Mark Sandrich: Director

By John Wilch

In 1933 Producer Lou Brock consulted with Mark Sandrich about a production number which was stalled on the set of FLYING DOWN TO RIO. Sandrich's ability to work in collaboration and his innate grasp of musical and comedy genres made him a natural choice to direct the second Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers vehicle, THE GAY DIVORCEE, a 1934 RKO radio release.

His directorial assignment to this promising series was the culmination of an eleven year progression.

In 1923, at age 22, Mark Sandrich left his coursework as a scholarship whiz studying physics at Columbia University and travelled from his parent's Trenton, N.J. home to the coast to visit his cousin, Carmel Myers, who was starring for Carl Laemmle at Universal.

One of the many sets he visited was the Stern Brothers/Century Comedies Baby Peggy set. That day the crew was having problems with an electrical prop integral to a physical gag. Sandrich made a suggestion which was tried and worked. When asked if he wanted a job assisting the property man, he replied with an enthusiastic yes.

He had served stints as a prop man, gag writer, assistant cameraman and assistant director by the time he directed Lupino Lane comedy shorts for Educational and Fox in 1927. Other directors he was privileged to work with on this series were Charles Lamont, Norman Taurog and William Goodrich (alias Fatty Arbuckle).

In 1928 Sandrich directed his first feature, RUNAWAY GIRLS, a silent melodrama starring Shirley Mason and produced by Harry Cohn for Columbia.

More importantly, Sandrich was so intrigued by talking pictures that he spent much of the next year in New York studying the primitive sound technologies of RCA, Fox, Warners and DeForest. This resulted in an experimental talkie short, THERE IS A SANTA CLAUSE.

In 1930 he directed his second feature, THE TALK OF HOLLYWOOD, for Prudence Pictures. He and Nat Carr co-wrote this punfully titled comedy of a silent producer struggling to get into all-talking pictures. Although neither of these features attracted much attention, Sandrich's career momentum was sufficient to land him a job at RKO in 1930 directing two reel comedy shorts. For the next two years Sandrich directed: Nat Carr as General Ginsburg; Chic Sale as Lem Putz, the American outhouse builder; many of the all-star Masquerader's Club shorts; Wheeler and Woolsey; and the inspired vaudevillians Clark and McCulloch.

Sandrich's comedy evolved from the stopwatch timed laughs of slapstick to a more verbal and cerebral situational humor. He experimented with sound gags, such as ridiculously inappropriate sound effects. He learned to shoot with multiple cameras, he delved into the surreal, imaginatively directing the zany Clark and McCulloch in gag sequences that foreshadow the Marx Brothers.

In 1932, Sandrich signed a seven year contract with RKO. The big break came one year later when he directed Phil Harris in the musical comedy, SO THIS IS HARRIS? This three-reeler was the first musical short to be given an Academy Award. The rhyming dialogue, playback, multiple cameras, expert integration of musical numbers with plot and striking Art Deco sets made this short one of the most advanced, admired and imitated films of the early 30s.

Sandrich moved into features at RKO immediately. In 1933, MELODY CRUISE, starring Phil Harris and Charles Ruggles and co-written by Ben Holmes and Sandrich, was praised by New York Times reviewer Harry T. Smith "for the wizardry of the camera" and "the direction of MS . . . who is alert in seizing any opportunity for cinematic stunts" and for skillfully "blending different sounds".

CRUISE was followed by two films that received lukewarm critical reception, AGGIE APPLEBY in 1933 and HIPS, HIPS HOORAY in 1934. The virtues of HIPS were more the songstress Ruth Etting, Thelma Todd as Miss Frisbee and music by Harry Ruby than the comedy antics of RKO's bread and butter, Wheeler & Woolsey.

However, the second W&W feature Sandrich directed in 1934, COCKEYED CAVALIERS, was a triumphant success and ranks today as the duo's best work.

With THE GAY DIVORCEE, also in 1934, began the glory years. Sandrich went on to direct four of the remaining eight Astaire and Rogers pictures; including two of the best,

TOP HAT in 1935 and SHALL WE DANCE in 1937.

With the well-schooled and brilliant Sandrich at the helm, the series was characterized by collaboration, preparation, integration and class.

There was basically one production unit working with him in these films. The cameraman, David Abel, captured the sharp contrasts of the Big White Sets and created chic romantic moods. Ben Holmes kept the dialogue smooth and suave. Hermes Pan masterminded choreography. Van Nest Polglase designed the elegant sets and backgrounds.

Sandrich worked closely with the crew at all hours and often months before shooting was to begin.

His style of direction was warm yet grounded on methodical and thorough preparation. While Pan and the perfectionist Astaire were planning dance numbers, Sandrich would work over the script and music with the writers and chart out the whole production in linear fashion. With this color chart he would try to achieve a balance between comedy, music, plot and dance.

When the songs had been finished, the plot would be reworked until the components were melted into an integrated whole.

The team was very conscious of glamor and strived for elegance in an un-self-consciously intellectual way. The light escapist qualities of these films seemed so facile, but that was result of much brainpower and sweat. They were in new form, and revising it constantly.

Although RKO was incapable of out-lavishing an MGM, the finished product exudes sophistication and polish because Sandrich, Abel, Holmes, Pan, Polglase, et. al knew how to effectively limit yet maximize the scope of their production.

An aspect of Sandrich that contributed enormously to these productions was his inborn musicality. He had the gift of perfect pitch without every having studied music.

THE GAY DIVORCEE was followed by TOP HAT in 1935, FOLLOW THE FLEET in 1936, a Hepburn film, A WOMAN REBELS in 1936, SHALL WE DANCE in 1937 and CAREFREE in 1938. Sandrich's contract with RKO ended in 1939.

He went to Paramount in 1939 where he produced as well as directed. After three Jack Benny films in a row and Milland-Colbert he scored big again directing and producing HOLIDAY INN in 1942. Three war theme pics followed.

In 1945, while work was beginning on BLUE SKIES, another Crosby/Astaire, Sandrich died suddenly at the age of 44.

His career and life were short, but splendid.

A special thanks to Frieda Sandrich, Mark's charming and gracious widow; two talented sons, Mark Jr., currently directing for Quinn Martin Productions; and Jay, currently directing SOAP.

Blackhawk Films is Steppin' Out

... with Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers in the Gershwin Musical

Shall We Dance

An enthralling Astaire-Rogers musical comedy. Ginger is the snobbish singing comedy star who couldn't care less that ballet star Astaire has fallen head-over-heels for her. She isn't interested in him at all, that is, until they dance together.

Superb music and lyrics by George and Ira Gershwin weave magic throughout the story using such standards as "They Can't Take That Away From Me", and "Let's Call The Whole Thing Off". The film is well directed by Mark Sandrich who also directed the duo's TOP HAT, and Hepburn's A WOMAN REBELS.

SHALL WE DANCE includes the famous roller skate sequence where Fred and Ginger tap dance on wheels. At last Fred is able to win Ginger's heart when he dances with dozens of girls in Ginger masks! Singing, dancing, comedy and romancing at its best from two of the greatest. They don't make 'em like they used to because they can't. The Astaire-Rogers team is one of a kind!

Laurel & Hardy's Genteel Use of Destruction

Comic usages of this kind — remain as freshly comic as the day they were filmed.

by John McCabe

The man who really created Laurel and Hardy (with the enthusiastic support of Hal Roach) was that fey and charming artist, Leo McCarey. As kind of a resident creative consultant at the Hal Roach Studios in the late 1920s, McCarey devoted much time to conceiving gags for the entire sterling group of laugh-makers at that jolly studio in Culver City.

"Once I came back from a trip to New York," he told me, "where I'd been to a dinner party at which — for fun — a number of us had gone around pulling each other's bow ties, snapping them out of their knots. Just a silly thing to do, a little bit of fun. But when I came back to Los Angeles, I remembered that as being a perfect gag of Laurel and Hardy, so that's how their tit-for-tat began.

The tit-for-tat gag, the one in which mutually administered physical indignities between two or more people is consummated at deliberate pace became a Laurel and Hardy staple across the years. The protracted and frenzied extensions of the tit-for-tat I call "reciprocal destruction", as it most certainly becomes in some of their best comedies.

In 1927 came "The Battle of the Century", reciprocal destruction at apotheosis, surely the best pie-throwing film in history. The Roach studios bought an entire day's output of the Los Angeles Pie Company — four thousand pies — and the (for want of a better word) distribution of these pies constitutes half of this lively film. The fight is precipitated by a piaman slipping on a banana peel, as he drops a large tray of the pastries. Believing that Hardy placed the peel there, the piaman pushes a pie in the offender's face. Laurel springs to his pal's defense.

"I resent this," Stan told me in describing the action of the film; "and pushes a pie in the piaman's face. Hardy laughs at that and the guy instead of hitting me back hits Hardy with another pie. At this point, a stranger passing by tries to stop the argument, and gets the pie in the face, too. Gradually, one by one, other people get into the argument until finally the entire street, a full block, is pie-crazy. Everybody is pie-throwing happy!"

So successful was the reciprocal destruction device that Laurel and Hardy used it again four months later in "You're Darn Tootin'" where they appear as itinerant — and cheerily ignorant — musicians who get into public argument. Ollie having broken Stan's clarinet in two and thrown it on the street, Stan knocks his pal's horn after it and a truck squashes it flat. In a rising crescendo of mutual affronts, the boys assault each other's ties, buttons, shins, handkerchiefs, stomachs and clothing.

A man comes out of a restaurant, and Ollie tells him what has occurred. The man kicks Stan in the stomach; Stan kicks him in the shins. Another man comes over and pushes Stan who kicks him in return.

Again an entire street full of people is caught up in the fray, reciprocally smacking each other's shins and vengefully pulling off each other's pants. As in "The Battle of the Century", a cop enters to restore order but Stan indignantly pulls off his pants.

The howls of laughter caused by "You're Darn Tootin'" in theatres across the land made Leo McCarey realize that this gag was an inspired comic formula. He used it as the essential framework for what some Laurel and Hardy aficionados declare to be the boys' greatest film, "Two Tars", released late in 1928. The heart of "Two Tars" is contained in the simple statement that Stan and Ollie encounter a traffic jam on a country road. They not only encounter it but upset it, confound it, finally demolish it in a cascade of ripped fenders, smashed-in radiators and injured egos.

It was hardly in the normal order of things that a film in the same format as "Two Tars" should turn out just as great, but a few months later appeared "Big Business" in which Laurel and Hardy disport with their ineffable foil, James Finlayson — destroying his home while he vengefully pulls asunder their Model T Ford, part by part. Another masterpiece.

As their film career continued, Laurel and Hardy continued to use the reciprocal destruction device but more and more they emphasized a tendency built into it early on — leisure. In "Perfect Day" when Ollie accidentally throws a tire jack into a neighbor's window, the neighbor returns it — in grim slowness — through the windshield of Ollie's car. Just as slowly Stan walks over to the neighbor's house and heaves it through a window, and another session of give-and-take-and-give commences. In "The Hoose-Gow", instead of pies, huge gobs of steaming rice are hurled back and forth in pungent retaliation.

By 1935, the device reached its most polished form in the appropriately titled "Tit For Tat" in which the boys, as owners of an electrical appliance shop, find as their doughty opponent another of their favorite foils, Charlie Hall, who runs a delicatessen. Traveling from one establishment to the other, there are such afflictions as cottage cheese in the face, timepieces destroyed in an electric mixer, honey poured into a cash register, a derby cut in two with a meat slicer — and similar homely insults.

Laurel and Hardy lessened the use of mutual indignity as the years went by but the device was always hailed as one of the indelible and endearing hallmarks, to be remembered with vast affection by their millions of fans. This is, I think, the greatest tribute Laurel and Hardy can be paid: that comic usages of this kind — despite frequent repetition and endless viewing — remain as freshly comic as the day they were filmed.

