ANGORA LOVE (1929)

starring STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY, EDGAR KENNEDY, CHARLIE HALL and HARRY BERNARD

"Angora Love" is the strong dramatic story of a goat named Penelope, and her paternal inclination toward Laurel & Hardy — who don't exactly return the sentiment. Edgar Kennedy, their landlord, isn't crazy about the arrangement either.

With all the attention paid to imperishable comedy jewels such as "Two Tars," "Liberty," and "Big Business," one tends to overlook minor classics like "Angora Love," a film without the same kind of reputation, but with nearly as many laughs.

The late Stan Laurel recalled "Angora Love" fondly, commenting for his biographer John McCabe that "The picture really had no plot, just that goat — but we sure got a lot of footage out of him. I give a piece of cookie to the goat and he wants more so he follows us around. We try every conceivable way to get rid of him, but no use. We hid — we walked backward — we disguised ourselves. Nothing helped. We finally brought the goat to our room because word had spread around that the goat had been stolen and we didn't want to be arrested as kidnapers. The comedy in our room consisted mainly of the goat eating the stuffing from the furniture and Babe's pants among other things. We gave it a bath, went to bed with it, had trouble with the landlord over it. Later, when sound came, we did a version of the same idea but substituted a chimpanzee for the goat. That was THE CHIMP."

For Laurel and Hardy "scholars," the fun thing about "Angora Love" is that it affords an opportunity to contrast so many gags and routines with corresponding material in other films. Stan cites "The Chimp," but "Laughing Gravy" is yet another reworking of "Angora Love," and there are isolated bits of business good enough to be re-used later in such things as "Beau Hunks" and "They Go Boom."

Because the routines are all so familiar, seeing "Angora Love" for the first time takes on a deja vu aura — you almost think you've seen it before!

Once you have seen "Angora Love," you know how funny it is, but even if you haven't seen it previously, you might predict its success from the names of the people who created it — Hal Roach, Leo McCarey, Lewis R. Foster, Stan Laurel, and George Stevens (see photo) — every single one of them later to win Academy Awards in their fields. So it was an extremely talented, distinguished crew clustered around the director's chair, all watching the screen's greatest comedy team working together at their peak.

So many writers emphasize a widely-held opinion that contemporary critics dismissed, or worse, ignored Laurel and Hardy during the years of their active partnership. No one liked Laurel and Hardy but their fans.

And one trade-paper critic who saw "Angora Love" at a preview.

The late Lew Foster, who enjoyed directing "Angora Love," sent along a clipping some years back taken from what appears to be "Film Daily." The critic reported: "Here is a short comedy, just sizzling over with rapid-fire, laughter-stirring situations that click equally well with youths and adults. Laurel and Hardy are an unctuous pair of funsters that always boom along on a current of rippling merriment. True, they are the very incarnation of acrobatic tumble bugs and ludicrous what-nots that defy the straight line of analysis; but, oh boy, who cares about the proprieties of cinema construction when two big ginks are pulling off stunts that would shake all the sugar out of a chronic diabetic all tied up in knots of laughter."

Such unqualified praise is by itself remarkable, but especially so when considering that "Angora Love" was released mid-December of 1929, well past the advent of sound. In fact, "Angora Love" was the last silent comedy made by Laurel and Hardy.

Laurel and Hardy sales are infrequent, so don't miss this opportunity to add the unfairly unheralded "Angora Love" to your collection!

THE PAY TRAIN (1915)
Starring HELEN HOLMES

A carelessly tossed away telegram alerts the desperados that the pay train is on its way. Somehow, they must get Helen, the telegrapher, out of the depot so that they can stop the train. Summoning up brute strength, they carry her off and lock her in a vacant cattle car. Little do they realize, however, the power of woman's ingenuity—armed with only a hairpin and torn piece of petticoat, our heroine saves the day—and as for the villains — foiled again!!

When "The Hazards of Helen" came to the screen in 1914, no one guessed that this railroad offering would span 119 chapters (offered almost weekly through 1917) and provide Kalem with its most successful "series." It was also the beginning of great fame for Helen Holmes, the originator of the role of the girl telegrapher who keeps the railroad running regardless of the obstacles placed in her path!

THE MT. TAMALPAIS AND MUIR WOODS RY.

Across the Golden Gate from San Francisco in California's Marin County, there once echoed the chugs and puffs of what was known as "The Crookedest Railroad in the World" — the scenic line up Mt. Tamalpais. Here is a film edited from Library of Congress paper prints that have been re-photographed and that bring to life moments from the late 1890's and 1900's. You will see the line's first Shea (geared) locomotive and the geared Heislser-type that the turn of the century turned over in what was the line's only fatal accident.

DON'T BE FOOLISH (1922)
with BILLY WEST

Billy can't seem to stay out of trouble, but a beautiful girl sets him on the right path when she gives him her name and address. It turns out to be the wrong one, of course, as Billy finds out in a comedy of errors too hilarious to miss.

This Sunbeam Comedy, released June 1, 1922 was directed by Mal St. Clair and released to the independent market by CBC. DON'T BE FOOLISH was nominated as one of the ten best examples of screen comedy in the 1967 Canadian Film Institute's poll of leading cinema historians and certainly shows Billy West at his dapper best.

ALL LIT UP (1920)
starring SNUB POLLARD
with MARIE MOSQUINI, and ERNIE "SUNSHINE SAMMY" MORRISON

Collector Pollard attempts to snare a rare one but it seems that all the butterflies aren't in the park — he's got quite a collection loose between his ears! But once our hero sets his cap for Marie, it's an open secret and the fun begins — across the fields, in the local bistro and into the lady's apartment.

While the breakfast scene of IT'S A GIFT and the speaky setting of DRINK HEARTY are high points in Snub Pollard's early starring career, the butterfly ballet of ALL LIT UP comes close to matching both in timing and laughter and Blackhawk is pleased to present it as it was released to theatres by Pathe on February 1, 1920.

A FATAL SWEET TOOTH (1914)
featuring ANNA LUTHER

A FATAL SWEET TOOTH is a story of the basest corruption imaginable—a constable who steals to support his incurable craving — for sweets. He hatches a clever plot to pin a honey theft on his assistant. The object of his larceny also happens to be the father of his assistant's best girl, and the assistant, blissfully unaware of the plot, manages to save the day and win the girl, all with the help of a bear and the Keystone Cops gone rural.

You will find this film typical of the light-hearted but sometimes heavy-handed ridicule which Keystone was so adept at dispensing.

SHOULD HUSBANDS DANCE?(1920)
with DOROTHY DEVORE, JIMMIE HARRISON and NEAL BURNS

SHOULD HUSBANDS DANCE? is a fine example of Al Christie at his best, with delightful Dorothy Devore heading the cast. The story involves Neal Burns in some dance practice with a beautiful young woman (Dorothy Devore) who is not his wife. This is all good, clean fun, but when his wife hears about it, things become complicated and it isn't until the comedy reaches its finale, that everything is completely cleared up.

Recreating as it does those golden days of silent comedy of nearly half a century ago, when Christie Comedies were favorites of the movie audiences, we are sure that you too will find it an altogether pleasant addition to your library today.

EVERETT TRUE BREAKS INTO THE MOVIES (1916)

with BOBBIE BOLDER, PAULA REINBOLD, ELIZABETH ERWIN, CHARLES DANA BENNIS

Breaking into the movies used to be as easy and fun as Bobby Boulder makes it look — staying there was something different. This interesting and funny comedy delves behind the scenes for a pretty accurate look at the pre-World War I screen and how films were made.

Filmed in Chicago by a short-lived independent company, EVERETT TRUE seems to have made use of the company's premises for its locale and gives us a fascinating historical insight into the early days of moviemaking, when anyone with a camera and a few dollars could set himself up in business as a producer. In addition, it is a representative comedy for the era and a must for any collection.

MARY'S MERRY MIX-UP (1917)

with JAY BELASCO and BILLIE RHODES

Jay and Billie are secretly married, and when Jay spies Billie kissing her brother (whom he has never seen), he thinks the worst. The fun really begins when he takes a job as butler in her home to keep an eye on her.

The Strand Comedies were Mutual's most popular series during 1917-18, and Jay Belasco and Billie Rhodes made a name for themselves in these delightful one-reelers produced by Al Christie. While Miss Rhodes would soon leave Christie's employ to become the leading lady and wife of "Smiling Bill" Parsons, chief comic and president of the National Film Corporation, she never again achieved the widespread popularity which the Strands had given her.

BILL JOINS THE W W W's (1914)

with TAMMANY YOUNG, TOD BROWNING, FAY TINCHER and EDWARD DILLON

After the boss has gone out joyriding with a girl friend, the stenographer calls her boyfriend to take her on a similar jaunt; the office boy, left alone, wanders out and gets mixed up with the W W W's (a takeoff on the IWW). After both couples have been arrested, the boss has considerable trouble reaching his office. When he finally makes it, he gives the office boy the combination of the safe over the phone so that he may obtain bail money. But Bill, unable to work the safe, brings in a "pal" to "blow" it. There are some comic encounters in the police station, where the stenographer "vamps" the desk sergeant, and the two girl friends, who hate each other, are confined to the same room.

