot and a contemporary of Jim Thorpe at Carlisle. For the remainder of the cast, Burden spent six weeks traveling by canoe along the shore of Abitibi Lake searching for photogenic and co-operative Ojibway Indians.

Conditions were rugged. The temperature frequently plummeted to 35° below. Many scenes were taken a thousand miles north of the railroad, in areas accessible only by canoe in summer, or dog team in winter. Burden, suffering from amoebic dysentery picked up in Nicaragua in 1924, was confined to his tepee for three weeks at a stretch, surviving on tomato juice.

One point that is almost certain to arouse curiosity involves the amazing animal pictures. There is no fakery. The wolves, for example, are not Malamutes or wolf dogs — they are real honest-to-God wolves. The animal sequences were obtained by dint of endless patience, plus a great deal of ingenuity.

The fight between the mountain lion and the bear is a scene which causes a great deal of comment, even today. Burden was not present when Louis Bonn shot the sequence. But he remembers the principle. "They found that the bear was always the attacker. Here was a dead deer; both the bear and the mountain lion were damn hungry. They let the mountain lion get at the deer first, then they released the bear from another enclosure. He went at the mountain lion, and a fight broke out. The mountain lion escaped up a tree, and the bear was so mad he went right up the tree after him, and out on a limb. They fell off the limb and continued fighting together on the ground. That was how the scene worked out."

Douglas Burden edited the film with Richard Carver, and was extremely gratified when The Silent Enemy opened at the same New York theater where Chang had been so successful. A special orchestral score was composed for the picture by Massard Kur Zhene. Mr. Kur Zhene spent time among the Ojibways collecting original melodies, and from the hundred and fifty separate songs he wrote down, he drew the themes he used in working up the music. Blackhawk's sound prints offer a new recording of the Kur Zhene score performed by John Muri on theater organ. The beautiful melodies add immeasurably to the film's effect.

Jesse L. Lasky promised Burden and Chanler the best advertising and promotion Paramount could give — but the picture came out in 1930, when silent films were already obsolete. Once away from Broadway, despite the spoken prologue and the musical track, the film was a financial failure and all that was left were the glowing reviews:

"High on the list of the cinema's nobler achievements," wrote Robert E. Sherwood, "are the names of Nanook of the North, Grass, Stark Love, and Chang. They were contributed to the screen by enterprising explorers who took their cameras into remote, neglected regions and recorded the drama that is life. By such courageous deeds has the humble movie justified its existence. Now there is another picture to be added to the distinguished list. It is called The Silent Enemy, and the quality of its reception by the great film-loving public will be extremely interesting to watch. For it is a story of primitive life among the American Indians as they were in the centuries before Columbus."

"To say that this admirable production is "educational" is to condemn it to be shown in empty theaters. There is no more demand for education among movie fans than there is among college students. So I shall carefully avoid all use of this ugly word in writing of The Silent Enemy and I urge all other reviewers to do likewise. It deserves to be seen, for it is beautiful, it is superbly acted, and in many of its scenes, tremendously exciting."

"Strangely enough, the most important feature of The Silent Enemy is its silence. No one can tell until the returns are in whether it is possible at this time for a non-talking picture to gain the favor and support of the public. I hope so, for production of pictures like Nanook, Grass, and The Silent Enemy is one of the cinema's most important functions. Such pictures will continue to be of intense value after Alice White and Buddy Rogers have been forgotten. They are permanent, eloquent records of races and customs that are vanishing from the earth."

Sherwood's prediction was inaccurate; forty-five years later, Alice White and Buddy Rogers are vividly remembered. The Silent Enemy, forgotten in a Paramount vault, was rescued only just in time. Had we lost it, no one would have mourned. For it is only by screening it today that we can appreciate what a priceless treasure it is.

THE INDIAN BROTHERS

(1911)

Directed by D. W. Griffith
 Photographed by G. W. Bitzer with WILFRED LUCAS and FRANK EVANS

A western dramatization. THE INDIAN BROTHERS is a sympathetic portrayal of a minority group much maligned by motion pictures: the American Indian. With authentic locations (THE INDIAN BROTHERS was photographed in two days time during the spring of 1911 at Lookout Mountain, just north of what is now Hollywood's Sunset Boulevard), Griffith invested considerable interest in the subject's admittedly thin story line.

This picture demonstrates how Griffith managed to make an effective film out of an essentially inadequate plot. Yet this simple story gave him the opportunity to experiment with his treatment of the climactic chase. The director carefully established a pattern of movement within his shots and then reinforced this design through the rhythm of his editing.

WENONA'S BROKEN PROMISE (1911)

Directed by Thomas H. Ince

Released in late 1911, and the earliest Thomas H. Ince short film or feature Blackhawk offers, WENONA'S BROKEN PROMISE illustrates the use of natural beauty among any sympathy with primitive ways that made Kessel and Bauman's Bison films so popular. Though it moves fairly slowly and is not particularly cinematic, it shows that early filmmakers were capable of treating Indians as human beings, with the same feelings as white men.

Wenona is betrothed to Long Wolf, the son of the chief of the tribe, but after he leaves for the frontier Indian college, she is wooed and won by Big Bear. The chief permits them to marry but banishes them from the tribe. Long Wolf pursues them in search of vengeance, but when he finds them happy with their baby, he refuses to punish them. For this he is banished from the tribe and becomes a wanderer.

This film has the simplicity and beautiful natural scenery which typified the early Bison films. The development is clear and straightforward, and Indians appear as real people, facing human problems and capable of mercy, not, as in so many films, merely some unfeeling plastic antagonist to be pitted against the white man. By itself, this fact distinguishes WENONA'S BROKEN PROMISE, and again confirms Thomas H. Ince as a filmmaker with great vision.

SWORDS & HEARTS

with WILFRED LUCAS, CLAIRE McDOWELL, DOROTHY WEST and CHARLES WEST

Griffith's Civil War films at Biograph are among his most impressive works, and SWORDS AND HEARTS is one of the finest. Griffith demonstrates his talent for spectacle and action to an extent amazing for a one-reel film. Combining dynamic movement with editing, an action and sudden reversals of camera angles as Dorothy West flees her Union pursuers, Griffith fashions one of his most exciting chase scenes. In addition, the billowing smoke and flames as the poor farmers loot and destroy the rich planter's mansion provide a dramatic and visually exciting climax to the film. At the same time, Griffith and Bitzer remain sensitive not only to the nuances of light and shade, but also to the compositional beauty of the wooded road where the chase takes place. In one reel Griffith could shift from fiery action to the melancholy resignation expressed by Wilfred Lucas as he sits before the ruins of his once grand mansion.

THE SUNBEAM (1912)

with CLAIRE McDOWELL and DELL HENDERSON

THE SUNBEAM is a charming little film, emphasizing the kindness of even apparently grumpy people and the ability of a loving child to bring out the best that is in them. In it, a little girl is playing with her doll when her mother dies. Supposing her to have fallen asleep, she tiptoes in search of companionship, winning first the attentions of a stern spinster and then those of a lonely old bachelor across the hall. Some mischievous children fasten a SCARLET FEVER sign on the bachelor's door, and the police take this seriously just long enough for the two adults to get acquainted. When the quarantine is lifted, they take the child back to her own quarters, where they find the mother dead. Since neither of them now wishes to give her up, they decide to accept each other along with her.

Claire McDowell is perfect as the angular spinster, and Dell Henderson is a worthy opposite as the bachelor who, without knowing it, needed looking after almost as much as the child.

THE GIRL AND HER TRUST (1912)

with DOROTHY BERNARD, WILFRED LUCAS, ALFRED PAGET

THE GIRL AND HER TRUST is a little masterpiece and shows the great director at the peak of his powers. This one-reeler shows a marked advance in both story and technique over the similar railroad melodrama THE LONEDALE OPERATOR, made just a year earlier.

Griffith builds one of his most intricate and exciting chases, this time between a handcar and a locomotive, through a masterful editing of more than one hundred shots, most of them photographed with a moving camera.

ON THE BUSINESS SIDE

Several items have bobbed up in recent correspondence which may require comment.

First, in the last few months, we've noted a number of letters which have said something to the effect, "My March Bulletin didn't reach me until almost the first of April. What happened?" Or, "My Bulletin came in almost four weeks later than I usually get it. Were you behind in mailing?" We have checked carefully with the printer from whom these Bulletins are mailed. There's every indication there that our mailings have gone out on schedule. If your mailing piece does not reach you before the first of the month for which it is dated (you should have your July piece by the first of July), won't you drop us a note? Tell us when it actually came in. We'd like to run down the cause for slow deliveries.

Our WATS line people tell us also that we're receiving phone orders for items to be put on Time Payment. Unfortunately, that cannot be done by telephone. A Time Payment account requires an initial cash deposit. As we are now operating, only BankAmericard, Master Charge, Blackhawk charge accounts and COD orders may be accepted over our WATS line.

Somewhat to our surprise, there still appears to be some confusion in the two types of 8mm films. The so-called "standard 8mm" or "regular 8mm" is the 8mm film which was sold over some thirty odd years. There probably are four to five million projectors in the country which are designed to handle only standard 8mm. "Super 8mm" came into the market six to seven years ago and is not the same as "standard." It has smaller sprocket holes than does regular 8mm and therefore provides a larger area for the image; 8mm cameras marketed today are designed purely for super 8mm. However, most projectors being sold are "dual" — so that they will handle either standard 8mm or super 8mm. We still see a very sizeable demand for standard 8mm. However, that demand is declining each year. Although Blackhawk will continue to offer standard 8mm, certain other producers are eliminating this format from their offerings.

THE SWORD OF VILLON

with ERROL FLYNN, HILLARY BROOKE and PAMELA DUNCAN

Set in 1455, this is the tale of the poet-rogue, Francois Villon, whose tavern intrigue had made him one of the most wanted men in France. There is a plot to murder the king, and to make the count ruler of France. But word of the threat leaks out, and Villon, even though there is a price on his head, surreptitiously finds his way into the masked ball, which the king is attending, and succeeds in doing away with the count. This is all to the accompaniment of the sword-play for which Flynn was famous. While not filmed during the peak years while he was at Warner Bros., this Hal Roach Studios Production, directed by George Waggnar, was filmed as a unit of the Screen Directors Playhouse in the mid-1950's. Flynn comes through quite well, and 'his is a memento of one of the most colorful careers in modern-day Hollywood.

THE RIVER

RELEASE

down two-thirds the continent; carrying every brook and rill, rivulet and creek."

The plan is against flood for (to quote the narration) "Year in, year out, the water comes down; down from a thousand hillsides; washing the top off the valley."

The land is the Tennessee Valley, for the final sequence describes the work of the TVA against flood and for erosion control. The people are impoverished "farmers who were caught by years of depression and in need of only a stake to be self-sufficient." All these things are described, not in the style of a dry report, but in images of raging floods, malnourished sharecroppers, steamboat races — images so powerful that, re-used as stock scenes, they have become familiar as the heart of many films.

When THE RIVER was finished, Paramount Pictures licensed it from the Government for theatrical distribution. Time called it "a motion picture of startling photographic beauty, sweep, and importance." The New York Times held it to be "poetic, stirring, and majestic," and said that "to call it a great documentary does it an injustice. It is a great motion picture."

For two decades, THE RIVER was the most popular film available on 16mm, familiar to every school child, but over the years people forgot its message. Studs Terkel in Hard Times quotes a 19-year-old student: "When I was at Cornell, a documentary film group showed THE RIVER, the Pare Lorentz thing, a fantastic movie . . . And people were laughing all through the movie . . . I was so horrified. It sort of hurt me. I said to the faculty guy, 'What's the matter with these people?' He said 'it doesn't mean anything to them.' So I suppose that's the way it goes . . ."

In a stroke of supreme irony, the original negative of THE RIVER was destroyed in the late 1950's — by a flood — and prints generally available during the last twenty years have been travesties of the beautiful originals. Last year Blackhawk discovered perfect 35mm nitrate master material stored in the vaults of a Hollywood studio, and from it we have restored these excellent copies, distributed by permission of The U.S. Department of Agriculture and Mr. Virgil Thomson.

THE CLASSIC DOCUMENTARY by Pare Lorentz

During the Depression of the 1930's, the Federal Government's Works Progress Administration commissioned works of art as a way of creating employment for artists. The Federal Theater Project created a voodoo Macbeth and "The Living Newspaper;" paintings and murals for public buildings were provided by Jackson Pollock, Henry Varnum Poor, Charles Burchfield, Reginald Marsh, Willem de Kooning and many others. A photographic record of the country was made by Dorothea Lange. In film, a series of documentaries made for various Federal Agencies overcame tremendous bureaucratic resistance to tell the country about its problems, offer hope to its people, and incidentally become classics of the screen.

THE RIVER is a milestone in the history of film; one English critic, writing years later, called it "the most important single documentary America has so far produced." It brought fame to many of those who collaborated on it: Writer-Director Pare Lorentz; Photographers Stacey and Horrace Woodard, Floyd Crosby, and Willard Van Dyke; and Composer Virgil Thomson. In content as well as style, THE RIVER is like a time capsule of the New Deal era, concerned with planning for water, for land, for people.

The river is the Mississippi, "carrying every drop of water that flows

LONG FLIV THE KING (1926)

starring CHARLEY CHASE with MAX DAVIDSON, MARTHA SLEEPER, OLIVER HARDY and FRED MALATESTA

The comic ingenuity of Charley Chase is just beginning to receive its proper recognition. More than just another situation comedy, Charley was a fine comedy director with an unusually keen sense of comic timing.

Starting as a comic at Keystone, Charley had moved behind the camera as director and gagman but in 1923, he resumed his starring career in an unbroken series for Hal Roach that lasted well into the thirties.

Vacationing in the U.S., Princess Helga learns that she must marry within 24 hours to inherit the throne of Thermosa. Her intended? Convicted murderer Charley Chase, who has but 24 hours to live! The catch? Charley is pardoned after the ceremony and claims his throne!

810-03-1695, Standard 8mm, 400-feet, 14-ozs., Regularly $14.98 Sale Price $11.97
860-03-1695, Super 8, 450-feet, 14-ozs., Regularly $14.98 Sale Price $11.97

CRAZY LIKE A FOX (1926)

starring CHARLEY CHASE with MARTHA SLEEPER

The story of two millionaires who want their respective son and daughter who have never met to marry. The son of one is Charley — the daughter of the other is Martha. They both do everything they can to avoid the situation, only to meet and fall in love without having identified each other. This leads to all sorts of complications — and some good old 1926 comedy laughs!

810-03-1118, Standard 8mm, 375-feet, 14-ozs., Regularly $14.98 Sale Price $11.97
860-03-1118, Super 8, 400-feet, 14-ozs., Regularly $14.98 Sale Price $11.97

A NIGHT OUT (1915)

starring CHARLIE CHAPLIN with BEN TURPIN, LEO WHITE, BUD JAMISON & EDNA PURVIANCE

Charlie and Ben have been trying to drink the town dry. When Charlie returns to his hotel he is not sober enough to know where he is. He goes up to the desk, tries to put his foot on a phantom brass rail and drink the ink. When he finally gets to his room it is still early but he prepares for bed. Across the hall a dog seizes the slipper of a young married lady (Edna Purviance) and runs into Charlie's room. Soon Edna follows and is, in turn, followed by a hung-over Charlie, right back into her room only to get discovered by the husband. The morning after the night before includes a custard pie, a dunking in a fountain and more chasing. The night out turns into quite a day!

A NIGHT OUT was released by Essanay on February 15, 1915, also was Charlie's second film, and is presented here as it originally appeared.

RING UP THE CURTAIN (1919)

starring HAROLD LLOYD with BEBE DANIELS and "SNUB" POLLARD

The stage troupe has just arrived in town ready for tonight's show but the theatre has no stage manager. Simple enough — just promote Harold from janitor to manager and everything will be fine, right?