John McCabe began life as a child actor, appearing through the years with various companies until he became producer of his own stock company at Milford, Pennsylvania. After obtaining the Ph.D. degree from The Shakespeare Institute, Stratford-on-Avon, England, he taught acting at City College of New York, Wayne State University and New York University. At New York University he headed the Department of Dramatic Art. He is currently a show business biographer, writing among other books, "Mr. Laurel and Mr. Hardy," "George M. Cohan: The Man Who Owned Broadway," "The Comedy World of Stan Laurel"; and "Charlie Chaplin". Dr. McCabe was also James Cagney's consultant for his book, "Cagney by Cagney".

 Stan and Ollie are all set to open an electrical store. It just happens to be next to a delicatessen run by Charlie Hall and his wife who had met our pair on a disastrous camping trip in THEM THAR HILLS. Stan and Ollie try to be nice, but one thing leads to another. Ollie suggests that everyone let bygones be bygones and offers, "You help our business and we'll help your business and I'll mind my business!" Ub Iwerks' Humpty Jr. is a thrill-seeking chip off the block, despite mother's warnings, "Be careful!" That's how your father got cracked!" Humpty "falls" for pretty Easter Egg, and in a production number like a Busby Berkley egg-musical they court to the catchy tune of "Spoonin in a Spoon". Yipe! Villanous Bad Egg steals Easter and a "scrambling" chase scene ensues. Easter falls into a pot of boiling water. Via spaghetti lasso Humpty rescues, but she emerges with Mae West demeanor. Humpty also gets dunked and the hard-boiled pair are just tough enough to crack Bad Egg. One of the best Comi-colors.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN, MABEL NORMAND, MACK SWAIN, MACK SENNETT

Reputedly directed by Chaplin, Normand and Sennett, THE FATAL MALLET shows Chaplin in top Keystone form as one of three comically ruthless rivals for the favor of snobby Mabel. They struggle violently with pieces of wood and bricks behind the barn door. When Mabel expresses boredom and displeasure, Charlie gives her a swift kick to the rear. At least that gains her attention. Charlie resorts to THE FATAL MALLET with hilarious results. Great pantomime, particularly by Normand and Chaplin.

SILENT RUNNING (1972)

BRUCE DERN

Bruce Dern stars as an intense space botanist tending the planet's last vegetation. Set in the future when pollution has defoliated Earth, Dern revolts when ordered to abandon the project and return to a plasticized world. Special effects by Douglas Trumbull (special effects for 2001: A SPACE ODYSSEY) include the botanical space lab and two robot drones. Dern himself is a powerful asset to the film, rationally persuasive as an ardent conservationist but insane enough to kill for his convictions. A modern science fiction classic of the highest order.

Adventure

THE AFRICAN QUEEN (1951)

HUMPHREY BOGART,
KATHERINE HEPBURN, ROBERT MORELY
Although less than 30 years old, AFRICAN QUEEN is quite rightly considered a classic.

John Huston's direction mixes humor and drama in perfect proportions. The players' interaction is riveting. And the James Agee script is filled with superb character development.

As Hepburn moves from being the thoroughly prim and proper missionary to plotting to destroy a German battleship, Bogart develops his Oscar-winning characterization of the drunken boat captain who is amazed by the company the outbreak of WW I has forced him to keep.

A rare combination of wit, charm and action. From Ivy Films.

EDDIE POLO

Excellent excerpts from the early serials, a technique primitive movie makers quickly developed to keep patrons coming back for more.

Included are scenes from 1923's THE STEEL TRAIN, a climatic segment from 1919's WOMAN IN GREY, and the desperate battle sequence from 1922's CAPTAIN KIDD.

Adventure

B THE MARK OF ZORRO

(1920) DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS, MARGUERITE DE LA MOTTE

THE MARK OF ZORRO was Doug Fairbanks Sr's first swashbuckler. Its overwhelming acceptance helped convince Fairbanks he was right in switching from his previous image (the All-American rich boy) to this new one (the flamboyant adventurer).

As the foppish Don Diego, Fairbanks adds many comic touches.

But as Zorro, the manly Mexican Robin Hood, he wins the love interest with the sprightly action, cloak-and-dagger intrigues, and pacing that made few swashbucklers this good.

Among the best sequences: Fine duels and a thrilling chase with daredevil acrobatics.

B DON Q, SON OF ZORRO (1925)

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS, MARY ASTOR

Five movies and an equal number of years after MARK OF ZORRO, Fairbanks returned to the Spanish colonies.

Again his dashing wins the lady in an excellent adventure.

But this time Doug plays four roles, instead of the two as in the original.

B THE BLACK PIRATE (1926)

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS, BILLIE DOVE

The setting of tall galleons carrying wonderful treasures was custom made for Fairbank's brand of swashbuckling.

When captured by pirates, Doug vanquishes the captain, captures a ship single-handedly, and saves a princess from pirate ruffians.

The story, by the way, was written by Fairbanks under the pseudonym Elton Thomas.

Aviation

THE DIRIGIBLES — THE HINDENBURG<sup>2</sup>

The Hindenburg was the longest airship of its time.

So Movietone News covered the magnificent 800-foot craft from its construction to its tragic end.

Presented here are views of its pilots, its luxurious interior, its routine trips and the explosion that destroyed the craft and ended an era.

This film brings back some of the excitement that this Nazi symbol aroused at a time when dirigibles were in the forefront of aviation development.

DONALD DUCK'S DILEMMAS

DONALD DUCK, HUEY, DEWEY, LOUIE

Here's your favorite comic, that rascal Donald, quacking and sputtering his way through five zany misadventures in some of his funniest roles. Donald scales the heights as a careless construction worker. He's absolutely riveting at that altitude. Then it's off to the golf course where he frantically tries to outwit that terrible trio, his nephews. Donald is hopping mad at the gopher in his garden. He's fearless in the face of a bucking bronco. And ex-pasterating as he tangles with inventions in the Museum of Modern Marvels. From Disney Studios.

PETE'S DRAGON

HELEN REDDY, MICKEY ROONEY, RED BUTTONS, JIM DALE, SHELLEY WINTERS, ELLIOT (THE DRAGON)
Pandemonium and song break out when nine-year-old Peter and his sometimes visible dragon, Elliot, come to the Maine sea coast community of Passamaquoddy. Good color and sprightly music punctuate this delightful film. Helen Reddy is particularly good as the daughter of the town drunk. From Disney Studios.

ALICE ON THE FARM

(1925)
An early example of Disney using a technique he would return to again and again. In it, a real little girl was photographed against a white backdrop, then an animated story was superimposed over the image, creating a story in which Alice could interact with cartoon animals.

SODA SQUIRT (1933)

Ub Iwerks characterizations of 1930's movie stars all show up at a drug store grand opening.

Flip copes fine until Mae West wiggles in. Then Flip flips out so much that he slips some strange ingredient into a milk shake. And the shake turns a mild mannered man into a monster. Besides being funny, SODA SQUIRT is an excellent example of Ub Iwerks' skill at characterization.

A Blackhawk Biography

Born in Kansas City in 1901, Ub Iwerks worked in a commercial art studio with Walt Disney and Rudolph Ising. In 1926, he was the main animator on the "Alice in Cartoonland" series. In 1928 he animated the "Oswald the Rabbit" series with Disney at Universal. He received "drawn by" credit for several early Mickey Mouse cartoons, including PLANE CRAZY. He also animated STEAMBOAT WILLIE and several other Mickey Mouse cartoons and is often credited as co-developer of Mickey himself. Later Ub created his own series, including "Flip the Frog", "Willie Whopper", Comicolor Fairytales", and the "Color Rhapsody" series with Scrapy. Eventually Ub returned to Disney where he supervised special effects on 20,000 LEAGUES UNDER THE SEA, and developed and modified a Xerox camera for 101 DALMATIONS. He also was a special photographic advisor on Hitchcock's THE BIRDS. In 1964 he shared an Oscar for his work on Color Traveling Matte Composite Cinematography which was used in the making of MARY POPPINS. Ub Iwerks died in 1971.

SPOOKS (1930)

Flip the Frog's in trouble. It's a stormy night, and Flip and his horse need shelter.

Unfortunately, Flip pulls a boner and picks a house haunted by a skeleton dancer, skeleton musicians, and a skeleton dog, all of which want to make Flip into a skeleton, too.

Ub Iwerks' blustery night scenes produce excellent illusions of storm clouds and lightning.

THE HEADLESS HORSEMAN

(1934)

When Ub Iwerks animated the famous Washington Irving story, he added many typical Iwerks touches. Ichabod Crane's nemesis Brom, for example, is a characterization of Clark Gable.

Particularly well done are the music and astonishing multiple plane animation sequences such as Brom chasing Ichabod through a very eerie forest.

TOM THUMB

(1933)

This fast paced, amusing musical cartoon about the smallest boy who ever lived delights not only children but also anyone who remembers what the giant world of adults looked like when they were young.

And remember, when you're as small as Tom, it's easy to get stuck in pie dough or get lost in a box of raisins.

685-81-2003, 16mm., dia./mus., 7 min. .... $57.98

SUMMERTIME

(1934)

Ub Iwerks' SUMMERTIME can be regarded as a forerunner of Disney's FANTASIA.

Starting as winter fades into summer and continuing until winter returns, this musical review is full of mythical creatures.

Among the techniques Iwerks used was roto-scoping . . . photographing humans and then copying their movements.

JACK AND THE BEANSTALK

(1933)

When Ub Iwerks made JACK AND THE BEANSTALK, this English fairy tale had already been filmed several times. In fact, one of the previous cartoon versions had been made by Iwerks while he and Disney were collaborating in 1922.

This version contains all the elements of the classic tale including a particularly well done Giant-after-Jack chase.

685-81-2459, 16mm., dia./mus., 8 min. .... $57.98

Ub Iwerks/Burt Gillette

THE BRAVE TIN SOLDIER

(1934)
This charming adaptation of Hans Christian Anderson's "The Steadfast Tin Soldier" is both beautiful and dramatic. Working with and under the supervision of Ub Iwerks, animator Jimmie Culhane produced a most "serious" and touching version of this tale of the one-legged soldier, his cardboard ballerina and the many rivals they overcame before reaching a happy end in "Toy Heaven".

885-81-2460, Super 8, SFX, color, 8 min. .... $29.98

JACK FROST

(1934)

A bouncy bear cub needs the help of Jack Frost when he ignores his instincts and refuses to hibernate through the winter.

Iwerks' JACK FROST is a gorgeously drawn cartoon packed with Iwerks' inventions, high spirits and surprises like the scarecrow who sings, dances and looks like Cab Calloway.

Probably one of Ub Iwerks' masterpieces.
885-81-2457, Super 8, dia., color, 9 min. .... $29.98

TOONERVILLE TROLLEY

(1936)

Burt Gillette's TOONERVILLE TROLLEY is a charming little cartoon about a big subject . . . Katrinka, the hefty, healthy, and rotund super woman with unusual strength. She's so strong she rescues the trolley from quicksand, a bull and more, all by herself.

Gillette animated FELIX THE CAT and MOLLY MOO COW AND THE BUTTERFLIES also.

The trolley, by the way, is delightfully drawn.

A Blackhawk Biography

Born 1889 in London to vaudevillian parents, Chaplin grew up in poverty. He came to America as a member of the Karno Theatrical Troupe. Mack Sennett and Mabel Normand attended a show and soon Chaplin was under contract to Keystone. At Keystone he learned the film medium and slapstick. From Keystone he went to Essanay, where he continued to develop the Tramp character, adding pathos to his repertoire of pantomime. Dissatisfied, Chaplin signed a spectacular contract with Mutual for $50,000 upon signing and $10,000 a week: $670,000 in all! At Mutual he made his greatest comedy shorts, at least 3 of the 12 are indisputable classics. From Mutual, Chaplin went into a transition phase at First National. There his work was uneven and his personal life difficult. In 1919, he, Fairbanks, Pickford and Griffith founded United Artists. In 1925 Chaplin released his first UA picture, THE GOLD RUSH, a feature length masterpiece, followed by CITY LIGHTS and MODERN TIMES. In later years, Chaplin's output dwindled. He became a political exile from the U.S. This poet of comedy died in 1977.