Perhaps the principal interest in this film is the appearance of Lon Chaney's famous director, Tod Browning, as the boss. Eddie Dillon, an ex-Biographer, both directs and plays the steno's boyfriend, and Fay Tincher was a well known comic actress of the time.

THE DETECTRESS (1919-20)

with GALE HENRY, MILBOURNE MORANTI, HAP H. WARD, EDDIE BAKER

Searching for a stolen formula, Gale heads for "Dirty Alley" where all the crooks in town hang out, but a detour through Chinatown puts her hot on the trail of master criminal Eddie Baker and company.

With the help(?) of patrolman Moranti, Gale uncovers the secret hideout and after a lengthy bout with sliding walls and trap doors, it looks like a certain curtain for Eddie in a chase through Chinatown worthy of Mack Sennett. But our villain still has one or two nasty tricks up his sleeve in this hilarious Model Comedy of 1919-20.

CALL OF THE CITY (1915)

with BESSIE LEARN and ROBERT WALKER

The girl in the story, tiring of the drudgery in her mother's boarding house, goes to the city in search of work, but fails to find it. When things look about as bad as possible, she is menaced by a pair of procurers. She is rescued by a passerby, but in the scuffle there is a shooting. She takes refuge in the apartment of a young man who is writing a slum novel and dreaming of the "only girl," when the police arrive to investigate, she accepts his suggestion that she pose as his wife. After this, they both decide to make the lie the truth.

This film dramatizes the contrast between city and country which was so common in popular art at the time of this release. Skirting the edge of melodrama, it quickly turns into a love story, which is concluded very briefly, probably because one reel did not have the time for a slower development.

HONEYMOONIACS (1929)

with MONTY COLLINS and BETTY BOYD

HONEYMOONIACS was one of the last, if not the last, of the famous Jack White Mermaid Comedies made as silents. Released in July 1929, it played in only the rapidly diminishing number of movie houses that were not "wired for sound," while the talkies were more and more engulfing the film world.

In very abbreviated form, the story thread of HONEYMOONIACS is the frustration of a honeymoon that starts out in an open section-sleeping-car of the period. There isn't necessarily anything wrong with this, except that about all the mix-ups that could perhaps befall anyone, do befall the young honeymooners.

While films of the period are quite proper in comparison with modern day movies, there are possibilities for lots of laughs and chuckles in the way things are presented. We think you'll enjoy it — and give it its share of laughs!

AMERICAN ARISTOCRACY

JEWEL CARMEN

"American Aristocracy" was Doug's tenth film in the series he made for Triangle in the period from late 1915 to early 1917, and is one that offers considerable to today's viewers from the standpoint of the manners and points-of-view of a half century ago, not to mention the sport roadsters, seaplanes and motor cruisers of the day. THE AMERICANO

with ALMA RUBENS

This film features Douglas Fairbanks at his smiling best. It's the story of a Yankee engineer who goes to a revolt-ridden Caribbean country because of a smile from the President's daughter. The revolt is no match for Doug's wits and vigor and he ends up with the country in the palm of his hand—and the daughter as well. (1916)

THE BLACK PIRATE

with BILLIE DOVE

It is the time when tall galleons carried wondrous treasure across the sea to Spain, and the time the sea rovers flourished in the Spanish Main. The bloodthirsty pirates have just captured a merchantman aboard which is the Duke of Arnaida and his son (Doug Fairbanks). The old Duke dies, but Doug decides he can best serve the purposes of justice by becoming a member of the pirate band. He challenges the pirate chief to a duel, and comes off the victor. Doug vows he can capture the first ship they sight—single handed. This he does, and aboard is a beautiful princess (Billie Dove). Here Doug is put to a supreme test to rescue the princess (with whom he has fallen in love) and to do away with the band of ruffians. (1926)

Son of Zorro

DON Q, SON OF ZORRO

with MARY ASTOR

As the title implies, Don Q, Son of Zorro was intended as a sequel to Douglas Fairbanks' first costume swashbuckler, The Mark of Zorro, which appeared five years and an equal number of films before.

Fairbanks plays the role of the father, Zorro as well as the son, Don Q, and two other characters in the film as well. The trick is accomplished by skillful cutting to give the illusion that Zorro and Don Q are in the same scenes when in fact the scenes were shot separately. (1925)

FLIRTING WITH FATE

"Flirting With Fate", Douglas Fairbanks' seventh film, hit the screens of the country's growing number of movie palaces in the summer of 1916. In less than a year, so sensational had been Fairbanks' rise to popularity, he was one of the top stars of the screen. This film is typical of Fairbanks in the years before the costume pictures. And, it is rated as being the picture that established Fairbanks in the movies. The film is action almost from the start, and is one we can unconditionally recommend to every collector. (1916)

THE MARK OF ZORRO

with MARGUERITE DE LA MOTTE

The Mark of Zorro remains one of the best of Douglas Fairbanks' Cloak-and-Sword adventures as it is a product of the old Doug with the zip and pace of his early films.

As the famous Mexican Robin Hood, Doug masquerades as the foppish Don Diego, with many delightful comedy touches of his own—then springs into action as Zorro, the crusader for the rights of the Mexican people. You will also see a couple of fine duel sequences, and a wonderful chase towards the end, where Doug eludes his pursuers with some fantastic acrobatics. (1920)

THE MATRIMANIAC

with CONSTANCE TALMADGE

This Douglas Fairbanks feature picture of 1916, is one of the last of the long series he made for Triangle after coming to the screen in 1915. It is an excellent farce comedy, at many spots coming very close to slapstick. Triangle released this subject as a five reel feature, although, in footage, it is barely four reels in length. For your convenience, and for economy, we have redivided the subject into four reels—without making any eliminations—and we highly recommend it to you. (1916)

REGGIE MIXES IN

with BESSIE LOVE and ALMA RUBENS

This was Douglas Fairbanks' sixth film, and cast him as a wealthy young man with few responsibilities. He gets involved with life on the other side of the tracks and falls in love with Bessie Love. The elements of the underworld are out to get Doug but the Fairbanks' athletic prowess and never-say-die approach puts Doug on top. (1916)

THE THIEF OF BAGDAD

with JULIANNE JOHNSTON

There's magic in it, as Doug meets and falls in love with the beautiful princess, and competes with the most wealthy and eligible princes of the Orient for her hand. There's magic, too, in many of the effects that were created for this film, a milestone for its day. (1924)

WILLIAM FARNUM and MARIA ALBA

It all starts aboard a yacht in the Pacific. Doug and his friends, William Farnum and Earle Browne, are reminded of Robinson Crusoe, and Doug ventures that he, too, could successfully survive alone on a tropical island.

As the story develops, a girl arrives on the shore trying to escape from an intertribal marriage her parents, on a nearby island have tried to force on her. BLOOD AND SAND

with LILA LEE and NITA NALDI

At a small-town arena in Spain, where young Spaniards meet for their national sport, just as American kids team up for sandlot baseball, the local hero is Juan Gallardo, played by Valentino. This promising amateur becomes Spain's most idolized matador. Returning to his home town, he sees for the first time in two years, his childhood sweetheart, Carmen, played by Lila Lee. It is apparent that there is nothing in the way of an early wedding.

As the months go by, in Madrid's Plaza de Toros, the great Gallardo entertains the presidential party and aristocratic Donna Sol, played by Nita Naldi. Though quite accustomed to the admiration of beautiful women, Gallardo senses a special magnetism in this one and, after the fight, accepts his manager's offer to introduce him. (1922)

THE HUNCHBACK OF NOTRE DAME

with PATSY RUTH MILLER

Here is the great Lon Chaney feature of 1923 complete and substantially as it was when it was first released. While Chaney had first attracted more than casual attention in "The Miracle Man" in which he appeared at Paramount in 1919, it was unquestionably his performance in "The Hunchback" and in "The Phantom of the Opera", which followed at Universal in 1925, that laid the groundwork for his highly successful career at M-G-M (1923).

THE PHANTOM OF THE OPERA

with MARY PHILBIN,
NORMAN KERRY

Strange things have been happening at the Paris Opera — you'd almost think the place was haunted, but in this day and age, that's impossible—or is it? For far beneath the reach of daylight lives a misshapened creature whose genius strikes terror in the hearts of all who meet him, including the one he loves.

The original version of The Phantom of the Opera has never been equalled in subsequent remakes; all seem to lack the same power and scope brought to the role by Lon Chaney and director Rupert Julien.

OLIVER TWIST

starring JACKIE COOGAN

This film version, long thought completely lost, has been restored from a 35mm negative located in Eastern Europe. Released on November 5, 1922, it was the second of young Jackie Coogan's starring vehicles after he had become famous overnight in Charlie Chaplin's The Kid, and he never found a better or more winning role. To present viewers the film abundantly attests both to his charm and to his wonderful acting ability, even when he did not have Chaplin to guide him.

When Lon Chaney created his impressive, evil Fagin in this film, he had The Miracle Man, The Penalty and his work with Maurice Tourneur in Victory and Treasure Island behind him; but he had not yet made either The Hunchback of Notre Dame or The Phantom of the Opera. (1922)

with HOBART BOSWORTH
and LLOYD HUGHES

Below the Surface shows Hobart Bosworth, one of the real film veterans, in a characteristic role, as a man of dignity and integrity, with young Lloyd Hughes as a very handsome juvenile. The submarine scenes, etc. show much less technical knowledge and detail than would be expected today, but Irvin Willat's direction is very workmanlike. The film includes a great variety of material, but each situation is made to develop naturally out of its predecessor, and an all-over impression of unity results. (1920).