Ah well, things are never THAT simple, especially after Harold gets a glimpse of the star of the show, Bebe. From airing out her kimonos to giving her snake the slip, our hero just can't seem to get enough of Bebe, even when it comes to parting with his bankroll. In the meantime, it's one wicked show and Harold's deft touch with the curtain is well worth the price of admission.

810-19-1243, Standard 8mm, 200-feet, 11-ozs., Regularly $8.98 Sale Price $7.17
860-19-1243, Super 8, 225-feet, 11-ozs., Regularly $8.98 Sale Price $7.17

HIS ROYAL SLYNESS (1920)

with HAROLD LLOYD, MILDRED DAVIS and SNUB POLLARD

The Prince of Razzamatatz is living it up in America when word arrives that he's needed at home. Why leave the warm arms of his lady friend when look-alike Harold will go in his place? Court intrigue is heavy, but our hero emerges a revolutionary hero by the strangest of coincidences.

Lloyd's second comedy with Mildred Davis, HIS ROYAL SLYNESS shows considerable development in the breezy young comic's style and comes from that period when his career really moved into gear. A refreshingly simple satire of the Puritanian romance popular at the time, HIS ROYAL SLYNESS demonstrates the comic technique that was soon to make Harold Lloyd one of the all-time greats of the screen.

UNCENSORED MOVIES (1923)

starring WILL ROGERS with "BIG BOY" WILLIAMS, MARIE MOSQUINI, EARL MOHAN and NOAH YOUNG

Lem Skagwillow has a special treat for the home-town folks — he's just returned from a spying mission to Hollywood and what those hidden cameras have filmed will keep your side aching.

Rogers' rapier-like satire came into sharp focus in this particular Hal Roach comedy. Taking aim at the hypocrisy with which the public treated its celluloid heroes, Will cut loose one of his best two-reelers. There was virtually nothing peachy about Will Rogers; he just peddled the old American virtues of honesty, decency and fair play using comedies like UNCENSORED MOVIES as his sales medium.

HIS WOODEN WEDDING
(1925)

starring CHARLEY CHASE
Directed by Leo McCarey

Dapper Charley Chase, The Leading Man of Short Comedies, and as Leo McCarey described him, "The pioneer of the domestic, situation type comedy."

Charley Chase is the only classic comic from the 1920's and 1930's who lacks the massed adoration he deserves. How an artist who directed and starred in more short subjects than anyone else in motion picture history can remain so unsung today is a mystery — and a crime.

The 1925 Charley Chase's stylish silent comedies were made on the Hal Roach lot in collaboration with Leo McCarey (who is recognized today as one of the movies' all-time great directors). One particularly witty and inventive comedy is HIS WOODEN WEDDING. Leonard Maltin proclaims it as "one of his [Chase's] best," and William K. Everson exults "HIS WOODEN WEDDING is both bizarre and delightful!"

Approaching the altar on his wedding day, Charley receives an anonymous message from his rival suitor: "Your bride has a wooden leg." Afraid to glance down, Charley loses a wooden cane, mistaking cane for leg. Looking into the future (1934!) he visualizes his hoped-for family of four children all hobbling on wooden legs, which sends poor Charley dishing off a frenzy for the South Seas... what else? Charley's astonished bride and her father follow on a yacht, and the action from this point (including Charley's near-death) while presiding over a hilarious dance party aboard ship is much better seen than described!

And now, this snappy, highly original comedy is available with a musical score and sound effects to enhance its wonderful sight gags.

As for its comic with all of the many Pathe-crank titles intact, F. Richard Jones was supervising director, and as always, H. M. "Bean" Walker contributed his quota of pungent narrative titles. Featured are Katharine Grant as Charley's bride (a former Miss Los Angeles), Gale Henry, John Cassar, Fred DeSilva, Jack Hill, Lynn Tayo, Helen Jerome and other leading ladies that brightened so many Hal Roach pictures through the Golden Age of Comedy.

Discover for yourself the breezy, happy-go-lucky world of Charley Chase — and what better way to begin than with the wacky misadventures of HIS WOODEN WEDDING.

MICKEY'S MOVIES
(1928)

with MICKEY ROONEY
as "Mickey (Himself) McGuire"

Tooney, like Little Scorpion's Club was "elected" — the members used sandpaper to scrub their noses. Mickey (Himself) McGuire was elected president — but appointed himself treasurer. The members are all movie legends, including Hambo, Tomboy Taylor, Little Chocolate, and Kathinka. When a movie company is found to be filming in the vicinity of the club, the members get an idea — why not make their own movie. Natural? Mickey comes up with the scenario... and assumes direction, for he is naturally "elected" —

McGuire does speak the name of a man who shook heads with Charlie Chaplin. This all sets the stage... the fun unfolds. Written by...

SALES TAX ON IOWA SHIPMENTS
Customers ordering films for shipment to points in Iowa must also add 3% for the State Sales Tax.

C.O.D. SHIPMENTS
Except where noted, Blackhawk will gladly make shipments of merchandise on a C.O.D. basis to any point in the United States. However, on C.O.D. shipments, the purchaser pays all transportation charges, insurance and C.O.D. fees, and money order fees in addition to the cost of the merchandise.

Where shipments are made to countries other than the United States, payment may be made by letter of credit, by international money order or in any negotiable currency. Where, on any type of payment, you wish to know the exact cost of your merchandise we will be glad to send a proforma invoice — and hold the wanted items — so that a precise amount may be determined. Where checks, money orders or other remittances are made in currencies other than those of the United States, we will immediately clear these funds through our bank. Your order will be suspended until our bank has notified us of the actual credit resulting from this clearance. This usually takes a matter of a week or ten days.

SHIPMENTS OUTSIDE CONTINENTAL UNITED STATES

Shipments made to Hawaii, Alaska, Puerto Rico, Fleet Post Offices, Army Post Offices and other overseas locations move through the regular United States Postal System. We are glad to handle such shipments on exactly the same basis as shipments made within continental United States with the exception that no C.O.D.'s will be made outside continental United States.

On shipments to overseas destinations other than those served directly by the United States Postal System, a surcharge of 10% is made to cover postage, and the preparation of necessary customs forms.

Blackhawk cannot guarantee safe delivery on foreign shipments. If you want your shipment insured, we can do so for you at an additional charge. Ask for details.

SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR THE NEW BLACKHAWK "STUFFERS" LISTINGS: USED 8mm, Super 8, and 16mm — AND SPECIAL CLOSE-OUT PURCHASES.

Over the past two months we have been preparing more-or-less monthly editions of three listings of used Standard 8mm, Super 8, and 16mm prints that are available, and then inserting these two or three page long listings in each appropriate Blackhawk shipment and envelope going out. We have also had one such piece listing some items that we have purchased on close-out, available for but a fraction of their original retail prices. Collectively, these are of limited availability, one of a kind, or used print listings that were formerly carried in the regular Bulletin — which we oversold to such a degree that we were making more enemies than friends. If we have but one used print, and receive ten orders for it, we're bound to make nine collectors unhappy, which we don't want to do!

What we are doing is to discontinue the promotion of subscriptions to the Blackhawk Bulletin. But we will continue to offer them to all who want them. The fact that used listings are largely removed from the Bulletin, and special close-outs are included only when stock is available in great depth, makes subscriptions to the Bulletin of less appeal than formerly — although not completely so.

As a starter we offer FIRST CLASS MAIL SUBSCRIPTIONS only to the three new series of stuffers. They will be issued at irregular periods, once a month, more or less, when there is a sufficient amount of material to offer. Sometimes one may be issued in only three weeks after the previous one, sometimes four to six weeks. Normally, Standard 8mm is one stuffer, Super 8 is another, and 16mm is a third listing. Subscriptions by FIRST CLASS MAIL are offered on each or all of the three series, any combinations of ten FIRST CLASS MAILINGS for $1.00.

In short, if you are interested (for example) in Standard 8mm, $1.00 will get you the next ten issues of the Standard 8mm listing. The same for Super 8 and 16mm. You can request any combination on a single subscription.

Thus, if you are interested in both Standard 8mm and Super 8, we'll code your subscription accordingly, and if both are available on the same date, it will subtract only a single mailing from your subscription. The same for Standard 8mm and 16mm — or Super 8 and 16mm — or all three. You'll get a mailing when a new "stuffer" is issued in which you have expressed interest — or if two — or all — are available at the same time, you'll get them all for a single issue deduction from your subscription.

Also, we find that we're occasionally making a stuffer for some specialized types of films. We don't consider these sufficiently broad in their appeal to send out individually on a subscription, but we'll include a copy with the new mailing of a stuffer of that format, whenever it is ready within the next week or two.

Indicate on the coupon below the formats in which you are interested. And, you may subscribe for as many mailings as you want, in units of ten for $1.00. Send $2.00 for twenty; $3.00 for thirty; $5.00 for fifty — but we recommend that you limit yourself at the $5.00 for fifty.

RAILROAD FILMS

RECENT RELEASE

WHEN STEAM POWERED
THE RAILROADS
(mostly 1920's)

Mostly from the 1920s and mostly from Fox News, this first issue in what we hope will be a long series of films called "Railroads in the Newsreels" carries some historical newsreel items that are of more than routine interest.

Our film opens with the showing of a train of wheat — 25 cars — box cars on the Missouri Pacific out of Chester, Illinois. This is far different from today, when Illinois is more involved with corn and soy beans than wheat and happens would more regularly carry wheat than box cars.

Next we are shown the cars for the new Alaska Railroad being loaded aboard the steamer at Seattle — used passenger cars, apparently of wood construction. Of course, the early 1920s were less prodigal for the Federal Government — today would be far different — no shopping around in an attempt to save money!

The next big item shows the Boston and Maine taking delivery of the first of their new Berkshire type locomotives. Three of the big units are shown running on parallel tracks beside each other — we wish it were in sound.

Following this by an item of two we see the contest between steam and electricity on the Virginian when two more-or-less matched trains of coal "race" with each other on parallel tracks, one steam-powered (three 2-10-2 Mallets) and the other behind the Virginian's new electric. The electric runs away from the steam!

Another item is at Horseshoe Curve on the Pennsylvania at Altoona, Pa. where we see a lot of varied activity. Part of this item is from the Ford Animated Weekly — a 1916 or 1917 issue — showing double-headed and triple-headed steam on both freight and passenger trains.

There are other items, too, but the final one shows the last special passenger run from Colorado Springs to Cripple Creek on the Midland Terminal in 1919, just before operation ceased and the line was ripped up.

All in all, this is quite a varied film, and one which every rail fan is sure to enjoy.

HOW TO OPEN A BLACKHAWK CHARGE ACCOUNT

Open account billing is now available to individuals in the continental United States on the payment of a fee of $2.00 and the submission of satisfactory credit information. (Payment of the $2.00 fee is not required when application is accompanied by an order for $10.00 or more.) On this basis, upon the opening of a Blackhawk charge account, you will be provided with an account number which should appear on all orders from you. Payment for orders shipped and billed during a month are due in Davenport not later than the 15th of the month following. As an example, orders which are shipped and billed to you in December must be paid in full not later than January 15, etc., etc. A Blackhawk charge account will be a particular convenience to our regular customers in that it eliminates the pre-figuring of remittance for postage, and the writing of several checks or the securing of several money orders during a single month.

Fill in completely (type or print) the BLACKHAWK CHARGE ACCOUNT APPLICATION below, sign and return it to us with the $2.00 charge account fee or an order of $10.00 or more. ($2.00 fee, if sent, will be refunded in the event an account is not opened by us.) We'll immediately confirm receipt and let you know as soon as the account is open—and your account number.

BUY ANYTHING OFFERED BY BLACKHAWK ON CONVENIENT MONTHLY PAYMENTS!

The following time payment arrangements became effective with the Truth in Lending Act on July 1st, 1969.)

Customers in the United States may purchase anything from Blackhawk on convenient time payments.

TIME PAYMENT ARRANGEMENTS

A. Down Payments

Below are the minimum down payments required based on the total amount of your purchase.

On orders totaling $25.00 to $50.00	$ 5.00
On orders totaling $50.01 to $100.00	$ 7.50
On orders totaling $100.01 to $125.00	$12.50

The amount of your time payment charge and the amount of your monthly payment is determined by the unpaid balance remaining after we have deducted your down payment from the total of your purchase. Thus, the larger you can make your down payment, the lower will be your time payment charges and the smaller will be your monthly payments.

B. Time Payment Charges

Time payment charges are based on the unpaid balance remaining after the deduction of your down payment from the total of your purchase. Here they are scheduled:

On unpaid balances totaling $25.00 to $75.00	$ 5.00
On unpaid balances totaling $75.01 to $125.00	$ 7.50

C. Monthly Payments

As is explained above, the size of your monthly payment is based upon the unpaid balance (including the time payment charge) remaining after deducting your payment from the total of your purchase. Here is the schedule:

On unpaid balances totaling $25.00 to $50.00	$ 5.00
On unpaid balances totaling $50.01 to $100.00	$10.00
On unpaid balances totaling $100.01 to $125.00	$12.50

D. Add-on Orders

New purchases may not be added to existing contracts. A separate contract, requiring a down payment and a time payment charge will be established each time you order. It will be to your advantage, as the time payment charges are fixed figures, to include as many items as possible in each time payment order.

E. Our Action

We've provided this information so that you will know exactly the amount you will owe. However, to help you further, we prepare a time payment schedule for you at the time we ship the merchandise. We show you the exact amount due and the dates on which the amount should be received here in Davenport. So don't let the detail bother you. We'll do the figuring.

ZIP CODE CHART

To determine the zone in which you live, compare the 1st 3 digits of your zip code with this chart. Then see the rate chart for the zone in the state in which you live to find shipping charges for your order. (Example: If your zip code begins with 276, look at the Zip Code Prefix on the chart 270-286 and you find zone 5 opposite.)

OUT OF STOCK ITEMS

Where items are temporarily out of stock, we will create a back order, retain sufficient funds to cover shipment and send the item as quickly as our new stock is received. If there is a delay beyond two weeks, we will notify you, giving you any information we may have.

When an item is permanently out of stock, we will send you a credit memo as a refund. We follow the practice of issuing credit memos in such instances because most customers prefer to make another selection. If we return a check, this means that the customer who wants to select another item must then either pay for the cashing of our check and for the writing of another personal check, or must pay for a money order. This can be both inconvenient and expensive. To make alternate selections easy, therefore, we use the credit memorandum system. If you would prefer a cash refund, just tell us on your order and we will send our bank check rather than a credit memorandum.

BLACKHAWK'S LAY-AWAY PLAN

Blackhawk's Lay-Away Plan costs you not a penny more than Blackhawk's regular cash price - you pay 10% of the cost of the merchandise with your order, the balance within 90 days at your convenience. As soon as the balance is paid, Blackhawk ships the merchandise! And, Lay-Away is an easy way for you to get those limited availability bargains and sale items, for the moment we get your order, it is physically pulled and set aside for you! Remember - no interest or carrying charge on Lay-Away!

RETURNS

Should you for any reason desire to return items to Blackhawk for credit or for any other reason, YOU MUST RETURN ALL PAPERS INCLUDING YOUR ORIGINAL ORDER WITHIN 10 DAYS from the date you receive it. Because of the thousands of orders we handle, we do not keep copies of all orders, nor a list of the items you purchased. Unless you return the papers listed above, we are not in a position to handle your request without undue delay. For fast service, return to: Blackhawk Films, Davenport, Iowa 52808.

PARCEL POST CHARGES

Shipping weights are given on all mailable merchandise so that you can remit approximate postage charges with your order. Just add up shipping weights on all items to be shipped by Parcel Post and figure total pounds (16 ounces to a pound).

