Supermania

By John Wilch

"For nearly five years in the movie comics, Superman operated outside the law, a well-meaning fugitive!"

Born Kal-el on the planet Krypton in the hero saturated imaginations of two young men from Ohio, Superman, the world's mightiest mortal, burst into being in Vol 1., No. 1 of Action Comics on June, 1938. He was The Action Ace, The Champion of Democracy, The King of Speed, The Man of Steel and The Man of Tomorrow all rolled into one of the greatest legends of American popular culture.

Tracing the comic book roots of this Champion of the Oppressed reveals the steady embellishment, revision and evolution of the Superman story and characters. Originally, Superman didn't fly, he leaped. The arch-villain, Lex Luthor, had thick red hair. Superman's boots were blue. For a full two years Lois Lane had no romantic interest in Superman. For nearly five years in the early comics, Superman operated outside the law, a well-meaning fugitive!

Until 1948, the comics contended that Superman possessed super powers because the Kryptonians were a super race. That year the genetic thesis was discarded and Superman's super powers were attributed to Earth's lighter gravity. In a 1960 revision of this explanation, the ultra solar rays of the Earth's yellow sun are cited as an additional reason for Superman's super powers.

The Superman legend was expanded continuously by all the media that chronicled his career.

The Fleischer/Paramount Superman cartoons (1941-1943) contributed a better drawn Superman and such phrases as, "Look! Up in the sky — it's a bird! It's a plane! It's Superman!" and, "Faster than a speeding bullet".

Whereas the super alliance of Superman and Batman wasn't realized in the comics until 1954, the best of the Superman radio shows featured this magnificent pair in the early 1940s. The stirring voice of this Mutual network Superman was provided by Clayton "Bud" Collyer whose catch phrase was, "Up, up and a-way!"

The multi-media Superman assault resulted in the refinement of a fluid legend and a broad popularity base for the character.

The cover of Action Comics No. 1, the first comic book in which Superman appears.

Superman was further popularized by: a daily newspaper strip in 1939; George Lowther's successful novel SUPERMAN in 1942; two Columbia serials starring Kirk Alyn in 1948 and 1950 (his business cards now read: Kirk Alyn-Superman); and the Broadway musical "It's a Bird . . . It's a Plane . . . It's Superman!" written by the team who later rewrote Puzo's SUPERMAN screenplay: Robert Benton, David and Leslie Newman.

Twelve years after Superman appeared in comics, he began a seven season run on the massed media of all, television. Millions more Americans became acquainted with Superman legend by the "Adventures of Superman". All over the country, children flew across lawns and through living rooms with towels tied around their necks.

Wearing the red, blue and yellow padded costume this time was George Reeves. Reeves was an outstanding actor who had shone in GONE WITH THE WIND as Brent Tarleton.

By the late 1950s, Superman was like Santa Claus to kids. They believed, but they didn't. In any case, it was precious. When a despairing George Reeves, better known as Superman, committed suicide, millions of children were in a state of shock and disbelief.

From the late 1950s to SUPERMAN, THE MOVIE, the evolution of Superman the legend has occurred mainly in the comic books.

The Daily Planet has been replaced by Galaxy Communications. The business is television now. Perry White is gone. Clark and Lois look 1970s contemporary and regard each other as equals.

SUPERMAN, THE MOVIE combines many of the modern revisions with the original flavor of adventure and the American way of truth and justice, but introduces completely new aspects of the legend.

Superman is more human and not merely a hero by circumstance. As Christopher Reeve explained, "What makes Superman a hero is not that he has power, but that he has the wisdom and the maturity to use the power wisely." Reeve as Superman gives the impression that he could have become a gangbuster on Krypton because of this innate nobility.

Superman adopts more extensive behavior changes than ever before when in his dual identity of Clark Kent. Lois Lane, as played by Margot Kidder, is so sexy and comically transparent that she nearly steals the show. There are campy new villains; but, most importantly there is a big budget.

At last, the spectacular havoc wrought by fantastic criminals can be visualized!

This enables far greater flexibility of plot. In The Adventures of Superman, the plot invariably had The Man of Steel rescuing Jimmy or Lois from some moronic crooks who had kidnapped them. Now, Superman tackles the most calamitous of Lex Luthor's deeds not on newsprint, on celluloid.

SUPERMAN, THE MOVIE ranks as the superest of Superman's manifestations to date. New York is approximated as Metropolis wonderfully. No Superman has ever worn a more perfect costume that Reeve in his latex. The 1,000 people on 8 units working with 1,250,000 feet of film during and beyond 350 actual shooting days ended up with a splendid 12,000 feet of film in the finished print. As last, Superman flies believably!

That the film was accompanied by an ad campaign that was so inescapable it was nauseating; that the payroll salaries exceeded those of major league baseball players; that the film sometimes bogged down; that Reeve needed forty pounds more; all of this is forgivable and irrelevant. Forgivable, because the film worked in general and children loved it. Irrelevant, for two reasons. One, as Brando commented, "There are times when you just want some kind of popcorn and happiness". Two, Superman began in the cultural pits — comic books — so why all the judgement?

By the way, a mint copy of that first dime issue of Action Comics is now worth at least $5000.

Nearly a quarter of a century has passed since an American legend appeared on the scene, now this famous hero appears on the screen in the greatest spectacular of all time. It took years to make, using stunning special effects and an all star cast.

When an explosion rocks the planet Krypton, the infant Superman is sent to earth.

The boy is raised by a midwestern couple who know right off that this boy is special. As a toddler he lifts a flat bed truck to help his father change a tire!

Emerging from the Fortress of Solitude hidden in the Artic wastes, he has suddenly become Superman . . . crimefighter for mankind. Watch as he rescues Lois Lane (Kidder) who is hanging onto a seat belt from a helicopter teetering atop the Daily Planet building.

In a subterranean hideout below Grand Central Station, Lex Luthor and his comic crew plot a nuclear attack. But the man of steel prevails to chase down a rocket, rescue a bus on the Golden Gate Bridge, and plunge into the earth to stop the shifting San Andreas fault. What happens to Luthor and company? Superman delivers the criminals to jail air mail

The Sons of the Sons of the Desert

by John McCabe

"I just wish there was some way for us to tell Mr. Laurel how wonderful we all think he and Mr. Hardy were!"

Sons of the Desert has some claim to being Laurel and Hardy's finest feature film. Stan himself was always very wary of a question frequently asked him, "What is your favorite among the films?" His answer never varied: "I have none. There are things I like in all of them . . . and some things I can't stand in a few of them. But I really couldn't pick out a single favorite. It's like asking what is your favorite child. Can't be done."

With that sensible caution in mind, it is nevertheless easy to say of Sons of the Desert that it has comic richness second to none in the Laurel and Hardy canon. Beguilingly directed by William A. Seiter, it is a film that evokes echoes in us all, particularly memories of the pleasure derived from playing hookey.

For the mainspring of Sons of the Desert is Stan and Ollie sneaking away to their lodge's convention in Chicago despite interdict to the contrary by their wives. When Laurel and Hardy were married men in their films (and they usually weren't: in their 105 films, Stan is married 11 times, Ollie 22), they usually espoused ladies of pugnacious disposition. In Sons of the Desert Ollie has Mae Busch, who in many of the films was the total termagant and here is so again; Stan belongs to Dorothy Christie who in the film cherishes her very own shotgun as active symbol of dominance.

Stan and Ollie get to Chicago by Ollie faking a nervous breakdown, leading to devious medical advice (rendered by a bribed veterinarian!) to recuperate in Honolulu. Since Mrs. Hardy is a poor sailor, Stan is ordered to accompany the invalid. Of course the boys go at once to Chicago where they find the Sons of the Desert in high spirits (in several senses) and the fun is intense. Little do our heroes realize however that the ship they are reputedly on during their return from Hawaii has sunk. They return, very bravely, to face Mae's gimlet eyes and Dorothy's redoubtable shotgun. It is all hilarious stuff and easily among the five best Laurel and Hardy films.

After my book, Mr. Laurel and Mr. Hardy was published in 1961, I received many letters telling me in effect that it was about time such public tribute to these two great artists was being paid. Implicit in most of these letters was a feeling made explicit by a young lady who wrote me, "I just wish there was some way for us to tell Mr. Laurel how wonderful we all think he and Mr. Hardy were!"

Pondering these letters, influenced also by my membership in the Baker Street Irregulars, the Sherlock Holmes society with chapters in various cities across the world, I thought of a like group, this one dedicated to the celebration of Laurel and Hardy, and united not only in that but also in a dedication to fun and its honorable consummation.

To structure the group, I wrote a notably un-serious Constitution and asked Stan if he approved. He did, emphatically, and in fact added two delightful amendments to the Constitution. However, he made one stern proviso. Our group must have (to use his words) a "half-assed dignity" about it. The group has always honored that dictum, at times spectacularly.

Stan suggested two possible names for the group. One, obviously, was The Sons of the Desert; the other possibility was The Boobs in the Wood, the name of an, alas, unrealized

TV script Stan had fashioned for Babe Hardy and himself. But my friend, the noted show business illustrator, Al Kilgore, felt strongly that Sons of the Desert was the most appropriate. We were, after all, to become a half-assed organization. Stan approved.