THE COWARD

with FRANK KEENAN and CHARLES RAY

From an era when movie-makers are said to have ended every film with a love scene. The Coward doesn't even really have a romance. The Coward is a Civil War production putting the stress on realism in what was very much an age of innocence, during the First World War. This film only serves to amplify the legend of producer Thomas H. Ince. (1915)

The Colonel's daughter is Ethel Grandin, and the telegraph operator, who appears in a brief sequence, is none other than Art Acord, popular Western and serial star of a decade later. (1912)

TRAFFIC IN SOULS

with JANE GAIL, MATT MOORE

This famous film, one of the first "features" and a phenomenally successful one, was based on the Rockefeller White Slavery Report and District Attorney Whitman's investigations into the disappearances of many rural women into presumed lives of prostitution in the slums and tenement districts of New York City. Claiming the unqualified approval of the District Attorney's Office, the National Board of Censorship, and various anti-vice societies, it was the first film frankly to exploit sex as a theme, and set off a whole cycle of muckraking pictures which preached the virtues of dwelling heavily on the vices. and ELIZABETH BERGNER

Following the international success of his PRIVATE LIFE OF KING HENRY VIII, producer Alexander Korda could afford a really lavish production, and for his sequel chose a story of the second most famous amorous monarch, Catherine the Great, "Mother of all the Russians." Again looking forward to international success, Korda engaged a fellow Hungarian, Paul Czinner, as director; and in the title role, he cast Czinner's wife Elizabeth Bergner, who had won prominence in German films of the twenties. Douglas Fairbanks Jr. was selected to play the mad prince, and Vincent Korda once again designed an elaborate decor for larger-than-life royalty. (1934)

Caligari remains a unique experience — impossible even for its own director, Robert Wiene, to challenge. It has been said it fell on 1920 theatre screens like a drop of wine upon an ocean of salt-water.

Inspired by artists such as the German-American Lionel Feiniger and the Austrian Alfred Kubin, Caligari's set designers Warm, Rohrig and Reimann painted everything in it — including the actors. (1919)

NOSFERATU, THE VAMPIRE

with MAX SCHRECK, GUSTAVE
VON WANGENHEIM, GRETA
SCHROEDER

The first attempt to translate Bram Stoker's "Dracula" to the screen, Nosferatu is filled with unusual and symbolic camera work and differs considerably in approach and content from Universal's version of 1931 which brought Bela Lugosi to fame.

The locale and characters were altered in the adaptation because of copyright problems and the script veered sharply away from the vampire lore set forth by Stoker, yet the soon-to-be-recognized genius of director F. W. Murnau is visible in this complete version of a German classic thought to be lost not too many years ago. (1922)

THE PRIVATE LIFE OF KING HENRY VIII

starring CHARLES LAUGHTON

An ever-fresh romp through history, this touching, bawdy, and very funny story of the much-married monarch was the first British film to win international success. Charles Laughton in the title role seems to have stepped right out of Holbein. His gusty and wonderfully ripe performance not only established Laughton as a star, but also won him the Academy Award as best actor of 1933. In the most famous of its great scenes, Laughton, enraged, devours a roast chicken one whole joint at a time. "Manners are dead," he mutters, "no consideration for anyone," he says, throwing the bones over his shoulder. (1933)

In 1922 the German Studios, Ufa, decided to film this gigantic two-part version of the Nibelungenlied, the Germanic epic that had been written at the close of the twelfth century. This poem blended feudal and Christian customs and beliefs with even more ancient Teutonic legends and myths.

VARIETY

with EMIL JANNINGS, LYA
DePUTTI and WARWICK WARD

1926 was the year a foreign film rocked Hollywood on its heels. It was the super-charged sex story, Variety, and it broke box office records all over America. Technically, it was the most exciting film that had hit the screen since Griffith's landmark productions of a decade earlier. Jannings was Boss Hoeller, member of a small Berlin carnival company. His partner was the young and beautiful Maria. At the Wintergarden, Berlin's top variety house, a new show was in rehearsal, but its star act had to be cancelled because of an accident to one of the flying Artinelli Brothers. An agent remembers the trapeze act at the carnival — a first rate catcher and a very pretty flyer — and a new act is born. The Flying Artinelli. (1926)

BIOGRAPH BEFORE GRIFFITH COMEDY & MELODRAMA FROM STORE SHOW DAYS

The names of Biograph and D.W. Griffith are inevitably linked together but Biograph was producing solid film subjects before the great director arrived and for the most part, they were ahead of their time even then.

The Suburbanite is a delightful comedy of 1904 as timely today as it was then and is typical of American screen humor of the era. The other part of this unusual release is a 1905 melodrama called simply enough, The Fire Bug. Both represent the American motion picture as it developed. (1904-05)

ON THE TRAIL OF THE SILVER FOX

with HELEN MARTEN, J.W. JOHNSTON, BARBARA TENNANT, FRED C. TRUES, DALE and ALEC B. FRANCIS

On the Trail of the Silver Fox is a curious film. The fox (who is dead to begin with) has very little to do with it, and anybody who went to see it expecting a wildlife picture must have been sadly disappointed. Its real concern is the relations between human beings, which it attempts a good deal for a one-reeler. We are made to sympathize with a wrongly accused man, but soon we come to feel that, as the saying is, it couldn't have happened to a nicer person! (1913)

A TRIO OF EDISON COMEDIES FROM STORE SHOW DAYS

Edison's early films were both imaginative and inventive, as these three short movies of the nickelodeon era prove. Each has its own particular value and charm and each marks a stopping stone in the motion picture's development.

Laughing Gas was directed in 1905 by Edwin S. Porter; How Jones Lost His Roll tells the story with delightfully animated titles that are directed to the audience and How The Office Boy Saw The Ball Game not only features the World Champion N.Y. Giants in their opening game of the 1906 season, but it was the first movie to intercut actual newsreel footage with studio shots to tell a story. A collector's gem! (1905-06)

ARNE SUCKSDORFF

THE HUNTER (1947)

One summer dawn a hunter shoulders his gun and starts from home across the Swedish meadow. In a clearing in the nearby woods, two grouse are in a mating dance, but the birds' rapture is ended suddenly by a bullet; now, the hunter has a tail feather for his hatband. Adorned, the man moves deeper into the forest until he sees a fawn drinking from a tranquil lake. Stirred by the beauty of the deer, he averts the gun he had already aimed, takes down his snare, replaces the feather with a flower, and closer to nature than before, he starts for home. (1947)

SHADOWS OVER THE SNOW (1945)

"In a genre where words have become an obsession, he has shown how a film can dispense altogether with them and still make its meaning clear and compelling. He handles the camera as freely and fluently as if it were a brush in his hand, so that his pictures seem to reach the screen with a freshness and immediacy which deny the intervening mechanical process. With his feeling for composition and unerring sense of rhythm, his films are visual poetry, a continuous delight for the eye and a subtly enriching experience into a mystique. (1945)

STRUGGLE FOR SURVIVAL (1944)

Fear of plunder and death is the daily lot of the birds that make their home on the rocky cliffs of the Swedish shore. Resigned to their fate, they stand by as the big gray sea hawk robs them of their young. His ruthless reign is dramatized in magnificent photography.

When Spring comes, the fledglings make their first plunge into the sea. Some perish, but more survive — and life goes on. Full of the beauty of terror of the struggle to live, this film (produced five years prior to its American release under the Swedish title TRUT! — THE GULL) also displays the distinctive Scandinavian approach to nature in which "wind, wood and water are still alive." SYMPHONY OF A CITY (1948)

Winner of an Academy Award as Best Short Subject of 1948

Contemplative, impressionistic, and exquisite, this is one of Sucksdorff's most famous works and was the winner of a coveted Academy Award as Best Short Subject of 1948.

Arne Sucksdorff retained his style and his skill when he moved from the animal to the human world, and in this film his camera moves as freely and fluently through Stockholm as before it had moved through the forest. For Sucksdorff, indeed, the city never loses its ties to nature.

Mr. Hart has the role of Black Deering, a slashing, hard-riding bandit chief. Betrayed by one of his men, Deering is captured by U. S. Troopers, but he manages to escape and, with the sheriff's posse hot on his trail finally reaches seclusion after many thrilling scenes. In a little clearing he comes upon the cabin of Mary Brown, and learns that she is the deserted wife of the man who gave him up to the law. Influenced by her noble character, Deering surrenders to the sheriff. In a subsequent encounter, he kills his betrayer and for his good conduct on that and previous occasions is allowed his freedom, provided he keeps south of the Mexican border. (1920)

THE SAGA OF WM. S. HART

Here's a unique film that virtually spans Hart's motion picture career which ran from 1914 to 1925. It contains sequences from ten of his motion picture successes from 1914 to 1924, and vividly traces not only Hart's development as the greatest Western star in the history of the screen, but the maturing of the motion picture during the years immediately before and after World War I. Included is the lip-synchronized appearance of Hart from the prologue to "Tumbleweeds" which he prepared for the reissue of that silent feature during the early years of the talkies. AN ARIZONA WOOING (1915)

Tom Mix came to the movies after a long and varied career as soldier-of-fortune, marshal and rancher, writing and directing many of his own short westerns with Selig. In a few years, he and William S. Hart would rival each other on the screen and while Hart's intense realism won acclaim which Mix seldom received, Tom's great popularity with fans kept his career active for many years after Hart retired.