A phone call to your local post office will get you information as to your zone from Davenport, or you can estimate it on the basis of distance as given in the table below. Alaska, Hawaii and territories of the United States are in the 8th zone from Davenport. APO/FPO addresses in San Francisco and Seattle are charged as the 8th zone from Davenport. APO/FPO addresses in New York are charged as the 5th zone from Davenport.

ment of postage which may be applied on your next order.

READ BEFORE YOU ORDER

Blackhawk Films' prices do not include postage. Shipping weights are given with each item and you can compute the approximate total weight and postage charges by referring to the postage table given below. While weights of a single shipment to virtually all post offices in continental United States are limited to 40 pounds, shipments to the states of Alaska and Hawaii may run as heavy as 70 pounds. These two states are in the eighth zone, and Blackhawk customers can approximate the correct postage to remit by figuring 18¢ per pound for each pound above twenty. The same formula applies to all U.S. Territories and Protectorates. Some larger and heavier items, because of size and weight, are not mailable and will thus be shipped to you by express or freight, you paying the transportation charges on delivery. In general, shipments of size and weight requiring express or freight transportation will not be forwarded on a C.O.D. basis.

PARCEL POST RATES

RUDOLPH VALENTINO AND HIS 88 AMERICAN BEAUTIES (1923)

In 1923, the Beauty Foundation of America sponsored a beauty contest. This event in itself would be forgotten today were it not for the attempt made by David O. Selznick to capture on film not the contestants as much as one of the judges — Rudolph Valentino.

Due to a rift with Paramount, Rudy's smoldering presence was absent from the screen for a time. Growing restless and chilly without him to "light their fires," ladies clamored for his return. Selznick heard them, made this film and brought palpitations speeding back to the hearts of millions of American women in addition to $15,000 for himself. The eighty-eight contestants, lest we forget, were not immune to swarthy Rudolph with his oil-d-d-down hair, flashing smile and "bedroom" eyes. They appear to be as captivated with him as he is with them.

After a "parade of beauty" five finalists are selected, the Queen to be chosen from the group and crowned by Valentino himself. The winner is finally announced, Miss Norma Niblock of Toronto — The American Queen of Beauty. Roses are thrust into her arms and, amid swoons and cheers, Rudy escorts Norma to her throne where he places the crown squarely on her head — so squarely, in fact, that she can hardly see! However, nobody, least of all Queen Norma, seems to mind. She may be wearing the platinum and diamond crown but, clearly, it is Rudy's night to shine.

Among the more amusing scenes in the film is a picture taking session after the contest as Rudy stands flanked by the winner and four finalists, one of whom appears to be making the most of the situation as, eyelashes-a-fluttering, she mates passes at Valentino while, a little later and unaware that the camera is filming her, she demonstrates her somewhat dubious talents!

This little light-hearted romp through a beauty pageant is genuinely enhanced by Valentino's presence. Perhaps, too, the real value of this film is that the discerning eye is able to catch a glimpse of the person underneath the one who was adored and idolized by the movie going public. Looking beyond the glitter, glamour and slicked back hair, one can see a good-natured man whose darting eyes and fleeting what-d-o-l-do-now glances suggest the uneasiness with his role as "great lover" he is said to have felt.

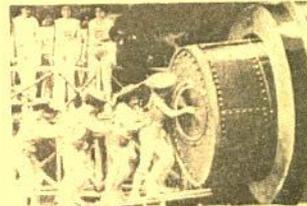

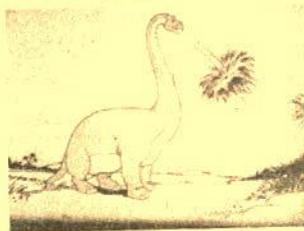

H. L. Mencken, although not referring specifically to the beauty contest, once described Valentino as " — a man of relatively civilized feelings thrown into a situation of intolerable vulgarity." The astuteness of his observation is evident in this film.

FILM FIRSTS

(AN ASSEMBLY OF FILM HISTORY)

FILM FIRSTS, Chapters I and II, is an absorbing assembly of motion picture history from the early flip cards and zoetrope to the movies' earliest days. Highlights from a variety of silents that present "film firsts" are excerpted and presented here in two exciting chapters.

There are scenes from several early Griffith features such as, CLEOPATRA, MUSKETEERS OF PIG ALLEY, and THE BATTLE OF A SEQUENCE of a chase down Riverside Drive in the early 1900's employs a tracking shot which is interesting mainly because it demonstrates a technique in use long before Griffith was supposed to have invented it. Scenes from Porter's THE GREAT TRAIN ROBBERY, Melies' A TRIP TO THE MOON as well as Biograph's 1905 version of THE NIHILISTS, a pre-Communist anarchist film, are included in Chapter I.

Chapter II highlights some delightful pieces from the first important animated film, Windsor McKay's, GERTIE THE DINOSAUR. One of the earliest examples of social criticism is illustrated by the ruthless businessman in Griffith's film A CORNER IN WHEAT, a scene of which is presented here. Also, excerpts from such films as Melies' BARON MUNCHAUSEN'S DREAM, Edison's 1905 film THE NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS and the first feature version of Jules Verne's immortal 20,000 LEAGUES UNDER THE SEA, are comprised in this chapter.

FILM FIRSTS, CHAPTERS I and II, is one of the most entertaining lessons in the history of film.

This Super 8 magnetic sound version is a combination of the two silent chapters with music, sound effects and narration — and featured into one complete film. "Film Firsts" is a most effective presentation of the years from the movies' earliest days until about the time of World War I. The sound version is narrated by Paul Killiam.

MILWAUKEE ROAD FROM HARLOWTON TO AVERY UNDER CANTENARY

photographed by WILLIAM H.
McKENZIE

The 438-mile electrified district of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad begins at Harlowton, Montana. This electrified section is now scheduled to revert to conventional diesel operation, as is the shorter electrified section farther west. This is therefore a particularly timely release, showing as it does, operations over much of this area, and electric locomotives Nos. E-70, E-74, E-72, E-21, E-29, E-82, E-80, E-29A, B and C, E-45, not to mention diesel of such models as GP-9, SD-40, SD-45, FP-45.

THE EARLY DAYS OF MOTORING (1900-1905)

As America turned the corner into the 20th Century a new invention caught the public's fancy. For those Americans who were financially able to afford one, the automobile became a symbol of excitement and challenge. You'll see historic events such as racing and touring as shown in the Glidden Tours in this great film.

TEN WHEELER TO DUPLEX

Rail fan Gene Miller photographed this parade of steam power on the Pennsy from the mid-1930's until the early 1950's, when steam on the Pennsylvania was almost extinct. It covers 0-6-0's, 0-8-0's, 4-6-0's, 2-8-0's, 4-4-2's, 2-10-2's, 4-8-2's, 2-10-4's, and the Pennsy's famous duplex types, 4-4-4-4's, 6-4-4-6's, and 4-4-6-4's.

FROM THE FIRST AIRMAIL TO THE JETS

The outcome of World War I was still far from certain when the United States Government, on May 15, 1918, inaugurated its first scheduled air mail service between Washington and New York.

In less than a 50-year span by our film — from the first air mail of 1918 to the Super DC-8 of 1967 — transport by air has grown at a fantastic rate and in ways which in 1918, must have been almost beyond imagination. Who can tell what the next fifty years will hold in its further development?

ABOARD THE FLATTOP MIDWAY (1949)

Filmed in the Caribbean after the close of World War II — security would never have permitted it in wartime — our film shows the activities of the Midway. You'll see the hanger decks, elevators bringing planes topside, the famous F6F fighter, nicknamed the Bear Cat. You'll see also the Navy carrier based bombers and the first of the new jets. Spectacular views of take-offs and landings add to the film's great appeal.

WINGS OF THE FLEET

Edited in the mid-1920's from a combination of official U.S. Navy and newsreel footage, WINGS OF THE FLEET has preserved a visual record of aviation history at a particularly significant period in its development. It is presented just as it appeared in 1925 with all original subtitles intact.

Included in WINGS OF THE FLEET are pictures of aircraft and ships which have landmark importance. These include the NC-4 (Navy-Curtiss flying boat) which made the first successful trans-Atlantic crossing via Newfoundland, the Azores and Portugal, to England in 1919. The first aircraft carrier, the U.S.S. Langley, was commissioned at Norfolk on March 20, 1922, while the Lexington and Saratoga followed in the next three years. All saw service in World War II. Also included is a great rigid dirigible built in 1921, the ZR-1, also named the Shenandoah.

LOGGING RAILROADS OF THE WEST

In every section of the country where there is extensive lumbering, picturesque little railroads run back into the woods to transport the logs to the mills. Our film is devoted to three of these, all in the mountain states of the West.

Nowhere else in the United States does the topography of an area provide a more striking setting for the goings and comings of these logging trains, headed by every variety of steam locomotion. The engines themselves are almost the last vestige of their era.

The three lumbering railroads are: Southwest Lumber Mills out of Flagstaff, Arizona; both the Callam and Grays Harbor operations of Rayonier on the Olympic Peninsula in Washington State; and the West Side Lumber Company out of Tuolumne, California.

THE FIRST 500-MILE INDIANAPOLIS SPEEDWAY RACE

During Indianapolis Speedway time each year, this vintage film has particular interest, pointing up vividly the striking changes that have taken place in this annual Memorial Day Classic since the first major assault on automobile speed records during the first running back in 1911. You'll see the first of these Indianapolis 500-milers in amazing detail considering the year in which the race occurred. (1911)

RAILS ALONG THE FRONT RANGE

A timbered highland between Denver and Colorado Springs, Colorado, punctuated by mesas and buttes, and with elevations in excess of 7,600 feet, divides the watersheds of the South Platte and Arkansas rivers. Over a century ago, General William Jackson Palmer sent armies of tie-cutters into this woodland to cut railroad ties for the westward-building Kansas Pacific Railroad. Later, it supplied ties for the Palmer's own "Baby Road," the Denver and Rio Grande Railway. The area, known to General Palmer as The Pineries, is now called the Black Forest. Lumbering is almost non-existent, and the area is better known today as the site of the Air Force Academy and for numerous semi-rural subdivision developments.

MEMORIES OF STEAM ON WESTERN RAILROADS

Photographed in the late 1940's and early 1950's when steam locomotives were still widely used on major assignments, this assortment of action shots including the last generation of steam power on six Western railroads almost certainly will recall fond "Memories of Steam."

Railroads represented are the Great Northern, Union Pacific, Denver & Salt Lake, Rio Grande, Western Pacific, and Southern Pacific. Locomotive types pictured include 2-8-8-0's and 0-8-0's on the Great Northern; 2-8-2's, 4-12-2's, 2-10-2's, 4-6-6-4's, 4-8-8-4's, 4-8-4's and 2-8-2's on the Union Pacific; 4-6-0's on the Denver and Salt Lake; 2-8-8-2's, 4-8-4's, 4-8-2's, 2-8-2's on the Rio Grande; 4-8-2's and 2-8-8-2 on the Western Pacific; and cab-forward 4-8-8-2's and 2-8-8-2's as well as the famous Daylight-type 4-8-4 on the Southern Pacific.

ANYTHING FOR A THRILL

with Kane Richmond and Frankie Darro

Don Mallory (Frankie Darro) is the younger brother of Cliff Mallory (Kane Richmond), an ace newsreel photographer. Don is fascinated by this precarious business and is continually urging Cliff to let him become a cameraman rather than go to college. Cliff is adamant. Then he is assigned the task of getting some newsreel coverage of Betty Kelley (Ann Evers), young and attractive heiress, who has never been "shot" for any newsreel.

The thing that gives "Anything for a Thrill" its appeal today, is the manner in which it was produced — at an absolutely minimum budget. The sets are more-or-less static arrangements which were used, with only minor changes, in countless independent films. The venetian blinds are always pulled — you never look through a window from an office to the outside and see a second plane to action. The mike is in evidence in a couple of spots — or its shadow.

But "Anything for a Thrill" was filmed on Sunset Blvd. and Santa Monica Blvd. in the vicinity of the studio, getting all of the flavor of life of the day — and a presentation which purports to show newsreel photography and production of almost forty years ago — in a preposterous sort of way. So, in its upside-down sort of way, it has a certain charm for 1975!

Available for June, July and August—your order must reach us by Thursday, August 29, 1975.

880-59-2444, Super 8 magnetic sound prints, approximately 1200-feet, made up in limited quantities (allow for some delayed deliveries) very specially priced, per print $59.98

640-59-2444, 16mm optical sound prints, approximately 2100-feet, made up on order (allow up to 30 days for delivery) very specially priced, per print $99.98

16mm prints will be made up on receipt of your order and sent to you direct from the laboratory. Super 8 prints will be ordered in limited quantities so we may or may not be able to ship from stock when your order arrives. But we will fill all Super 8 sound orders that reach us by Thursday, August 29, and thereafter only so long as any prints remain in stock. We have no plans to print thereafter and prices are not effective after these prints have been sold.

We have in the wings a potentially long series of "Poverty Row" features with a great range of famous Western stars and dramatic, musical and comedy stars who were either past their box-office peak when these films were made — or on their way up. We plan to try a similar offering for several months (for a three month period) and if it goes sufficiently well we will continue it indefinitely.

MONKIES IS THE CWAZIEST PEOPLE

From Lew Lehr's Dribble-Puss Parade

Produced by Movietone News

Remember Lew Lehr? Some people find his commentaries hilarious and others think them stupid, but they are unforgettable. Lew Lehr was Movietone's house goofus who popped up in the "Newsette" at the end of many newsreels to offer a wacky review of such aspects of the passing scene as diaper-changing speed contests, unicycle races, and pogo-stick factories, which he usually delivered in an outrageous dialect sounding like a cross between fractured German and Elmer Fudd. "Monkeys is the Cwaziest People" was Lew Lehr's trademark line and here, at its source, he applies to a film on monkeys at their most anthropomorphic: changing tires, skating, fixing (?) clocks, and shaving; as well as doing (some) of what comes naturally — acrobatics. Blackhawk's customers have asked for this short more often than for anything else in the whole Movietone library. We don't know whether that's more a comment on the film or on our correspondents, but here it is. The monkeys are appealing, and if you do like Lew Lehr, this is a full-strength dose!

SPEEDWAY STAR THE STORY OF WILBUR SHAW

To racing car fans, the name Wilbur Shaw is instantly recognizable as belonging to the first man in the history of the Indianapolis 500 to win the race two consecutive years in a row, 1939 and 1940, a feat which earned him not only fame and fortune but also permanent ownership of the coveted trophy. This coupled with Shaw's previous victory in 1937 gave him further distinction as being one of the only three men ever to have won the grueling race three times.

Our film highlights Shaw's career: his triumphs and tragedies as a racer, his stint in business after disaster in 1941 forced him to quit the track and finally, his victory in 1946 when he became President of the Indianapolis Speedway.

Wilbur Shaw achieved many successes throughout his long career. He was a dashing colorful personality whose contributions, among them being the first American racer ever to wear a crash helmet, and enthusiasm for car racing have been directly responsible for the growth and popularity of the sport.

Although he drove every conceivable type of machine on every type of course, Shaw's career centered around Indy. During World War II, the races were suspended. For four years the track was unattended and lack of maintenance had left it in a sad state.

Eddie Rickenbacker, the then president of the Speedway had little interest in the property so Shaw became a one man crusade to promote its restoration. His perseverance and determination paid off, the track was saved and in 1946 he became President and General Manager.