The Sons of the Desert (and we have many Daughters as well!) continually honors its delightful namesake, the film, with discreet high jinks at meetings in many places here and abroad. The Sons had its first national convention . . . where else? . . . in Chicago on August 18-20 1978. Our honored guests were Lucille Hardy Price, Babe Hardy's widow, (Iida Laurel, Stan's wife, was too ill to attend but her heart was fully with us); Anita Garvin, (who will forget her cherry-chasing routine in From Soup to Nuts?); Della Lind (she sang for us . . . and enchantingly . . . the Cricket Song from her starring film, Swiss Miss); Rosina Lawrence (still as exquisite as she was in Way Out West); and Darla Hood (as cute and memorable as she was in The Bohemian Girl and the Our Gang comedies).

The Sons of the Desert had come out to play but this time the ladies . . . the lovely, blessed ladies . . . came along.

Anyone interested in joining the Sons of the Desert or founding a chapter (called "Tents") is invited to write Dr. Roger Gordon, 2230 Country Club Drive, Huntingdon Valley, PA 19006, enclosing a self-addressed stamped envelope.

SONS OF THE DESERT<sup>2</sup> (1932)

B STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY,
CHARLIE CHASE, MAE BUSCH,
DOROTHY CHRISTIE, LUCIEN LITTLEFIELD

Generally rated as one of the best of all the Laurel and Hardy features, SONS OF THE DESERT is jam-packed comedy from beginning to end. It contains some of the best routines the boys ever developed. Stan and Ollie are determined to go to their fraternal convention, but their wives have other ideas. So, Ollie pretends to be sick and a "doctor" orders him on a long sea voyage with Stan in attendance. The boys come home from the convention to find that the ship the wives thought they were on had wrecked. New printing and completely re-recorded for best possible quality.

B STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY,
ANITA GARVIN, TINY SANFORD,
EDNA MARIAN

Stan and Ollie land positions as waiters in the home of the snobbish and newly rich Culpeppers. What do the boys think of their pretentious employers? "This society stuff is all rot! I'd rather sit out on the porch in my bare feet!" Disaster strikes the dinner party in the form of a fruit cocktail, a banana peel, a cake, a dog, and of course Stan and Ollie themselves.

FROM SOUP TO NUTS was directed by Edgar Kennedy who played in many Hal Roach films. Supervising director was Leo McCarey who had a great future ahead of him as director of some of Hollywood's greatest comedies.

At a rural summer retreat, a vacationing lady from the city engages the interest of a young farmer, and soon he is enslaved to her. She persuades him to murder his wife, sell his farm, and join her in the city. He finally makes an attempt to drown his wife but, conscience-stricken, cannot carry it through. The man and his wife ride into the city on a trolley, she in terror, he in contrition; soon love overpowers her fear, and they renew their vows in a church while watching a wedding. They spend a joyous day in an amusement park and that evening return home; a storm overtakes them and he gives her the rushes that were to provide his own protection while he swims ashore. Later the fishermen search for her during the night and finally give up hope; he searches out the city woman and is about to strangle her when word comes that his wife has been found alive. At her bedside, he watches the sunrise.

Directed by German expressionist extraorinaire F.W. Murnau. Director of NOSFERATU, LAST LAUGH and TABU. Famous for beautiful lighting and photography, SUNRISE is very possibly the supreme achievement of the silent film. Musical score composed and performed by William Perry.

DICK VAN DYKE, ANN-MARGRET, MAUREEN STAPLETON, PAUL LYNDE, ED SULLIVAN

When singing star Conrad Birdie is drafted millions of American female teen-agers are ready to secede from the Union. After all, what is life without Birdie's sexy growl and gyrating hips? It's also rough on Birdie's songwriting manager (Dick Van Dyke) who survives on 10% of Birdie and hopes to make his secretary his wife (Janet Leigh). Janet plots to save her boss with a farewell telecast on the Ed Sullivan show. Birdie will sing Dick's song "One Last Kiss" and give one last miss one last kiss. Ann Margret, the lucky kisser, digs the whole bit in spite of her all-but-destroyed boy friend (Bobby Rydell). Everything is on-again off-again until the big night, the big show, the big song, the big success. BIRDIE includes the hit songs "Kids", "Put on a Happy Face", and "A Lot of Living to Do". ## THE AFRICAN QUEEN (1951)

HUMPHREY BOGART,
KATHARINE HEPBURN, ROBERT MORELY

Although less than 30 years old, AFRICAN QUEEN is quite rightly considered a classic.

John Huston's direction mixes humor and drama in perfect proportions. The players' interaction is riveting. And the James Agee script is filled with superb character development.

As Hepburn moves from being the thoroughly prim and proper missionary to plotting to destroy a German battleship, Bogart develops his Oscar-winning characterization of the drunken boat captain who is amazed by the company the outbreak of WW I has forced him to keep.

A rare combination of wit, charm and action. From Ivy Films.

B THE MARK OF ZORRO

(1920) DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS, MARGUERITE DE LA MOTTE

THE MARK OF ZORRO was Doug Fairbanks Sr.'s first swashbuckler. Its overwhelming acceptance helped convince Fairbanks he was right in switching from his previous image (the All-American rich boy) to this new one (the flamboyant adventurer).

As the foppish Don Diego, Fairbanks adds many comic touches.

But as Zorro, the manly Mexican Robin Hood, he wins the love interest with the sprightly action, cloak-and-dagger intrigues, and pacing that made few swashbucklers this good.

Among the best sequences: Fine duels and a thrilling chase with daredevil acrobatics.

B DON Q, SON OF ZORRO (1925)

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS, MARY ASTOR

Five movies and an equal number of years after MARK OF ZORRO, Fairbanks returned to the Spanish colonies.

Again his dashing wins the lady in an excellent adventure.

But this time Doug plays four roles, instead of the two as in the original.

B THE BLACK PIRATE (1926)

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS, BILLIE DOVE

The setting of tall galleons carrying wonderful treasures was custom made for Fairbank's brand of swashbuckling.

When captured by pirates, Doug vanquishes the captain, captures a ship single-handedly, and saves a princess from pirate ruffians.

The story, by the way, was written by Fairbanks under the pseudonym Elton Thomas.

ALICE ON THE FARM (1925)

An early example of Disney using a technique he would return to again and again. In it, a real little girl was photographed against a white backdrop, then an animated story was superimposed over the image, creating a story in which Alice could interact with cartoon animals.

A Blackhawk Biography

Born in Kansas City in 1901, Ub Iwerks worked in a commercial art studio with Walt Disney and Rudolph Ising. In 1926, he was the main animator on the "Alice in Cartoonland" series. In 1928 he animated the "Oswald the Rabbit" series with Disney at Universal. He received "drawn by" credit for several early Mickey Mouse cartoons, including PLANE CRAZY. He also animated STEAMBOAT WILLIE and several other Mickey Mouse cartoons and is often credited as co-developer of Mickey himself. Later Ub created his own series, including "Flip the Frog", "Willie Whopper", "Comicolor Fairytales", and the "Color Rhapsody" series with Scrapy. Eventually Ub returned to Disney where he supervised special effects on 20,000 LEAGUES UNDER THE SEA, and developed and modified a Xerox camera for 101 DALMATIANS. He also was a special photographic advisor on Hitchcock's THE BIRDS. In 1964 he shared an Oscar for his work on Color Traveling Matte Composite Cinematography which was used in the making of MARY POPPINS. Ub Iwerks died in 1971.

SPOOKS (1930)

Flip the Frog's in trouble. It's a stormy night, and Flip and his horse need shelter.

Unfortunately, Flip pulls a boner and picks a house haunted by a skeleton dancer, skeleton musicians, and a skeleton dog, all of which want to make Flip into a skeleton, too.

Ub Iwerks' blustery night scenes produce excellent illusions of storm clouds and lightning.

Cartoons

THE HEADLESS HORSEMAN

(1934)

When Ub Iwerks animated the famous Washington Irving story, he added many typical Iwerks touches. Ichabod Crane's nemesis Brom, for example, is a characterization of Clark Gable.

Particularly well done are the music and astonishing multiple plane animation sequences such as Brom chasing Ichabod through a very eerie forest.

885-81-2463, Super 8, mus./dia., color, 9 min. $29.98
685-81-2463, 16mm., mus./dia., color, 9 min. $57.98

TOM THUMB (1933)

This fast paced, amusing musical cartoon about the smallest boy who ever lived delights not only children but also anyone who remembers what the giant world of adults looked like when they were young.

And remember, when you're as small as Tom, it's easy to get stuck in pie dough, or get lost in a box of raisins.

685-81-2003, 16mm., dia./mus., 7 min. $57.98

SUMMERTIME (1934)

Ub Iwerks' SUMMERTIME can be regarded as a forerunner of Disney's FANTASIA.

Starting as winter fades into summer and continuing until winter returns, this musical review is full of mythical creatures.

Among the techniques Iwerks used was rotoscoping . . . photographing humans and then copying their movements.