A sheepman in the cattle country, Tom isn't exactly popular. To make matters worse, he's courting a cattleman's daughter and when the Citizen's Committee decides to run him off, it's high action and suspense.

LOCAL COLOR (1916) with VICTORIA FORDE

Tom Mix came to the movies in 1911. He had been a United States marshal and was attracted to the movies when the Selig company sent a crew to Oklahoma to produce a film.

He appeared in many one-reelers, some two and three reelers, and a few feature films for Selig, with which company he was associated until he joined Fox in 1917.

His leading lady Victoria Forde, had become Mrs. Mix during this period, and was cast with him in many of his Selig films.

The daughter of the sheriff's friend is a writer who needs "local color" for her western story. Tom and the boys decide to give her a riproaring time, but Tom gets more than he bargained for!

IN THE DAYS OF THUNDERING HERD (1914) with BESSIE EYTON

Tom Mix came to the movies in 1911, joining the Selig company. His earliest films were of one-reel length, but by 1913 he began to appear in two-reelers. Then, in the fall of 1914 came Tom's first five-reel feature, IN THE DAYS OF THUNDERING HERD.

With Tom in this production is Bessie Eyton, who was a prominent player with Selig at the time. Earlier in 1914 she had appeared with William Farnum, Tom Santschi and Kathlyn Williams in Selig's great production of THE SPOILERS.

Tom is cast as the pony express rider who forsakes business to accompany his sweetheart, Sally Madison into the far west to join her father. The long, winding line of prairie schooners is seen on the trail by an Indian girl who makes their presence known to her tribe. There are running fights, encounters between the Indians and wagon trains, a buffalo stampede and amazing equestrian feats by Tom which a reviewer of the day said "would probably never be repeated again in moving pictures."

THE LAW AND THE OUTLAW (1913) with MYRTLE STEDMAN

Billed as "America's Champion Cowboy", Tom Mix certainly lived up to his title; according to his biographers, Mix had pursued several careers before coming to the movies in 1911 — each with enough danger and excitement to last the average man a lifetime.

Although not a native Westerner, Mix knew both the legend and lore of the West, as did William S. Hart, whom he would soon rival on the screen. In addition, Tom Mix was a born trouper and appreciated the value of showmanship.

A fugitive from justice, Dakota Joe (Tom Mix) hires out as a ranch hand and falls in love with the rancher's daughter. Injured while saving her life, Joe is recognized by the sheriff and taken away. On the trip back to prison, Joe makes a daring escape and stealing a horse and gun begins a hazardous ride to freedom.

ARE PARENTS PICKLES? (1925)

with JIMMIE PARROTT, JOBYNA RALSTON and EDDIE BAKER

Jimmie Parrott cuts a humorous figure with his tiny tie, low-crown hat and misbehaving cat-whisker mustache whose ends always seemed to point in the two oddest directions.

Parrott entered pictures in 1918 and starred in a sizeable number of one-reel Paul Parrott comedies for Roach but his greatest fame came as director of many classic Charley Chase and Laurel and Hardy comedies of the late twenties and thirties.

His position as star comedian has been overlooked through the years, as most of his comedies have been credited to his brother Charley Chase, to whom he bore a remarkable resemblance.

ARE PARENTS PICKLES? was Hal Roach's answer — perhaps more a hiccup than an answer — to Paramount's famous feature ARE PARENTS PEOPLE? released earlier the same year.

Jimmie has a great fire extinguisher for sale and he knows what every peddler knows — get to the top and you've got a sale.

LOOSE CHANGE (1928)

starring JACK DUFFY with GLEN CAVENDER, NEAL BURNS, WINNIE LAW

America is treated to a very short but lively visit from the tightest of all tightwads, Sandy MacDuff (Jack Duffy). The visit would be longer but Sandy runs into a vamp out for his blood, a lot of good red blood amounting to $55,000 in blackmail.

Sandy schemes out a fine counterattack, which unfortunately does not include the vamp's husband (Glen Cavender) who would prefer, in somewhat violent terms, to have our Scotsman back in Scotland.

Hollywood Film Enterprises made available a one-reel version of LOOSE CHANGE in 1937, and it is this lively version that Blackhawk offers now, bringing to the screen again that delightful character Sandy MacDuff.

Dramatic Films

Railroad Stories

In the early years of the movies, trains and railroads were a favorite subject for action dramas. Trains were the fastest things on wheels and train robbery and train wrecks were front page news.

Thus it was that pioneer producers, Edison and Biograph, captured for posterity much of the flavor of railroading in the east in the early years of the century, while Kalem, with its "Hazards of Helen" shot against the background of the Salt Lake Line (now Union Pacific) and Santa Fe, has done much the same for the area around Los Angeles.

In the dramatic railroad subjects offered here you'll see much of the action from the golden age of railroading in the years before World War I.

BETWEEN ORTON JUNCTION AND FALLONVILLE

with EDNA FLUGRATH, BIGELOW COOPER, AUGUSTUS PHILLIPS and BARRY O'MOORE

Between Orton Junction and Fallonville tells the story of a railroad engineer and a telegraph operator competing for the affections of the girl. One day, the telegraph operator sends a message to hold the fast freight at Orton Junction for a meet with No. 51. But the operator there is romantically occupied and lets the fast freight go through. The error discovered, he wires back the report of his failure. Our telegraph operator phones the girl of the impending disaster and asks her to ride (horseback) to Big Bend and flag down the express, on which his rival is the engineer. Our heroine rides for life and reaches Big Bend just as the two trains appear on opposite sides of the curve headed straight for each other. But the trains are stopped and the day is saved! (1913)

THE LOST EXPRESS

with HELEN HOLMES, JACK MOWER, FRED CHURCH

The story of The Lost Express has the hijacking of the railroad president's private car as its basic theme. The hi-jackers are working on behalf of the president's son-in-law, who is estranged from his wife. The railroad's president is probably the prime-mover in trying to break up the marriage of his daughter. Through this highly complicated process, the son-in-law is trying to hold off the president of the road long enough to bring about a reconciliation with his wife. It's a far-fetched story, but it does serve as a framework onto which some dashing railroad action can be fashioned. (1926) with CHARLIE MURRAY, FORD STERLING, MABEL NORMAND, FATTY ARBUCKLE, EDGAR KENNEDY, AL ST. JOHN, BILLY BEVAN, ANDY CLYDE, LARRY SEMON, OLIVER HARDY, VERNON BANKS and THE KEYSTONE COPS

Often imaginative, always fast and furious — slapstick, more than any other kind of movie, made the most of the possibilities — and the impossibilities, or cinematography. Slapstick in the movies started in the 1890's, before movies even had plots. Then, for about fifteen years, the audience appeal of slapstick went unexploited — and then came Mack Sennett, who was to turn such nonsense into an art.

Our movie, "Slapstick," features bits and pieces from some of Sennett's most typical comedies, and some from choice items done by others. Thus, it's packed full of fast-paced slapstick routines and jam-packed with laughs!

THE RIVAL RAILROAD PLOT

with HELEN HOLMES

Kalem's series The Hazards of Helen was one of the most commercial successes of the mid-teens, with 119 titles released on a weekly basis between Nov. 14, 1914 and Feb. 2, 1917. Helen Holmes was the Helen in the first forty-eight Hazards; Helen Gibson played the part over the remainder of the series.

In the fall of 1919, Nathan Hirsch acquired thirty of the Helen Holmes railroad melodramas made by Kalem for reissue by his Aywon Film Corporation. It must have been a bit surprising to see Aywon's releases, rechristened The Adventures of Helen, coming out as two reels, since most of the originals had been of one reel length. Through skillful editing, Aywon had reworked the scenes and sequences into almost completely new stories for its two reel issues. (1915)

CLIFF-HANGING MOMENTS FROM THE SERIALS

with WILLIAM DUNCAN, EDITH JOHNSON, ARLINE PRETTY, HENRY G. SELL, EDDIE POLO

Scenes from "The Steel Trail" (1923), a fifteen chapter serial which had William Duncan cast as a hard-punching construction engineer, are from one of Universal's primitive coming attraction trailers of the period. Edge-of-the-seat suspense is created in the climactic segment from "Burning Strands", chapter nine of "A Woman in Grey" (1919). In excerpt from "Captain Kidd" (1922), in which Eddie Polo played the role of a wealthy man who had been shanghaied aboard the ship, the Albatross, has Eddie and the boat's crew in a desperate battle with the notorious pirate, Captain Kidd, and his band of cutthroats.

THE BRINK OF ETERNITY

Chapter 6 of "Haunted Valley"

starring RUTH ROLAND, JACK DAUGHERTY and FRANCIS FORD

Ruth Roland was the second greatest of the serial queens and Pearl White's only real competitor for fame. Miss Roland owed much of her success to the story technique of Frank Leon Smith, dean of the serial writers, as it was Smith's meticulous weaving of plots in episodic fashion that contributed to keeping Ruth at the top.