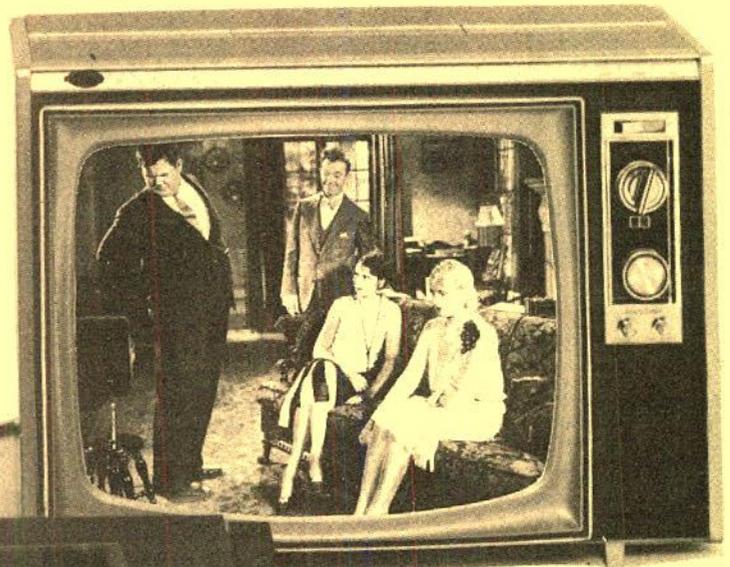

No story of a great racer can be told without a look at the sport itself and this film provides vivid evidence of the drama and danger inherent in car racing. You will see the drivers of Yesterday roaring down dirt tracks, leaving those behind them to struggled through blinding clouds of dust; cars burst into flames, near misses and direct hits are all part of the action and thrills as men compete with their lives for the prizes which single them out as heroes to their fans and foes to their critics.

No matter which group you belong to, this film is sure to convince you that whizzing around the track at 150 mph is either sanity or suicide.

PROJECTORS

ELMO ST-1200

The ELMO ST-1200 is a sound projector which brings out all the advantages of Super 8 and Single 8 films. Sound editing permits you to record or re-record sound, after filming, which you could not easily capture on the spot. The projector incorporates a sound mixing device which lets you make double-recording of suitable background music and narration. This revolutionary new, special alloy head has the high resistance to wear and deterioration. The largest reel in the 8mm film world accommodates an astonishing 1200-feet of film. This means continuous projection extended over one hour. (The projector is equipped with an 800 foot reel at Standard but is able to accommodate the 1200-foot reel.) The projector incorporates a special new light source which utilizes a 150W-15V halogen lamp of the mirror condenser type. Outstanding bright and powerful zoom lens free you from the problem of selecting where to position the projector. One case accommodates all the items you should require. The end result is a compact, light and easy-to-carry projector set.

MARK S-810D
DELUXE
HQS-DUAL 8

The principal innovations in the new HQS (HQS stands for high quality sound) model are: (1) Integrated circuitry in the record playback amplifier. (2) Automatic Gain Control and Frequency Response Control. The sound volume remains constant regardless of the distance between the microphone and sound source. (3) The sound frequency response at 18 frames-per second projection rate is 75-10,000 HZ, a new Eumig fidelity standard. (4) P.A. Facility. The sound system of the projector can be used as a public address amplifier. The projector uses a superbright zoom lens, the new f 1.2 12.5-25mm Eumig Supragon zoom lens, developed especially for the Eumig Mark S 810D Lux HQS projector.

Dual 8-Super 8 Sound Projector

The new 807D projector differs from the Super 8 model insofar as it is designed for either Standard 8 or Super 8 Single-8 film screening instead of Super 8 Single 8 alone. In all respects, the two models are identical.

The illuminant is a pre-heated 12-volt 75-watt dichroic reflector tungsten halogen bulb. The projection lens is an f 1.6, 17-30 Vario Eupronet. Film threading is automatic on to a 600-foot take-up reel. A single control knob governs forward or reverse projection, with or without light and fast rewind. The knob is set at "forward-with-lamp" for the three basic magnetic sound input operations: recording, sound-on-sound mixing, and erasure. A red indicator light goes on during straight sound recording, and an amber light during sound-on-sound mixing.

KEEP YOUR VALUABLE FILMS IN NEW CONDITION Automatic Projector Cleaning Means Scratch Free Films with PROTECT-A-PRINT leader

For years the professionals have been prolonging the useful life of motion picture prints with PROTECT-A-PRINT LEADER. Its polishing surface cleans the entire film path of the projector—removes dirt and hard emulsion bits that scratch treasured prints.
 Simple splice PROTECT-A-PRINT LEADER on your film—and let it clean your projector—automatically—everytime you thread up—just before you show one of those irreplaceable films.
PROTECT-A-PRINT's heavy base lasts much longer, reduces mistreading and off-sprocketing.
 Approved and endorsed as both safe and effective by major projector and manufacturers.
 In 16mm. width, a 15-ft. roll makes 3.5 ft. leaders. In 8mm. Regular or Super 8, a 15 ft. roll makes 5.3 ft. leaders.

SPLICERS

HPI "QUICK SPlice"
BUTT SPLICER
FOR SUPER 8
OR STANDARD 8mm.

These splicers are made to the most exacting precision standards with self-sharpening stainless steel cutting blades which cut and join film exactly on the frame line. Features include non-skid, non-marking base and built-in storage compartment for tapes.

- Model No. 225 SUPER 8 ONLY
034-09-0039, 2-lbs. $6.79
- Model No. 200 FOR STANDARD
8mm ONLY. 034-09-0040, 2-lbs. $6.79

"QUICK SPlice"
SPROCKETED
SPlicing TAPES

- 034-09-0018 packet of 36 tapes for splicing 8mm or 16mm silent films, 1-oz. 99c or 3-$2.79
- 034-09-0038 packet of 36 tapes for splicing Super 8 film, 1-oz. $9.99, 3 for only $2.79

LPN FILM SPLICER

This splicer features hardened cutting surfaces, scraper blades of special contour for permanent splices, extra sturdy locating pin. It's a new 3-way model splicing 8, 16 and Super 8.

- 034-01-0042, 2-lbs. $9.95

GUILLOTINE SPLICER WORKSHOP

This kit contains the Guillotine Super 8 Splicer plus everything needed to splice both sound and silent Super 8 film.

It's a frame-to-frame line splicer — actually butting the two pieces of film being joined together without overlap or space in between. The splicing block features a recessed register in channel to precisely position and hold the film being spliced. The non-magnetic stainless steel blade eliminates all chances of "clocks" or "pops" being introduced into the sound-track of Super 8 sound film. Any color or black and white film can be spliced, even if a magnetic strip has been added. Torn film can be butted at the tear and repaired by the Guillotine Splicer and broken sprocket holes can be rebuilt. Splicing without frame loss is another outstanding feature of the Guillotine Splicer.

- 034-11-0047 $37.95

GUILLOTINE SUPER 8 FILM SPLICER

This splicer features precision splice block for accurate film registration, tool steel sprocket hole punch for perforating mylar tape to A.S.A. Super 8 film standards, stainless steel U-shaped Guillotine blade for cutting tape smoothly and cleanly, a stainless steel film cutter you'll never have to sharpen or replace, screw holes for mounting on table, custom manufacturing and hand assembly under rigid quality control.

- 034-11-0045 $19.95

GUILLOTINE'S SPlicing TAPE

Guillotine makes the only non bleeding frame-line-to-frame-line splicing tapes. Today's strongest and optically clear tape offers a space that cannot be seen, even with the finest projection or TV broadcast equipment. Guillotine tape does not discolor, it's permanently uniform adhesive does not bleed under pressure or projection heat, and the resulting bond is stronger than the film itself. The only tape designed for use with Guillotine splicers is economical too — costs only half a penny a splice.

- 034-11-0046 $3.50

CRAIG S6 SPLICER
Code Number 42238

Heavy duty die cast and stainless steel
Uses tape or cement
8mm., Super 8, and 16mm.

- 034-09-0041 $16.95

SUPER 8 SOUND
QUICK SPlice

Available for use with Super 8 magnetic striped sound film. This splice tape will work with all sound striped Super 8 Film and HPI HPI Quick Splice Splicers.

- 034-09-0044 $1.98

2 LITTLE RASCALS RECENT RELEASES

OUR GANG FOLLIES OF 1936

with SPANKY, ALFALFA, DARLA, SCOTTY, BUCKWHEAT, PORKY,
ELMER THE MONKEY and an advertised cast of 100 kiddies
Directed by Gus Meins

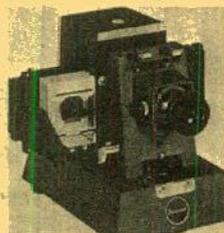

The Gang stages a rollicking neighborhood musical revue. There's no story, but lots of wonderful gags and snappy tunes. Spanky croons the opening ballyhoo: "Step up kids if you want to know, about the swell stuff, in this show. There's singin', dancin', and hotcha, too. It's only a penny — it won't break you."

The lively and extremely entertaining song and dance novelty acts include cowboy Alfalfa "singing" "Comin' Round The Mountain," an ensemble of hula beauties dancing to "Honolulu Baby," the Bryan Sisters harmonizing the cornpone musical question "How You Gonna Keep 'Em Down On The Farm?," Darla cooing "I'll Never Say 'Never Again' Again," a jaunty, chilling skeleton dance specialty entitled "The Ghost Frolic" (often cut by T.V. censors), Darla and Alfalfa joining to sing "The Object of My Affection," and then the grand finale, THE FLORY-DORY SIXTETTE. The trouble is, the chorus girls seem to be late, and resounding audience chants of "We want the FLORY-DORIES" force Spanky and the Gang to don the girls' costumes and improvise the routine as best they can. Which is none too good — but very funny!

- 880-05-1602, Super 8 magnetic sound, 350-feet, 14-ozs. $32.98
- 640-05-1602, 16mm optical sound, 640-feet, 3-lbs. $59.98

MIKE FRIGHT

(1934)

starring SPANKY, SCOTTY, STYMIE, TOMMY BOND and LEONARD KIBRICK with JAMES C. MORTON, CHARLIE HALL and MARVIN HATLEY

The Gang enters their International Silver String Submarine Band in an audition on a radio broadcast. The station manager needs to interest a sponsor in his program ideas and he recruits what he believes to be the finest kiddie talent available. Our Gang's makeshift band is a last minute entry, booked over the phone, sight unseen. Arriving at the station, the shabby looking Little Rascals disrupt everyone from the elevator operator to the sound mixer, to the harried on-air announcer. Since no one believes such ragamuffin kids carting such junky-looking homemade instruments could possibly be any good, the Gang's number is postponed, and instead of the studio audience is treated to a parade of dolled-up ultra-cutesy child-acts, such as the ensemble of pint-sized chorines cooing "Honolulu Baby."

- 880-05-1614, Super 8 magnetic sound, 340-feet, 14-ozs. $32.98
- 640-05-1614, 16mm optical sound, 630-feet, 3-lbs. $59.98

PERFECT DAY (1929)

with EDGAR KENNEDY

The Hardy's and the Laurels, together with Herdy's brother-in-law, Edgar Kennedy, are preparing for a Sunday outing. The brother-in-law is suffering from the gout. Can't you imagine the comedy possibilities of this sort of a "prop" — on an outing?

MEN O' WAR (1928)

with JAMES FINLAYSON

The boys are cast as two seafaring gobs and the action takes place on their riotous shore leave. The high point in hilarity is where Ollie tries to stretch the 15 cents they have between them, to cover refreshments for four and Stan, stuck with the check, figures it as all or nothing, plays a one-armed bandit and hits the jack pot.

This was the first talking comedy with Laurel and Hardy. At this transitional period, many films made as talkies were also released in silent form, with subtitles, to play the theatres not yet equipped for sound.

NIGHT OWLS (1930)

with EDGAR KENNEDY

Stan and Ollie are a couple of transients who spend their nights in the park — Edgar Kennedy is the cop on the beat. Kennedy is having trouble with the Chief and our boys agree to become "burglars" in order to help him out. They're a BIG help.

ONE GOOD TURN

(1931)

Off to see America in their Model T, Stan and Ollie, out of money stop at a kitchen door in hopes of a heist and overhear what they take to be a threat to foreclose the mortgage against a dear old lady. They then attempt to sell their "car" for her deposit only to find that they have overheard a rehearsal of the Community Players.

GOING BYE BYE (1934)

with WALTER LONG

Tough guy Walter Long is sent up for life on evidence presented by Stan and Ollie. As sentence is about to be pronounced, Long overhears Stan exclaim, "He ought to be hung!" — and Long vows no bars can hold him. He escapes — there's action, suspense and laughs.

BERTH MARKS (1929)

Stan and Ollie are a "big time" vaudeville team enroute from one theatre to another in the upper berth of an open section Pullman. While the space is confined, the laughs are not, and this one has some great moments.

BERTH MARKS was one of the peculiar type of silent films made during the period of transition from silent to talking pictures, and was released both as 100 per cent talkie and as a regular silent subject.

THEIR FIRST MISTAKE
(1932)

Ollie's wife is getting sick and tired of the time he spends with Stan. Stan advises Ollie that the Hardy's should have a baby so that Mrs. Hardy can keep busy and the boys can continue to pal around. Ollie sets about to adopt a child, and returning home finds that his wife has left him. So Stan and Ollie have the responsibility of caring for the child. Can't you imagine the results?

HOG WILD (1930)

Ollie has promised his wife to put up a radio aerial on the roof, and he's stuck with it. Laurel arrives just in time to "help." The climax comes when the ladder to the roof, balanced on top of a Model T, takes off in city traffic with Hardy on top and Laurel along, but not really at the wheel. They become involved with one of the old Los Angeles narrow gauge trolley cars, between which Stan's Model T develops a neat accordion fold.

BLACKHAWK FILMS EXCLUSIVE LINE OF 35MM. 2X2 COLOR SLIDE SETS

In many subject areas—particularly travel and outdoors—Blackhawk offers a wide range of color slide sets of the same or similar subjects. There is, however, no duplication of identical individual slides between any one set and another with respect to the specific sets offered here.

All Blackhawk slides give true color fidelity. Using the more expensive reversal method of duplication, Blackhawk produces slides you'd be proud to include with your own... yet they are less expensive to own than are slides you shoot yourself and have processed.

TRAVEL U.S.A.

15 mm 2 x 2 Color Slide Sets

THE EAST COAST COVERED BRIDGES OF PENNSYLVANIA

Covered bridges are to be found in almost every county in the state of Pennsylvania—some of them well preserved and still in use, others in various stages of disrepair—but all of them picturesque bits of early Americana. 350-01-0534—$8.39

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S MOUNT VERNON

Here is a most effectively photographed set in which almost half of the slides are interiors of the Mansion that the average visitor would not be able to photograph. 350-01-0422—$8.39

THE JAMESTOWN COLONY

A historic tour of Virginia's first capital, including—Powhatan's Lodge, Jamestown Festival Park, John Cabot, King Henry VIII and Pocahontas Statue. 350-01-0288—$8.69

THE NATION'S CAPITOL

Here is once in a generation photographic coverage of the United States Capitol, color photographs that no individual would likely ever have the opportunity or authority to take. 350-01-0375—$15.99

NEW YORK—ALL AROUND THE TOWN

Contrast and variety keynote this slide set on New York City—picturing its breath-taking modern sky scrapers alongside buildings that have stood for many, many years. 350-01-0890—$15.99

NEW YORK FROM THE AIR

This set shows the complex, sprawling and fascinating heart of New York City as if it seldom seen through the eyes of the millions of persons who live and work in the great metropolis or by the millions more who annually visit there. 350-01-0436—$5.99

NIAGARA—"THUNDER OF WATERS"

Among the foremost of all beauties of nature are the second greatest falls in the world—those of the Niagara River, just a few miles from Buffalo, New York. 350-01-0493—$8.69

BERLIN - TWO SIDES OF THE WALL

Photographed by Vitaly V. Uzoff and Jason Fletcher

A revised set based on that done some years ago by Mr. Uzoff when the Berlin Wall was a relatively new innovation between the two parts of the city. This updated set is almost equally divided between East Berlin and West Berlin. In the East, it shows such things as the Museum of German History, Hotel Unter den Linden, shops along the boulevard, the rush hour, Town Hall, Pergamon Museum, Brandenburg Gate, the "Dom" or "The Cathedral", Friedrichstrasse, Marx Engels Platz, Humboldt University, Pioneer Park, May Day Parade, and much more. In the West, Schöneberg Rathaus, Congress Hall, Ernst Reuter Platz, city's inner expressway, U-Bahn railway yard, Kaiser Wilhelm Memorial Church, Berlin Philharmonic Auditorium, Free University, U-Bahn Elevated Line, Hansa Quarter, Funkturn Gardens, Wannsee Beach, Soviet War Memorial, Reichstag, East German Guard Tower, "Czechpoint Charlie", sign in front of the wall, East Berlin's "No Man's Land" area near the Berlin Wall, and many more.