Color
885-81-2458, Super 8, mus./SFX., 8 min. $29.98
685-81-2458, 16mm., mus./SFX., 8 min. $57.98

SINBAD THE SAILOR (1935)

685-81-2626, 16mm., mus./dia., 8 min. $57.98

JACK AND THE BEANSTALK

(1933)

When Ub Iwerks made JACK AND THE BEANSTALK, this English fairy tale had already been filmed several times. In fact, one of the previous cartoon versions had been made by Iwerks while he and Disney were collaborating in 1922.

This version contains all the elements of the classic tale including a particularly well done Giant-after-Jack chase.

685-81-2470, 16mm., mus./dia., 9 min. $57.98

ALADDIN & THE WONDERFUL LAMP (1934)

A genie grants a poor lamp boy three wishes in a tale of excitement and romance from the Arabian Nights. A dazzling color display.

HUMPTY DUMPTY (1934)

Ub Iwerk's Humpty Jr. is a thrill-seeking chip off the block, despite mother's warnings, "Be careful!" That's how your father got cracked! Humpty "falls" for pretty Easter Egg, and in a production number like a Busby Berkley egg-musical they court to the catchy tune of "Spoonin' in a Spoon". Yipe! Villanous Bad Egg steals Easter and a "scrambling" chase scene ensues. Easter falls into a pot of boiling water. Via spaghetti lasso Humpty rescues, but she emerges with Mae West demeanor. Humpty also gets dunked and the hard-boiled pair are just tough enough to crack Bad Egg. One of the best Comi-colors.

STRATOS-FEAR (1933)

Ub Iwerks/Burt Gillette

THE BRAVE TIN SOLDIER (1934)

This charming adaptation of Hans Christian Anderson's "The Steadfast Tin Soldier" is both beautiful and dramatic. Working with and under the supervision of Ub Iwerks, animator Jimmie Culhane produced a most "serious" and touching version of this tale of the one-legged soldier, his cardboard ballerina and the many rivals they overcame before reaching a happy end in "Toy Heaven".

885-81-2460, Super 8, mus./dia., color, 8 min. $29.98

JACK FROST (1934)

A bouncy bear cub needs the help of Jack Frost when he ignores his instincts and refuses to hibernate through the winter.

Iwerks' JACK FROST is a gorgeously drawn cartoon packed with Iwerks' inventions, high spirits and surprises like the scarecrow who sings, dances and looks like Cab Calloway.

Probably one of Ub Iwerks' masterpieces.

TOONERVILLE TROLLEY (1936)

Burt Gillette's TOONERVILLE TROLLEY is a charming little cartoon about a big subject . . . Katrinka, the hefty, healthy, and rotund super woman with unusual strength. She's so strong she rescues the trolley from quicksand, a bull and more, all by herself.

Gillette animated FELIX THE CAT and MOLLY MOO COW AND THE BUTTERFLIES also.

The trolley, by the way, is delightfully drawn.

B THE VAGABOND (1916)
CHARLIE CHAPLIN, EDNA PURVIANCE,
CHARLOTTE MINEAU, ERIC CAMPBELL

This is Charlie in one of his outstanding performances as The Tramp, a character of sentiment so easily loved. On a "happy note" Charlie the wandering violinist befriends and rescues a young girl who has been kidnapped by gypsies. By a fluke the wealthy mother locates her daughter and takes her back home leaving Charlie heartbroken and very much alone. But all is not lost and the "vagabond lover" finds happiness in the end. This Chaplin directed film has good dramatic touches foreshadowing many of his future works.

An amusing satire on Keystone slapstick stars Charlie as an overworked movie stagehand who destroys a movie studio. An excellent female impersonation and a finale topped with a pie throwing melee make this a triumph.

A Blackhawk Biography

Born 1889 in London to vaudevillian parents, Chaplin grew up in poverty. He came to America as a member of the Karno Theatrical Troupe. Mack Sennett and Mabel Normand attended a show and soon Chaplin was under contract to Keystone. At Keystone he learned the film medium and slapstick. From Keystone he went to Essanay, where he continued to develop the Tramp character, adding pathos to his repertoire of pantomime. Dissatisfied, Chaplin signed a spectacular contract with Mutual for $50,000 upon signing and $10,000 a week: $670,000 in all! At Mutual he made his greatest comedy shorts, at least 3 of the 12 are indisputable classics. From Mutual, Chaplin went into a transition phase at First National. There his work was uneven and his personal life difficult. In 1919, he, Fairbanks, Pickford and Griffith founded United Artists. In 1925 Chaplin released his first UA picture, THE GOLD RUSH, a feature length masterpiece, followed by CITY LIGHTS and MODERN TIMES. In later years, Chaplin's output dwindled. He became a political exile from the U.S. This poet of comedy died in 1977.

B THE CURE (1917)
CHARLIE CHAPLIN, EDNA PURVIANCE,
ERIC CAMPBELL, HENRY BERGMAN,
JOHN RAND, JAMES KELLEY

Charlie as a sophisticated, but alcohol-prone man-about-town, visits one of the "springs" of the day where the "cure" was administered. Eric Campbell appears as a big ox with a gouty foot that inebriated Charlie persists in stumbling over. Charlie's trunk of liquor finds its way into the mineral spring and by the end of the film he and Edna are the only two sober souls in the entire place. That is, as sober as two people in love can be! One of the greatest shorts in the history of comedy.

Charlie is a klutzy waiter who serves a live cat to a restaurant patron and makes out the check of Mr. Stout by examining what the hothead has spilled on his suit. Then it's out of the restaurant and off to the rink. Charlie on wheels shows grace and agility at Edna's skating party. He turns it into a riot of roller skates complete with love, jealousy, falls and speed, and a whole bevy of flatfooted cops. THE RINK is a fast-moving comedy and one of the best shorts Chaplin ever made.

Charlie is "saved" when he visits the rescue mission on EASY STREET, the toughest neighborhood in town, and falls in love with the missionary Edna. Determined to make good Charlie becomes a patrolman. Policemen are being knocked off by the hour but Charlie reverses the process and becomes the master of the street. A great example of the little man's ability to triumph. EASY STREET was much like the impoverished area of London where Chaplin was a child. A very moving comedy with several classic gags.

 CHARLIE CHAPLIN, PAULETTE GODDARD,
 CHESTER CONKLIN, HENRY BERGMAN,
 HANK MANN

MODERN TIMES was an ideal vehicle for the Little Tramp's last real screen appearance. Charlie, as a victim of automation, goes berserk and leaves the factory for a mental institution. His involvement with an orphan girl lands him in and out of jail. In the end Charlie and the girl walk toward the horizon with hope in their hearts. This film weaves together all the elements that made Chaplin the most-beloved performer in the world. It was Chaplin's last film without dialogue and the last look at an unforgettable character . . . Chaplin's Tramp.

THE DENTIST (1932) W.C. FIELDS,
ELISE CAVANNA, BABE KANE

Written by Fields, THE DENTIST begins with a placid breakfast, a run-in with the iceman, followed by a round of golf with a hole in one. Later at the office, you see W.C. treat several patients in the usual roughshod Fields manner. Partway through his treatment of patient Elise Cavanna, he leaves to go upstairs and punish his daughter. Her temper tantrum cracks the plaster, part of it falling in Elise's mouth. People love this film today. However, when it first came out Fields was considered an irascible scoundrel! Ah . . . yes.

B STEAMBOAT BILL, JR. (1928)
BUSTER KEATON, ERNEST TORRENCE,
TOM MCGUIRE, MARION BYRON

River Junction is the local for a feud between steamer captains Steamboat Bill and J. King. Buster as Bill, Jr., falls head over heels for King's daughter. But the predictable plot . . . feuding fathers and frustrated young lovers . . . is secondary to the amazing special effects Keaton developed. In a cyclone sequence Keaton squeezed every possible gag out of a wind machine, often at his own risk. At one point a two and a half ton building front falls within inches of his head. An astonishing exhibition of Buster Keaton's talents.

A Blackhawk Biography

Laurel and Hardy began as a team at Hal Roach Studios in 1926. Laurel had been Chaplin's roommate and understudy in Karno Theatrical Troupe. He was in vaudeville for a decade when he joined Roach, first to star in his own series, then as a writer, and finally as the "L" of L&H.

Babe Hardy entered showbiz as a singer and went into films in 1913 as a villain.

As a team, Laurel and Hardy made 105 films which were largely ignored by critics until the 1950's.

Each was the other's dumbfunny foil. As their comedy evolved, they made millions laugh.

Both are gone now, but their effect on comedy continues.

OLIVER HARDY, CHARLIE HALL,
 ANITA GARVIN

BATTLE OF THE CENTURY has been considered a "lost film" for some twenty years, and its reputation has now assumed legendary proportions. BATTLE was the first film in which Laurel and Hardy emerged as a great comedy team. Charlie Hall is a pie vendor making a delivery when he has a disastrous encounter with Laurel and Hardy. He slips on one of the boys' banana peels coming out of a shop and the fight is on. Every innocent bystander is involved when more than 4,000 pies meet their fate. Pie sequence only.