The Brink of Eternity, Chapter 6 of "Haunted Valley" was completed and released in mid-June 1923. While the story line becomes quickly clear, the serial dealt with a gigantic engineering project of Ruth's about to go bankrupt because of the villainy of one of her friends. (1923)

EPISODES FROM "LIGHTNING BRYCE"

with JACK HOXIE and ANN LITTLE

In the 1920's, Jack Hoxie was one of the most popular western stars of the silent screen. Although he never reached the prominence accorded Bill Hart or Tom Mix, Hoxie's westerns became a Saturday matinee institution and in their imagination, millions of youthful moviegoers rode the range with their hero.

Hoxie's big break came in the form of co-starring with Ann Little in Lightning Bryce, the film hit the neighborhood theatres with the fury of a thunderstorm and the kids had a new idol. (1919)

BRADLEY BARKER, MORGAN JONES NOW—after several years—another chapter in the saga of the silent screen's greatest Serial King has surfaced. This time, it's a chapter from his final cliffhanger, Captain Kidd, and Eddie Polo shows once more why he was so fantastically popular in the years immediately following World War I.

There never was another Serial King who measured up to Eddie's stature with the fans. Not even Charles Hutchison, that sterling daredevil who was about to inherit Polo's throne, could elicit the same audience rapport. 810-42-1211, Standard 8mm, 475-feet, 14-ozs. $15.98

THE LEAP FROM THE WATER TOWER

(One of the famous "Hazards of Helen")

The longest serial film in the era of the silents, produced by Kalem from 1914 to 1917, running a total of 119 almost weekly episodes. While all of those films dealt with railroading, the activities of the "telegraph operator at the station down the line" were often rather superficially set against this background. But this episode is no routine chapter, for it deals almost as much with locomotives and trains as it does with the players. (1915)

MACK V. WRIGHT, ARTHUR MILLETT, HENRY

Best remembered as a popular serial queen (1914-1919) with whom, the railroad became a virtual alter ego, Helen Holmes did most of her screen work as the heroine of innumerable "iron horse" dramas produced for the independent market between 1921-1926. Her loss of popularity had resulted from several non-railroad dramas made in 1919-1920.

When she returned to the railroad setting late in 1920, fame had passed her by and only independent westerns and railroad dramas were left for the daring Miss Holmes (1926) 810-44-0912, Standard 8mm, 700-feet, 3-lbs. $29.98

THE PURPLE DAGGER

(Chapter Two of "The Trail of The Octopus")

starring BEN WILSON

Subjects dealing with the supernatural were in vogue during the 1919-1921 period and "The Trail of the Octopus" leaned quite heavily in that direction. As the noted criminologist Carter Holmes, Ben Wilson attempted to foil the evil plot of the mysterious "Monsieur X", on Seal Island, which, of course, deeply involved Neva Gerber. Chapters One and Two left the hero and heroine in deadly peril. But we've been able to add on the opening sequences from Chapter Three, "Face to Face", to bring this excellent example of the silent "Cliff-Hanger" to its conclusion. NOW AVAILABLE — FIFTEEN CHAPTERS MYSTERY OF THE DOUBLE CROSS

Basically, the story of the Mystery of the Double Cross revolves around the efforts of Peter Hale, a wealthy young man returning to the United States on a trans-Atlantic steamer to identify a beautiful young girl whose presence aboard ship is mysterious. During a panic caused by the sighting of a submarine, her dress is torn at the shoulder and he catches a brief look at an unusual mark of a double cross on her arm. At the office of his father's lawyer, Peter learns that in order to inherit the Hale fortune, he must find and marry The Girl of the Double Cross, who is described as being perfect in mind and body and trained to be his wife. Failing to do, he will assign the Hale fortune to whoever does win her.

As Hale and the lawyer discuss the will, the door slowly opens and he catches another fleeting glimpse of the girl on the steamer. Barging through the door in hot pursuit, he finds her gone and his way barred by a mysterious masked stranger holding a gun and warning him not to follow. How Hale meets Phillippa Brewster, who he is certain is the one he seeks, how she denies his premise, how he doubts her and seeks to prove that she is really The Girl of the Double Cross, despite her willing engagement to villainous Bridget Bentley, makes a fast-moving torrent of action and thrills revolving around one of the best serial characters ever devised — The Masked Stranger.

With its sophisticated editing, this serial seems even more technically advanced than Pathe's Pearl of the Army, which it followed in release and compares quite favorably with the best of the surviving features of its era in the camera work and special effects used.

Its reappearance after more than a half-century is welcome news for film buffs and historians alike, and as you screen the chapters today, we're sure that you too will become engrossed as Peter Hale unravels the shroud of darkness that masks The Mystery of the Double Cross.

WORLD WAR I

I, II & KOREA

WORLD WAR I 1914 - 1918

WORLD WAR II

The Great War CHAPTER I—THE WAR CLOUDS BREAK

The first chapter of "The Great War" is devoted to background personalities and events of the period—the pomp, pageantry and parades that were the order of the day in Europe—the visit of King George and Queen Mary of England to Germany and the king's first cousin, Kaiser Wilhelm II, German Emperor and King of Prussia.

Imperial Germany had become a power at sea—had developed the modern submarine—and its gun crews on surface vessels had been precisely trained. All Europe was like dry tinder—ready to explode—and the murder of the Archduke provided the spark.

CHAPTER II—1914-1917, STALEMATE AND U.S. NEUTRALITY

Britain sends her small army to help invade Belgium—six weeks after the collapse of Belgium, the Germans attack on the Marne—to within 18 miles of Paris—the famous taxicabs of Paris rush every available soldier to the defense—refugees with their meager belongings frudge to the rear areas.

In the United States, there is peace and neutrality—Germany declares unrestricted submarine warfare—in the Lusitania disaster, almost 1,200 of the passengers and crew lose their lives.

The American Expeditionary Force begins to move "over there." Inadequate weapon stocks at home force draftees to train with wooden cannon. U. S. Admiral Sims develops the convoy system for Atlantic crossings. Disastrous attacks by the Germans in the early spring of 1917 have led to spot mutinies in the French army. In both the French and British armies casualties exceed replacement abilities.

The True Glory

This is Blackhawk's 8mm. production of "The True Glory", edited from the sound film of the same name. An official motion picture production of the governments of Great Britain and the United States, this surveys the entire final World War II campaign on the European Western Front, called "The Crusade in Europe" by General Dwight Eisenhower. The seven chapters of "The True Glory" vividly picture the many land, air and sea battles and emphasize the miracles of comradeship and cooperation which came out of the various campaigns. The full impact of the meaning of the film's title is felt in the final chapter when the familiar prayer of Sir Francis Drake is presented.

CHAPTER IV—THE YANKS ENTER

In this final chapter of "The Great War", the action begins in late May of 1918, when the French retreat at Chemin des Dames ridge—but the U. S. Marines move forward. U. S. youth and vitality encouraged the French. The airplane was a new weapon of war, and General Billy Mitchell commanded the greatest concentration of air power ever assembled.

COUNTDOWN TO WORLD WAR II

By the summer of 1939, the governments of Great Britain and France were at last convinced that Nazi Germany intended war. Prime minister Chamberlain saw Hitler's claims to the Polish Corridor as but a pretext for assault, and on June 10th repeated to Parliament his intention to stand by Poland if her independence were threatened. This was confirmed by a treaty on August 25th, two days after the German-Soviet non-aggression pact was signed. Poland was attacked by Germany at dawn on September 1, and World War II was declared on September 3rd.

FIGHTING MAN— THE STORY OF GENERAL GEORGE S. PATTON

"Old Blood and Guts," Patton carved his name in the annals of World War II as one of the greatest battle tacticians. Patton symbolized the American warrior with his ivory-handled six guns and gold helmet. Beginning his military career in 1904 as a West Point cadet, Patton was only an average student, but he excelled on the drill field. His first taste of War came in 1915 when he pursued Pancho Villa's raiders across the Mexican border.

FURY IN THE PACIFIC

Fury in the Pacific is the story of Allied capture of the island, Peleliu, from the Japanese. The capture of its airstrip was essential to the security of our advance to the Philippines. Peleliu was but six miles long and, at its maximum, six miles wide. It seemed that it would be easy to concentrate destruction within that small area. Yet, our conquest of Peleliu took from Sept. 15 to Nov. 26, 1944, when hostilities ceased completely.

PEARL HARBOR (1942)

In what surely must be one of the most fortuitous accidents in film history, Movietone cameraman Al Brick was at Pearl Harbor filming a "Magic Carpet" travelogue to have been called Pearl of the Pacific when the Japanese attacked our naval and air forces without warning on December 7, 1941, bringing the United States into World War II. Movietone, alone among all newsreels, thus secured authentic and exclusive scenes of the devastation — but all Brick's footage was immediately seized by the Navy Department, and not until a year later were some of the hosts cleared for public showing.