THE VAGABOND (1916)
 CHARLIE CHAPLIN, EDNA PURVIANCE, CHARLOTTE MINEAU, ERIC CAMPBELL
 This is Charlie in one of his outstanding performances as The Tramp, a character of sentiment so easily loved. On a "happy note" Charlie the wandering violinist befriends and rescues a young girl who has been kidnapped by gypsies. By a fluke the wealthy mother locates her daughter and takes her back home leaving Charlie heartbroken and very much alone. But all is not lost and the "vagabond lover" finds happiness in the end. This Chaplin directed film has good dramatic touches foreshadowing many of his future works.

BEHIND THE SCREEN (1916)
 CHARLIE CHAPLIN, EDNA PURVIANCE, ERIC CAMPBELL, HENRY BERGMAN, LLOYD BACON, CHARLOTTE MINEAU, ALBERT AUSTIN
 An amusing satire on Keystone slapstick stars Charlie as an overworked movie stagehand who destroys a movie studio. An excellent female impersonation and a finale topped with a pie throwing melee make this a triumph.

THE CURE (1917)
 CHARLIE CHAPLIN, EDNA PURVIANCE, ERIC CAMPBELL, HENRY BERGMAN, JOHN RAND, JAMES KELLEY
 Charlie as a sophisticated, but alcohol-prone man-about-town, visits one of the "springs" of the day where the "cure" was administered. Eric Campbell appears as a big ox with a gouty foot that inebriated Charlie persists in stumbling over. Charlie's trunk of liquor finds its way into the mineral spring and by the end of the film he and Edna are the only two sober souls in the entire place. That is, as sober as two people in love can be! One of the greatest shorts in the history of comedy.

THE RINK (1916) CHARLIE CHAPLIN, EDNA PURVIANCE, JAMES T. KELLEY, ERIC CAMPBELL, HENRY BERGMAN, ALBERT AUSTIN
 Charlie is a klutzy waiter who serves a live cat to a restaurant patron and makes out the check of Mr. Stout by examining what the hothead has spilled on his suit. Then it's out of the restaurant and off to the rink. Charlie on wheels shows grace and agility at Edna's skating party. He turns it into a riot of roller skates complete with love, jealousy, falls and speed, and a whole bevy of flatfooted cops. THE RINK is a fast-moving comedy and one of the best shorts Chaplin ever made.

EASY STREET (1917)
 CHARLIE CHAPLIN, EDNA PURVIANCE, ALBERT AUSTIN, ERIC CAMPBELL, JAMES T. KELLY, HENRY BERGMAN
 Charlie is "saved" when he visits the rescue mission on EASY STREET, the toughest neighborhood in town, and falls in love with the missionary Edna. Determined to make good Charlie becomes a patrolman. Policemen are being knocked off by the hour but Charlie reverses the process and becomes the master of the street. A great example of the little man's ability to triumph. EASY STREET was much like the impoverished area of London where Chaplin was a child. A very moving comedy with several classic gags.

B THE TRAMP (1915)
CHARLIE CHAPLIN,
EDNA PURVIANCE,
BUD JAMISON, LEO WHITE,
PADDY MCGUIRE

Charlie as the little Tramp saves a girl and her father by being allowed to work on the farm. Our hired hand proves not so handy as he prods his fellow worker with a pitchfork and tries to milk a cow by pumping its tail. The Tramp falls injured by a gunshot and is pampered by the girl. Charlie mistakes nursing for love until the girl's boyfriend sets him straight. Through his unrequited love pathos, is introduced for the first time.

ERIC CAMPBELL, HENRY BERGMAN,
ALBERT AUSTIN, FRANK J. COLEMAN

Sound the alarm! Charlie, an escaped convict, has eluded the long arm of the law. This crafty criminal, soon mistaken for society's darling, is swept into a dizzy and outrageous social whirl. Complete with wild chases, outrageous slapstick and clever pantomime. After this comedy Chaplin signed a million dollar contract making him the best known and highest paid comic on the screen. The last of the Chaplin Mutuals rated as one of the very best.

Comedy

B THE IMMIGRANT
CHARLIE CHAPLIN, EDNA PURVIANCE,
ALBERT AUSTIN, HENRY BERGMAN,
STANLEY SANFORD, ERIC CAMPBELL

Edna and her mother are steerage passengers en route to America. Charlie befriends the girl in an incident aboard ship and is immediately infatuated. Cast ashore broke and hungry, Charlie relies on luck to get a hot meal in one of the funniest restaurant sequences ever filmed. A twist of fate finds Charlie and Edna at the altar proving America to be the land of opportunity. In THE IMMIGRANT we see one of Chaplin's early uses of pathos in the unfolding of a comedy.  CHARLIE CHAPLIN, MACK SWAIN,
 TOM MURRAY, GEORGIA HALE,
 BETTY MORRISEY, MALCOLM WAITE,
 HENRY BERGMAN

In one of the all-time masterpieces of the cinema, Chaplin plays a lone prospector in the 1890 Alaskan Gold Rush. The Little Tramp braves cold, hunger, a delirious cabin mate and unrequited love in this boisterous, yet tender, comedy gem. Fourteen months of filming and hundreds of extras make this Chaplin's most ambitious and popular film. THE GOLD RUSH is Charlie at his best . . . a comic creating poetry on the screen. This version is the original 1925 release with one of Bill Perry's finest scores backing it up.

 CHARLIE CHAPLIN, PAULETTE GODDARD,
 CHESTER CONKLIN, HENRY BERGMAN,
 HANK MANN
 MODERN TIMES was an ideal vehicle for the Little Tramp's last real screen appearance. Charlie, as a victim of automation, goes berserk and leaves the factory for a mental institution. His involvement with an orphan girl lands him in and out of jail. In the end Charlie and the girl walk toward the horizon with hope in their hearts. This film weaves together all the elements that made Chaplin the most-beloved performer in the world. It was Chaplin's last film without dialogue and the last look at an unforgettable character . . . Chaplin's Tramp.

CITY LIGHTS<sup>1</sup> (1931) CHARLIE CHAPLIN, VIRGINIA CHERILL, FLORENCE LEE, HARRY MYERS
 After the Tramp falls in love with a blind girl, he struggles for money to help her regain her sight. Chaplin halted production in the middle of this film when it became clear "talkies" were here to stay. He debated whether to add a voice, but in the end he kept the Tramp character silent. Cameo appearance by Jean Harlow.

THE DENTIST (1932) W.C. FIELDS, ELISE CAVANNA, BABE KANE

Written by Fields, THE DENTIST begins with a placid breakfast, a run-in with the iceman, followed by a round of golf with a hole in one. Later at the office, you see W.C. treat several patients in the usual roughshod Fields manner. Partway through his treatment of patient Elise Cavanna, he leaves to go upstairs and punish his daughter. Her temper tantrum cracks the plaster, part of it falling in Elise's mouth. People love this film today. However, when it first came out Fields was considered an irascible scoundrell Ah . . . yes.

THE GENERAL (1926)

BUSTER KEATON, MARION MACK,
CHARLES SMITH, FRANK BARNES,
GLEN CAVENDER, JIM FARLEY

Historians consider THE GENERAL to be the last truly classic comedy of the silent era. It is actor-director Keaton's most famous work. A spoof on Civil War espionage laced with the dry pantomime Keaton was famous for.

STEAMBOAT BILL, JR. (1928)

BUSTER KEATON, ERNEST TORRENCE,
TOM MCGUIRE, MARION BYRON

River Junction is the local for a feud between steamer captains Steamboat Bill and J. King. Buster as Bill, Jr., falls head over heels for King's daughter. But the predictable plot . . . feuding fathers and frustrated young lovers . . . is secondary to the amazing special effects Keaton developed. In a cyclone sequence Keaton squeezed every possible gag out of a wind machine, often at his own risk. At one point a two and a half ton building front falls within inches of his head. An astonishing exhibition of Buster Keaton's talents.

 STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY,
 BILLY GILBERT, PATRICIA ELLIS,
 MINNA GOMBELL

World War I buddies, Stan and Ollie are reunited after 20 years. Ollie has invited Stan over for one of his sweet little wife's wonderful steaks; this is his first mistake. Mrs. Hardy, a holy terror in a skirt, not only refuses to cook a steak for Ollie and his "knick-knack" friend but packs up and leaves for mother. Undaunted, Ollie declares that he will cook the meal himself. Naturally, catastrophe is the order of the day as these two idiots destroy the Hardy's apartment and are chased by an outraged Billy Gilbert for conduct unbecoming with his wife. From BLOCKHEADS

A Blackhawk Biography

Laurel and Hardy began as a team at Hal Roach Studios in 1926. Laurel had been Chaplin's roommate and understudy in Karno Theatrical Troupe. He was in vaudeville for a decade when he joined Roach, first to star in his own series, then as a writer, and finally as the "L" of L&H.

Babe Hardy entered showbiz as a singer and went into films in 1913 as a villain.

As a team, Laurel and Hardy made 105 films which were largely ignored by critics until the 1950's.

Each was the other's dumbfunny foil. As their comedy evolved, they made millions laugh.

Both are gone now, but their effect on comedy continues.

B BATTLE OF THE CENTURY<sup>2</sup> STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY, CHARLIE HALL, ANITA GARVIN

BATTLE OF THE CENTURY has been considered a "lost film" for some twenty years, and its reputation has now assumed legendary proportions. BATTLE was the first film in which Laurel and Hardy emerged as a great comedy team. Charlie Hall is a pie vendor making a delivery when he has a disastrous encounter with Laurel and Hardy. He slips on one of the boys' banana peels coming out of a shop and the fight is on. Every innocent bystander is involved when more than 4,000 pies meet their fate. Pie sequence only.

B BLOTTO<sup>2</sup> (1930) STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY

Stan is happily married to Anita while Ollie is a confirmed bachelor. Ollie would like to go out on the town with his buddy. Although Stan is willing, he can't seem to think up a convincing excuse. The two put their heads together over the phone while Anita listens in on the extension and makes a few plans of her own. Our boys head for the local speakeasy with a mad housewife hot on their trail. Stan and Ollie arrive only to star in a theatrical finish supplied by an irate Anita.

B ANOTHER FINE MESS<sup>2</sup> (1930)
 STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY,
 THELMA TODD, JAMES FINLAYSON

Vagrants Stan and Ollie are being chased by the police. They come upon a basement door and see it as their means of escape. The door leads to a mansion and the boys take over. Ollie decides that he should assume the role of master of the house. Where does that leave Stan? Doubling as the inept butler and the butler's twin sister Agnes, the maid. The story is based on a sketch written by Stan Laurel's father called "Home from the Honey-moon".

B BUSY BODIES<sup>2</sup> (1933)
 STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY,
 TINY SANDFORD, CHARLIE HALL

Stan and Ollie work in a planing mill and knock each other about with boards all day. Stan "helps" Ollie by planing his rear end, trapping his fingers in a window frame, opening a closet on him, and dumping a can of glue over his head. It's an ideal Laurel and Hardy comedy, especially when their prized Model T roadster heads straight for the bandsaw in the film's classic moment. Their timing is excellent in each and every gag, making BUSY BODIES an outstanding example of the boys practicing their trade . . . comedy.

B BRATS<sup>2</sup> (1930) STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY

Playing both fathers and sons, Stan and Ollie are babysitters for Stan Jr. and Ollie Jr. Being acquainted with the messes which Stan and Ollie achieve as adults, you already know their sons are chips off the old blocks. The junior members of the families almost break up the long friendship that has existed between their fathers. Oversized sets used to create the illusion of the boys as children make BRATS unique among Laurel and Hardy comedies.