B BLOTTO<sup>2</sup> (1930) STAN LAUREL,

Stan is happily married to Anita while Ollie is a confirmed bachelor. Ollie would like to go out on the town with his buddy. Although Stan is willing, he can't seem to think up a convincing excuse. The two put their heads together over the phone while Anita listens in on the extension and makes a few plans of her own. Our boys head for the local speakeasy with a mad housewife hot on their trail. Stan and Ollie arrive only to star in a theatrical finish supplied by an irate Anita.

 STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY,
 THELMA TODD, JAMES FINLAYSON

Vagrants Stan and Ollie are being chased by the police. They come upon a basement door and see it as their means of escape. The door leads to a mansion and the boys take over. Ollie decides that he should assume the role of master of the house. Where does that leave Stan? Doubling as the inept butler and the butler's twin sister Agnes, the maid. The story is based on a sketch written by Stan Laurel's father called "Home from the Honey-moon".

B BUSY BODIES<sup>2</sup> (1933)
 STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY,
 TINY SANDFORD, CHARLIE HALL

Stan and Ollie work in a planing mill and knock each other about with boards all day. Stan "helps" Ollie by planing his rear end, trapping his fingers in a window frame, opening a closet on him, and dumping a can of glue over his head. It's an ideal Laurel and Hardy comedy, especially when their prized Model T roadster heads straight for the bandsaw in the film's classic moment. Their timing is excellent in each and every gag, making BUSY BODIES an outstanding example of the boys practicing their trade... comedy.

BRATS<sup>2</sup> (1930)

STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY

Playing both fathers and sons, Stan and Ollie are babysitters for Stan Jr. and Ollie Jr. Being acquainted with the messes which Stan and Ollie achieve as adults, you already know their sons are chips off the old blocks. The junior members of the families almost break up the long friendship that has existed between their fathers. Oversized sets used to create the illusion of the boys as children make BRATS unique among Laurel and Hardy comedies.

STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY,
JAMES FINLAYSON, JEAN HARLOW

Stan and Ollie are convicts making their escape from prison. They change into civilian clothing only to discover that their pants are switched. They are constantly being discovered and screamed at for trying to change their pants behind some wall or mound of packing cases. Finally, with a policeman in pursuit, they are whisked in a construction elevator to the top of a new skyscraper of which only a steel skeleton is yet completed. The boys contend with steel beams on hoists, joints not yet riveted, and each other. Perhaps their greatest silent.

B TWO TARS<sup>2</sup> (1928) STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY, EDGAR KENNEDY, CHARLIE HALL

TWO TARS is a famous and brilliantly funny picture. Easily among that handful of films deserving to be labeled a true "comedy classic". Stan and Ollie are two sailors on leave who pick up a pair of easily impressed young ladies for a joy ride in the country. En route they encounter a massive traffic jam. Ollie intervenes, but motorists' tempers flare and nearly every Model T on the road is more or less systematically pulled apart, crushed, smashed, or otherwise disfigured. More than a hundred cars were used in filming.

Resentful, Ollie becomes his butler in this the first of several humorous twists. Next to the last Laurel and Hardy for Hal Roach.

BIG BUSINESS<sup>2</sup> (1929)
B STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY,
 JAMES FINLAYSON, TINY SANDFORD
BIG BUSINESS is one of the comedy classics. Even non-Laurel and Hardy devotees are automatically caught up in the fury which in its precise mounting excitement, attention to detail, meticulous editing, and no-pause-for-breath action, is to the comedy film what THE BIRTH OF A NATION is to the historical spectacle. Selling Christmas trees in California, Stan and Ollie seem to bring out the "Bah, humbug!" in everyone. At the home of Scotsman Finlayson, disaster nearly overtakes everyone.

B STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY
 Stan and Ollie are a "big time" vaudeville team enroute from one theater to another. Catching a train becomes a problem when Stan loses the music. A passenger trips over their cello as they all scramble aboard. When Ollie asks how they can perform without music, Stan suggests they fake it. It's time to find a seat, but Stan sits on a midget and a passenger's hat before they get settled. They are then put in the upper berth of an open section Pullman for the evening. While the space is confined, the laughs are not.

B THE LAUREL AND HARDY MURDER CASE<sup>2</sup> (1930)

STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY

Here's a creepy "haunted house" thriller that burlesques the atmosphere of the mysteries of the 1920's. Stan and Ollie become involved with a strange butler, the police, heirs, black cats, a stormy night complete with lightning flashes, screams, murder and suspects. Why? All because Ollie has the idea that Stan is the long lost heir of the late tycoon, Ebenezer Laurel. It's murder in the worst degree, with an inept investigation in true Laurel and Hardy tradition. Dare we say . . . you'll die laughing?

STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY

Ollie has promised his wife he will put a radio aerial on the roof, and Stan arrives just in time to "help." The climax comes when the ladder to the roof, balanced on top of the Model T, takes off in city traffic with Ollie on top and Stan along, but not really at the wheel. They become involved with one of the old Los Angeles narrow gauge trolley cars, between which Stan's Model T gets "squoshed" into an accordion! The story for this well-constructed comedy was written by the great comedy director Leo McCarey.

Albert needs peace and quiet to write his opera, and you can bet that is just what he doesn't get with Stan and Ollie around. The boys start out washing dishes and are promoted to waiters. Here Stan does a marvelous routine trying to con a St. Bernard out of his brandy keg. (Stan shot this remarkable sequence in one take.) The zany climax finds them moving a piano up a narrow Alpine trail, over a swaying bridge on which they meet... a gorilla?

Stan and Ollie are street musicians. Stan plays the portable organ, and Ollie plays the viol. Business isn't too good on this particular day until they notice they are next to an institution for the deaf. They relocate and a woman pays them double just to get them off her street. Moving on, their rendition of "In the Good Old Summertime" irritates Charlie Hall who is shoveling snow. Things get violent, and the organ is flattened by a passing truck while Ollie gets smashed over the head with the viol. In a stroke of what appears to be good luck, they find a loaded wallet. ## FLYING ELEPHANTS<sup>2</sup> (1927)

STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY
One of the earliest of the Laurel and Hardy comedies produced by Hal Roach. It presents Stan and Ollie as blundering, fumbling Neanderthal men surviving as worst they can. Their leader decrees that all men between the ages of 13 to 25 must marry in 24 hours or else be killed or banished from the tribe. Ollie is a mighty giant who thinks he's quite the ladies man. His most effective line is "Beautiful weather we're having. The elephants are flying south." Stan is "Little Twinklestar," and both are after the same girl. There is a brief animated section in the middle of this film.

B THE MUSIC BOX<sup>2</sup> (1932) STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY, BILLY GILBERT, CHARLIE HALL

Simply put, THE MUSIC BOX is one of the best sound films Laurel and Hardy ever made. In it, Stan and Ollie must deliver a piano to Professor Theodore von Schwarzenhoffen.

The good professor's house, however, is only reachable by a long flight of steps . . . a very long, very steep group of steps to be sure.

From then on things run from predictable to the nutso with tie-twiddling, the inevitable cop, a ridiculing nursemaid with baby carriage, and more.

THE MUSIC BOX is a rich, well-edited and perfectly executed example of frustration comedy. It's also Laurel and Hardy's only Oscar-winning film.

The boys are a pair of chimney sweeps who perform like a demolition crew.

Inept, hazardous and thoroughly comical, Stan and Ollie arrive to clean the chimney of a crackpot scientist. Jessup, the butler, drolly tells the boys that the fireplace is against the wall.

Stan and Ollie go to work, but between Stan's shooting Ollie with bricks and soot, Ollie's end-of-his-ropes "I have nothing more to say" remark, and Littlefield's search for the elixir of youth, DIRTY WORK turns into one of Laurel and Hardy's most memorable movies.

Stan and Ollie are making their own "home brew" during Prohibition and by mistake sell their wares to a policeman.

Then it's off to prison where they find themselves in the midst of a riot.

PARDON US is an unusually good execution of a situation many early film stars milked for laughs.

Comedy

B THEY GO BOOM<sup>2</sup> (1929) STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY, CHARLIE HALL

THEY GO BOOM is an ideal example of Laurel and Hardy's ability to take a simple premise and elaborate it into minute after minute of laughter.

The premise: Ollie has a cold, "I'm liable to die of ammonia". Stan will care for him.

Among the developments: While they sleep, Stan sneezes. The window shade zips open. Ollie pulls it down before pulling the covers off Stan.

Stan sneezes, a plaque falls. Stan drives a nail to rehang it. The nail hits a water pipe.

Outstanding comedy bits keep alternating with sneezes until the climax . . . an air mattress filled with gas explodes after, of course, Stan sneezes.

B FINISHING TOUCH<sup>2</sup> (1928) STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY, DOROTHY COBURN, SAM LUFKIN, EDGAR KENNEDY

Small time contractors Laurel and Hardy are hired to complete a bungalow located in a Hospital's Quiet Zone.

Even though the hospital's head nurse and cop Edgar Kennedy try, quiet and the boys just don't go together.