MISSISSIPPI SHOWBOAT (1932)

Produced by Fox Movietone

As the depression and talking movies together pushed Mississippi showboats into their final days, Movietone produced this nostalgic and charming glimpse of the river life which had been American legend since the time of Mark Twain. Here is one of those gaudy crafts which docks to the cries of "Here Comes the Showboat!", and to excitement from old and young alike. The actors double in brass, with the leading man on the calliope and the villain in the box office, while the audience gathers and the curtain goes up. Until this point the film has been silent, accompanied by a gutsy and evocative musical score, but now direct sound cameras record a few minutes of melodrama which was old when "The Black Crook" was young. It's corny stuff, but the picturesque people who have flocked to the levee just love it. The film closes with a few minutes from a traditional minstrel show, with the entire company in blackface singing "Dixie"!

THE FILMS OF

CHARLIE CHAPLIN

Keystone Period

Chaplin came to the movies late in 1913 when he was signed by Mack Sennett to appear in Keystone Comedies. This was the period in which Charlie's comedy character was taking form, and his style developing from his days in pantomime. Starting out at the tremendous salary of $150.00 a week and as an unknown he was signed by Essanay at $1250.00 a week in December, 1914.

Essanay Period

Here was the time that Chaplin began to come into his own. With more time devoted to the preparation of his films, his talent became even more in evidence and there was less and less dependence on slapstick. Almost all of his Essanay films were two reels (most of them are or will be available from Blackhawk) and were more painstakingly produced. But, so high had his popularity skyrocketed in 1915 that Mutual was able to sign him away from Essanay in February, 1916, at salary and bonus totaling $670,000 for a year.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN

Mutual Period
 In this period, during 1916-1917, Chaplin produced and directed a dozen two reel comedies for Mutual. As a group, these rank at the very top of any series of short comedy films ever produced. And it is here that Chaplin came into his own. Every film of the twelve is a delight.

GLOVE TAPS (1937)

It's late Friday afternoon and there's a new kid in the neighborhood ... a tough guy named Butch. He and his pal "the Worm" stop by for a look at the school they'll have to attend. Just then, the bell rings and class lets out. The Gang files past and Alfalfa moans something about "the strain" and taking a "good rest over the weekend." Butch quickly demands everyone's attention, and pacing back and forth announces with a defiant scowl that starting Monday he's the big shot around here. He usually proves it by licking every kid on the block, but to save time, he'll just take on whoever's toughest. Spanky asks for time to train, gets it, then volunteers a reluctant Alfalfa as Class Pugilist ("Who me?"). Alfalfa's never struck a man in his life, but he needn't worry, Spanky assures his frightened pal, as Spank has a book that tells all about it. Simple? With less than a day to prepare, Spanky puts the Neighborhood Underweight Champion through his paces: roadwork, a bone-crushing rubdown, and some shadow boxing. Yet it remains for the smallest fry, Porky and Buckwheat to save the day. You'll see how when you accept this invitation for Saturday afternoon ringside seats at the lively bout between Butch and "The Oklahoma Wildcat."

A special favorite, GLOVE TAPS is profoundly true to one of boyhood's most deep seated fantasies ... licking the neighborhood bully. Totally satisfying, GLOVE TAPS can be enjoyed over and over again; it's practically therapeutic.

GLOVE TAPS marks Tommy Bond's return to Our Gang after a two-and-a-half year absence, and he appears here for the first time as menacing "Butch."

SPRUCIN' UP (1935)

Spanky, Scotty and Alfalfa are fed up with such bothersome chores as having to wash their faces and shine their shoes and comb their hair — especially on Saturday. But when a truant officer moves in across the street everyone wants to make friends with his pretty daughter, causing some "sprucin' up" activities that startle the Gang's mothers. In getting to meet the new neighborhood heartthrob, Spanky uses his brains to eliminate competition, but one rival remains: Alfalfa. Together inside the living room, it's easy to see that she's not interested in either one of them, but they're too busy besting each other to notice that "Anything you can do, I can do better" boasts Alfalfa, from catching airborne vases to clong chinups on the curtain rod. Then the young lady's old boyfriend shows up, literally leaving the confesting twosome hanging in mid-air!

Subtle, witty and well-written, "Sprucin' Up" is a polished comedy showcase with more than its share of special moments worth cherishing. As a bonus there's an incredible Hal Roach Studios inside joke, tying this film to the Laurel and Hardy feature SONS OF THE DESERT, made two years earlier. It won't be easy but see if you can find it!

THREE MEN IN A TUB (1938)

Instead of keeping her date for a picnic outing with the Gang, Darla goes boating with prissy, rich kid Waldo. To win her back, wounded lover Alfalfa challenges his cocky rival to a boat race around Toluca Lake. The Gang's makeshift craft (propelled by some ducks and an umbrella) is no match for Waldo's swift new motorboat. As Waldo speeds ahead, the boat suddenly springs a leak. Darla shrieks for help while a flustered Waldo consults the appropriate chapter in his boating manual. After a dramatic rescue by Alfalfa (in a foot of water) fickle Darla redirects her affections. Then, in a puzzle, Waldo wonders what could have caused the leak. Across the water on their ship, unsung cronies Porky and Buckwheat smile together as they produce the missing "stopper."

Insufferable Waldo's at his worst, which makes for "Our Gang" at its best in this compact reworking of one of the finest and most famous Little Rascals films, HI NEIGHBOR, here involving motorboats as the central prop instead of fire engines.

THE FILMS OF THE LITTLE RASCALS

HAL ROACH PRODUCTIONS

"For fifteen years, the children of the television age have been enjoying the antics of 'The Little Rascals.' Run over and over again, the comedies never grow tiresome, and the youthful audience for the films is perhaps bigger today than it has ever been. At no time does anyone feel impelled to explain that the films are thirty-five to fifty years old; for they are timeless, as timeless as childhood itself.

The "Our Gang" Kids are reflections of what we'd all like to be as children. In all probability, most of us never had as many adventures in five years as the Gang does in every comedy. There is a beguiling fantasy world for us on the screen as we watch these kids, without money or help from adults, build their own fire engines, run a clubhouse, organize a band, or do any of the thousand-and-one things we wish we could have done ourselves. The puncturing of dignity is a timeless yearning in all audiences, and here again we experience the vicarious pleasure of seeing the Gang emerge victoriously after doing battle with snooty matrons, cruel guardians, and the like. Nor is this limited to the adult world. Throughout the "Our Gang" films, there is an active dislike for rich kids, and even more so for consciously cute kids — something the remarkable youngsters in these comedies never became.

Hal Roach has said that he always had the idea of making "kid comedies." He experimented with the idea several times in the early stages of his producing career.

Robert McGowan was given charge of the series. He played with the kids, became an unofficial "uncle," and learned how to get the best reactions from them. In 1922, "Our Gang" was born. McGowan and Anthony Mack directed the series through the 1920s, as the Gang grew in popularity to become the top comedy attractions in films. The kiddie personnel stayed essentially the same through the late 1920s, with occasional newcomers broken in. In 1929, there was a changeover in cast...

These newcomers would have an easier time starting out in talkies, not having to unlearn any silent film techniques. In 1931, Jackie Cooper left the Gang to achieve stardom on his own... for awhile, Wheezer was made the center of the shorts, and then a new "star" was brought in, Dickie Moore, one of the top child actors of the 1930s. That same year, in 1932, another member, who became one of the most durable members of the series, was added to the cast: Spanky McFarland.

One cannot overlook the importance of a black child in the makeup of "Our Gang." In an age before even tokenism was heard of, Hal Roach chose to show black and white children playing together, without prejudice, and without calling attention to it. Like everything else in "Our Gang," the subject was treated naturally, and if there were occasional lapses into stereotype, one must remember the positive aspects of an integrated group of kids — especially at a time when few films depicting adults would ever dare show friendship between black and white men.

SAGE BRUSH TOM

starring TOM MIX

SAGE BRUSH TOM is more than a routinely interesting Selig comedy-western, directed by and starring Tom Mix, in that it shows what might have been happening behind the camera at Prescott, Arizona, Mix's regular shooting location.

Born in Pennsylvania on January 6, 1880, Tom Mix made his debut with the Selig Company in RANCH LIFE IN THE GREAT SOUTHWEST, released on August 9, 1910. Prior to that he had been a real-life cowboy and sheriff in Dewey, Oklahoma, which now boasts a Tom Mix Museum.

Tom Mix stars as Sage Brush Tom, a cowboy devoted to his favorite film star (Goldie Colwell). When the star visits Tom's hometown, his happiness is complete until the leading man (E. J. Brady) makes a fool of him, and he discovers that the star is both a wife and a mother.

FILMING THE FANTASTIC
(1936)

From the Movietone Series
"Adventures of a Newsreel Cameraman"

Culled from the bizarre and curious stories encountered by the international activities of the newsreel cameraman, this short is an amalgam of wordless glimpses at giant boys and midget girls, a library of fine books tucked inside an ordinary walnut, a room of automated files right out of Kafka, a young fellow wearing a drape of honeybees, a couple who make captains' chairs from tightly rolled newspapers, a man who is buried alive and then communicates by telephone from the beyond, and a pair of pedal-powered slits (they don't work). There is no narration, but sound versions are accompanied by a charming early-30's period score.