B LIBERTY<sup>2</sup> (1929) STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY, JAMES FINLAYSON, JEAN HARLOW

Stan and Ollie are convicts making their escape from prison. They change into civilian clothing only to discover that their pants are switched. They are constantly being discovered and screamed at for trying to change their pants behind some wall or mound of packing cases. Finally, with a policeman in pursuit, they are whisked in a construction elevator to the top of a new skyscraper of which only a steel skeleton is yet completed. The boys contend with steel beams on hoists, joints not yet riveted, and each other. Perhaps their greatest silent.

B TOWED IN A HOLE<sup>2</sup> (1933) STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY, BILLY GILBERT

Stan and Ollie are fish peddlers looking for a way to increase their profits. They decide to do away with the middle man and catch their own fish as well as sell them. One difficulty after another besets them. Not the least of their problems is the "lemon" of a boat they bought from Billy Gilbert. Hard as they try they can't make the boat sufficiently seaworthy. They fall through the bottom of the leaky craft, cover themselves with paint and poor Stan winds up with two black eyes!

B COUNTY HOSPITAL<sup>2</sup> (1932) STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY, BILLY GILBERT, SAM LUFKIN

Ollie has had an accident and is in the hospital recuperating. He is recovering nicely until Stan pays a visit. The visit turns out to be more adverse to Ollie's well-being than was the accident. Stan is so disruptive the doctor discharges Ollie. On the way out Stan sits on a hypodermic needle that a nurse says has enough in it to make anyone sleep for a month. Nevertheless, Stanley tries to drive Ollie home. Somehow they never quite make it.

B ME AND MY PAL<sup>2</sup> (1933) STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY, JAMES FINLAYSON

Ollie starts out as an elevator operator and rises to the top of the business world. He is even going to marry the boss' daughter. Best man Stan arrives on the scene with the ring, railroad tickets, and a jigsaw puzzle. The puzzle becomes an obsession with Stan, Ollie, boy, butler, policeman . . . in fact, everyone except the prospective father-in-law, pop-eyed Finlayson. Ollie's stockholdings and bride are at stake, but there's one puzzle piece missing.

B TWO TARS<sup>2</sup> (1928) STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY, EDGAR KENNEDY, CHARLIE HALL

TWO TARS is a famous and brilliantly funny picture. Easily among that handful of films deserving to be labeled a true "comedy classic". Stan and Ollie are two sailors on leave who pick up a pair of easily impressed young ladies for a joy ride in the country. En route they encounter a massive traffic jam. Ollie intervenes, but motorists' tempers flare and nearly every Model T on the road is more or less systematically pulled apart, crushed, smashed, or otherwise disfigured. More than a hundred cars were used in filming.

B A CHUMP AT OXFORD<sup>2</sup> (1940) STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY, JIMMY FINLAYSON, WILFRED LUCAS, CHARLEY HALL, ANITA GARVIN, PETER CUSHING

Street sweepers Stan and Ollie thwart a bank hold-up and are rewarded with an education at Oxford. After wandering in a maze of hedges for a whole night, prankster students lead them out and set them up in the Dean's quarters. A bump on the head resulting in amnesia gives Stan an ironic alter identity; Lord Paddington, the arrogant and successful man about Oxford. Resentful, Ollie becomes his butler in this the first of several humorous twists. Next to the last Laurel and Hardy for Hal Roach.

CHARLES BACHMAN, CHARLEY ROGERS

Stan and Ollie are hired by a mad scientist to steal bodies from a cemetery for his experiments. Stan is somewhat leary and a bit concerned by the scientist's peculiar habits, such as saving his cigarette ashes in his jacket pocket. The professor is taken away by the authorities, but Stan and Ollie don't know it and continue their mission. The boys find the cemetery "haunted" and after many mishaps the dauntless duo get their man. However, the corpses' death has been greatly exaggerated. When Stan attempts to run off with the body, the body helps.

B ONE GOOD TURN<sup>2</sup> (1931) STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY, MARY CARR, BILLY GILBERT

Stan and Ollie are a couple of "free spirits" off to see America in their Model T. They run out of money and stop at a kitchen door in hope of a handout. The boys overhear a conversation that they take to be a threat. Someone is trying to foreclose the mortgage against a dear old lady. Stan and Ollie set out to sell their only possession, their car, to help the lady in distress. You can imagine their surprise when they find out they had overheard a rehearsal of the Community Players.

B SONS OF THE DESERT<sup>2</sup> (1932)
STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY,
CHARLIE CHASE, MAE BUSCH,
DOROTHY CHRISTIE, LUCIEN LITTLEFIELD

Generally rated as one of the best of all the Laurel and Hardy features, SONS OF THE DESERT is jam-packed comedy from beginning to end. It contains some of the best routines the boys ever developed. Stan and Ollie are determined to go to their fraternal convention, but their wives have other ideas. So, Ollie pretends to be sick and a "doctor" orders him on a long sea voyage with Stan in attendance. The boys come home from the convention to find that the ship the wives thought they were on had wrecked. New printing and completely re-recorded for best quality.

STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY,
EDGAR KENNEDY, KAY DESLYS

The Hardys and the Laurels are preparing for a Sunday picnic with Hardy's brother-in-law, Edgar Kennedy. He suffers from the gout and continually gets his foot knocked. Stan tries to change a flat tire but forgets to put the brake on. Naturally the car falls on Kennedy's foot. When Stan puts the bad tire back on, Ollie gets so frustrated he pitches the jack through a neighbor's window leading to the reciprocal destruction that the boys were famous for. In short, it may be a PERFECT DAY, but everything goes wrong.

CHARLIE HALL, MAE BUSCH

Stan and Ollie are all set to open an electrical store. It just happens to be next to a delicatessen run by Charlie Hall and his wife who had met our pair on a disastrous camping trip in THEM 'THAR HILLS. Stan and Ollie try to be nice, but one thing leads to another. Ollie suggests that everyone let bygones be bygones and offers, "You help our business and we'll help your business and I'll mind my business!" From there it escalates into retaliation of the first magnitude.

B BIG BUSINESS<sup>2</sup> (1929) STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY, JAMES FINLAYSON, TINY SANDFORD

BIG BUSINESS is one of the comedy classics. Even non-Laurel and Hardy devotees are automatically caught up in the fury which in its precise mounting excitement, attention to detail, meticulous editing, and no-pause-for-breath action, is to the comedy film what THE BIRTH OF A NATION is to the historical spectacle. Selling Christmas trees in California, Stan and Ollie seem to bring out the "Bah, humbug!" in everyone. At the home of Scotsman Finlayson, disaster nearly overtakes everyone.

B BERTH MARKS<sup>2</sup> (1929) STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY

Stan and Ollie are a "big time" vaudeville team enroute from one theater to another. Catching a train becomes a problem when Stan loses the music. A passenger trips over their cello as they all scramble aboard. When Ollie asks how they can perform without music, Stan suggests they fake it. It's time to find a seat, but Stan sits on a midget and a passenger's hat before they get settled. They are then put in the upper berth of an open section Pullman for the evening. While the space is confined, the laughs are not.

Laurel and Hardy

B THE CHIMP<sup>2</sup> (1932) STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY, BILLY GILBERT, JAMES FINLAYSON, TINY SANDFORD

Stan and Ollie are circus clowns dressed as Lady Godiva's horse. They get mixed up with the powder charge that is to send the great "Destructo" from the cannon's mouth and blow up the tent instead. This is the last straw, and the circus must fold. Since the owner is unable to pay back wages, he lets the crew draw for circus property. Ollie draws Ethel, the gorilla. Stan gets the flea circus. Finding a room for the night leads to hilarious adventure with M-G-M the lion.

B THE LAUREL AND HARDY MURDER CASE<sup>2</sup> (1930)
STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY

Here's a creepy "haunted house" thriller that burlesques the atmosphere of the mysteries of the 1920's. Stan and Ollie become involved with a strange butler, the police, heirs, black cats, a stormy night complete with lightning flashes, screams, murder and suspects. Why? All because Ollie has the idea that Stan is the long lost heir of the late tycoon, Ebenezer Laurel. It's murder in the worst degree, with an inept investigation in true Laurel and Hardy tradition. Dare we say . . . you'll die laughing?

B HOG WILD<sup>2</sup> (1930) STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY

Ollie has promised his wife he will put a radio aerial on the roof, and Stan arrives just in time to "help." The climax comes when the ladder to the roof, balanced on top of the Model T, takes off in city traffic with Ollie on top and Stan along, but not really at the wheel. They become involved with one of the old Los Angeles narrow gauge trolley cars, between which Stan's Model T gets "squoshed" into an accordion! The story for this great-constructed comedy was written by the well-comedy director Leo McCarey.

STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY, JAMES FINLAYSON, ANNIE CORNWALL, GLORIA GREER

The boys are cast as two sailors on shore leave who meet two lovely ladies and escort them to the soda fountain. Ollie tries to stretch the fifteen cents they have between them to cover refreshments for four. Stan, stuck with the check, decides it's all or nothing and puts every last cent into a slot machine. Luck is with him, and he hits the jackpot. The boys take the girls to the water for a romantic row but this time, leaving lady luck ashore, they create a riot that sinks every boat on the lake including their own.

B LEAVE 'EM LAUGHING<sup>2</sup>

(1927) STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY,
EDGAR KENNEDY, CHARLIE HALL

Ollie tries unsuccessfully to pull Stan's tooth. The two create such a disturbance that the landlord serves them an eviction notice. The next morning Ollie takes Stan to the dentist. While they wait, a patient tries to escape and is wrestled to the floor by the dentist and two nurses. Stan is terrified so Ollie tries to show him how easy it is and gets chloroformed and a tooth gets pulled in the process. Ollie awakens furious and turns the laughing gas on Stan. By the time they reach the car, they are both delirious with laughter. The climax is a traffic jam on cop Kennedy's corner.

B LAUGHING GRAVY<sup>2</sup> (1931)

STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY,
CHARLIE HALL

This is the story of Laughing Gravy, a little dog, and the boys' attempt to give him shelter on a cold, snowy night. Landlord Charlie Hall does not allow pets so the boys must sneak the pup in. Ollie gets out of bed to quiet the dog. When he jumps back into bed, it breaks causing plaster to fall on Charlie's head. In a series of accidents, Ollie gets dumped in a barrel of water and turns into a human icicle, Stan almost falls off the roof, and the chimney falls in on their heads! Charlie is ready to throw them all out when the police intervene in a most unusual way.

Stan and Ollie are greeting card salesmen. Ollie designs the cards, and Stan writes the lovely verses, such as: "A Merry Christmas husband, Happy New Year's night, I wish you Easter greetings, hooray for the 4th of July!" At one apartment they are met by tearful Mae Busch whose artist husband is so wrapped up in his work that she feels she is a "neglected wife." The boys volunteer to make her husband jealous. Ollie is to kiss her the way her husband used to. The kiss works, and the husband is so jealous that he challenges Ollie to a duel.

B SWISS MISS<sup>2</sup> (1938) STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY, DELLA RINK, ERIC BLORE

Just as Victor Albert, great operatic composer, arrives at the Alpen Hotel in the Swiss Alps, two nincompoop mousetrap salesmen, Stan and Ollie, enter town. Albert needs peace and quiet to write his opera, and you can bet that is just what he doesn't get with Stan and Ollie around. The boys start out washing dishes and are promoted to waiters. Here Stan does a marvelous routine trying to con a St. Bernard out of his brandy keg. (Stan shot this remarkable sequence in one take.) The zany climax finds them moving a piano up a narrow Alpine trail, over a swaying bridge on which they meet... a gorilla?

B THE LIVE GHOST<sup>2</sup> (1934)

STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY,
WALTER LONG, MAE BUSCH

Fish market employees Stan and Ollie are fishing on their day off. They are approached by a sea captain, Walter Long, who has a proposition for them. He will pay them a dollar a head for every sailor they can shanghai. They proceed to a bar where they knock out every tough guy they can find, using a frying pan no less. As fate would have it, Stan and Ollie end up being shanghaied themselves. A drunken sailor puts his suitcase in bed so he can sneak out to a bar and not be missed. Stan and Ollie accidentally shoot the suitcase and think they have committed murder. The drunk falls in a vat of white-wash before boarding the ship causing many a "ghostly" experience for Stan and Ollie.