The house, however, does get built "like Gibraltar" . . . at least until a bird's weight collapses it.

HELPMATES<sup>2</sup> (1931)
B STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY,
 BLANCHE PAYSON, BOBBY BURNS,
 ROBERT CALLAHAN

When Ollie awakes after a wild house party, the realization of impending doom looms . . . his wife is due back at noon. With the house a mess and a hangover to boot, Ollie asks Stan for help. And then compounds the error by leaving before the cleanup is done.

Along the way are sequences with selzer bottles, soot and other slapstick standards. Many of these were considered passe until Oliver and Stan refined them.

Bobby Burns, by the way, executes one of the Roach Studio's standard tricks . . . a fall which even had a name: gag 108.

MIDNIGHT PATROL<sup>2</sup> (1933)
B STAN LAUREL, OLIVER HARDY,
 CHARLIE HALL, TINY STANFORD

In most cases when Laurel and Hardy dealt with the law, they were on the wrong side . . . either by choice or by chance.

In MIDNIGHT PATROL they prove no more adept at crime busting than they are at crime causing.

Despite nearly having their squad car stolen, unwittingly aiding a burglar, and almost wrecking their Police Chief's house, the boys do apprehend a crook. Wonder of wonders.

MIDNIGHT PATROL, the pair's 31st two-reeler, marked the last appearance of Tiny Stanford with the boys. In most of his roles with Laurel and Hardy, Stanford had played a cop.

OUR WIFE<sup>2</sup> (1931) STAN LAUREL,
B OLIVER HARDY, BEN TURPIN,
 JIMMY FINLAYSON

It's nuptial nonsense when Stan helps Ollie elope. But Ben Turpin, the cross-eyed justice of the peace, marries the bride to the wrong man.

By the time Ben Turpin made this very funny cameo appearance, he was more a character actor than a comedian. Originally he had worked with Charlie Chaplin, but a falling out caused him to launch his own successful career.

Even after the stock market crash of 1929, Turpin, unlike many silent era stars, was financially secure. His investments in real estate had proved more depression-proof than other performer's stock and bond purchases.

Ollie decides to fix dinner himself and together the boys tear the apartment to pieces. Until recently, UNACCUSTOMED AS WE ARE, Laurel & Hardy's first "talkie" hasn't been available as originally shown. ### A Blackhawk Biography

Between 1922 and 1944, 221 Little Rascals comedies were made. The cast of kids changed regularly, but the series as a whole was characterized by inventiveness, talent and professionalism. The atmosphere was easygoing, with Roach and his top Rascals director, Robert McGowan, supervising father figures. Although the Rascals series produced some stars (Jackie Cooper and Robert Blake), the glory of the series is the group of kids. Many imitations were tried but the group was never successfully copied.

B THE PINCH SINGER<sup>2</sup> (1936)

In a take-off on Major Bowes Amateur Hour, Spanky holds tryouts for someone to represent the Little Rascals on a radio station's big $50.00 talent contest.

Spanky's ne'er-do-well uncle comes to the Gang's hometown to show a wild man from Borneo. The kids mistake the attraction for the impresario. "What makes him so black?" asks Stymie. "My mother says he's the black sheep of the family", replies Dickie Moore. The Gang thinks the wild man from Borneo is going to eat them up. "I don't think I'll taste so good," says Spanky, "Mom says I'm spoiled." A comedy with good dialogue and effective gags. Although THE KID FROM BORNEO is often abridged for television, Blackhawk's version is uncut.

B SAFETY LAST<sup>1</sup> (1923)
 HAROLD LLOYD, MILDRED DAVIS,
 BILL STROTHER, NOAH YOUNG
 WESTCOTT B. CLARKE, MICKEY DANIELS
 ANNA TOWNSEND

Harold leaves for the big city to make his fortune, promising his sweetheart that he'll send for her as soon as he makes it. He writes home exaggerated letters of his success. The girl, believing Harold is wealthy, goes to the city to see that he saves his money. Harold is shocked to see her and vows to win money in a publicity stunt so they can be married. He ends up scaling a building in spite of pigeons, a tennis net, a painter's board, a clock, a mouse and a weather gauge. Lloyd was an expert stunt man and actually climbed the building himself. It's a delightful film with an outstanding musical score.

B HAUNTED SPOOKS (1920)
 HAROLD LLOYD, MILDRED DAVIS
 Poor Harold is unlucky in love. He loses every girl he loves to the other guy. Even suicide fails. Then along comes Hillary, who needs a husband to inherit a house. It's wedding bells for Harold but he gains a haunted house in the bargain. Although HAUNTED SPOOKS marked Lloyd's return to the screen after a bad accident, reviewers hailed it as his best comedy to that time. It's ingeniously simple in conception and filled with cleverly executed gags. No one could fail at a suicide as well as Lloyd, nor draw as much sympathy from the audience.

Lloyd, the shy one-man disaster, has written a book starring "himself" as a champion romancer.

Heading to New York in quest of a publisher, this Poor Boy meets the girl of his dreams and becomes her friend by concealing her poodle from the conductor.

Later, one disappointment (the publisher rejects his novel) leads to another (the girl's engaged and her fiance's a rascal).

Finally, the chase is on as Harold races to stop the marriage in an ending that may have inspired later endings for two W.C. Fields' films (NEVER GIVE A SUCKER AN EVEN BREAK AND THE BANK DICK) and a later Mike Nichols' film (THE GRADUATE).

B TEDDY AT THE THROTTLE (1916) BOBBY VERNON, GLORIA SWANSON, WALLACE BEERY, TEDDY (THE DOG)

In 1915 an out-of-work man walked into the Sennett Studios accompanied by a Great Dane. The dog was signed . . . for $35.00 a week.

The canine's name was Teddy. And for years he held his own as a star on the Sennett lot, complete with his own dressing room and a public relations department fond of sending out his signature . . . a paw print.

Eventually seven different dogs played the Teddy part. Each was portrayed as at least as bright as the human stars.

In TEDDY AT THE THROTTLE, Bobby Vernon plays the fickle-hearted boyfriend of Gloria Swanson. And when the villain abducts her and ties up Bobby, it's Teddy to the rescue.

Directed by Clarence Badger who later filmed IT.

Soon Mabel and Fatty and their house are floating out to sea . . . and it's up to that magnificent animal Teddy the dog to get through to The Keystone Kops.

B BARNEY OLDFIELD'S RACE FOR A LIFE (1913)

BARNEY OLDFIELD, MACK SENNETT, MABEL NORMAND, FORD STERLING

BARNEY OLDFIELD'S RACE FOR A LIFE has assumed legendary status because it combines so many of the absurdities, slapstick gags and clichés that made the Sennett Studios famous.

The movie may well be the ultimate burlesque of high melodrama with a lovely girl, abducted by a dastardly villain, and Barney racing a train to the suitably happy ending.

A NIGHT IN CASABLANCA<sup>1</sup> (1946) THE MARX BROTHERS, LISETTE VERA

In 1946, the Marx Brothers came back to the screen in this nutso parody of CASABLANCA. And although they were older, they certainly weren't any wiser as evidenced by their actions battling an ex-Nazi, his gang and their own ineptness.

DR. STRANGELOVE OR HOW I LEARNED TO STOP WORRYING AND LOVE THE BOMB

(1963) GEORGE C. SCOTT, PETER SELLERS, STERLING HAYDEN, SLIM PICKINS

In 1963 Director Stanley Kubrick turned an unlikely topic . . . the nuclear destruction of every living thing . . . into a classic black comedy.

In the film a demented General, Jack Ripper, unleashes a highly unauthorized nuclear attack against "The Rooskies".

The performances by Scott as a gung-ho General who looks on war as good, clean fun; Pickens as a good 'ol boy B-52 pilot; and Sellers in three roles are superb.

In the end atomic explosions are as common as pie-throwing in a slapstick comedy.

Co-written by Kubrick and Sellers, DR. STRANGELOVE is one of the finest films of the last 25 years.

Documentary

NANOOK OF THE NORTH is both an epic film and an epic achievement. Robert Flaherty, an explorer turned filmmaker, had spent 20 years in the North before he started this documentary.

Working at temperatures well below his camera's capabilities, Flaherty filmed an intelligent, almost allegorical record of Eskimo customs and Nanook's skills and humor. More amazing yet was Flaherty's ability to capture the warmth and tenderness Nanook and his family feel as they "conjur" food, shelter and clothing from the bitter Arctic.

It's a remarkable film, possibly the best documentary ever, and certainly a film milestone.

THE SILENT ENEMY (1930)

The silent enemy is hunger. The film is an impeccable reconstruction of Ojibway Indian life before the white man.

THE PLOUGH THAT BROKE THE PLAINS (1936)

Pare Lorentz's PLOUGH THAT BROKE THE PLAINS broke the European monopoly on social documentary films.

It was made for the Federal Government, but anyone who supposes that it is therefore dull or plodding is completely mistaken.

The film concerns the 400 million acres of the Great Plains, their settlement, misuse and consequences.

Every frame is superbly photographed. Every sequence is stunningly effective.