LITTLE
RASCALSCOMEDY RELEASES
NEW & RECENTLITTLE
RASCALSTWO TOO YOUNG
(1936)BORED OF EDUCATION
(1936)Winner of the Academy Award:
Best Short Subject of 1936

Directed by Gordon Douglas

starring Hal Roach's Little Rascals: SPANKY, ALFALFA, DARLA, PORKY and BUCKWHEAT, with ROSINA LAWRENCE as the teacher.

Facing a new school year, and a new teacher, Spanky and Alfalfa contrive to skip class by rigging a phony, bulging toothache with a balloon. Their scheme seems to be working. Problem is, once they've left class, the would-be truants discover their pretty new teacher has arranged an ice cream party to teach them a lesson, and now the two fakers have to find a way to get back INTO school! Except for the balloon stopper he swallows, Alfalfa's in fine voice for the finale, as this time he renders (in mere ways than one) "Believe Me, If All Those Endearing Young Charms."

BORED OF EDUCATION is a slick remake of the more famous TEACHER'S PET, but is especially interesting on its own for a couple of reasons:

1. Historically, it was the first Our Gang single reeler after fifteen years of being issued in the two reel format.

2. Artistically, it won the Academy Award as the Best Short Subject of 1936.

Despite the Oscar, signal prize though this may be, BORED OF EDUCATION should hardly be confirmed as the "yardstick" Our Gang Comedy against which all others are measured. The Academy Award appears to have been a product of timing, whim, and Hollywood politics, rather than strictly a consideration of merit, for while a pleasant, amusing comedy, BORED OF EDUCATION is not the enduring classic short film that many of the other Our Gang Comedies indeed are.

BUCKWHEAT, with

Buckwheat and Porky arrive at school one morning with some firecrackers. Envious Spanky and Alfalfa, though, are determined to get them away from these "little kids" and shoot off the firecrackers themselves. When Porky and Buckwheat refuse some unfair swaps, Spanky and Alfalfa design an underhanded scheme to filch the explosive goods during recess. Piggyback, and in disguise, they pose as a G-Man. More or less, the ruse works. But before the two connivers can set off the explosions, recess ends. With the firecrackers in his back pocket, Alfalfa is called upon to stand up and recite "The Charge of the Light Brigade." About to get even, little Porky takes out a magnifying glass and trains it on Alfalfa's soon-to-be-flaming backside! The first explosion is ignited just as Alfalfa recites Tennyson's line "... cannons to the left of me..." By the time he's progressed to "volleyed and thundered" poor Alfalfa's ready to be propelled around the room like a rocketship himself!

Our Gang's second one-reeler, and the first short made following the Academy Award winning BORED OF EDUCATION, TWO TOO YOUNG succeeds on the strength of the winning personalities of its opposing characters, all drawn on the theme of cagey little Porky and Buckwheat being not quite the pushovers that Spanky and Alfalfa think they are. Adding to this are some nice throwaway gags in and around the cozy schoolhouse. A most enjoyable film, and one of the best Our Gang one-reelers.

DIVOT DIGGERS
(1936)

Directed by Robert F. McGowan
starring Hal Roach's Little Rascals:
SPANKY, ALFALFA, BUCKWHEAT,
PORKY and DARLA with PETE
THE PUP and JIGGS THE CHIMPANZEE

Taking advantage of a sunny spring day, Our Gang is out for a game of golf. How they ever got onto the country club is a mystery, but they're there digging divots nonetheless. No one has a care in the world, and life couldn't be sweeter. Buckwheat's the caddy, carrying doubles for Darla and Spanky, who when his lading spoon "club" won't help him whack his way out of a sandtrap, resorts to pitching a lofty shot with a "hand mashie" while no one's looking. Walking to the green, he carefully takes the cover off his putter — a long handled hammer.

Porky is carrying Alfalfa's bag, and he's earnestly recording zeroes for each time Alfalfa fans on a swing from behind the bunker he's buried in. Spraying sand like a snow blower, but not the least upset by it, Alfalfa finally lifts a lucky shot to the green, and gladly exchanges his pitching wedge (a shovel) for his putting iron (a billiard cue). Taking aim from a prone position, Alfalfa lags his putt a wee bit short, but cagey Porky guides the shot into the cup with his trusty bean shooter.

Meanwhile, back at the clubhouse, the caddies are protesting their low rates, and walk off the course, leaving the desperate caddy master to scout up some caddies for the next foursome anxious to tee off. Anyone will do. He settles for even less, rounding up Our Gang when one of Spanky's slinging drives upends the harried caddy master as he tries to cross a fairway. These mischievous scamps make an aggregation of caddies like this unlucky foursome's never seen! Real "duffers" to begin with, they find they're playing this round with two handicaps — their caddies being the biggest one... And it's all topped off by a wild chase over the golf course's rolling hills when Jiggs, the Gang's pet chimp, takes off in a runaway lawnmower tractor!

The last Our Gang picture directed by series mentor Bob McGowan, it's also one of his finest ever, easily ranking among the top ten of all 222 Our Gang comedies made. DIVOT DIGGERS is a movie that is absolutely fresh and undated, brimming with sight gags, heart, fun, action, peppy background music... and where forty laughs to a reel is par!

Blackhawk Films Honored By The Small Business Administration

Blackhawk Films was honored on May 12, 1975, with the presentation of a certificate by the Small Business Administration as represented by J. Harold Sears its Iowa Deputy Director.

The certificate was given to only seven firms in the State of Iowa. It states: "For exemplifying the imagination, the initiative, independence and integrity by which the American small business makes a vital contribution to the nation, the economy and the free enterprise system."

We're certainly grateful for this Small Business Award for 1975, and will do our utmost to maintain the standards which caused us to be considered in the first place.

Thank you, Small Business Administration and J. Harold Sears!

THE WOMAN IN GREY

(1919)

with Arline Pretty and Henry G. Sell

Ruth Hope, the Woman in Grey and heroine of this fifteen chapter serial, has in just the first three episodes, escaped death no less than six times. In Chapter 4, THE STRANGLE KNOT, she is, again, the object of the villain's homicidal desires. She is also the object of the romantic desires of Mr. Amory's secretary, Tom and amid blooming flowers, mutual vows of affection are exchanged. Their happiness is short lived because Paula, Mr. Amory's niece is jealous of Ruth and reveals a letter to her Uncle that reports what Paula believes is Ruth's true identity. While she is trying to convince her uncle of the grisly nature of Ruth's involvement in the past tragedy in the Amory mansion, J. Haviland Hunter, another of Ruth's adversaries arrives on the scene with two ferocious looking henchmen. Hunter's interest in this whole matter is to obtain the Amory code, which when broken will provide the information necessary to find the fortune hidden somewhere in the old family home.

Ruth is now in possession of the precious code and manages to give Hunter the slip through secret passageways within the old house. She makes it to the outside through a most peculiar opening, only to be seized by Hunter's two thugs and once again finds herself at the mercy of her captors who immediately thrust her into a contraption unique even in the annals of sadistic torture.

Bound and gagged with the rope rigged in such a way as to provide instant death should one move for her rescue be made Ruth, it would seem, is finally doomed. Even Houdini couldn't get out of this one! But as we all know, there are still eight chapters to go. How she is saved and who saves her are two questions which must now be added to others such as, where is the Amory fortune, who really killed Mrs. Haynes, the Amory housekeeper, who is the mysterious J. Haviland Hunter and, of course, what is the true identity of the Woman in Grey?

All will be known by the time Chapter fifteen rolls around but be forewarned, there are a good many surprises and shocks for even the best super sleuths!

Musical accompaniment in the sound versions provide an extra added suspense-heightening bonus.

IT'S A GIFT (1923)

starring
SNUB POLLARD

This laugh riot contains the best example of a man with a system ever filmed and it's all a prelude to the most sensational gasoline discovery of the century. You've heard that oil companies suppress revolutionary products — now see why!

No comic of the silent screen was more at home with a mechanical gag than Snub Pollard. Backed by the creative gag writing of Charlie Chase and Stan Laurel in the mid-twenties, Snub turned out masterpieces of precision comedies whose basic humor, though dated now, remains hilarious in execution. For almost a decade, Snub was one of the mainstays on the Roach lot and IT'S A GIFT demonstrates why!

Puss 'N Boots

Cartooned
by Walt Disney

In 1919 Walt Disney settled in Kansas City as a commercial artist with the Kansas City Film Ad Company. In 1920, Disney was moonlighting and outside his regular job, made some animation and stop motion advertising films called "Newman's Laugh-O-Grams" for the Newman Theatre in Kansas City.

In 1922, Disney formed his own company, "Laugh-O-Gram Films, Inc." was soon advertising a series of six modernized fairy tales done in animation. Disney's backer went bankrupt, leaving him with the completed cartoons and no money. One of the existing cartoons from the Kansas City period, PUSS 'N BOOTS was the fourth of the six completed fairy tales, and is a charming precursor of all that was to come.

Barney Oldfield's Race For A Life (1913)

starring MABEL NORMAND, FORD STERLING, BARNEY OLDFIELD AND MACK SENNETT (who also directed)

What is perhaps Mack Sennett's most famous and representative comedy is now available for the first time with a rousing pipe organ score. You haven't really enjoyed this classic Keystone fun-film to its fullest extent till you've seen it while listening to this remarkable theatre organ soundtrack, as played by John Muri.

This fast-moving film's storyline has assumed legendary proportions in the annals of screen comedy, and represents the apotheosis of the kind of absurdities classic slapstick and even clichés that we associate with Mack Sennett Keystone Comedies. Spoofed countless times over the years, BARNEY OLDFIELD'S RACE FOR A LIFE is the "original" burlesque on Victorian high melodrama, featuring a lovely young girl kidnapped and menaced by a truly dastardly villain. Thrill to Barney's heroic exploits as he races to rescue the girl and give the villain his just desserts!

FOOLISH WIVES

(1922)

A RECONSTRUCTION OF THE ORIGINAL
FILM BY AND WITH ERICH VON
STROHEIM

In this film Von Stroheim wanted to depict the confused milieu of post-war Europe in a realistic fashion, tracing all through the actions of a bogus count and his seductive, corrupt ways. The plot concerns a Russian emigre adventurer and two of his mistresses posing as his cousins, who lease a villa on the sea near Monte Carlo. When a special American envoy accompanied by his young wife comes to confer with the Prince of Monaco, the imposters are anxious to meet and cultivate them. The "count" very nearly seduces Mrs. Hughes, first in an old hut where they are forced to take refuge from a storm, and later in the tower of his villa. The tower, is set on fire by his maid, whom he has also seduced, and as the "count's" escapades begin to unravel, he prepares to flee. First, however, he pays a last visit to his counterfeiter, Ventucci, where he violates Ventucci's feeble-minded daughter. She is his last victim, for Ventucci kills him and deposits his body in a sewer. The Hugheses are reconciled.

Foolish Wives was Von Stroheim's first really big effort. Carl Taemmle who liked him, supported the venture to the amount of $1,103,736.38. The vast Monte Carlo set proved more expensive than Griffith's Babylon, although much of the cost was for almost-unobservable details, such as real plate-glass windows. Ultimately, an electric sign over Broadway spelled the director's name "Stroheim" — this film established the reputation for extravagance which helped cripple his career — but although FOOLISH WIVES lost money, its artistic success established Universal as a major studio.

"On the screen," writes Thomas Quinn Curtiss in his book Von Stroheim, "This melodrama came to life with sardonic wit, pervasive atmosphere, and flashes of realism. In its precise detail, down to the buttons of the last lackey at the Casino, it seemed a truthful large slice of decadent highlife on the Continent. Von Stroheim impersonated the rascally Karamzin with undisguised relish, as he strutted the promenade in tight-fitting white uniforms and black riding boots of the Russian Imperial Army." "It is a fine portrayal of the sort of maniac we lock up in America for the protection of our daughters and wives," wrote Quinn Martin in The New York World.

From July 1920 to June, 1921, Stroheim shot 320 reels. He spent the next six months cutting the film to 32 reels. The average feature of the time was about five reels. The studio then took over this eight-hour film and cut it to 18 reels in December, 1921. As its New York premiere in January, 1922, it ran 14 reels — about three and one-half hours.

At this time, Stroheim complained that all that remained of his story was its "bones." Again the scissors came out and finally the film played in theaters at 10 reels. In 1928, Universal decided to re-issue its most expensive film with a synchronized music track and cut it down to 7 reels, changing characters' names, reshuffling the story, rewriting titles, and taking even more bite out of it. Only this mutilated version has been available in 8 and 16mm until now.

Fortunately, an original print of this film survived in Italy, and although it, too, had been cut to 7 reels, the cutting was done not by the elimination of whole scenes but by trimming the beginning and end of nearly every shot to quicken its pace. It was choppy, but the whole story was there.

Professor Arthur Lennig of the State University of New York at Albany noticed obvious differences between the two versions and, armed with a 16mm copy of each, began to intercut them in order to reconstruct the original release. He then discovered that the European print derived from an entirely different negative, each shot representing alternate take in which the action differed in minor but sometimes significant ways.

Universal ultimately supplied Lennig some continuities but these did not agree with the European print. Sometimes they described scenes which no longer existed; sometimes, they omitted scenes that did exist. Because of the 1928 re-editing, censorship problems in both Europe and America, and the individual taste of the technicians who shortened the film, both versions differed in what shots were omitted.

Therefore it was possible to "fill out" many sequences, particularly in the sexual scenes. Later, archives from all over the world provided 35mm prints to be intercut, and the 1922 titles were remade in facsimile and reinserted. In a few instances even titles had been censored, but the earliest texts were discovered in the files of the New York State Censor Board, and they too were put back.

Now, in addition to the Standard and Super versions, Blackhawk is proud to offer this classic work in 16mm with a synchronized musical score performed by John Muri at one pipe organ. This format is more complete and faithful to Von Stroheim's original intention than any other version and now, for the first time in over fifty years, viewers are now able to see approximately what audiences saw in 1922.

Because the master European copy had been severely trimmed, it was impossible to reconstruct as smooth a pictorial flow as Stroheim intended. In certain cases, shots had been cut to four or five frames; in such situations, each frame has been double or triple printed to slow the action slightly. Because of all this optical work, and the many original sources from which the film was compiled, print quality is not uniformly good, but at least in our judgement, it is quite acceptable throughout.

LON CHANEY as Fagin

Oliver Twist, published 1837-39, was Dickens' first long integrated story, and since it is one of the most dramatic and sensational of all his works, it has always been a great favorite with dramatists and film makers. The dramatizations began during the author's lifetime, and his own reading of the Murder of Nancy by Bill Sikes was described as "two Macbeths" by the greatest contemporary English actor, William Charles Macready.

This film version, long thought completely lost, has been restored from a 35mm negative located in Eastern Europe. Released on November 5, 1972, it was the second of young Jackie Coogan's starring vehicles after he had become famous overnight in Charlie Chaplin's The Kid, and he never found a better or more winning role. To present viewers the film abundantly attests both to his charm and to his wonderful acting ability, even when he did not have Chaplin to guide him.