B BELOW ZERO<sup>2</sup> (1930)

STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY,
CHARLIE HALL, TINY SANDFORD

Stan and Ollie are street musicians. Stan plays the portable organ, and Ollie plays the viol. Business isn't too good on this particular day until they notice they are next to an institution for the deaf. They relocate and a woman pays them double just to get them off her street. Moving on, their rendition of "In the Good Old Summertime" irritates Charlie Hall who is shoveling snow. Things get violent, and the organ is flattened by a passing truck while Ollie gets smashed over the head with the viol. In a stroke of what appears to be good luck, they find a loaded wallet. But when they invite the cop to share in the cash, they discover it belongs to him.

B FLYING ELEPHANTS<sup>2</sup> (1927)

STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY

One of the earliest of the Laurel and Hardy comedies produced by Hal Roach. It presents Stan and Ollie as blundering, fumbling Neanderthal men surviving as best they can. Their leader decrees that all men between the ages of 13 to 25 must marry in 24 hours or else be killed or banished from the tribe. Ollie is a mighty giant who thinks he's quite the ladies man. His most effective line is "Beautiful weather we're having. The elephants are flying south." Stan is "Little Twinklestar," and both are after the same girl. There is a brief animated section in the middle of this film.

B THE MUSIC BOX<sup>2</sup> (1932) STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY, BILLY GILBERT, CHARLIE HALL

Simply put, THE MUSIC BOX is one of the best sound films Laurel and Hardy ever made.

In it, Stan and Ollie must deliver a piano to Professor Theodore von Schwarzenhoffen.

The good professor's house, however, is only reachable by a long flight of steps . . . a very long, very steep group of steps to be sure.

From then on things run from predictable to the nutso with tie-twiddling, the inevitable cop, a ridiculing nursemaid with baby carriage, and more.

THE MUSIC BOX is a rich, well-edited and perfectly executed example of frustration comedy. It's also Laurel and Hardy's only Oscar-winning film.

B DIRTY WORK<sup>2</sup> (1933) STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY, LUCIEN LITTLEFIELD

The boys are a pair of chimney sweeps who perform like a demolition crew.

Nept, hazardous and thoroughly comical, Stan and Ollie arrive to clean the chimney of a crackpot scientist. Jessup, the butler, drilly tells the boys that the fireplace is against the wall.

Stan and Ollie go to work, but between Stan's shooting Ollie with bricks and soot, Ollie's end-of-his-rope "I have nothing more to say" remark, and Littlefield's search for the elixir of youth, DIRTY WORK turns into one of Laurel and Hardy's most memorable movies.

B THEY GO BOOM<sup>2</sup> (1929) STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY, CHARLIE HALL

THEY GO BOOM is an ideal example of Laurel and Hardy's ability to take a simple premise and elaborate it into minute after minute of laughter.

The premise: Ollie has a cold, "I'm liable to die of ammonia". Stan will care for him.

Among the developments: While they sleep, Stan sneezes. The window shade zips open. Ollie pulls it down before pulling the covers off Stan.

Stan sneezes, a plaque falls. Stan drives a nail to rehang it. The nail hits a water pipe.

Outstanding comedy bits keep alternating with sneezes until the climax . . . an air mattress filled with gas explodes after, of course, Stan sneezes.

Hardy alone

THE BELLHOP (1921)
OLIVER HARDY, LARRY SEMON
Larry Semon plays a not-too-bright bellhop and Oliver Hardy a crooked desk clerk at a posh hotel. The guests include a gun moll, spies, and other zanies.

THE BELLHOP was a high budget production. Among other things the money bought a very spectacular chase using airplanes.

LONG FLIV THE KING (1926)
OLIVER HARDY, CHARLIE CHASE,
MAX DAVISON, MARTHA SLEEPER
One of Hardy's early screen appearances starred Charlie Chase, the often under-rated situation comic and director.

The plot concerns a princess who must marry within 24 hours to inherit her throne. She picks Chase for a husband because he's a convict sentenced to death.
Ah, but there's a catch.

THE SAWMILL (1922) OLIVER HARDY,
LARRY SEMON
Oliver Hardy made films before teaming with Stan Laurel. In this one, Hardy is featured with Larry Semon who was at the peak of his career as Vitagraph's top comedian.
Semon proves a logging camp is far from the ideal place to seek revenge.

OUR WIFE (1931) STAN LAUREL,
OLIVER HARDY, BEN TURPIN,
JIMMY FINLAYSON

It's nuptial nonsense when Stan helps Ollie elope. But Ben Turpin, the cross-eyed justice of the peace, marries the bride to the wrong man.

By the time Ben Turpin made this very funny cameo appearance, he was more a character actor than a comedian. Originally he had worked with Charlie Chaplin, but a falling out caused him to launch his own successful career.

Even after the stock market crash of 1929, Turpin, unlike many silent era stars, was financially secure. His investments in real estate had proved more depression-proof than other performer's stock and bond purchases.

WAY OUT WEST (1937)
STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY,
JIMMY FINLAYSON, SHARON LYNNE,
ROSINA LAWRENCE, THE AVALON BOYS

Prospectors Laurel and Hardy try to deliver the deed to a dead friend's gold mine to his daughter. Trouble is they don't know where she is.

WAY OUT WEST is one of the best films Laurel and Hardy ever made and one of the best satires of the western movies.

Laurel alone

THE NOON WHISTLE (1923)
STAN LAUREL, JIMMY FINLAYSON,
KATHERINE GRANT

Foreman Finlayson has his hands full of slackers at the furniture factory. Stan is the biggest of them all.

THE NOON WHISTLE is both a master piece of comic timing and one of Stan Laurel's earliest comedies for the Hal Roach Studios.

HELPMATES (1931)
STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY,
BLANCHE PAYSON, BOBBY BURNS,
ROBERT CALLAHAN

When Ollie awakes after a wild house party, the realization of impending doom looms . . . his wife is due back at noon. With the house a mess and a hangover to boot, Ollie asks Stan for help. And then compounds the error by leaving before the cleanup is done.

Along the way are sequences with selzer bottles, soot and other slapstick standards. Many of these were considered passe until Oliver and Stan refined them.

Bobby Burns, by the way, executes one of the Roach Studio's standard tricks . . . a fall which even had a name: gag 108.

MIDNIGHT PATROL (1933)
STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY,
CHARLIE HALL, TINY STANFORD

In most cases when Laurel and Hardy dealt with the law, they were on the wrong side . . . either by choice or by chance.

In MIDNIGHT PATROL they prove no more adept at crime busting than they are at crime causing.

Despite nearly having their squad car stolen, unwittingly aiding a burglar, and almost wrecking their Police Chief's house, the boys do apprehend a crook. Wonder of wonders.

MIDNIGHT PATROL, the pair's 31st two-reeler, marked the last appearance of Tiny Stanford with the boys. In most of his roles with Laurel and Hardy, Stanford had played a cop.

A Blackhawk Biography

Between 1922 and 1944, 221 Little Rascals comedies were made. The cast of kids changed regularly, but the series as a whole was characterized by inventiveness, talent and professionalism. The atmosphere was easygoing, with Roach and his top Rascals director, Robert McGowan, supervising father figures. Although the Rascals series produced some stars (Jackie Cooper and Robert Blake), the glory of the series is the group of kids. Many imitations were tried but the group was never successfully copied.

THE PINCH SINGER<sup>2</sup> (1936)

In a take-off on Major Bowes Amateur Hour, Spanky holds tryouts for someone to represent the Little Rascals on a radio station's big $50,000 talent contest.

SPOOK SPOOFING<sup>2</sup> (1928)

Farina, armed with his "mumbo-jumbo" charm, brags to the gang that it will protect him. Toughy picks a fight with Farina. And when Farina uses his charm, Toughy pretends to die. The last laugh is on the pranksters when they experience an eclipse of the sun.

THE KID FROM BORNEO<sup>2</sup> (1933)

Spanky's ne'er-do-well uncle comes to the Gang's hometown to show a wild man from Borneo. The kids mistake the attraction for the impresario. "What makes him so black?" asks Stymie. "My mother says he's the black sheep of the family", replies Dickie Moore. The Gang thinks the wild man from Borneo is going to eat them up. "I don't think I'll taste so good," says Spanky, "Mom says I'm spoiled." A comedy with good dialogue and effective gags. Although THE KID FROM BORNEO is often abridged for television, Blackhawk's version is uncut.

A Blackhawk Biography

Harold Lloyd created a uniquely American character . . . The Boy who was 1920's Modern, a go-getter with a touch of the fantastic. The critics at the time rejected him as being too slick, but Lloyd grossed over $35 million representing everything that was positive about the 20's. He was criticized for the commonplace and straight, but what he did surprises, works and endures. Lloyd didn't become involved in the controversy surrounding his artistry. He was too busy outdoing himself feature after feature. Hard work was fundamental to Lloyd's success. Just as hard work taught him the rudiments of slapstick, it kept him developing throughout his career. Lloyd died knowing America loved the All American Boy.

ALL ABOARD (1917) HAROLD LLOYD, BEBE DANIELS, SNUB POLLARD

One of the earliest of the Lloyd comedies in which he wore the framed glasses. Father tries to separate Bebe from Harold, but Lloyd doesn't give up.

HAUNTED SPOOKS (1920)

HAROLD LLOYD, MILDRED DAVIS
Poor Harold is unlucky in love. He loses every girl he loves to the other guy. Even suicide fails. Then along comes Hillary, who needs a husband to inherit a house. It's wedding bells for Harold but he gains a haunted house in the bargain. Although HAUNTED SPOOKS marked Lloyd's return to the screen after a bad accident, reviewers hailed it as his best comedy to that time. It's ingeniously simple in conception and filled with cleverly executed gags. No one could fail at a suicide as well as Lloyd, nor draw as much sympathy from the audience.

Charley Chase

Production © Hal Roach Studios, Inc. (1936)

HIGH C'S<sup>2</sup> (1930) CHARLEY CHASE, THELMA TODD, THE RANCH BOYS
Charley Chase is one of the very few classic comics who has as yet not received the recognition and admiration he deserves.

He was a star, a director, a singer, a composer, and funny, but even many dedicated film collectors have not seen his work.

In the 1930's Hal Roach Studios experimented with the featurette length, hoping for more bookings. Most of these failed, but, perhaps because of Chase, HIGH C'S is a wonderful exception to the rule that these featurettes were long, padded and dull.

Chase plays a World War I draftee who is sent to France where he runs into (and is wooed by) Thelma Todd. When he meets The Ranch Boys, it's song at first sight, proving that Chase was a gifted singer and war . . . at least in this movie . . . doesn't have to be hell.

TEDDY AT THE THROTTLE

(1916) BOBBY VERNON, GLORIA SWANSON, WALLACE BEERY, TEDDY (THE DOG)
 IN 1915 an out-of-work man walked into the Sennett Studios accompanied by a Great Dane. The dog was signed . . . for $35.00 a week.

The canine's name was Teddy. And for years he held his own as a star on the Sennett lot, complete with his own dressing room and a public relations department fond of sending out his signature . . . a paw print.

Eventually seven different dogs played the Teddy part. Each was portrayed as at least as bright as the human stars.

In TEDDY AT THE THROTTLE, Bobby Vernon plays the fickle-hearted boyfriend of Gloria Swanson. And when the villain abducts her and ties up Bobby, it's Teddy to the rescue.

Directed by Clarence Badger who later filmed IT.