B BERLIN: SYMPHONY OF A GREAT CITY<sup>2</sup> (1927)

Director Walter Ruttmann's famous BERLIN: SYMPHONY OF A GREAT CITY is one of the most influential non-fiction silent films.

On the surface it records everyday events: a railroad arriving from a suburb, factories opening, street filling, traffic jamming, an evening at a cabaret, etc.

But it's also a social commentary when it contrasts the simple meals of diners with the huge ones served at the Berlin Zoo . . . or a suicide at dusk.

And it's a lesson on the art of film with images piling on images until a definite rhythm, story and personality emerge.

A Blackhawk Biography

One of the greatest pioneers in motion picture history, D.W. Griffith, directed his first film in 1908 for Biograph. In the next five years he directed approximately 450 films. Griffith's use of the camera and story devices, such as the dramatic rescue, immediately put him into the forefront of movie making. What didn't exist in film technique, Griffith would often invent. In 1915, THE BIRTH OF A NATION, his first great epic, was released. Politically it remains controversial. Artistically it is a landmark. Griffith's monumental INTOLERANCE followed. It's quite possibly his premiere work, although it was far less profitable than BIRTH OF A NATION. With the advent of sound and the Depression, Griffith's moralism and pre-occupation with drama became less popular. He died in 1948 at the age of 73, a brilliant man, lonely and wanting to work.

INTOLERANCE (1916) MAE MARSH, ROBERT HARRON, MIRIAM COOPER, CONSTANCE TALMADGE, ERICH VON STROHEIM, LILLIAN GISH

Although less financially successful than his earlier BIRTH OF A NATION, D.W. Griffith's INTOLERANCE is regarded as his most important work.

Using the image of a mother rocking a cradle as a bridge, Griffith skillfully wove four separate, but parallel stories (The Fall of Babylon, the crucifixion of Christ, the St. Bartholomew's Day massacre of French Huguenots and a more modern story) into one whole. The magnificently achieved purpose: to illustrate the struggle between love and intolerance through the ages.

An impressive score adds greatly to Blackhawk's sound prints:

B SON OF THE SHEIK<sup>2</sup> (1926)
RUDOLPH VALENTINO, VILMA BANKY,
AGNES AYRES

SON OF THE SHEIK was Rudolph Valentino's last movie . . . and his best. It reveals both this early screen idol's sense of humor and his professionalism.

The story concerns a desert sheik who believing a beautiful dancing girl has betrayed him, abducts her to exact his "sweet revenge". Finding her innocent, the sheik then sets out to bring the desert renegades who victimized her to justice.

Surprisingly, SON OF THE SHEIK is as fresh today as ever. The reason? Even when it was made, it took a tongue-in-cheek attitude toward the torrid love scenes, desert chases and larger-than-life rescues that give it so much charm.

Drama

THE MAN WHO KNEW TOO MUCH<sup>1</sup> (1934) PETER LORRE,

LESLIE BANKS, EDNA BEST

Although he added the blistering pace and ever-building tension, director Alfred Hitchcock based THE MAN WHO KNEW TOO MUCH on an actual incident.

In 1910, several Russian anarchists had holed up in London and Winston Churchill called out the Home Guard to capture them.

In the film, an anarchist holds the wife and father of the hero as Hitchcock's cameras follow Bobbies over walls, through back doors and on to the rescue.

The film vividly proves that even in his earlier days Hitchcock could tantalize an audience.

Thus, it's a true tour-de-force for both film students who appreciate its techniques and other viewers who appreciate a rousingly well-done suspense tale.

A Blackhawk Biography

Georges Melies, a talented conjurer, was one of the first to realize that film could create illusions unfettered by logic or probability. Melies constructed his own camera and opened the first cinema in Paris. He produced nearly 4000 films between 1896 and 1914. Throughout his career, Melies financed, wrote, designed, directed, and appeared in his fantastic magical productions. TRIP TO THE MOON ranks as the first great international success in the history of film.

A Blackhawk History

The Pathe Studio began in France, the country which dominated the early history of film.

By 1910, however, they also had an American unit which traveled photographing and showing their product.

The Studio had enormous influence, pioneering the art film, serials, hand-tinting, modern distribution methods and more.

Charles Pathe, the studio's dictatorial founder, once declared "only the armaments industry made profits like ours."

THE THIEF OF BAGDAD

(1924) DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS, SR., JULIANNE JOHNSTON, SOJIN, SNITZ EDWARDS

Georges Melie's TRIP TO THE MOON begins as the president of a congress of astronomers announces that he and five colleagues will visit the moon.

Their space ship is a bullet designed to be shot from a huge gun.

It works, and the travelers approach the moon which becomes identifiable as a large face. In one of the most famous images in early cinema, the ship hits the face.

Other adventures (including moon men who attack) take place in this remarkable film with both imagination and pioneering visual tricks.

The History of the Motion Picture

THE HISTORY OF THE MOTION PICTURE is a unique series of half-hours tracing the development of the 20th Century art of film-making.

Some units are condensations containing carefully chosen highlights and key scenes from great classics. Others present anthologically selected materials from many sources on specific themes: comedy styles, individual stars, directional techniques, etc. New musical scores enhance interest for today's audiences, and thoughtful narration pinpoints the significance of each sequence in movie history, recalling the challenges faced by the craftsmen who made them.

A Blackhawk History

In the beginning there were many pioneers: the Frenchmen Lumiere and Melies plus the American Edison were among them.

Compared to the films these men produced, the earlier magic lantern shows and shadow plays were undramatic, one dimensional and mundane.

In 1895 all that changed. That year French audiences were astonished to see a train move toward the camera in a production by Lumiere.

After Lumiere refused to sell Georges Melies a camera or explain how his worked, Melies set out to create one himself.

Melies succeeded and used his machine as a showman's tool, emphasizing both movement and magic. He had grasped the fantastic possibilities of film. His sets, effects and techniques were remarkable achievements then . . . and today remain spectacular.

Eventually Melies produced 4,000 or so films which did not merely record events . . . they told stories.

In America the Edison Co. had begun making "pictures" using their Kinetoscope, a peephole contraption used in penny arcades.

Edison director Edwin S. Porter, agreed with Melies that movies should tell stories and so shot THE GREAT TRAIN ROBBERY, one of the classic "primitive" films.

There were, of course, other film pioneers (Pathe, Lubin, Morrison, etc.) which later filmmakers built on. But from 1895 to 1915, Lumiere, Melies and Edison's Porter were the most influential.

Blackhawk offers many early films which can be found throughout the Blackhawk Film Digest.

Horror

B THE PHANTOM OF THE OPERA (1925) LON CHANEY, MARY PHILBIN, NORMAN KERRY

Strange things are happening at the Paris Opera House.

Deep beneath it lurks a scarred genius methodically plotting revenge. He's a creature so hideous that he strikes terror into everyone . . . including the prima donna his tutoring has brought success.

The story is a classic that this 1925 movie, the first filmed version, lives up to spectacularly.

Lon Chaney, Sr.'s acting brought never-again-equalled power and scope to the title role. Director Rupert Julien kept the action moving. And the highly unusual colored masked ball sequence shocked audiences used to black and white. A masterpiece of horror.

B THE HUNCHBACK OF NOTRE DAME (1923)

LON CHANEY, PATSY RUTH MILLER, NORMAN KERRY

The first filmed version of Victor Hugo's novel captivated film audiences and brought Lon Chaney, Sr., "The Man of a Thousand Faces," stardom.

It's the touching story of Quasimodo, the hunchbacked bellringer of Notre Dame Cathedral who loves and defends the gypsy beauty Esmerelda during a beggar's revolt in France.

It cost one and one-half million dollars to film, and the money shows in set design, attention to detail and overall production values.

Yet Chaney's abilities as an actor of unusual depth remain the film's dominant features.

Close your eyes and wind back through the murky past when a dead man came to life and journeyed through Europe sucking blood from the living and spreading death (or worse) everywhere his presence ventured.

It's been filmed many times since, but director F.W. Murnau's version of the vampire legend was the first. And he succeeded magnificently.

The symbolic camera work gives NOSFERATU a very effective, nightmarish quality. Blackhawk's prints of NOSFERATU contain the whole story although there are other versions of this classic film.

SHALL WE DANCE?<sup>2</sup> (1937)

FRED ASTAIRE, GINGER ROGERS, EDWARD EVERETT HORTON

An enthralling Astaire-Rogers musical comedy. Ginger is the snobbish singing comedy star who couldn't care less that ballet star Astaire has fallen head-over-heels for her. She isn't interested in him at all, that is, until they dance together. Superb music and lyrics by George and Ira Gershwin weave magic throughout the story using such standards as "Let's Call The Whole Thing Off". Singing, dancing, comedy and romancing at its best from two of the greatest.

THE THIRD MAN (1950)

ORSON WELLS, JOSEPH COTTEN,
TREVOR HOWARD, VALLI

Written by Graham Greene, directed by Britisher Carol Reed and photographed by Robert Krasker, THE THIRD MAN is one of the top suspense films of all time.

An American writer in post-World War Two Vienna journeys to a friend's funeral. But after much investigation (and some bumbling) discovers his friend lives.