When Lon Chaney created his impressive, evil Fagin in this film, he had The Miracle Man, The Penalty and his work with Maurice Tourneur in Victory and Treasure Island behind him; but he had not yet made either The Hunchback of Notre Dame or The Phantom of the Opera.

The character of Sikes was a "natural" for the always workmanlike Griffith "heavy," George Siegmann, and though Nancy is not as prominent in this film as she has been in some productions of Oliver Twist, Gladys Brockwell makes the best of some vivid moments. She went on to play in Seventh Heaven and some other films of the late twenties, then unfortunately died while her career seemed traveling on an upward curve. Esther Ralston, who appears as Rose Maylie, was to attract much more attention in 1924 as Mrs. Darling in the Brenon-Bronson Peter Pan.

Because no copy of the original English title texts could be located, new titles were written for Blackhawk by Sol Lesser and Jackie Coogan, with help from Dickens scholar, Edward Wagenknecht. Picture quality of this release is very good.

The picture has indeed lost very little through the past half century, and much of the credit for this belongs to the director, Frank Lloyd, who also co-authored the scenario. Not even the fact that Oliver Twist had to be considerably younger than in the Dickens novel prevented Lloyd from turning out a richly-mounted production which, though necessarily somewhat simplified, managed, without fatigue, to suggest the great complexity of the novel and remain completely faithful to its spirit.

KING OF DIAMONDS, THE STORY OF LOU GEHRIG

This film is about the immortal Lou Gehrig. If you follow sports, that's all you need to know. For the uninitiated, the Lou Gehrig story is as dramatic and eventful as almost any Hollywood movie. (Coincidentally, Gehrig did make a feature picture in Hollywood, and later Hollywood made a superb movie about Gehrig, starring Gary Cooper and entitled PRIDE OF THE YANKEES.)

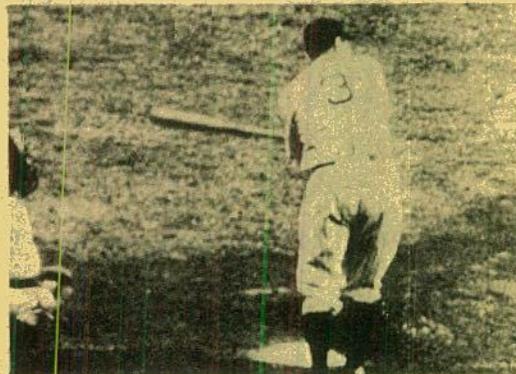

Lou Gehrig, "The Iron Horse," played first base for the greatest of the great New York Yankee dynasties during the 1920s and 1930s. Like teammate Babe Ruth, Gehrig was one of the mightiest sluggers of all time, and his name fills baseball's record books. Though Ruth's home run mark was finally broken, it's less likely someone will break Gehrig's monumental record for consecutive games: 2,130. Many stars in the Hall of Fame never played in as many games, much less consecutively! The record might have been even longer, were it not for Gehrig being stricken with a rare form of infantile paralysis that took his life while still a young man.

In this Fox-Movietone reel, we trace Gehrig's shining life through newsreel footage, showing the crowded streets and tenements where Gehrig grew up in New York City, on through his days of glory with the Yankees, where in batting behind Babe Ruth, the pair formed the most awesome 1-2 punch the game has ever known.

This kind of action footage, showing baseball's greatest stars performing in hallowed Yankee Stadium, is invaluable as a means of documenting The National Pastime at its proudest moment. You'll also see (and hear) baseball's saddest moment: Lou Gehrig Day at Yankee Stadium, where Gehrig, knowing he was going to die, came back to say his tearful goodbye to an adoring baseball world. As much as for his feats on the diamond, "Larrupin' Lou" will be remembered for his rare courage and good sportsmanship. You'll see why...

If you already have FENCE BUSTER, THE STORY OF BABE RUTH, you know what a perfect companion piece KING OF DIAMONDS will make. If you're not seen the Babe Ruth reel yet, we'd urge you to get both subjects and run them in tandem. With spring training upon us already, it's an ideal time to screen this pair of enduring sports stories for friends — those who can remember, and those lucky ones who have yet to discover this legendary piece of Americana.

FENCE BUSTER, THE STORY OF BABE RUTH

Babe Ruth (1895-1948) was known throughout the world as the "home run king" of baseball. During his major league career, Ruth held 76 all-time records — made 714 home runs — batted in 2,209 runs and played in 10 World Series.

When he died he held 17 World Series records. His record for home runs was not bettered until 1974 when Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves went over the top!

For George Herman Ruth, the beginning was in the slums of Baltimore. His father's saloon and the slum streets were his playground. Ruth wound up in reform school. In his spare time he played baseball — played it so well that in 1914 he went almost directly from reform school to the major leagues.

Ruth's bat soon became more valuable to the Red Sox's than his pitching arm. He was shifted to the outfield where he could take a turn at bat everyday. The result was a new home run champion at the beginning of a new era in baseball.

Ruth was traded to the New York Yankees and in 1921, with Babe shattering his own record by slamming out sixty-nine home runs the Yankees won their first American League pennant and the World Series victory.

In 1925, fame had gone to Ruth's head. The Bambino had become an overstuffed playboy. Was the Bambino washed up as the sports writers predicted? That winter Babe proved them wrong. The comeback trail was hard.

When the baseball season opened in 1926, the Babe was ready. Workouts had brought back speed to his body, sharpness to his eyes and power to his arms.

By 1929 Ruth's playing days were drawing to a close, his ambition was to become Yankee manager. He was rejected and a bitter Babe wanted money — lots of it. His new contract called for $80,000 a year.

The Bambino went down hill fast in 1933 and 1934. In 1935 the Yankees released him to the Boston Braves. Ruth poked feebly at balls he formerly would have smashed out of the park. The time had come to quit. It was a relief to drop the Braves uniform for in his heart Babe Ruth had never stopped being a Yankee.

MAGNETIC & 16mm OPTICAL SOUND

LIBERTY (1929) with STAN LAUREL and OLIVER HARDY Directed by Leo McCarey

One of the greatest Laurel and Hardy comedies of the silent era, this one has them as convicts making their escape from prison, being picked up by Confederates and changing from prison attire to civilian clothing — only to discover that they have their pants switched. For the first reel, they're constantly being discovered and screamed at or being pursued because of trying to change pants behind some wall or mound of packing cases.

Finally, with a policeman in pursuit, they are whisked in a construct-on elevator to the top of a new skyscraper of which only a steel skeleton is yet completed. The second reel would do credit to Harold Lloyd in SAFETY LAST as the boys contend with steel beams on hoists, joints not yet riveted and thus anything but secure, and each other!

810-02-1860, Standard 8mm, 400-feet, 14-ozs. $19.98

860-02-1860, Super 8, 450-feet, 14-ozs. $19.98

In release by Blackhawk for several years in its original form, LIBERTY has now been scored with music and sound effects — including the Laurel and Hardy theme, "The Cuckoo Song" — and the general comedy and thrills of the original are made even more enjoyable. A great addition! — Just as a music score was in silent days.

L & H Silent Musical Now In Sound!

YOU'RE DARN TOOTIN' (1928)

starring LAUREL and HARDY
Supervised by Leo McCarey
Directed by Edgar Kennedy

Working as bandmen in a municipal orchestra, Stan and Ollie antagonize the conductor by missing their musical cues and shuffling all the sheet music. Deciding that they'll ruin his performance no more, the conductor opens the door on a new career for The Boys, as street musicians. Playing clarinet and French horn as best they can, the sidewalk twosome is doing none too good. Falling through manholes, tangling with traffic, and quarreling with cops — The Boys are spectacularly unsuccessful. Finally, tempers flare even between Stan and Ollie (Hardy says, "I wouldn't mind training a seal or an elephant — but you're hopeless"), precipitating an eye-poking coat-ripping shin-kicking exchange that soon envelops scores of passers-by in a huge, thrashing, pants-sailing free-for-all! And it's all topped by what is probably the neatest closing gag Laurel and Hardy ever did.

All-in-all, the synchronized music and effects, particularly on a silent comedy with music as its theme, make for such a dramatic change in the film's impact that you will have to see and hear YOU'RE DARN TOOTIN' to believe it. A great addition to a great film! If you decide to acquire no other scored-silent, do try this one!

RECENT COMEDY RELEASE

THE NEW TWO TARS (1928)

starring LAUREL and HARDY
with EDGAR KENNEDY and CHARLIE HALL supervised by Leo McCarey, directed by James Parrott, photographed by George Stevens

(1) We've added a soundtrack in the form of an appropriate orchestral music score, with sound effects.

(2) We've discovered new, sharper 35mm preprint material, which means our 16mm and 8mm reduction copies are of even better quality than before.

(3) We're using all of the original insert or narrative titles, including one title not existing in any 35mm preprint material previously available to Blackhawk (meaning all existing prints are by definition not complete). In other words, we've scrapped the text titles that were made over by Blackhawk, in favor of these newly re-discovered original inter-titles, which had not decomposed like all the others.

(4) Most important (for many of us), we have, at great expense, blocked out the small M-G-M logo within the original main title cards and replaced it with our own trademark; so that from now on, Blackhawk prints of TWO TARS will carry the original Hal Roach Studios main and production credit titles! And that's news worth telling a friend about!

So, effective immediately, the 810, 860, 880 and 640 formats (as listed below) will all be issued in this revised, upgraded version, though the silent formats (810 and 860) obviously won't have the soundtrack.

810-02-2418, Standard 8mm, 385-feet, 14-ozs. $21.98

860-02-2418, Super 8, 430-feet, 14-ozs. $21.98

880-02-2418, Super 8 magnetic sound, 435-feet, 14-ozs. $32.98

640-02-2418, 16mm optical sound, 775-feet, 3-lbs. $69.98

Most of you already have prints of TWO TARS in your collection. It's a famous and brilliantly funny picture — easily among that handful of films deserving to be labeled a true "comedy classic." But for those of you perusing these pages for the first time who might not know, TWO TARS features Laurel and Hardy as sailors or leave who pick up a pair of easily impressed young ladies for a joy ride in the country. En route they encounter a massive traffic jam, which escalates to a kind of spectacular Hal Roach Studios warfare known as "civilized" reciprocal destruction, where nearly every model-T on the road is more or less systematically pulled apart, crushed, smashed, or otherwise disfigured.... Frenzied motorists treat each other accordingly.

Blackhawk has had TWO TARS in release for many years, but we've recently "dressed it up" so much that even if you already own a print, as you probably do, you'll want to obtain this new version, available now for the first time. What makes the new version so special? Four things:

BATHING BEAUTIES AND BIG BOOBS (1918)

starring LARRY SEMON with MADGE KIRBY and JAMES DONNELLY

Down at the beach, Larry and Madge Kirby are sweethearts at first sight, but the girl's father (James Donnelly) frowns upon his daughter's obvious bad taste in men. To prove his worth, Larry stages a fake hold-up and steals the father's money in order to make an heroic return and win the young lady. Real crooks come on the scene with their guns, speedboats and nasty personalities, and steal the money for themselves and force our not-so-brilliant hero to give chase.

As acrobatic chases were what Larry Semon comedies were all about, BATHING BEAUTIES AND BIG BOOBS devotes half a reel to spectacular stunts and high dives involving ocean piers, speedboats, huge cranes and scaffolds to give the comic thrills that caused even Buster Keaton to admit Larry Semon pictures were among the most extraordinary comedies of the silent era.

Adding to the fast-paced fun are panoramic views of uncluttered-California ocean fronts, and luscious views of the bathing fashions of 1918.

This one-reel Vitagraph farce comedy comes complete with original titles.

MEET ME DOWN AT CONEY ISLAND (1933)

For decades Coney Island was the mecca of New York City at spring, summer and fall holidays and week-ends. This Movietone offering shows us the crowds literally jamming the place—swimming, on the beach, in controlled pools, and with bathing beauties contesting for a prize. Hot dog consumption is shown—the "delicacy" for which Coney Island is noted. We see all sorts of appealing things for the kids, including dog and pony rides—and for the adults the mammoth rides for which Coney Island is famous—including the roller coaster. So "Meet Me Down at Coney Island" forms highlights of a week-end's fun—40 years ago.

HERE COMES THE CIRCUS

The circus is the descendent of one of the most ancient forms of entertainment. From the Papeant Wagons of the Middle Ages to the tent shows which followed the first settlers across the United States, the timeless appeal of the traveling road show has been irresistible to young and old alike. So pervasive has been the influence of this "institution" that the phrase, "Three Ring Circus" has become a cliché in our language, yet, unhappily, its real meaning is becoming forgotten as the circus gradually disappears from the entertainment world.

Fortunately, we have a film to help us remember or learn what the circus was like. HERE COMES THE CIRCUS, is a Fox Movietone newsreel which documents the arrival of the "Big Top" in town. We see the animals being led out of vans to their temporary quarters; performers looking astonishingly like ordinary people go through everyday tasks—washing clothes, preparing food, eating meals; even the lions and tigers seem strangely tame and domesticated. This is one side of the circus that few ever see. But when, at last, the big tent is rigged, a kind of magic takes place. The ordinary-looking people don costumes, apply make-up and are instantly transformed into jugglers, clowns, snake charmers and bareback riders.

The ground that was, the day before, a grassy field or a sandlot, is now alive with people buying and selling any number of delights for the eye and the palate. There are great clouds of cotton candy, apples on a stick, balloons and souvenirs well worth the cost for the happy memories they are sure to evoke in years to come. This little film will do the same thing and for those to whom the wonders of the circus are only a dim memory, this reel will summon back into consciousness all of its excitement, joy and magic.

Movietone MANHATTAN MEDLEY (1932)

From the Fox "Magic Carpet of Movietone"

Fox having produced in Walter Ruttmann's BERLIN the greatest of all symphonies, the company perhaps deserved to win first place in the race of film-makers who were eager to perform the same treatment on New York. For though the form was no longer new by the time this little film was made, MANHATTAN MEDLEY is a clever, forcibly made and impressive work which was obviously a labor of great love for its anonymous director.

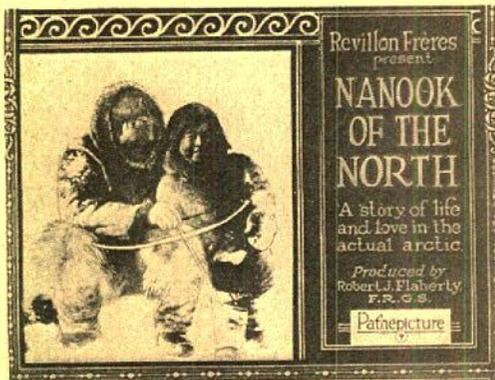

Like its progenitor, the film traces life on the island from early morn to late at night, finding in the ethnic pockets and the business mainstream of the city those common elements which unify and give flavor to our most colorful metropolis.

Although the form and rhythm of the film are responsible for its charm and its content, native and even expatriate New Yorkers will find little shivers of recognition running up their spines at shots of chorus lines rehearsing at the Roxxy, Brooklyn Bridge at sunrise, Automats, hot jazz in Harlem and Jewish peddlers on Hester Street.

The music score, especially compiled for the film by Louis de Francesco, adds another whole layer of early thirties nostalgia in the sound versions.

RECENT BLACKHAWK RELEASES

(1922)
(Restricted to the United States)

The review of Nanook of the North excerpted below was written by Cecile Starr. It originally appeared in The Saturday Review of Literature on January 6, 1951, on the occasion of the 16mm release of the film with added music and commentary. Slight internal changes were made in the Blackhawk Bulletin version to tie in with the 8mm silent version release. It is here reprinted by kind permission of the author.