BARNEY OLDFIELD'S RACE FOR A LIFE

(1913) BARNEY OLDFIELD, MACK SENNETT, MABEL NORMAND, FORD STERLING

BARNEY OLDFIELD'S RACE FOR A LIFE has assumed legendary status because it combines so many of the absurdities, slapstick gags and clichés that made the Sennett Studios famous.

The movie may well be the ultimate burlesque of high melodrama with a lovely girl, abducted by a dastardly villain, and Barney racing a train to the suitably happy ending.

FATTY AND MABEL ADRIFT

(1916) FATTY ARBUCKLE, MABEL NORMAND, AL ST. JOHN, TEDDY (THE DOG)

The comedy stage is set when Mabel refuses Al's offer of marriage to accept Fatty's. Al vows revenge, hiring Brutus Bombastics Gang to execute it. Soon Mabel and Fatty and their house are floating out to sea . . . and it's up to that magnificent animal Teddy the dog to get through to The Keystone Kops.

The Marx Brothers

A NIGHT IN CASABLANCA

(1946) THE MARX BROTHERS, LISETTE VERA
 In 1946, the Marx Brothers came back to the screen in this nutso parody of CASABLANCA. And although they were older, they certainly weren't any wiser as evidenced by their actions battling an ex-Nazi, his gang and their own ineptness.

Groucho puns, Chico cheats and Harpo harps. (From Ivy Films)

LOVE HAPPY

(1950) THE MARX BROTHERS
 For an occasional smile of gratitude, Harpo steals food for a struggling stage company. Marilyn Monroe makes a cameo appearance. Groucho plays a private detective and Chico is "Faustismo, the Great." (From Ivy Films)
B/W
 780-08-0002, Super 8, dia., 85 min. . . . . $229.98

GLAD RAGS TO RICHES (1933)

SHIRLEY TEMPLE
A satirization of old-time melodramas with Shirley as a reluctant cabaret performer longing to be rescued by her boyfriend Elmer. Performances are tongue-in-cheek, ranging from overacting to exaggeratedly stiff line reading. The kids obviously enjoyed making this one. Uneven sound level.

Comedy

DR. STRANGELOVE OR HOW I LEARNED TO STOP WORRYING AND LOVE THE BOMB (1963) GEORGE C. SCOTT, PETER SELLERS, STERLING HAYDEN, SLIM PICKINS

In 1963 Director Stanley Kubrick turned an unlikely topic . . . the nuclear destruction of every living thing . . . into a classic black comedy.

In the film a demented General, Jack Ripper, unleashes a highly unauthorized nuclear attack against "The Rooskies".

The performances by Scott as a gung-ho General who looks on war as good, clean fun; Pickins as a good 'ol boy B-52 pilot; and Sellers in three roles are superb.

In the end atomic explosions are as common as pie-throwing in a slapstick comedy.

Co-written by Kubrick and Sellers, DR. STRANGELOVE is one of the finest films of the last 25 years.

Documentary

NANOOK OF THE NORTH is both an epic film and an epic achievement. Robert Flaherty, an explorer turned filmmaker, had spent 20 years in the North before he started this documentary.

Working at temperatures well below his camera's capabilities, Flaherty filmed an intelligent, almost allegorical record of Eskimo customs and Nanook's skills and humor. More amazing yet was Flaherty's ability to capture the warmth and tenderness Nanook and his family feel as they "conjur" food, shelter and clothing from the bitter Arctic.

It's a remarkable film, possibly the best documentary ever, and certainly a film milestone.

THE SILENT ENEMY (1930)

The silent enemy is hunger. The film is an impeccable reconstruction of Ojibway Indian life before the white man.

The film, based on 72 volumes written by Jesuit missionaries between 1610 and 1791, leaves a visual record of a vanishing way of life.

THE PLOUGH THAT BROKE THE PLAINS (1936)

Pare Lorentz's PLOUGH THAT BROKE THE PLAINS broke the European monopoly on social documentary films.

It was made for the Federal Government, but anyone who supposes that it is therefore dull or plodding is completely mistaken.

The film concerns the 400 million acres of the Great Plains, their settlement, misuse and consequences.

Every frame is superbly photographed. Every sequence is stunningly effective.

Throughout, the makers' techniques and talents provide eloquent testimony to the power of film, and the revenge nature takes on those who misuse her.

THE RIVER, a New Deal era government documentary, was so excellently done that Paramount distributed it theatrically.

The story is one of man against nature. The setting, Tennessee. The task, to control the Mississippi and the suffering its flooding has caused.

In content, as well as style, this is a remarkable film.

B BERLIN: SYMPHONY OF A GREAT CITY<sup>2</sup> (1927)

Director Walter Ruttmann's famous BERLIN: SYMPHONY OF A GREAT CITY is one of the most influential non-fiction silent films.

On the surface it records everyday events: a railroad arriving from a suburb, factories opening, street filling, traffic jamming, an evening at a cabaret, etc.

But it's also a social commentary when it contrasts the simple meals of diners with the huge ones served at the Berlin Zoo . . . or a suicide at dusk.

And it's a lesson on the art of film with images piling on images until a definite rhythm, story and personality emerge.

A Blackhawk Biography

One of the greatest pioneers in motion picture history, D.W. Griffith, directed his first film in 1908 for Biograph. In the next five years he directed approximately 450 films. Griffith's use of the camera and story devices, such as the dramatic rescue, immediately put him into the forefront of movie making. What didn't exist in film technique, Griffith would often invent. In 1915, THE BIRTH OF A NATION, his first great epic, was released. Politically it remains controversial. Artistically it is a landmark. Griffith's monumental INTOLERANCE followed. It's quite possibly his premiere work, although it was far less profitable than BIRTH OF A NATION. With the advent of sound and the Depression, Griffith's moralism and pre-occupation with drama became less popular. He died in 1948 at the age of 73, a brilliant man, lonely and wanting to work.

INTOLERANCE (1916)
 MAE MARSH, ROBERT HARRON,
 MIRIAM COOPER,
 CONSTANCE TALMADGE,
 ERICH VON STROHEIM, LILLIAN GISH

Although less financially successful than his earlier BIRTH OF A NATION, D.W. Griffith's INTOLERANCE is regarded as his most important work.

Using the image of a mother rocking a cradle as a bridge, Griffith skillfully wove four separate, but parallel stories (The Fall of Babylon, the crucifixion of Christ, the St. Bartholomew's Day massacre of French Huguenots and a more modern story) into one whole. The magnificently achieved purpose: to illustrate the struggle between love and intolerance through the ages.

An impressive score adds greatly to Blackhawk's sound prints.

SON OF THE SHEIK<sup>2</sup> (1926)
 RUDOLPH VALENTINO, VILMA BANKY,
 AGNES AYRES

SON OF THE SHEIK was Rudolph Valentino's last movie . . . and his best. It reveals both this early screen idol's sense of humor and his professionalism.

The story concerns a desert sheik who believing a beautiful dancing girl has betrayed him, abducts her to exact his "sweet revenge". Finding her innocent, the sheik then sets out to bring the desert renegades who victimized her to justice.

Surprisingly, SON OF THE SHEIK is as fresh today as ever. The reason? Even when it was made, it took a tongue-in-cheek attitude toward the torrid love scenes, desert chases and larger-than-life rescues that give it so much charm.

THE MAN WHO KNEW TOO MUCH<sup>1</sup> (1934) PETER LORRE,

LESLIE BANKS, EDNA BEST

Although he added the blistering pace and ever-building tension, director Alfred Hitchcock based THE MAN WHO KNEW TOO MUCH on an actual incident.

In 1910, several Russian anarchists had holed up in London and Winston Churchill called out the Home Guard to capture them.

In the film, an anarchist holds the wife and father of the hero as Hitchcock's cameras follow Bobbies over walls, through back doors and on to the rescue.

The film vividly proves that even in his earlier days Hitchcock could tantalize an audience.

Thus, it's a true tour-de-force for both film students who appreciate its techniques and other viewers who appreciate a rousing well-done suspense tale.

AS YOU LIKE IT<sup>1</sup> (1936)
 LAURENCE OLIVIER, ELIZABETH BURGNER
 One of Shakespeare's best comedies, AS YOU LIKE IT, was transmitted to the screen by writer Sir James Barrie, director Paul Czinner, editor David Lean, and Laurence Olivier.
 And if the story of Orlando's love features characters slightly more whimsical than normal, the movie is stronger for it.
 The cast, especially 28-year-old Olivier, is terrific.

A Blackhawk Biography

George Melies, a talented conjurer, was one of the first to realize that film could create illusions unfettered by logic or probability. Melies constructed his own camera and opened the first cinema in Paris. He produced nearly 4000 films between 1896 and 1914. Throughout his career, Melies financed, wrote, designed, directed, and appeared in his fantastic magical productions. TRIP TO THE MOON ranks as the first great international success in the history of film.

A Blackhawk History

The Pathe Studio began in France, the country which dominated the early history of film.

By 1910, however, they also had an American unit which traveled photographing and showing their product.

The Studio had enormous influence, pioneering the art film, serials, hand-tinting, modern distribution methods and more.

Charles Pathe, the studio's dictatorial founder, once declared "only the armaments industry made profits like ours."

THE THIEF OF BAGDAD

(1924) DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS, SR., JULIANNE JOHNSTON, SOJIN, SNITZ EDWARDS

In 1924 Douglas Fairbanks, Sr. departed from his swashbuckling roles to play a scamp who falls in love with a princess.

The film cost two million dollars in part because of the cost of the many special effects needed to make legendary Bagdad seem real. Directed by Raoul Walsh.

TRIP TO THE MOON (1902)

George Melies' TRIP TO THE MOON begins as the president of a congress of astronomers announces that he and five colleagues will visit the moon.

Their space ship is a bullet designed to be shot from a huge gun.

It works, and the travelers approach the moon which becomes identifiable as a large face. In one of the most famous images in early cinema, the ship hits the face.

Other adventures (including moon men who attack) take place in this remarkable film with both imagination and pioneering visual tricks.

The History of the Motion Picture

THE HISTORY OF THE MOTION PICTURE is a unique series of half-hours tracing the development of the 20th Century art of film-making.

Some units are condensations containing carefully chosen highlights and key scenes from great classics. Others present anthologically selected materials from many sources on specific themes: comedy styles, individual stars, directional techniques, etc. New musical scores enhance interest for today's audiences, and thoughtful narration pinpoints the significance of each sequence in movie history, recalling the challenges faced by the craftsmen who made them.

These 16mm. sound prints are ordered from

Blackhawk with the understanding that they will not be copied, reproduced, transferred to other media, leased, re-distributed on a rental basis, used theatrically or for television of any kind, all of which rights are expressly reserved.

The History of the Motion Picture series is contained on the following page.

A Blackhawk History

In the beginning there were many pioneers: the Frenchmen Lumiere and Melies plus the American Edison were among them.

Compared to the films these men produced, the earlier magic lantern shows and shadow plays were undynamic, one dimensional and mundane.

In 1895 all that changed. That year French audiences were astonished to see a train move toward the camera in a production by Lumiere.

After Lumiere refused to sell Georges Melies a camera or explain how his worked, Melies set out to create one himself.

Melies succeeded and used his machine as a showman's tool, emphasizing both movement and magic. He had grasped the fantastic possibilities of film. His sets, effects and techniques were remarkable achievements then . . . and today remain spectacular.

Eventually Melies produced 4,000 or so films which did not merely record events . . . they told stories.

In America the Edison Co. had begun making "pictures" using their Kinetoscope, a peephole contraption used in penny arcades.

Edison director Edwin S. Porter, agreed with Melies that movies should tell stories and so shot THE GREAT TRAIN ROBBERY, one of the classic "primitive" films.

There were, of course, other film pioneers (Pathe, Lubin, Morrison, etc.) which later filmmakers built on. But from 1895 to 1915, Lumiere, Melies and Edison's Porter were the most influential.

Blackhawk offers many early films which can be found throughout the Blackhawk Film Digest.

B THE PHANTOM OF THE OPERA (1925) LON CHANEY, MARY PHILBIN, NORMAN KERRY

Strange things are happening at the Paris Opera House.