RECENT BLACKHAWK FILMS RELEASES

PEARL HARBOR

(1942)

In what surely must be one of the most fortuitous accidents in film history, Movietone cameraman Al Brick was at Pearl Harbor filming a "Magic Carpet" travelogue to have been called Pearl of the Pacific when the Japanese attacked our naval and air forces without warning on December 7, 1941, bringing the United States into World War II. Movietone, alone among all newsreels, thus secured authentic and exclusive scenes of the devastation — but all Brick's footage was immediately seized by the Navy Department, and not until a year later were some of the shots cleared for public showing.

This release, one of the few Movietone newsreels ever devoted to a single story, went into theaters on the first anniversary of Pearl Harbor and is presented here exactly as originally shown. Narrated by Lowell Thomas in the jingoistic vocabulary of wartime, the first half of the film shows the destruction of planes and ships, while the second half emphasizes the "miraculous" repair of damage made to seem less extensive than it really was. There is even a suggestion that Pearl Harbor provided an opportunity to improve our Pacific Fleet through reconstruction! The film concludes with a promise to "slap the Japs right off the map." Silent versions have captions which were adapted from, and retain the flavor of, the narrated prints — a unique historical record not only of fact, but also of attitude.

ABOARD THE FLATTOP MIDWAY

(1949)

Filmed in the Caribbean after the close of World War II — security would never have permitted it in wartime — our film shows the activities of the Midway. You'll see the hanger decks, elevators bringing planes topside, the famous F8F fighter, nicknamed the Bear Cat. You'll see also the Navy carrier based bombers and the first of the new jets. Spectacular views of take-offs and landings add to the films great appeal.

FIGHTING MAN

The Story of General George S. Patton

Produced by Fox Movietone

"Old Blood and Guts," Patton carved his name in the annals of World War II as one of the greatest battle tacticians. Patton symbolized the American warrior with his ivory-handled six guns and gold helmet. Beginning his military career in 1904 as a West Point cadet, Patton was only an average student, but he excelled on the drill field. His first taste of war came in 1915 when he pursued Pancho Villa's raiders across the Mexican border. In World War I, Patton formed the first U.S. tank corps, leading them to victory after victory. Between the wars Patton's plea for a tank army fell on deaf ears, but with a few old tanks, he worked out the doctrines of modern tank warfare. Hitler's generals picked up Patton's ideas and created huge Panzer divisions which brought Europe to its knees early in World War II. With the entry of the U.S. into the war, Patton was given command of the first great counter-offensive against the Germans: retaking North Africa. Always near the front lines, Patton's forces swept across Africa, Sicily and Europe, where he out "blitzkrieged" the Germans.

CHARLIE BARNET AND HIS BAND (1949)

School of Cinematic Arts

One of the 20th Century-Fox "Movietone Melodies," this band short featuring Frances Lynne and Bunny Briggs is set in a nightclub. With Barnet on sax, a pair of gymnastic jitterbuggers gyrate to lively jazz. Barnet then switches to clarinet for the Mae West number "My Old Flame," with two vocal stanzas and many superimposed flames! Bouncy be-bop characterizes the third and final number, featuring Barnet on both instruments. Better than the usual band films of the '40s but still very much a period piece, this is a well-recorded glimpse of one of the great jazz stylists near the peak of his career.

TILLIE WAKES UP (1917)

starring MARIE DRESSLER with JOHNNY HINES

When Mack Sennett brought Marie Dressler to the screen in 1914 to co-star with Charlie Chaplin in TILLIE'S PUNCTURED ROMANCE, Miss Dressler was already famous on the stage in revues, musical comedies and farces, and had been since the turn of the century.

It was only natural, after the success of TILLIE'S PUNCTURED ROMANCE, that the newly formed Peerless-World Pictures would lure Miss Dressler back to the screen with another "Tillie." But TILLIE WAKES UP was connected with TILLIE'S PUNCTURED ROMANCE by little more than its title and Marie Dressler's appearance.

Nonetheless TILLIE WAKES UP, released in January, 1917, was an altogether successful follow-up and started a virtual "Tillie" series starring Marie Dressler, but filmed by a variety of different companies of the day. It also served as an early co-starring appearance for youthful Johnny Hines.

KID 'N' AFRICA

Starring SHIRLEY TEMPLE

If she is lucky, Shirley Temple Black, our new Ambassador to Ghana, has forgotten all about KID 'N' AFRICA, for in this comedy she toddles on as Madame Cradlebait, Missionary, and living exponent of every horrible stereotype that white men have ever created about black Africans. Actually, rather than kiddin' Africa, this Fox release was meant to kid MGM, for it is TRADER HORN and TARZAN AND HIS MATE that the folks at Educational Comedies seemed to have in mind.

Shirley, sighting cannibals, determines they will be civilized; but in the next shot she's already in a giant cauldron, salted but not quite cooked into missionary stew. Her little captors from Watts are in a circle around the pot chanting "we want food," when attracted by the screams, her virile white rescuer — clad only in a tiger skin, and abetted by an elephant who trumpets a few bars of "Old Black Joe" — somehow routs the hungry natives.

"Now we'll have a civilized city," says Shirley, and what do you suppose is in it? The Last Chance Filling Station, Cut Rate Drugs, the Weary Nipple Cafe, and a henpecked put-upon, silk-hatted Tarzan who probably should have let his Jane boil a little longer.

Charles Hutchinson had worked for many companies as an actor and sometime director without attracting too much attention until his friend Joseph A. Golden signed him for a role in a serial concept he had sold to Pathe early in 1918. Leah Baird and Sheldon Lewis were supposedly the box office attractions.

Golden wrote in a strong part for Hutch, whose star was launched skyward as a result. Fan mail poured in demanding to see more of the darling young man and Pathe immediately ordered another Golden Hutchinson collaboration. For the next four years, Hutch proved to be the hottest male property on the serial screen.

As for the serial that brought him to fame, it was written, directed and produced by Golden and fits into the topical or "preparedness" format. All the classic serial elements were used, from stolen invention to cliff-hanging endings. But in story, Wolves of Kultur, was contemporary with the times.

It portrayed a dangerous threat to American security from an unnamed foreign power. As we were at war with Germany when Wolves of Kultur was released on October 13, 1918, there is little doubt that the chief villain's name (Hartman) along with an abundance of Prussian moustaches served to place the blame in the audience minds.

Blackhawk's release of this Pathe thriller with its background of World War I spies, sabotage and traitors, is an abridgement of the original fifteen chapters down to seven. The pre-print material on this film was located in Holland, where it had been released in condensed form after the close of World War I. A very high percent of the original story remains in the abridgement — and, we think all of the original flavor. The first chapter would class as a "three reeler" (three 1,000' 35mm reels) with the remaining six being "two reelers." In our Standard 8mm and Super 8 versions, chapter one will be divided on two 7-inch reels, the remaining chapters on single 7-inch reels.

BIG BUSINESS (1929)

starring STAN LAUREL and OLIVER HARDY
BIG BUSINESS is one of the comedy classics, even non-Laurel and Hardy devotees are automatically caught up in the fury which in its precise mounting excitement, attention to detail, meticulous editing, and no-pause-for-breath action, is to the comedy film what THE BIRTH OF A NATION is to the historical spectacle.

Selling Christmas trees in sunny California, Stan and Ollie are working all of the houses in the neighborhood with their Model T pick-up and their stock of trees. They have no luck at all until they come to the home of Scotsman Finlayson — they have no luck there either, for disaster nearly overtakes everyone. Upon their first knock, Finlayson appears at the door and indicates he is not in the prospect for a tree. They start to leave, but one of the tree's branches gets caught in the door, they ring again, and one thing leads to another until "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men" seems to completely vanish.

SANTA CLAUS VS. CUPID (1915)

with RAYMOND MCKEE, GRACE MORRISSEY, WILLIAM CASEY, MRS. WALLACE ERSKINE, MABEL DWIGHT, GLADYS GANE, GUIDO COLUCCI and ETHEL WRIGHT

By December 18, 1915, when this film was released, the feature film era was well under way, and Mary Pickford had already appeared in nine of her Famous Player offerings. But the old one-reeler was not dead yet, and SANTA CLAUS VS. CUPID was Edison's idea of a Christmas present.

The excitement of the early one-reelers, produced when an art was finding its way, and the best creative effort available going into this type of film, is missing here, but the effort is more professional than the earlier pictures had been and therefore now seems less old-fashioned.

A very light farce-comedy about a girl and her two suitors, both home from college for Christmas.

THE CRICKET ON THE HEARTH (1923)

From the Charles Dickens Story
Directed by Lorimer Johnston

Though THE CRICKET ON THE HEARTH is one of Dickens' most magical titles, the story to which he assigned it has more of his idiosyncrasy than his genius, and Dickensians have never considered it one of his best.

It was the third of his "Christmas Books" (1845), and at the outset its sale was far greater than that of either of its predecessors, A CHRISTMAS CAROL and THE CHIMES. Ultimately, however the CAROL vastly outdistanced it.

Frequently dramatized, THE CRICKET early attracted the attention of film-makers, and Griffith tried his hand at it in a one-reel Biograph of 1909, which, however, was considerably less faithful to the story than the Lorimer Johnston version of 1923.