Little by little the darkness and treachery of Vienna's Black Market is revealed.

The performances are excellent. The zither score by Anton Karas is justifiably famous. And the film riveting.

Especially noteworthy are several sequences including the famous ferris wheel segment.

MURDER AT THE BASKERVILLES<sup>1</sup> (1937)

ARTHUR WONTNER, IAN FLEMING,
LYN HARDING

A dog that didn't bark, a curry dinner and a telegram ... from these and other clues Sherlock Holmes must solve the mystery to foil his nemesis, Professor Moriarty.

Arthur Wontner was Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's personal choice to play Holmes. Judging by Wontner's performance, Doyle was right. B/W

OUTSIDE THE LAW<sup>2</sup> (1921)

LON CHANEY, PRISCILLA DEAN,
RALPH LEWIS, E.A. WARREN,
WHEELER OAKMAN

The original negative of OUTSIDE THE LAW was destroyed, and until the mid-seventies no prints were thought to exist. Happily Bob DeFlores did locate a print of this mystery in which Lon Chaney, the master of make-up, plays 3-parts.

The print, however, was somewhat damaged. So extensive restoration was necessary. As now offered, these prints are good, but do contain some flaws near the end.

In the movie, a likeable hood, Silent Madden, and his daughter plan to "go straight." Unfortunately, Madden is framed and goes to jail. And his daughter, embittered by the turn of events, continues to lead a life of crime.

FOOLISH WIVES (1922)

ERICH VON STROHEIM, MAE BUSCH,
RUDOLF CHRISTIANS

When actor and director Von Stroheim produced this opulent, million dollar plus film, it established Universal as a major studio, lost money, and earned Von Stroheim a reputation as extravagant.

The film, now carefully restored, maintains the original plot of a Russian rake who seduced one too many women.

SPIES (1929) RUDOLF KLEIN-ROGG, GERDA MAURUS, LIEN DEYERS, WILLY FRITSCH

The story is fictional and complex, involving a plot to take over the world by a German bank president/master criminal. Some film historians argue that director Fritz Lang's SPIES accurately reflects the attitudes and conditions that led to the Third Reich.

True or not, this thriller definitely displays Lang's directorial virtuosity.

A Blackhawk Biography

Tom Mix entered the movies in 1910 billed as an "Ex-U.S. Marshall, expert roper and broncho buster." He was all that and more, range rider, Texas Ranger and soldier. As a performer, Mix was a man of action, full of energy and showmanship. He did his own stunts and was a straight shooting hero for millions of moviegoers.

WARNER OLAND, MARIAN NIXON, MABEL BALLIN

Zane Grey's immortal RIDERS OF THE PURPLE SAGE had been filmed three previous times by Fox Studio when Mix's version appeared. It was a triumph.

Ex-Texas Ranger Tom Mix dedicates his life to pursuing the kidnapers of his sister and niece. From there the plot is substantial and multi-leveled making this film worthwhile for much more than its action and adventure. Musical score composed and performed by William Perry.

THE GREAT K & A TRAIN ROBBERY is quite possibly the definitive Tom Mix western: It's speedy light-hearted, and filled with daredevil stunts performed, as always, by Mix himself.

Disguised as a bandit, detective Mix sets out to capture the mysterious gang who is robbing the K & A railroad. And with the help of Tony, his wonder horse, Tom Triumphs. Lots of action and breathtaking scenery. Musical score composed and performed by William Perry.

FOX MOVIE TONE NEWS

"World's Greatest Newsreel"

By Walter C. Van Buren

The newsreel, which captured the great, and not-so-great events of the world for over half a century, was part of most every movie theater's program until it faded from the silver screen a little more than 11 years ago.

The last of the U.S. newsreels — Universal News — screened its final reel on Dec. 31, 1967. Hearst's News of the Day ended a month earlier; Pathe ceased in 1956; Paramount died in 1957, and Fox Movietone ended U.S. production in 1963.

Many factors contributed to the death of the newsreel. Among them were censorship; WWII film shortages; "pooling" of wartime newsreel coverage; longer Hollywood movies, that pushed newsreels off theater programs, and the establishment of daily television filmed news.

Credit for introducing the newsreel goes to Charles Pathe, who started Pathe Journal in Paris in 1909. In 1911 he produced Pathe Weekly in America. Other reels, including Vitagraph, Gaumont and Mutual followed, but short-lived. In 1913 Universal Pictures started their newsreel and the following year publisher William Randolph Hearst entered the field. Paramount tried in 1916, failed; but returned in 1927. Fox News was introduced in 1919.

Fox News, started on a $5 million investment, grew rapidly. In 1926 Fox Movietone Corporation was formed to bring sound to Fox News. Their first major release showed Charles Lindbergh taking off from Roosevelt Field, L.I., on his historic solo flight to Paris on May 20, 1927.

With the advent of the sound newsreel, a new personality was created — the newsreel commentator. Fox Movietone used a "team", with noted author-explorer Lowell Thomas as chief commentator. Ed Thorgerson handled sports; Lew Lehr, who coined the expression, "monkeys is the cwaziest people", did features, and Louise Vance described fashions.

Lowell Thomas, dean of newsreel commentators, today at 86, is still active in communications. "I joined Fox Movietone News as chief commentator in 1932," he recalled, "and I was with the Movietone team for about 20 years. Our studios were on the corner of 54th St., and 10th Ave., in New York. We did two newsreels a week. Most of the work of writing, editing and recording was done at night.

"One of my colleagues worked with me preparing and editing the scripts to fit the various newsreel sequences. This took anywhere from two to five hours, depending on the arrival time of the film and the subject covered. Then we did the recording, which usually took a half hour or so."

Fox Movietone became the largest and best equipped of all in the mid-thirties. Of their 100 staff cameramen, 97 had complete sound equipment and were strategically located around the world. Their slogan became the "World's Greatest Newsreel."

Jack Muth, vice president of Movietone Inc., was a Fox Movietone cameraman from 1946 to 1950 and his uncle, Russell Muth, was a Fox newsreel cameraman in 1919 and in the middle 1930's served as Central European Supervisor.

"Although our U.S. newsreel is gone," Jack explained, "we still produce newsreels in England, Germany and Austria and we release in France at present. We don't know how long we can continue."

Asked to name the most dramatic newsreel stories, he listed the assassination of King Alexander I of Yugoslavia in 1934 as the top one. Fox Movietone had just sent a new sound truck to Paris and brothers Raymond and Georges Mejat, Fox cameraman, took it to Paris for the King's visit. They got some outstanding on-the-spot films of the world-shattering event. It was made into a special newsreel feature and released world-wide.

"The explosion of the Hindenburg is a close second," he stated. "Others were Lindbergh's flight, the bombing of the U.S.S. PANAY, and the attack on Pearl Harbor."

"Fox Movietone cameraman Al Brick had been sent to Hawaii in late November 1941 to film scenic material on the islands. When the attack came he was the only civilian newsreel cameraman there. Some of Brick's film was released in theaters shortly after, but most was withheld until about a year later for security reasons."

"Recently we began converting over 3 million feet of early Fox newsreels to safety film and copies are being provided the National Archives," Muth reports. "The project is well along and will be completed soon."

Although the newsreel is gone, its impact will continue far into the future as the master footage preserved in film library vaults will provide a continuing source for educational, documentary and commercial films, as well as for television news and entertainment programs.

About the Author — Walter C. Van Buren

When Walter C. Van Buren was a grade school boy in the early 1920's he managed to get in to the movies free once a week because his uncle played the piano for the silent films. Ever since then he has been a movie enthusiast. A former newspaper correspondent and photographer, he served as a Public Relations Officer with the Army Air Force during WWII. Following the war he was an industrial magazine editor and public relations specialist. He is now a free-lance writer specializing in movies, aviation, naval and military subjects. He also collects 16mm news and documentary films on these and other historical topics. He resides in Buffalo, N.Y.

From perhaps a more innocent, simpler decade comes this Movietone compilation starring the statuesque beauties of the Miss America Pageant. It was the advent of the pin-up era and these girls are blessed with physical beauty. Fox cameramen chronicle these championship forms beginning with Miss America 1940, Frances Marie Burke. In 1945 the first New Yorker to win the prize was Bess Myerson. Myerson went on to win greater fame as an actress and consumer rights advocate. Of interest is the 1946 item which features footage from the 1921 pageant. The contrast between the early 20's and mid-40's in terms of fashion and standards of beauty is startling.

Lowell Thomas began working for Movietone in this year of union violence, assassinations, and revolution. In America, the Federal government fought unemployment with the Civilian Conservation Core and the TVA. In Europe, the King of Yugoslavia and the Chancellor of Austria were assassinated and Spain was in revolution. Movietone cameras were on the scene when the King of Yugoslavia was shot and his assassin was trampled to death by soldiers and angry citizens. Also there is newsreel footage of President Roosevelt, John Dillinger, and Herman Goering.