Deep beneath it lurks a scarred genius methodically plotting revenge. He's a creature so hideous that he strikes terror into everyone . . . including the prima donna his tutoring has brought success.

The story is a classic that this 1925 movie, the first filmed version, lives up to spectacularly.

Lon Chaney, Sr.'s acting brought never-again-equalled power and scope to the title role. Director Rupert Julien kept the action moving. And the highly unusual hand colored masked ball sequence shocked audiences used to black and white. A masterpiece of horror.

B THE HUNCHBACK OF NOTRE DAME (1923)

LON CHANEY, PATSY RUTH MILLER, NORMAN KERRY

The first filmed version of Victor Hugo's novel captivated film audiences and brought Lon Chaney, Sr., "The Man of a Thousand Faces," stardom.

It's the touching story of Quasimodo, the hunchbacked bellringer of Notre Dame Cathedral who loves and defends the gypsy beauty Esmerelda during a beggar's revolt in France.

It cost one and one-half million dollars to film, and the money shows in set design, attention to detail and overall production values.

Yet Chaney's abilities as an actor of unusual depth remain the film's dominant features.

B NOSFERATU, THE VAMPIRE (1922) MAX SCHRECK, GUSTAVE VON WAGENEHEIM, GREATA SCHROEDER

Close your eyes and wind back through the murky past when a dead man came to life and journeyed through Europe sucking blood from the living and spreading death (or worse) everywhere his presence ventured.

It's been filmed many times since, but director F.W. Murnau's version of the vampire legend was the first. And he succeeded magnificently.

The symbolic camera work gives NOSFERATU a very effective, nightmarish quality. Blackhawk's prints of NOSFERATU contain the whole story although there are other versions of this classic film.

ST. LOUIS BLUES (1929)

BESSIE SMITH

ST. LOUIS BLUES is the only movie Bessie Smith ever made. Columbia Records sold 6 million Bessie Smith records from 1923 to 1929. Southern blues had moved North, traveling up the Mississippi and the eastern coast. Ma Rainey, the mother of the blues gave Bessie her start, but Bessie Smith influenced every blues singer to follow. She had a colossal talent, and a full-bodied voice that could fill a hall long before the microphone made all singers equal. Bessie had made the definitive recording of W.C. Handy's ST. LOUIS BLUES and was chosen for the film, set in a smoke-filled speak-easy of the late Twenties.

THE THIRD MAN (1950)

ORSON WELLS, JOSEPH COTTEN,
TREVOR HOWARD, VALLI

Written by Graham Greene, directed by Britisher Carol Reed and photographed by Robert Krasker, THE THIRD MAN is one of the top suspense films of all time.

An American writer in post-World War Two Vienna journeys to a friend's funeral. But after much investigation (and some bumbling) discovers his friend lives.

Little by little the darkness and treachery of Vienna's Black Market is revealed.

The performances are excellent. The zither score by Anton Karas is justifiably famous. And the film riveting.

Especially noteworthy are several sequences including the famous ferris wheel segment.

OUTSIDE THE LAW (1921)

LON CHANEY, PRISCILLA DEAN,
RALPH LEWIS, E.A. WARREN,
WHEELER OAKMAN

The original negative of OUTSIDE THE LAW was destroyed, and until the mid-seventies no prints were thought to exist. Happily Bob DeFlores did locate a print of this mystery in which Lon Chaney, the master of make-up, plays 3-parts.

The print, however, was somewhat damaged. So extensive restoration was necessary. As now offered, these prints are good, but do contain some flaws near the end.

In the movie, a likeable hood, Silent Madden, and his daughter plan to "go straight." Unfortunately, Madden is framed and goes to jail. And his daughter, embittered by the turn of events, continues to lead a life of crime.

FOOLISH WIVES (1922)

ERICH VON STROHEIM, MAE BUSCH,
RUDOLF CHRISTIANS

When actor and director Von Stroheim produced this opulent, million dollar plus film, it established Universal as a major studio, lost money, and earned Von Stroheim a reputation as extravagant.

The film, now carefully restored, maintains the original plot of a Russian rake who seduced one too many women.

SPIES (1929) RUDOLF KLEIN-ROGG, GERDA MAURUS, LIEN DEYERS, WILLY FRITSCH

The story is fictional and complex, involving a plot to take over the world by a German bank president/master criminal. Some film historians argue that director Fritz Lang's SPIES accurately reflects the attitudes and conditions that led to the Third Reich.

True or not, this thriller definitely displays Lang's directorial virtuosity.

ADOLF HITLER (1958)

The four films listed at right cover virtually every period in Hitler's life, using film shot when the events were happening. Individually and collectively, they are history.

ADOLF HITLER — THE TWISTED CROSS<sup>2</sup> (1958)

He was a madman. He was a dictator. He was Adolf Hitler, and he led the whole world into war.

THE TWISTED CROSS traces Hitler's route toward his ultimate goal: an all powerful Germany ruled by an all powerful fuhrer.

Through films taken at the time, later footage and articulate narration, the film leads us through Germany's bleak period . . . the post World War One era.

Then it follows Hitler as he builds his Nazi party from a few to many and takes the evil he created to war.

THE TWISTED CROSS is a careful look at this pivotal era in German history. Script by Henry Solomon. Narration by Alexander Scourby.

A Blackhawk Biography

Tom Mix entered the movies in 1910 billed as an "Ex-U.S. Marshall, expert roper and broncho buster." He was all that and more, range rider, Texas Ranger and soldier. As a performer, Mix was a man of action, full of energy and showmanship. He did his own stunts and was a straight shooting hero for millions of moviegoers.

Zane Grey's immortal RIDERS OF THE PURPLE SAGE had been filmed three previous times by Fox Studio when Mix's version appeared. It was a triumph.

Ex-Texas Ranger Tom Mix dedicates his life to pursuing the kidnappers of his sister and niece. From there the plot is substantial and multi-leveled making this film worthwhile for much more than its action and adventure. Musical score composed and performed by William Perry.

JUST TONY is filled with the flamboyant action, energy and spirit that made Tom the premier cowboy star.

The action never slacks as Tony, Mix's magnificent black mustang, seeks revenge against those who mistreated him, rescues Tom from trouble and more.

Filed in breathtaking locations, JUST TONY is a prime example of Mix at his peak for Fox Studios. Musical score composed and performed by William Perry.

THE GREAT K & A TRAIN ROBBERY is quite possibly the definitive Tom Mix western: It's speedy light-hearted, and filled with daredevil stunts performed, as always, by Mix himself.

Disguised as a bandit, detective Mix sets out to capture the mysterious gang who is robbing the K & A railroad. And with the help of Tony, his wonder horse, Tom Triumphs. Lots of action and breathtaking scenery. Musical score composed and performed by William Perry.

AFRICAN QUEEN (1951)

HUMPHREY BOGART,
KATHERINE HEPBURN, ROBERT MORELY
John Huston's direction mixes humor and drama in perfect proportions. The players' interaction is riveting. And the James Agee script is filled with superb character development. Hepburn moves from being the thoroughly prim and proper missionary to plotting to destroy a German battleship. Bogart develops his Oscar-winning characterization of the drunken boat captain who is amazed by the company the outbreak of WW I has forced him to keep. From Ivy Films.

CAT BALLOU (1965) LEE MARVIN, JANE FONDA, MICHAEL CALLAN, REGINALD DENNY

Originally conceived as a serious western CAT BALLOU has become a camp classic. Jane Fonda is Cat, a notorious lady outlaw. Marvin plays a dual role as brothers, one good and one evil. The "good" but inebriated brother, a gun-fighter to end all gun-fighters, teams up with Cat to save her fatehrs ranch. Marvin had been little known in his 15 years of movie making until CAT BALLOU which earned him an Oscar.

THE PRIVATE LIFE OF KING HENRY VIII (1933)

CHARLES LAUGHTON
This touching, bawdy, and funny story of the much-married monarch was the first British film to win international success. Laughton's gusty performance in the title role not only established him as a star, it also won him the Academy Award as best actor of 1933.

ANTHONY SLIDE

Anthony Slide is a professional film scholar on the staff of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. He is the author of seven books on the history of the American silent film, including Early American Cinema (1970), The Films of D.W. Griffith, with Edward Wagenknecht (1975), and The Big V: A History of the Vitagraph Company. Since 1965, he has written innumerable articles and book reviews; his column, "Films on 8mm and 16mm" appears in Films in Review.

WAR IS NOT ALWAYS HELL IN THE MOVIES

Webster's dictionary defines war as "fighting, strife and conflict", but the cinema, throughout its history, has seen war in other lights, aside from those of Webster. It has often agreed with Sherman that war is hell, but sometimes it has seen war in a comical vein, from Chaplin's "Shoulder Arms" through Harry Langdon's "Soldier Man" to Charley Chase in "High C's". When America itself has been engrossed in war, the cinema has seen the fight as one of patriotism and heroism; it seems that only the Vietnam War brought out any negativism in the film industry's attitude. Prior to this country's entry into the First World War, the cinema was fairly equally divided between those producers who used the film to preach pacifism and a philosophy to keep America out of the conflict, and those who sought to advocate preparedness and a desire to fight for democracy, even if that democracy was 3,000 miles away.

American silent film producers would appear to have been isolationist in terms of their interest in war, which was limited to those conflicts which directly affected Americans. The war of independence, surprisingly, held little interest, with D.W. Griffith's "America" being the only film to give it the scope and the production values it demanded, although an argument might also be made for Janice Meredith, the Marion Davies vehicle of the same year.

It was the Civil War, with its romanticism and its tales of heroic exploits, which most appealed to American film-makers from D.W. Griffith and "The Birth of a Nation" to David O. Selznick and "Gone with the Wind". Not that Griffith first turned his attention to the Civil War with "The Birth"; it was also prominently featured in his Biograph shorts. Many, such as "The House with Closed Shutters" and "The Informer", dealt with personal tragedies created by the War, but one, "The Battle", released in November of 1911, was almost a rehearsal for the war sequences in "The Birth", with the director orchestrating men and artillery in the recreation of a Civil War battle which was both realistic and artistic.

Griffith's attitude towards war can only be described as contradictory. "Intolerance" was perhaps the screen's greatest preaching for brotherly love, and yet, within months of its completion — and even before America's entry into the First World War — the director was planning an anti-German propaganda film to encourage warmongering when it was for what he considered the right cause.

"Hearts of the World" demonstrates the brutality and horror of warfare, and yet, at the same time, argues that it is a necessary evil. It was propaganda, pure and simple, for the allied cause, but, unlike so many other First World War propagandistic exercises, it was also a minor masterpiece of film-making. Its three, young leading players — Lillian and Dorothy Gish and Robert Harron — achieved a maturity of film acting in "Hearts of the World" which most certainly they did not fail to accomplish in later films, but which they occasionally surpassed. As in "The Battle" and "The Birth of a Nation", D.W. Griffith found beauty in the horrors of war, but, unlike the earlier films, he made no major effort to show the overwhelming tragedy of war to all the parties concerned. Perhaps the director atones for his totally anti-German stance in "Hearts of the World" with "The Girl Who Stayed at Home" (1919), in which the German soldier, played by David Butler, displays a human kindness far removed from the "All Huns are butchers" philosophy of "Hearts of the World."

George Siegmann's attempted rape of Lillian Gish in "Hearts of the World" is as nothing compared to the cruelty and crudities of Mack Sennett's "Yankee Doodle in Berlin", which attempts, in heavy-handed fashion to satirize the German royal family, and which finds humor in an American soldier dropping hand grenades down inside the trousers of two German soldiers. It is ironic that the American planes shown indiscriminately dropping bombs on Germany are described as "messengers of democracy."

Although almost a decade removed from the last two films, "What Price Glory" falls somewhere in between in terms of its presentation of war as a fun game for men to pursue, with plenty of whoring and drinking, and with its sudden about-face in the last reel as Charmaine (Dolores Del Rio) wonders if the men marching so proudly to the front will ever return. Production-wise, it is on a par with "The Big Parade", but it lacks much of the latter film's humanity.