THE ADVENTURE OF THE WRONG SANTA CLAUS (1914)

with BARRY O'MOORE, RICHARD NEILL and BLISS MILFORD

THE ADVENTURE OF THE WRONG SANTA CLAUS was adapted from a story published in Pictorial Review, a popular and rather well regarded magazine of the period. The Octavius character came out in a new adventure every month. The Edison studio had an exclusive deal for movie rights for all fiction published in the magazine.

Octavius was an amateur private eye who got involved in difficult situations from which, by skill and courage, he invariably extracted himself.

THE LITTLEST ANGEL

To the gates of Heaven came a small and very lonely little angel who, though he tried hard to look and act like a good little angel should, just couldn't seem to stay out of trouble. Then one day, the kindly old Understanding Angel granted the Littlest Angel's wish and from that day on, the cherub's conduct and appearance were above reproach. Finally came the time when Jesus was to be born. All the angels of Paradise busied themselves with the preparation of their costly gifts. Yet, it was the gift of the Littlest Angel that was chosen by God to shine as an inspiration for all man.

BLACKHAWK FILMS EXCLUSIVE LINE OF 35MM. 2X2 COLOR SLIDE SETS

In many subject areas—particularly travel and railroads—Blackhawk offers a wide range of color slide sets of the same or similar subjects. There is, however, no duplication of identical individual slides between any one set and another with respect to the specific sets offered here. All Blackhawk slides give true color fidelity. Using the more expensive reversal method of duplication, Blackhawk produces slides you'd be proud to include with your own... yet they are less expensive to own than are slides you shoot yourself and have processed.

RECENT BLACKHAWK FILMS RELEASE

with LON CHANEY as Fagin (1922)

Oliver Twist, published 1837-39, was Dickens' first long integrated story, and since it is one of the most dramatic and sensational of all his works, it has always been a great favorite with dramatists and film-makers. The dramatizations began during the author's lifetime, and his own reading of the Murder of Nancy by Bill Sikes was described as "two Macbeths" by the greatest contemporary English actor, William Charles Macready.

This film version, long thought completely lost, has been restored from a 35mm negative located in Eastern Europe. Released on November 5, 1922, it was the second of young Jackie Coogan's starring vehicles after he had become famous overnight in Charlie Chaplin's The Kid, and he never found a better or more winning role. To present viewers the film abundantly attests both to his charm and to his wonderful acting ability, even when he did not have Chaplin to guide him.

When Lon Chaney created his impressive, evil Fagin in this film, he had The Miracle Man, The Penalty and his work with Maurice Tourneur in Victory and Treasure Island behind him; but he had not yet made either The Hunchback of Notre Dame or The Phantom of the Opera.

The character of Sikes was a "natural" for the always workmanlike Griffith "heavy," George Siegmann, and though Nancy is not as prominent in this film as she has been in some productions of Oliver Twist, Galdys Brockwell makes the best of some vivid moments. She went on to play in Seventh Heaven and some other films of the late twenties, then unfortunately died while her career seemed traveling on an upward curve. Esther Ralston, who appears as Rose Maylie, was to attract much more attention in 1924 as Mrs. Darling in the Brenon-Bronson Peter Pan.

Because no copy of the original English title texts could be located, new titles were written for Blackhawk by Sol Lesser and Jackie Coogan, with help from Dickens scholar, Edward Wagenknecht. Picture quality of this release is very good.

The picture has indeed lost very little through the past half-century, and much of the credit for this belongs to the director, Frank Lloyd, who also co-authored the scenario. Not even the fact that Oliver Twist had to be considerably younger than in the Dickens novel prevented Lloyd from turning out a richly-mounted production which, though necessarily somewhat simplified, managed, without fatigue, to suggest the great complexity of the novel and remain completely faithful to its spirit.

HOW TO OPEN A BLACKHAWK CHARGE ACCOUNT

Open account billing is now available to individuals in the continental United States on the payment of a fee of $2.00 and the submission of satisfactory credit information. (Payment of the $2.00 fee is not required when application is accompanied by an order for $10.00 or more.) On this basis, upon the opening of a Blackhawk charge account, you will be provided with an account number which should appear on all orders from you. Payment for orders shipped and billed during a month are due in Davenport not later than the 15th of the month following. As an example, orders which are shipped and billed to you in December must be paid in full not later than January 15, etc., etc. A Blackhawk charge account will be a particular convenience to our regular customers in that it eliminates the pre-figuring of remittance for postage, and the writing of several checks or the securing of several money orders during a single month.

Fill in completely (type or print) the BLACKHAWK CHARGE ACCOUNT APPLICATION below, sign and return it to us with the $2.00 charge account fee or an order of $10.00 or more. ($2.00 fee, if sent, will be refunded in the event an account is not opened by us.) We'll immediately confirm receipt and let you know as soon as the account is open—and your account number.

BUY ANYTHING OFFERED BY BLACKHAWK ON CONVENIENT MONTHLY PAYMENTS!

The following time payment arrangements became effective with the Truth in Lending Act on July 1st, 1969.)

Customers in the United States may purchase anything from Blackhawk on convenient time payments.

TIME PAYMENT ARRANGEMENTS

A. Down Payments

Below are the minimum down payments required based on the total amount of your purchase.

On orders totaling $25.00 to $50.00	$ 5.00
On orders totaling $50.01 to $100.00	$ 7.50
On orders totaling $100.01 to $125.00	$12.50

The amount of your time payment charge and the amount of your monthly payment is determined by the unpaid balance remaining after we have deducted your down payment from the total of your purchase. Thus, the larger you can make your down payment, the lower will be your time payment charges and the smaller will be your monthly payments.

B. Time Payment Charges

Time payment charges are based on the unpaid balance remaining after the deduction of your down payment from the total of your purchase. Here they are scheduled:

On unpaid balances totaling $25.00 to $75.00	$ 5.00
On unpaid balances totaling $75.01 to $125.00	$ 7.50

C. Monthly Payments

As is explained above, the size of your monthly payment is based upon the unpaid balance (including the time payment charge) remaining after deducting your payment from the total of your purchase. Here is the schedule:

On unpaid balances totaling $25.00 to $50.00	$ 5.00
On unpaid balances totaling $50.01 to $100.00	$10.00
On unpaid balances totaling $100.01 to $125.00	$12.50

D. Add-on Orders

New purchases may not be added to existing contracts. A separate contract, requiring a down payment and a time payment charge will be established each time you order. It will be to your advantage, as the time payment charges are fixed figures, to include as many items as possible in each time payment order.

E. Our Action

We've provided this information so that you will know exactly the amount you will owe. However, to help you further, we prepare a time payment schedule for you at the time we ship the merchandise. We show you the exact amount due and the dates on which the amount should be received here in Davenport. So don't let the detail bother you. We'll do the figuring.

THE CRAZY RAY (PARIS QUI DORT) (AT 3:25)

(1923)

Directed by Rene Clair

with HENRI ROLLAN, ALBERT PREJEAN, MADELEINE RODRIGUES, MARCEL VALLEE, PRE FILS, MYLA SELLER and M. STACQUIT

Only a few years after THE CRAZY RAY, Rene Clair made the best loved and most renowned of French film comedies — LE MILLION, A NOUS LA LIBERTE, THE ITALIAN STRAW HAT, and UNDER THE ROOFS OF PARIS — and today the same man is a wise old member of the French Academy. But Rene Clair was a twenty-five-year-old journalist in 1923 when he made his first film, PARIS QUI DORT (Literally PARIS ASLEEP, but widely known as THE CRAZY RAY). This delightful little comedy went successfully around the world, inspired a whole generation of avant-garde artists to experiment with film, and earned a place in every good history of motion pictures, although it was actually almost an amateur effort, produced by Clair with hardly any budget at all.

THE CRAZY RAY is the story of a looney scientist (in the original French prints he is appropriately named Dr. Craze) who, using a powerful ray, has frozen Paris in the midst of its late-night life. The only people who escape the professor's paralyzing power are the night watchman asleep on the top level of the Eiffel Tower, which the ray failed to reach; and a few passengers who arrive by air from Marseilles after the ray's effect has taken hold. Eventually old Doctor Craze is persuaded to switch off his ray and just 24 hours later, life gets going again.

Like Chaplin, whom he greatly admires, Clair is full of little comments on human foibles. The first thing that occurs to those not put to sleep by the ray is to take for themselves all the money and finery they have ever wanted. The tower watchman, for example, discovers a pickpocket frozen in mid-chase, only two steps from a gendarme frozen just short of certain capture. The watchman plucks the thief's prize for his own pocket. A chubby "butter-and-egg man" returns home from the airport to find his statuesque wife wrapped in the embrace of her petrified lover. For one day, social roles are inverted, and the house-breaker Slippery Jim, who was being brought to prison in handcuffs, becomes the most valuable member of the little band. But when life resumes, both pursued and pursuers take up their old roles, and Clair makes a pointed but entirely visual comment on familiar social distinctions.

Blackhawk's release was copied from the original American version of 1927, AT 3:25, and our prints thus fall heir to the rather drastic abridgement which was apparently de rigueur for foreign films shown in this country at that time. In the case of THE CRAZY RAY, five reels were cut to two by Morrie Ryskind, later famed as author of the best Marx Brothers scripts, and considering how long this film has been cooling, both the flavor and the warmth have been retained very nicely.