B MONKIES IS THE CWAZIEST PEOPLE<sup>2</sup>

Who can forget Lew Lehr? The Movietone goofus who popped up in the "Newsette" to offer a wacky review of the passing scene such as diaper-changing contests and pogo-stick factories. In an outrageous dialect sounding like a cross between fractured German and Elmer Fudd, Lew shows us the source of his trademark line . . . MONKIES IS THE CWAZIEST PEOPLE. It's a film on monkeys in their most human element: changing tires, skating, fixing (?) clocks, and shaving as well as doing some of what comes naturally . . . acrobatics. The monkeys are talented and Lew Lehr? . . . You'll have to decide for yourself!

B PEARL HARBOR<sup>2</sup> (1942)

In what surely must be one of the most fortuitous accidents in film history, Movietone cameraman Al Brick was at Pearl Harbor filming a travelogue when the Japanese attacked our Naval and Air forces without warning on December 7, 1941, bringing the United States into World War II. Movietone, alone among all newsreels, thus secured authentic and exclusive scenes of the devastation. This release, and of the few Movietone newsreels ever devoted to a single story, is presented here exactly as originally shown. Narrated by Lowell Thomas in the vocabulary of wartime, the first half of the film shows the destruction of planes and ships, while the second half emphasizes the "miraculous" repair of damage.

B ! ENCORE ! LINDBERGH'S FLIGHT AND RETURN<sup>2</sup>

The ultimate heroes of the 1920's were Charles A. Lindbergh and his monoplane, "The Spirit of St. Louis". Just before dawn on May 20th, 1927, the young aviator carrying a few sandwiches and some letters of introduction took off alone from soggy Roosevelt Field on Long Island. 33 hours and 30 minutes later he landed in Paris and flew into legend. When Lindbergh was welcomed back to Washington by President Calvin Coolidge, Movietone recorded the ceremonies. Audiences cheered when the film was shown on Broadway that same evening, and the two Lindbergh stories combined to form the first Fox-Movietone Entertainment to be released around the country.

The Blackhawk Collection: $18,000.

To enjoy. To study. To give.

Quietly. Almost unheralded. A small announcement appeared on page two of the March Blackhawk Film Digest.

The announcement explained that the films identified by the Blackhawk medallion were special films.

374 select films.

Of the more than 650 films our March issue offered, only 374 wore the medallion.

Some were comedy films. Some serious. Some films from the classic era. Some of later vintage.

But all 374, and only those 374, were members of The Blackhawk Collection.

For 283, that meant they were exceptional films, available only from Blackhawk. For 73, it meant those titles came with sound tracks available from Blackhawk only. For the remainder, that they were films Blackhawk helped restore, often at considerable expense.

A comprehensive history.

As a film collector you realize that quite apart from their value as entertainment, these films are invaluable sources of information.

They allow film scholars, film makers, anyone to trace the development of film, to see almost every film technique used successfully, to develop an understanding of why some films work . . . and others do not.

In short, they are primary sources. Unfiltered by the opinions of any author, critic or other individual.

And now you can own them.

The cost is not low.

The purchase price of $18,000 covers the cost of the 374 films in Super 8. Most have sound tracks. Some are silent.

The purchase price includes more than films. Also included are: a versatile Eumig 912 Super 8 sound projector with extension speaker, a 70" x 70" Da Lite beaded screen, two attractive storage/display cabinets, two personalized director's chairs and an engraved sterling silver plaque.

For yourself. For donation.

Beginning next month The Blackhawk Collection will be offered to the general public. We believe some will be purchased by individuals. We anticipate some will be used as tax-deductible gifts to film schools or libraries.

You can order yours now for either purpose. Consider it.

FUNNY LADIES:

THELMA TODD, ZASU PITTS,
PATSY KELLY

by Leonard Maltin

"Patsy and Thelma, like ZaSu and Thelma, had that rare ability to outshine their scripts and make even mundane comedy enjoyable."

"ZaSu Pitts, the girl whose comedy steals the features from the stars, and Thelma Todd, the ravishing blonde fun-maker who makes men wish they were in the movies, too," headlined a trade advertisement for a new short-subject series in the early 1930s. "Zasu, a bit of dumb, forlorn helplessness is the perfect foil for the brilliant, dynamic Thelma. Pals, but what a pair! Their adventures together constitute a grand, new comedy series and, as well, another glowing chapter among the achievements of the Hal Roach studios. Truly, the Laurel and Hardy of comedienne."

As producer of Laurel and Hardy's enormously successful comedies, it was only natural that Hal Roach would want to make lightning strike twice. And the concept he developed was strikingly simple: create a female counterpart to Stan and Ollie.

Roach had a long history of spotting and signing talent, and he did not falter now. He already had beautiful Thelma Todd under contract; as leading lady to the likes of Charley Chase and Harry Langdon, she was an experienced comedy foil who could fit the traditional role of "straight man" for the team. To add the laughs he hired ZaSu Pitts, the fluttery comedienne whose name and personality were already familiar to moviegoers.

The basic premise for the series was simple: two working girls trying to get along. Their calamities came about through such complications as suffering on a double-date in a speakeasy (LET'S DO THINGS), having to earn money by working in a dime-a-dance joint (ASLEEP IN THE FEET), mingling with the upper-crust at a poolside soiree (THE PAJAMA PARTY), and working off a persistent cold at the local Turkish bath (RED NOSES).

ZaSu and Thelma were given able support by some of the top comic actors on the Hal Roach lot — blustery Billy Gilbert, statuesque Anita Garvin, and even little Spanky McFarland. But nothing could top Laurel and Hardy's delightful cameo appearance in ON THE LOOSE. After a grueling day-long outing at Coney Island with two well-meaning men, the girls return home exhausted, and vow never to set foot in that amusement park again. Just then, there's a knock at the door, and in come Stan and Ollie, to ask the girls out for a date. Where? To Coney Island, of course . . . prompting the girls to hurl everything in sight at their unwanted suitors!

Even Charley Chase got into the act, directing and writing their best two-reeler, THE BARGAIN OF THE CENTURY, in 1933. Combining slapstick, situation comedy, and the irresistible personalities of ZaSu, Thelma, and Billy Gilbert, Chase struck just the right note in this hilarious outing . . . a comic balance that some other directors couldn't achieve with the feminine team. Often the kind of brusque, knockabout comedy they were asked to do — which might have been funny performed by men — seemed embarrassing and awkward.

ZaSu Pitts left Hal Roach for the greener pastures of feature films in mid-1933, and was replaced by wisecracking Patsy Kelly. She and Thelma hit it off right away, and their teamwork reflected this rapport and natural vitality. From their debut in BEAUTY AND THE BUS it was clear that the sardonic Kelly would be a perfect match for the ladylike Todd.

Miss Kelly recalls today that the camaraderie on the Hal Roach lot inspired good comedy. "Stan Laurel would come in and watch us shoot, and just quickly drop a suggestion that, of course, made the whole scene . . . We had such a good time I didn't feel right taking the money for them."

It's that kind of enthusiasm that sparkles in these 1930s comedies, even when the material is less than inspired. Patsy and Thelma, like ZaSu and Thelma, had that rare ability to outshine their scripts and make even mundane comedy enjoyable. When the juices were flowing — in shorts like BABES IN THE GOODS (where they're trapped overnight in a department store window) or TOP FLAT (where Patsy and her rowdy boyfriends visit Thelma in the Park Avenue apartment where she works as a French maid) they could match any comedy team in Hollywood.

B ! ENCORE!
BEAUTY AND THE BUS?

(1933) THELMA TODD, PATSY KELLY

The first two-reel comedy for the Todd Kelly team. The girls win a new car at a movie raffle after Patsy crawls under the seat and recovers the winning ticket she tore up. Patsy's big mouth gets them into hot water and the roadways turn into Todd/Kelly pandemonium. "That was a close call. Another coat of paint and we'd of had an accident!" The girls are spotted by a policeman while they try to see how fast the car will go. Thelma is about to lose her license (as though she had one!) but manages to charm the cop into changing his mind. Patsy and her mouth however, talk him right back into it. Their joy ride ends in a grand wreck-traffic-jam punctuated by reciprocal destruction.

PATSY KELLY

The girls are roommates and the cultured, refined beauty Thelma is irked because Patsy doesn't appreciate her modernistic poetry . . . which sounds like a grocery list. Thelma stomps out declaring that the next time Patsy sees her she will be living in a Park Avenue penthouse writing best sellers. Patsy later sees Thelma emerge from a limousine and go into a very posh store. Thelma is only the French maid to a wealthy old couple, but Patsy assumes she's loaded with dough and vain Thelma won't deny it. Patsy and her rowdy boyfriends (Fuzzy Knight and Gary Owen) come and visit Thelma in the top flat where she works as a maid. Her employers are away and until they return, this crazy threesome drives Thelma nuts and has a ball!

ZaSu Pitts and Thelma Todd are roommates working in the same office. With both of them home with terrible colds, their boss promises a bonus and vacation if they will go to a Turkish Bath to get well and come back to work. The girls end up at the Nature 13 Health Institute where they are put through a series of exercise machines, massages, and mud packs, ending with a chase through the health club by a man (Billy Gilbert) from the tailor shop next door who gets innocently involved. Considered risque for its day, this farce is nothing to sneeze at!