The most famous of pacifist features from the First World War period is Thomas Ince's "Civilization", and even here the producer's ethics are somewhat in question, as, after America's entry into the conflict, it was re-edited to endorse the allies' anti-German stance and saw release in England as "What Every True Britain Is Fighting For." "Civilization" is allegorical, and allegory generally does not work in the field of motion pictures. "Civilization" is no exception. The direction, by Raymond B. West, is dull and the players and their characterizations lack vitality. There are only two truly moving moments: Kate Bruce, as a war-torn mother, welcoming her son home, and Lillian Read as a child in whose face is captured the tragedy of war. It is a sad but true reflection on film preservation that the two films which "Civilization" spawned — the intensely anti-German "The Fall of a Nation" of Thomas Dixon and the pacifist "War Brides of Nazimoya" — do not survive, and they were probably far more interesting productions than "Civilization." Archive

The Second World War, its build-up and its aftermath, and the American film industry's involvement in it could and should be the subject of several books. But as far as this short essay is concerned, that's another war, and another story . . .

ENCORE!
YANKEE DOODLE IN BERLIN

(1919) FORD STERLING, BEN TURPIN,
MARIE PREVOST

YANKEE DOODLE IN BERLIN stands alongside Chaplin's SHOULDER ARMS as one of the finest comedies of the First World War, yet it has received little acclaim. This is due in part to its release four months after the Armistice when war films were a glut on the market. Producers were being urged to use other than war characters and avoid scenes of human destruction. Bothwell Browne, who plays the American hero, steals the Kaiser's war plans by dressing in female clothes and seducing him. Then he signals the key information to a telegraph operator disguised as a scarecrow in the cornfield adjacent to the palace! An extremely funny film.

THE BATTLE (1911) CHARLES WEST,
BLANCHE SWEET, ROBERT HARRON,
CHARLES H. MAILES

An expensive and ambitious undertaking by Biography, THE BATTLE remains one of 1911's outstanding films. Many of the best Civil War films were done by D.W. Griffith who seemed to have a particular feel for the scope and tragic magnitude of a war between brothers. Blanch Sweet unmercifully teases Charles West when he panics and flees terrified from battle. She rewards him with her love when he carries out a dangerous mission to bring ammunition through Confederate lines. With its tremendous cast and pageantry (for its time), THE BATTLE is a significant step in Griffith's career.

WHAT PRICE GLORY (1926)
VICTOR McLAGLEN, EDMUND LOWE,
DOLORES DEL RIO, PHYLLIS HAVER

One of the most exciting and adult motion pictures of the silent era. War is presented as a great game with only the final moments of the film hinting at the heartbreak and horrors of the reality of battle. McLaglen and Lowe, as two hard-boiled U.S. Marines, mouth oaths incessantly, while fighting with each other for fiery Dolores Del Rio in possibly her greatest role. WHAT PRICE GLORY? is silent cinema on a grand scale. Its First World War battle scenes stand with those in THE BIG PARADE and ALL'S QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT as some of the best ever filmed.

ENCORE!
SOLDIER MAN (1926)

HARRY LANGDON

SOLDIER MAN was the last short subject Harry Langdon made for Mack Sennett before embarking into feature production with his own company. Langdon's bashful, baby-boy comedy character was totally unlike any of the rough and roudy type typical of Sennett in the Keystone days only ten years before. Here he is cast in the dual role of a Doughboy who didn't know the war was over and the perpetually inebriated King of a small European country. The plot brings these two contrasting but look-alike characters together with nothing missed in the comedy situations.

CIVILIZATION (1916)

The King of Wyedpryd embarks on a brutal and unnecessary war. Ferdinand, a military inventor, is influenced by the woman's peace movement. During a long illness Ferdinand encounters the Spirit of Christ and recovers to preach peace. The king is outraged at first, but is made to see the light and abandons war. Historically, CIVILIZATION is a very important film. It has been credited with contributing to Wilson's re-election in 1916 on the slogan "he kept us out of war". As a peace propaganda film, CIVILIZATION was more important than any other production prior to ALL'S QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT.

Ub Iwerks, Part Two

By Jeff Lenburg

It was in 1943 that Iwerks introduced to the silver screen his most prestigious innovation: multiplane animation.

For more than 50 years his tools were a pen and an inkwell. He found prominence as Walt Disney's top animator, later he formed his own production company, and still later returned to Disney. Just before the release of Iwerks last Silly Symphony Disney and Iwerks had several disagreements which resulted in Ub suddenly leaving the studio for a job with Pat Powers' Celebrity Pictures.

Iwerks spoof of cartoon fables became profitable ventures for him from 1933 to 1936. His first two Cinecolor fables were "Toonerville Trolley" and "Jack and the Beanstalk." In the fables, Iwerks established fuller animation, brighter colors for the Cinecolor series, and highly clever comedy gags.

However, it was in 1934 that Iwerks introduced to the silver screen his most prestigious innovation: multiplane animation, which Max Fleischer used later in two-reel "Popeye" cartoons.

The innovation broadened the horizons of movie cartooning, adding three-dimensional foreground and background to cartoons. The multiplane camera was capable of shooting through layers of animated background, moving either forward or backward, to project on film elaborate backgrounds and a greater feeling of depth.

Of his 1934 ComiColor productions, Iwerks and Pat Powers' Celebrity Pictures released "The Little Red Hen," "The Brave Tin Soldier," "Puss 'n Boots," "The Queen of Hearts," "Aladdin and the Wonderful Lamp," "The Headless Horseman," "The Valiant Tailor," "Don Quixote," and "Jack Frost". It was the cartoon "The Headless Horseman", based on the novel "Sleepy Hollow", in which Iwerks experimented with his innovation of multiplane animation.

Again, like Flip, multiplane animated cartoons which preceded the "Horseman" projected more character because of their depth and the three-dimensional realization in atmosphere exemplified on screen.

Not all ComiColor cartoons were produced using the multiplane camera, but those films not shot in multiplane never lost quality animation or story; the standards of cartooning remained superb.

Iwerks must have remembered his days at Disney when he made the Comicolor cartoons, because most films had a distinct backbone similar to his direction and animation of "Silly Symphony" cartoons.

By now, "Willie Whopper" cartoons had faded from the silver screen, two years later, the release of "Happy Day" on September 30, 1936 became Ub Iwerks final production for Pat Powers' Celebrity Pictures. Thereafter, he became supervisor of Columbia's "Color Rhapsodies", and finally, rejoining his long-time friend Walt Disney in 1940.

He became Disney's creative and technical director for the studio's new Optical Print Department in 1945, developing new techniques and improving existing sound techniques. Walt later promoted him to technical researcher in the Special Processes and Camera Department, where he perfected techniques for color traveling matte composition cinematography, for which he won an Academy Award in 1964. Iwerks even created and perfected many effects for Disneyland's ride attractions.

Ubbe Ert Iwerks, creator, director, innovator, died July 7, 1971, leaving behind for students of the art not only finely animated films, but innovations in animation as well.

THE BRAVE TIN SOLDIER (1934)

This exciting and charming adaptation of Hans Christain Anderson's "The Steadfast Tin Soldier" is both beautiful and dramatic. A supporting cast of toys include the likeness of Eddie Cantor, Laurel and Hardy, Harpo and Groucho Marx. Working with and under the supervision of Ub Iwerks, animator Jimmie Culhane produced a most "serious" and touching version of this tale of the one-legged soldier, his cardboard ballerina and the many rivals they overcome before reaching a happy end in "Toy Heaven".

THE HEADLESS HORSEMAN (1934)

A luckless, skinny schoolmaster, Ichabod Crane, rivals mischievous Brom Bones for Katrina, the catch of the country. At a dance awkward Icky thinks his charms have won her. An irate Brom chases him home at a frantic gallop masquerading as the horrible, famous HEADLESS HORSEMAN. How a calmer Icky gains revenge at the wedding of Brom and Katrina provides a jolly surprise fade-out to this spooky tale. When Ub Iwerks animated the famous Washington Irving story he added many typical Iwerks touches. Brom for example, is a characterization of Clark Gable.

SUMMERTIME (1934)

SUMMERTIME is a musical revue of the seasons, chock-full of exciting, magical imagery. A snowman melts changing to Pan playing pipes. A frightened groundhog is tricked by Old Man Winter who throws a giant menacing shadow. Bold flowers burst into bloom as warm weather and sunshine flood the air. Among the techniques Iwerks used was rotoscoping . . . photographing humans and then copying their movements. SUMMERTIME can be regarded as a forerunner of Disney's FANTASIA.

 HAROLD LLOYD, MILDRED DAVIS,
 BILL STROTHER, NOAH YOUNG,
 WESTCOTT B. CLARKE, MICKEY DANIELS,
 ANNA TOWNSEND

Harold leaves for the big city to make his fortune, promising his sweetheart that he'll send for her as soon as he makes it. He writes home exaggerated letters of his success. The girl, believing Harold is wealthy, goes to the city to see that he saves his money. Harold is shocked to see her and vows to win money in a publicity stunt so they can be married. He ends up scaling a building in spite of pigeons, a tennis net, a painter's board, a clock, a mouse and a weather gauge. Lloyd was an expert stunt man and actually climbed the building himself. It's a delightful film with an outstanding musical score.

Heading to New York in quest of a publisher, this Poor Boy meets the girl of his dreams. And becomes her friend by concealing her poodle from the conductor.

Later, one disappointment (the publisher rejects his novel) leads to another (the girl's engaged and her fiancé's a rascal).

Finally, the cahse is on as Harold races to stop the marriage in an ending that may have inspired later endings for two W.C. Fields' films (NEVER GIVE A SUCKER AN EVEN BREAK and THE BANK DICK) and a later Mike Nichols film (THE GRADUATE).

The Songbird takes off on another adventure when a river valley floods and the search is on for survivors.

At the controls is aviator/cowboy Sky King who innocently rescues three "policemen" with something to hide . . . it seems they're really escaped murderers out to rob the bank of $600,000.

THE FLOOD OF FURY is a prime example of non-prime television in the days before superheroes, cartoons, and rock 'n' roll took over Saturday mornings.

It's also entertainment for everyone, nostalgia from the 50's, and histy for the student of television's early days.

Lend an ear to "Railroadin'" with its newly found

Here is your chance to own a copy of the only surviving Little Rascals comedy, never to have been shown on television, as originally shown. Until now sound recordings made by Victor Records to accompany the original version were lost. At long last "Railroadin'", the second Hal Roach talking comedy, can be heard as well as seen.

All Aboard Pacific No. 1373:

Our Gang is spending the day at the railroad yards where Joe and Chubby's dad is an engineer. Joe's dad breaks for lunch but the kids stay with the train. Suddenly a crazy man releases the brake, starts the engine, then jumps off leaving the kids to operate the run-away train.

Huge steam locomotives join the cast of Hal Roach characters. Railroad buffs will have a field day watching Farina and Joe Cobb pulling switches, hurdling under overpasses, and generally raising havoc.

After some hair-raising close-calls, Joe throws the switch that slows the engine to a steam halt. Fade out. Fade in. The gang is gathered around as Joe's pop explains what could happen if the kids found themselves aboard a runaway engine. Mary interrupts to point out that Farina has been asleep and didn't hear the story.

Did they really pull the switches? Did the crazy man really start the steaming locomotive? Or did Farina just doze off and dream the whole story? Dream or not, it's a first class Little Rascals production with wonderful action shots of steam engines none of us will ever see again.

"Railroadin'" is one of the few transitional talkies that wasn't intimidated by the new medium of sound, concentrating on the visual. It's a Blackhawk exclusive. And now available with the sound track as originally shown.

P.S. There is some decomposition in the original 30mm nitrate talkie short. Although this makes it below our viewing standards, it is absolutely the best available. We make this offering in response to the great demand for this film.