Robert Flaherty's Nanook of the North is now available for 8mm purchase. However you look at the film — as one of the all-time classics in motion picture history, as one of the great grandparents of the present-day documentary film, as a striking photographic achievement, as an exciting romance of life in the Arctic, or as an epic tale of man against the elements — one thing is certain: Nanook of the North is a wonderful film, and Robert Flaherty is a greater man for having made it...

It has been said of Nanook, as of the old British Empire, that the sun never sets on it. Perhaps this is an overstatement. But now that 8mm distribution of Nanook has been announced — fifty-three years after the first release of the film — it seems unlikely that its popularity will ever diminish.

Good humor is the keynote of the film, despite the grimness of the setting. Everyone seems to be playing jokes on everyone else. There are so many little jokes, in fact, that sometimes it is hard to tell where they begin and end. In the introductory scene, for example, who can help laughing when about a dozen happy men, women, and children crawl out of the top of what seems to be a bottomless kayak? And who is kidding who when later at the trading post Nanook bites into a phonograph record which he grinningly has mistaken for a new kind of canned food? After trading his furs for civilized products he presumably had no interest in (practically no equipment or clothes for food from the outside world appear in the rest of the film), Nanook sets off in the same jovial manner for a new year of catching fish through ice holes, hunting furbearing animals, building magnificent one-night homes, outwitting and out-pulling walrus, and in general providing for his family and his dogs as well as a man can be expected to, circumstances being what they are.

There is beauty in Nanook of the North — real beauty seldom equaled on the screen: the faces and postures of the people and animals; the skilled hand at work on an igloo; the peaceful dogs rolled up into snowy roundnesses on a stormy night; expanses of snow, hills and valleys, light and shadow. And there is drama such as only a skilled artist can convey: hunting, eating, and sleeping; the training of the child to take the place of the father; the fierceness of starving huskies; the limp, dead seal; the code of the walrus; the menacing sky; the magnitude of the place and the occasion.

As long as films can be preserved, and longer, this film will live as a master unique in motion-picture history. But my word is not enough; here are the words of other reviewers: "It contains more beauty, drama, suspense and excitement than a dozen average films." "Every shot is composed with the eye of an artist." "Nanook is filmmaking as we had almost forgotten it — a sequence of moving pictures telling their own story through the eye." "What gives Nanook its astonishing vitality? — the secret is something in Flaherty himself..."

A TRIP TO THE MOON (1902) by GEORGE MELIES

Georges Melies, a talented conjurer, was the first man to realize that film could be used to create illusions unfettered by logic or probability. Refused a camera by Lumiere, he constructed his own equipment and a month later opened the first public cinema in the world at the Theatre Roubert Houdin, Paris.

All the fantastic possibilities of the Lumiere invention were grasped by Melies, who produced nearly 4000 films between 1896 and 1914. Melies himself financed, wrote the script, designed the tableaux, planned the tricks, painted the sets, directed, and appeared as the principal character in this, his most famous work and the first great international success in the history of film.

A TRIP TO THE MOON, begins at a Congress of Astronomers, with the President explaining his plan for the journey; he and five colleagues will be shot off in a projectile shaped like a large bullet. After a visit to the construction workshops, where the gun to fire the vehicle is cast before their eyes, the scientists are launched amid much ceremony, and they disappear into space. Here, quoting an original catalogue description, "the moon is visible at a distance. The shell coming closer every minute, the moon magnifies rapidly until finally it attains colossal dimensions. It gradually assumes the shape of a living grotesque face: smiling sanctimoniously."

The shell pierces the eye of the moon, and the astronomers stretch out for a fitful sleep on the lunar landscape. Stars with human faces, comets, and Saturn in his rings appear in the sky. Snow falls and the scientists descend into a crater for warmth. Again quoting the Lubin catalogue, "The astronomers arrive in the interior of a most curious grotto filled with enormous mushrooms of every kind. One of them opens his umbrella in order to compare its size with a mushroom, but the umbrella suddenly takes root and, transforming itself into a mushroom starts growing gradually, attaining gigantic proportions."

Attacked by strange moon men, the scientists flee back to their shell which, thrown off the moon, plunges back to earth and lands in the depths of the sea "amongst the debris of ships, marine plants, corals and fishes of all kinds." But the projectile is hermetically sealed, so it oobs to the surface and is towed to shore.

The original prints of A TRIP TO THE MOON included five scenes of celebration after the astronomers' safe return. These scenes, lasting about one minute, were missing from the original print from which Blackhawk's copies are taken, and apparently do not survive elsewhere. The film comes to a logical conclusion as it is, however, and otherwise seems fully complete. Picture quality is the best we have ever seen on this particular subject. The sound versions have been stretch printed for projection at 24 frames per second; the optical work is smooth and the sound versions look as good as the silent ones. The track consists of piano accompaniment newly recorded and edited from piano rolls made in the late 19th century.

BERLIN: THE SYMPHONY OF A GREAT CITY (1927)

Directed by
Walther Ruttmann;
Produced and Photographed by
Karl Freund for Fox Film-Europa
(Restricted to the United States and Canada)

With the single exception of NANOOK OF THE NORTH, Ruttmann's famous BERLIN is the most important and influential non-fiction film of the silent era. Even today, with its subject a world war and a half century away, BERLIN is brimming over with ideas about the expressive possibilities of film. It is so packed with energy and imagination that it still stuns viewers who discover it anew, and still inspires forty-five of every fifty young filmmakers who see it into going out and producing an imitation.

At its simplest level, BERLIN creates an impression of the city from dawn to late at night. In what John Grierson called "smooth and finely tempo'd visuals," a train swings in from the suburbs. Wheels, rails, details of engines, telegraph wires, landscapes and other simple images flow along in procession: the rhythm of the editing conveys the rhythm of the train click-clacking over the rails, causing viewers to feel, purely from visual cues, the experience of riding on a train. So it goes through the day: factories get under way, the streets fill, the traffic tangles. Noontime and lunch: Ruttmann contrasts the simple meals of workers, the elegant meals of the wealthy diners, and the huge meals of the elephants in the Berlin zoo. The city resumes work, but is brought to a halt by a rainshower in mid-afternoon. There is a casual suicide at dusk; in the evening, it is cabaret, Charlie Chaplin, and a veritable geometry of dancing legs.

On the surface, then, BERLIN is about the city; but looking a little deeper, it is also about the art of film itself.

Blackhawk's release is by arrangement with the original producer, and our prints are of flawless photographic quality.

END OF ST. PETERSBURG

(1927)

(Available in sound and silent versions)

Directed by
V. I. PUDOVKIN

The revolution in October-November, 1917, transformed Tsarist Russia into the Soviet Union, when communist-led troops deposed the coalition government in the old imperial capital of St. Petersburg (now Leningrad). In 1927, to commemorate the tenth anniversary of these events, the Soviet government commissioned a film by each of its two most famous directors, Sergei Eisenstein and Vsevolod Pudovkin. OCTOBER, Eisenstein's film, became a theoretician's brilliant demonstration of ideas on the nature of cinema. Full of spectacular scenes, it is, nonetheless, cold and intellectualized. END OF ST. PETERSBURG, Pudovkin's film, is built around the problems of an individual family in which the characters also stand for broader concepts. It functions both on the story level and on the symbolic level, and is exciting and emotionally stirring. Both directors filmed in the actual locations where events of the revolution had occurred, and as their deadlines grew close, their two production crews converged. One night, while Eisenstein shelled the Winter Palace from the sea, breaking three hundred windows, Pudovkin's crew bombarded the building from the land, severely damaging the cornice! In any case, both of the resulting films have become classics, documenting both in form and content, one of the most significant events in modern history.

END OF ST. PETERSBURG was Pudovkin's third feature. It was made after his book, Film Technique had made him almost as widely quoted as Eisenstein. As a director, Pudovkin was a sort of human sponge who absorbed any and all filmic influences that came his way. Like his fellow Soviet craftsmen, he believed that editing was the basis of film expression, and he jauntily borrowed his teacher Kuleshov's theoretical discoveries of associative montage and simplified visual composition. Pudovkin, as well as Eisenstein and many others, greatly admired the work of D.W. Griffith. In END OF ST. PETERSBURG, this admiration was carried to its most "sincere form" as whole scenes were duplicated almost shot for shot from Griffith's WAY DOWN EAST, INTOLERANCE and A CORNER IN WHEAT!

Altogether, Pudovkin was to make fifteen feature films before his death in 1953, three of which were made in association with the most famous Soviet co-director, Dmitri Vasiliev. Long after Pudovkin's death, it was this same Vasiliev, working with the film's original cameraman, Anatol Golovnia, who supervised the reconstruction and scoring of the version presented here. Blackhawk's release, taken from a new 35mm master print imported directly from the Soviet Union, is by all odds the best looking and most complete version of END OF ST. PETERSBURG available in North America. The new English inter-titles were translated by Professor Steven P. Hill, a leading authority on Soviet film history; and the sound track consists of synchronized music performed by a full orchestra.

BLACK AND TAN

with DUKE ELLINGTON

Duke Ellington's first screen appearance was this extraordinary and deeply moving film produced in the second year of sound by Dudley Murphy. True, there is a flimsy story line featuring the dancer Freddie Washington, as well as an astonishing pair of stereotype darkies in one of the early scenes; but these incidentals, so appalling as to have an inverse charm all their own, serve merely as pretext for keeping Ellington on screen in nearly every foot of film, and make Duke's wonderful playing shine ever more brightly by contrast! BLACK AND TAN is made up of three sequences showing Duke on piano with only a trumpeter in support; at work in a night club with his full orchestra and a corps of precision dancers; and playing the fiddle composition backed by the Hall Johnson Choir as well as his own group. Dudley Murphy, who provided both story and direction, was an American who worked in France with Fernand Leger to make BALLET MECANIQUE, had previously directed Bessie Smith in ST. LOUIS BLUES, and four years later was to helm Paul Robeson in THE EMPEROR JONES. In complete contrast to the usual haphazard style of band shorts, BLACK AND TAN was made with immense care and great visual imagination, especially by the standards of 1929 films. There is a deco nightclub set designed by Ernst Fegte which features a mirror floor (for reflecting dancers in) and a glass floor (for photographing through). Some shots are done entirely in shadow and silhouette (inspired, no doubt, by Rouben Mamoulian's staging of Porgy in 1927); others feature prisms, rotating mirrors, and similar devices which look forward to Busby Berkeley. Both picture and sound quality of our prints are very good.

HAL WALLIS PRODUCTIONS

It's Elvis Presley and Ursula Andress in another of Hal's rollicking musical comedies. His (lucky) thirteenth feature film, made in 1963, this one has Elvis in sunny Acapulco working as a part-time trapeze artist, lifeguard and entertainer. In his free-time, he's a full-time lover. Done on location in Mexico, FUN IN ACAPULCO is a beautifully scenic film, even apart from gorgeous Ursula Andress. As always, Elvis' films abound in songs, action, light comedy, scenery, and that inevitable bevy of girls, girls, girls!

In all, there's a generous total of eleven smash tunes, including "Bossa Nova Baby," one of Elvis' biggest hits.

Full length, not an abridgement, and in full color!

Jerry plays a Navy ensign who loses a battleship during the war, but doesn't remember how he lost it. So he and a pal and the Navy go looking for it!

Jerry Lewis has made some very funny films and some unfunny films, but even his critics will concede that DON'T GIVE UP THE SHIP is Jerry Lewis at his finest.

Norman Taurog directed this Paramount 1959 black and white feature, which runs an hour and a half.

Leonard Maltin, writing in "TV Movies," calls DON'T GIVE UP THE SHIP "one of Lewis' all-time best."

869-85-0002, Super 8 magnetic sound, 1600-feet, 7-lbs. $159.99

This lavish, big-budget 1966 follow-up to Elvis' BLUE HAWAII is the story of a dashing unemployed airplane pilot who starts a charter helicopter service in glamorous Hawaii with an old buddy. Along the way there are plenty of girls and songs and more girls and more songs in this escapist Presley fluff. A fun picture that lets you sing and swing with Elvis in scenic Hawaii!

Variety, in their review, said, "Seldom has the panorama and terrain of Hawaii been utilized to such lush advantage ... it's a natural for all of the many Presley fans."

This 1959 Paramount western pits two erstwhile friends against one another. Anthony Quinn is the strong man, the powerful rancher of Gun Hill; Kirk Douglas is the staunch marshal who sets out to find his wife's slayer. It's Anthony Quinn's weakling son, played by Earl Holliman, who committed the rap-murder of Kirk Douglas' Indian wife, for which Douglas is determined to gain retribution. First, though, he'll have to get the young man out of Gun Hill, the town practically owned by Quinn ... The lines are drawn for the confrontation!

Like another suspense-charged Hal Wallis film, GUNFIGHT AT THE O.K. CORRAL ... GUN HILL boasts drama, action, compelling character portrayals, and is climaxed by the inevitable shoot-out showdown between the now implacable enemies.

Special bonuses are the outdoor thriller's location work done in scenic Arizona, and Dimitri Tiomkin's background music score.

NOW JERRY JOINS THE ALL-TIME FUNNIEST HE IS THE MOST FAMOUS GOLF-UP WHO EVER WENT TO WAR WITH THE ARMY.

HAL WALLIS

DAVID WAYNE

Jerry Lewis is perfectly cast as the world-famed cartoon character, "The Sad Sack," in this 1957 George Marshall directed army-life laugh-fest. Playing a hapless, misfit G.I., Jerry wreaks havoc against friend and foe on two continents, all with the kind of distinctive slapstick that sets Jerry Lewis apart from other comics. You'll enjoy Jerry as he loses a tank, gets mixed up with an exotic dancer, and makes life miserable for his sergeant, to name a few comic complications! The armed-services will never be the same.

This 1961 Dean Martin-Shirley MacLaine comedy-mystery is the story of a New York publishing empire which nearly crumbles at the death of its founder — particularly when it's learned that a half-clad girl was seen running from the old gen's Palm Beach hotel suite on the night of his demise. Realizing that this information could jeopardize a large bank loan the shaky company is negotiating, the board of directors sets out to buy the mystery girl's silence. But where to look? The late publisher's playboy nephew (Dean Martin) is assigned the task of finding the extortionist and thwarting her scheme. Suspicion points to Shirley MacLaine, but romance intervenes, and Dean refuses to believe lovable Shirley's the unclad mystery girl. This sets the scene for the romantic comedy and "mystery" that follows!

Jerome Cowan, Charlie Ruggles, and Gale Gordon shine in supporting character roles.

Three Long-Lost Comedy Treasures with Hal Roach stars STAN LAUREL, JIMMIE FINLAYSON, and OLIVER HARDY

IN THE GREASE! (1925)

Supervised by F. Richard Jones
Starring JIMMIE FINLAYSON

James Finlayson is best known as the bald-headed, pop-eyed nemesis who was pitted against Laurel and Hardy in such classic films as BIG BUSINESS. But after graduating from supporting roles over at the Mack Sennett Studio, Finlayson made a short-lived bid for stardom at Hal Roach Studios several years before Stan and Ollie teamed up. IN THE GREASE! is a rare example of one of Fin's solo starring shorts.

Jimmie is trying to raise a son and run the household himself, but confusion reigns, especially when the boy tries to pull a fast one on his Pop. One day Junior comes home from school complaining that the teacher hit him. Fin goes to investigate and tells the instructor that he ought to try some kindness; in return, the teacher tells Fin that if he knows so much, he can teach these brats for a day. The pupils really go to work on the "new teacher," and comic chaos is the result.

While durable Jimmie Finlayson made his mark in supporting roles, he did bid fair to become a comedy star on his own in the mid-1920s, and the Hal Roach comedy IN THE GREASE! shows that with the right kind of material, he could have succeeded. It's a brisk and enjoyable outing and gives Fin a number of opportunities to demonstrate his comic trademark. The famous "double-take and fade-away." As Stan Laurel himself said to biographer John McCabe about Finlayson, "He could just lift that eyebrow, and I'd break up."

FIN: Master of the Double-Take

L&H buffs will note ties between this funny short and the classic schoolroom sequence in PARDON US, where Fin tries to teach another unruly bunch — with equal unsuccess! The only difference is that the young rowdies of IN THE GREASE! aren't prisoners — not just yet anyhow.

Prints of IN THE GREASE! are of sparkling quality, and come with original main and text titles all intact.

SHOULD TALL MEN MARRY? (1928)

Hal Roach All-Star Series
Directed by Clyde Bruckman

starring STAN LAUREL and JIMMIE FINLAYSON with TEDDY VON ELTZ, MARTHA SLEEPER, EDGAR DEARING and LEW MEEHAN

This is an unusual western two reel comedy. Indeed, the film's working title had been COWBOYS CRY FOR IT. Even without the title, the comedy's "it" is very ably provided in the personage of attractive Martha Sleeper. She plays rancher Jimmie Finlayson's cute daughter, and is contested over by Teddy Von Eltz (the worthy good guy), and Stuart Holmes (the unworthy bad guy). There'll be little trouble telling which is which.

Although generically a Hal Roach All-Star short (meaning a casting repository for actors who had been stars, or hopefully would be stars), it's actually a Stan Laurel comedy. Laurel receives top billing, and he's essentially teamed with Finlayson as the two seek to rescue Fin's kidnapped daughter from the filthy clutches of the villainous Stuart Holmes. The concept is rife with comedic potential, and famed director Clyde Bruckman brings it off in fine style. (Bruckman, after a lengthy association with Buster Keaton, had just directed the classic pie-fight film, THE BATTLE OF THE CENTURY, released two weeks before SHOULD TALL MEN MARRY?)

There's plenty of whirlwind slapstick (literally since this comedy was filmed on location out at Hal Roach's scenic but wind-swept Arnaz Ranch), with Laurel clowning around in his best pre-L&H form (making love to a calf), and Fin practicing his comic forte: the art of belabored, disbelieving reaction ("How long has this been going on?")

Historically, too, this film is of no little importance in that it represents the last time Stan Laurel would ever work in front of a motion picture camera or a live audience without his partner, Oliver Hardy. Oddly enough, according to production dates, by this time Laurel and Hardy had already worked together in eight

Title Introducing Stan Laurel: "He came from Arkansas, and his name was Bill — so they called him Texas Tommy."

Roach comedies, and since SHOULD TALL MEN MARRY? was held out of release by Pathe until January 1928, audiences had enjoyed Laurel and Hardy as an evolving team in fourteen Roach comedies.

Also, SHOULD TALL MEN MARRY? was one of the last shorts Hal Roach would deliver to Pathe Exchange to fulfill their expiring contract before Roach allied with M-G-M.

Collectors have been looking for this short for years, and at last, Blackhawk is able to offer it, and better yet, with gorgeous quality prints and complete original titles!

ONE TOO MANY (1916)

The Plump and Runt Comedy Series

starring OLIVER HARDY, BILLY RUGE with BILLY BLETCHER

Playboy Plump (Oliver Hardy) wakes up in bath robe, evening dress and hangover to learn the sobering news that rich Uncle John will arrive soon to visit him and his wonderful little family, which is supposed to consist of Plump's lovely wife and child whom Uncle has generously supported and who do not exist. With the aid of Runt (Billy Ruge), Plump winds up with three wives and a set of twins, a dismayed uncle and some very upset and jealous husbands. The deception turns to disaster and by the end of the picture, chaos reigns and any hint of a moral lesson is blissfully obscured in the confusion.

ONE TOO MANY was the Vim comedy company's initial release in its popular Plump and Runt series starring an extremely boyish Oliver "Babe" Hardy and circus aerialist-turned-film comic Billy Ruge. The series consisted of thirty-five one-reel comedies, released in 1916 and produced in the now-forgotten movie capital of Jacksonville, Florida.

What adds especially to the comedy's interest for devout Laurel and Hardy fans is that here is a solo Oliver Hardy short which for once does not obfuscate his appearance. Most do. Usually, one has to look for bulk size and distinctive gesturing to even recognize Oliver Hardy in these solo shorts, but in ONE TOO MANY Hardy appears without villain's top hat, greasypaint eyebrows, huge mustache, beard, etc., and we can actually see what this beloved comic looked like during only the second year of his prolific film career. Here, at age 24, with a full head of curly hair, no mustache, and virtually no makeup, Oliver Hardy as comic stooge more than warrants his lifelong nickname of "Babe!"

The boyish (then) Norvell "Babe" Hardy

A grand and rare souvenir film every Laurel and Hardy buff should have! And see if you agree that this comedy may have been the forerunner of the 1929 L&H short THAT'S MY WIFE.

Incidentally, featured played Billy Bletcher has labored his lengthy career in obscurity, but it's worth noting that the diminutive character actor (still active) was also an anonymous but important voice animator — he's scared the pants off most of us as the Big Bad Wolf in Disney's THREE LITTLE PIGS and also as Peg-Leg Pete in many Mickey Mouse cartoons.

WINGS OVER KITTY HAWK

The Story of Wilbur and Orville Wright

Here's a film that more or less sketches the history of flight. The first event on which motion picture cameras were actually there to record was the Wrights' early flight, which was almost ignored by many of the newspapers. But their later flights in Europe are well recorded, as were their demonstrations for the U.S. Army. The U.S. Air Force was the result. The Wright Airplane Company was formed; Glenn Curtiss gave the world its first hydroplane. Bleriot flew the English Channel. World War I came along and bombers took off with cargoes of destruction. Other flyers came along — Lindbergh, Nungesser and Gull, Costes and Bellonte, Kingsford Smith, Amelia Earhart, Kingsford Smith, Post and Gatty. Miss Earhart predicted the day when wings would make people world neighbors. Orville Wright shared Miss Earhart's dream. World War II interrupted. With President Roosevelt, Orville inspected planes at Wright Field. Following the War, Orville expected great peace-time progress. He lived until 1948. This is the story of two generations of flight as it centered around the Wright Brothers.

"ONE OF THE BEST SELLING"

PIONEER PLANES, PILOTS AND DAREDEVILS

with ORVILLE WRIGHT, WILBUR WRIGHT,
 LOUIS BLERIOT, GLENN CURTISS, CHARLES
 VOISIN, HENRY FARMAN, LINCOLN BEACHEY,
 EDDIE RICKENBACKER, JERSEY RINGLE and others

"Pioneer Planes, Pilots and Daredevils" is one of the most significant and certainly one of the most absorbing compilations that it has ever been Blackhawk's privilege to place in distribution. For all the years we have been working with early films, we never dreamed that some of the bits of history we are able to bring you ever existed, or if they did, ever survived the years. Not that all the film is perfect — there is some decomposition in evidence in a few of the scenes, and much of it suffers from being removed from the original negative — duped — in the days when film stocks and techniques left much to be desired. But the over-all result is amazing, and here's just part of what you'll see . . .

Two early French tow gliders, one a Voisin-Archdeacon and the other a Voisin-built Bleriot Model II shown crashing on the Seine River, Paris, France, 1905.

The Wright Brothers, successful since 1903, giving the first public demonstrations of controlled flight, as we know it today, in France, Italy and the United States.

The first movies ever made from an aeroplane as it flies over ancient Roman Aqueducts in 1908.

Orville Wright, Fort Myer, Va., within sight of the nation's Capitol. Portly President Taft, an onlooker, at this trial of an aeroplane that was to qualify for the start of what was to be the Army Air Corps.

1910 to 1914 — aviation's exhibition era. Here daredevil Lincoln Beachey, who was the first to loop-the-loop in America, salutes the grandstand at Iowa State Fair at eye level, then contests Eddie Rickenbacker in a 5 lap plane-car race.

We don't want to forget the intrepid inventors, ever seeking to improve the aeroplane. One we show we call "The Original Cropduster" — a combination of biplane and chopper that didn't ever get off the ground.

FLYING HIGH (1929)

starring GEORGE LEWIS, with BOB LIVINGSTON, ANDY DEVINE, CHURCHILL ROSS and WALTER BRENNAN

Directed by Ben Holmes

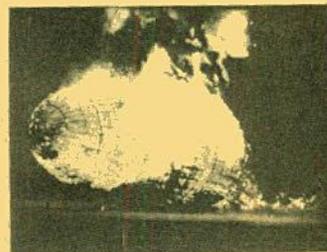

Here's an unusual two-reel comedy with that special "early talkies flavor." Produced by Carl Laemmle, Jr. for Universal, FLYING HIGH was an entry in a series of shorts labeled "The Collegians," and has a lot to offer for just about everyone: aerial buffs, film historians, action fans, and B-movie lovers.

At Calford University, the campus is buzzing about a mysterious unidentified aviator whose airborne stunts have thrilled the collegiate community for the past week. Actually it's Bob Livingston, but a news story breaks which mistakenly identified George Lewis — who's never been in a plane in his life — as the unknown trick flyer. This elicits a challenge from another student aviator ace, and George reluctantly agrees to an exciting "endurance contest in the air."

FLYING HIGH is a genuine collector's item since it's one of those most unusual hybrid talkies — a subject which began production as a silent film, and then in the midst of the sweeping revolution of talking pictures, switched almost literally in mid-air and shot its remaining scenes with full sound.

THE SKY GIANT: THE SAGA OF AMERICAN DIRIGIBLES AND THE STORY OF REAR ADMIRAL CHARLES E. ROSENDAHL

The story begins at Annapolis after the First World War. Charles Rosendahl was an instructor, known chiefly for his scholarship until the sight of an early dirigible transformed him into a man of action. Rosendahl witnessed, as you will in this film, the construction of the dirigibles Los Angeles and Shenandoah. He was among the Americans who flew the German-built Los Angeles across the Atlantic to the naval air station at Lakehurst, New Jersey. The Golden Age of Airships in America had begun.

Rosendahl was navigation officer of the Shenandoah when it broke in half carrying fourteen men to death. A senior surviving officer of the tragedy, he was determined to prove that dirigibles were superior to airships in every way, and was given command of the Los Angeles.

To capture the imagination and support of the public, Rosendahl performed spectacular stunts. You will, for example, see a dirigible as it lands on an aircraft carrier as well as other milestones in lighter-than-air flight: the maiden voyage to the United States of the Graf Zeppelin, the construction of the Akron, the Hindenburg explosion and the subsequent grounding of the Los Angeles and too, the war use of blimps as "the eyes of the Navy." All of these scenes are related to the life of a man who had in youth pledged himself to silver sky giants and who, in old age, still believed in the future of the rigid airships.

BABOONA (1935)

AN AERIAL SAFARI THROUGH AFRICA WITH MR. AND MRS. MARTIN JOHNSON

For tens of millions of Americans, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson were America's first family of explorers. From their first film together in 1917, Cannibals of the South Seas, up to Baboona, which was their last, the Johnsons made the strange and faraway familiar in terms of the interests and language of ordinary theatergoers, and for their work they were rewarded with world-wide fame and a screen legacy reaching through Walt Disney's True Life Adventures to the National Geographic documentaries of our own day.

Even as a boy in Kansas, Martin Johnson hungered for adventure, and in 1906, he persuaded Jack London to hire him for his (nonexistent) cooking skills to manage meals on board the Snark for London's famous world cruise. In Hawaii, London hired another cook but Johnson was promoted to engineer and cameraman. When he returned home to marry Osa, they began to raise money for their own first expedition by touring nickelodeons and flea-pit theatres; he showed lantern slides, gave a lecture, and ran primitive films about the Snark journey; she fleshed out the program singing with the song slides that were another part of the show. Under these conditions the Johnsons learned what interested audiences and what bored them, and though the films have been subject to scientific criticism, they are terrific as entertainment.

For Baboona, the Johnsons were equipped with two Sikorsky amphibian planes — Osa's Ark, which was painted with zebra stripes, and the Spirit of Africa, painted in giraffe spots. Their silent cameras were supplemented with the excellent and reasonably portable sound cameras developed for field news recording by Fox Movietone News. The expedition started from Cape Town, South Africa, on January 31, 1933, and was to be sort of a grand review of the Johnsons' greatest camera coups of the past, supplemented with the unique opportunities afforded by sound and by aerial photography. Baboona thus features the lions that distinguished their silent film Simba, the pygmies that made Congorilla memorable, and spectacular air views in which dozens of giraffe, hundreds of elephants, thousands of wildebeests, and millions of flamingoes can simultaneously be seen. There are some awesome air views of Mt. Kenya and Mt. Kilimanjaro. In odd contrast to these majestic sights are the camp views: Osa Johnson fishing for one breakfast, or making another — a giant omelette for twelve — out of a single ostrich egg, a baboon transfixed with its own image in a hand mirror, astonished natives reacting to their first sight of an airplane.

The last portion of the film from which the title comes is concerned with an intimate study of life in a baboon colony, the domestic activities of these intelligent animals, and the training of the baboon young. Suddenly the colony is invaded: a hyena comes to kill and feed upon infant animals; a leopard is attracted by the sound, as is a savage warthog, and soon the savage animals are joined in combat while the baboons flee in a spectacular stampede across a river. Reestablishing their colony in an area already possessed by a colony of small ground monkeys, the baboons threaten to exhaust the food supply and soon worried to distraction by the belligerent attacks of the angry dispossessed little primates, the baboons are forced to flee once again.

The sound versions of Baboona are narrated by Martin Johnson and appear exactly as released to theatres by Fox Film Corporation; the silent versions are carefully-edited adaptations including those scenes which depend only on their imagery for their fascination, and with titles adapted from the original commentary.

FLYING AROUND THE BIG GAME

with Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson

The Sikorsky planes Osa's Ark and the Spirit of Africa takes us about a lake blanketed with pink flamingoes, and over a spectacular stampede of plains game including impala, zebra, and wildebeest. Flying low over the ground, the Johnsons discover the plane disturbs the animals only momentarily. Landing, we see intimate views of giraffes, lions, and the hated rhino. Then, joining hunters of the Masai tribe, Martin Johnson takes us on a rhino hunt. In the air once again, more elephants than man has ever seen at one time are found in migration. This satisfying and absorbing abridgement ends with a visit to a pygmy tribe.

THE MODEL T — THE RISE AND FALL OF THE TIN LIZZIE

The first Model T Ford rolled off the assembly line in October 1908 to become a legendary part of American life. It revolutionized rural America and made Henry Ford a millionaire many times over.

Here for the first time, you can see the Model T in action as contemporary footage has been blended with actual footage photographed in the Ford factory showing assembly of the famed cars. For automotive enthusiasts and those interested in America's past, this is a rare treat never before available. Follow the progress of the Model T from beginning to end as the 15,000 000th Ford rolls off the line and an era ends.

WRONG AGAIN (1929)

starring LAUREL and HARDY

Directed by Leo McCarey
 Photographed by George Stevens

Stable boys Laurel and Hardy learn of a large reward being offered for the return of "Blue Boy," and assume it's a horse instead of the famous painting, signalling comic misunderstandings of the first magnitude as the boys try and return the race horse to a rich, eccentric art collector.

ONE A.M. (1916)

starring CHARLIE CHAPLIN

You'd never believe what an effort it is for Charlie to "hit the sack" after an evening on the town. Once inside the door, it should all be so simple, but our hero just can't seem to make it.

The Murphy bed alone seems to have it in for Charlie but what he has to go through just to reach the bed is enough to discourage the average drunk. Visual comedy reduced to its fastidious essentials. One A.M. is Chaplin's only attempt at solo comedy and stands out as one of his most clever short comedies, proving once more (if it's necessary at this late date) that he was the genius of silent screen comedy.
